INDIAN NO LONGER PAGAN

Rapidly Becoming Christianized as the Race Disappears From the Earth.

40 YEARS IN NORTHERN WILDS.

Dr. Egerton Young, in Y. M. C. A., Address Tells of Life in the Hudson Bay Country.

Dr. Egerton Young, of New York, formerly a missionary among the Indians of the northwest, interested a large audience of men at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon with a narrative of the forty years which he spent in the domains of the Hudson's Bay Company. Paganism had been entirely overcome, he said, but as civilization had advanced the Indian race had gradually died out. There was no reason why this should be so as there was nothing in the Indian's constitution that should have swept him off the face of the earth. He had fewer diseases than the white man, but was an easy victim of those of the new comers, and having no natural remedy for them usually did just the opposite thing that he should do.

That there was an enormous death rate among the children was due to the unsanitary wigwams. If they could get along until they were seven or eight years old, they were tolerably safe. Dr. Young had seen many Indians who were past 100 years of age One whom he had been particularly fond of, he described as being a "charming, polite old Indian gentleman." This Indian's name had appeared on the Hudson's Bay Company's books as an active fur trader for eighty years. He had been retired for a dozen years, and as the company does not enroll them under eighteen or twenty, he was, therefore considerably past 100. Consumption had been the most ravaging disease, and owing to their mode of living was difficult to cope with. The Canadian government has adopted the policy of separating the consumptives and supplying doctors to the colonies.

The speaker believed it to be the government's duty to give the Indians two things—the gospel and civilization. He declared that if he had his work to do over again he would not make them all farmers as has been the custom, because many of them are natural genuises and could be taught useful trades.

Dr. Young's early missionary work was performed in northern Ontario. Later he was transferred to the territory beyond Saskatchewan and made the trip by dog sled and canoe, going by way of St. Paul and then north to Winnipeg. Food was sometimes scarce. As the moose thrived on the bark of spruce trees, he often found it necessary to do likewise. At the new post to which he went, vegetables were unknown, but a fur carrier, on one of his trips to civilization one year brought the missionary four potatoes. It was in August, but he planted them and when frost came and nipped the tops off the vines, he dug them, only to find, however, that his potatoes were not bigger than peanuts. Placing them in a bag, he suspended them from the ceiling and left them until spring.

Though the weather was sixty below zero out of doors, inside the cabin was a stove kept hot day and night so that the potatoes could not freeze. What they did do though, was to dry and shrivel up. He planted them anyway when warm weather came and was rewarded in the fall with a pail full of small sized potatoes. From these he raised six bushels the next year, and the following year 125 bushels. "When you have nothing to eat but the hind leg of a wild cat, some nice mealy potatoes go mighty fine," he said.

In describing the long steady cold which does not let up all winter long, Dr. Young said if a bucket of water was thrown out the door it would hit the ground in chunks of ice, and if the ice should be skooped up and melted there would not be a half pint of water missing.

While the Indians had become good farmers, industrious and prosperous, their reformation had not been easily brought about. A former governor general had made up his mind that he could civilize them without being bothered with missionaries. To gain their friendship he sent loads of dressed beef and pork to the reservation near Ottawa, and when they had become used to living high with no effort on their part to procure food, he went to them and announced that he was going to teach them how to till the soil and raise their own produce. "How, how," they replied, meaning, "yes, yes." He told them that some plows and other implements would be sent and they should get to work. "How, how," they said, "yes, yes."

The outfit arrived in due time and consisted of plows, wagons and ox-

L. E. HART, BUILDER, HAS PASSED AWAY

Lemuel E. Hart for nearly fifty years a resident of this city, during which time was prominent as a contractor and builder, died at 4:45 o'clock this morning at his home on West Front street from a complication of disease with which he had been ill for several weeks. A few days ago he underwent an operation in the hopes of staying the progress of disease, but he did not rally from it and he failed rapidly afterward.

Mr. Hart was born in Brooklyn, and removed here about fifty years ago. He married Miss M Carrie French, daughter of the late Moses French, who for many years conducted a grist mill at Watchung. Mr. Hart during his residence in Plainfield built a great many dwellings and acquired a great deal of property in various parts of the city. He never took an active part in civic affairs. He was identified with the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. A wife survives him.

The funeral service will be held from the late home, 523 West Front street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

BOY SOPRANO AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Master C. Shelton Moora, boy soprano of historic Trinity church, New York, was the soloist last night at the monthly musicale service at the First Presbyterian church, and the edifice was crowded to overflowing with persons desirous of hearing him. He delighted all with his fine singing. He has a pure, sweet soprano voice and is complete master of it. His first selection was "Here is Rest," assisted by the quartet choir. This was followed with a solo number and then he sang the solo part to the anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord," accompanied by the quartet.

The musical program also included a duet by Miss Anna L. Case, soprano, and Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto, and several anthems. Clifford A. Braider was at the organ. During the course of a short sermon by Dr. Herring, the pastor, he referred to the singing of Master Moora in words of praise. The service was considered one of the best of the series given once a month.

STARTED IN TO DRINK UP HIS BIG LEGACY

Richard Geary, a South Plainfielder, whose folks are good people, concluded a two days' jag in a police court cell last night, whither he was steered by Officer Nolan for trying to pick a scrap at the cab stand last night. Geary, who is only twenty-three years old, came into a legacy of $1,050 a short time ago and started out the last of the week to drink it up His promises to do better and to have some consideration for his mother in future won him "suspended sentence" from City Judge Runyon this morning.

It was Geary who presided at a short reign of terror at Muhlenberg Hospital Friday night and those in the wards were kept awake almost the entire night by his kicks, threats and language, 'tis said. He "hurt his hip" in some way in the midst of his drinking bouts on that evening and had a cabman drive him to the hospital. Once there, it is reported that he found fault with everything and wanted to sign up for a mill with one of the orderlies. When urged to go to bed, he maligned the night-shirt brought to him in lurid language, according to report, declaring that he was "used to fine flannel night-shirts and wouldn't wear this." In the morning, he left the institution that his inmates might get some sleep, and, according to the police, started in to treat his hip with internal spiritual applications. At his hearing today, he said that he knew nothing of what he'd said and done Friday night and was willing to autograph a pledge blank.

Sale of Furniture.

P. H. Latrourette, auctioneer, will conduct an auction sale of furniture at 320 West Front street, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Parties leaving the city have no further use for the furniture and must be sold to the highest bidder This sale will continue from day to day until all of the goods are sold.

WON'T PAY THEIR BILLS

Fisk Excise Commission Will Have Hard Time in Getting Expenditures "O. K'd."

INCLUDES SOME BIG ITEMS.

Governor Will Not Send Proposed Law Framed by Probers to Legislature.

It begins to look as though the six months' work of Governor J. Franklin Fort's State Excise Commission would go for naught. There is a merry war on over the law framed by the commission of which Charles J. Fisk was president, and Governor Fort believing that it is too radical, has declared that the proposed liquor traffic regulation measure would not reach the Legislature, thereby stirring up a hornet's nest.

There is not only a heated discussion on as to the wisdom of such a law, but Peter Backes and Senator John Hinchliffe, of Passaic, are the two principals in an argument that bids fair to interest the whole State. Mr. Backes, who was the chief prober for the commission and who is thoroughly posted on every phase of the question, says "Senator Hinchliffe has got the facts twisted," while on the other hand the Senator is saying some warm things about Mr. Backes. The latter declares that the total amount of his bill, not including his services, was $177, which simply covers money that he paid out of his own pocket. He says that not a red cent of this was for services.

Mr. Backes further states that like the other men who served on the commission he does not expect a penny of compensation for his work in any way or form, but there are some bills put in for work done by others during the investigation that he considers himself morally obligated to have paid and if the State does not liquidate them he will do so himself.

It is also understood that Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, who was chairman of the commission, advanced over $1,000 for certain expenses. The chief items of expense incurred by the commission has caused quite a stir and plenty of comment. They are as follows:

John P. Dengler, for stenographic notes and transcript of testimony, together with payment of hotel and traveling expenses on trips to different parts of the State for all members of the commission, $8,000. Cosgrove Detective Agency, Newark, for obtaining evidence of violations of law, $2,500. Patrick Kiely, chief of police, this city, detective work, $1,000. Baker Printing Company, Newark, for printing, $1,000. Benjamin Murphy, Jersey City, (since deceased), for detective work, $1,000. State Gazette, Trenton, for printing, $108. J. Henry Crane, lawyer, this city, for legal work, $600.

At the personal request of Governor Fort, Mr. Dengler was employed as secretary to the commission, with the understanding that compensation for his services should be paid out of the emergency fund in possession of the Chief Executive. This has not been done, however, for Mr. Fort refused to pay Mr. Dengler his bill out of this fund and insisted on referring it to the legislative appropriation committee. It is understood that Mr. Dengler contributed his services generously toward the election of Governor Fort, and that he declined a position as executive clerk because the salary of $1,800 did not appeal to him as sufficient.

CARTOONIST INJURED; LECTURE POSTPONED

Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, who was announced to give one of his illustrated lectures at the New Plainfield theatre, tonight, was seriously injured early this morning when a taxicab in which he was riding struck a tree on the East drive in Central Park at Ninety-eighth street, New York. He received a gash on the forehead from flying glass and was badly shaken up by the accident. A woman accompanied the cartoonist, but he refused to give her name.

After the accident Mr Davenport called another automobile and was taken to the Hotel Ansonia, where he lives. The physician in attendance says that his injuries would not prove fatal. In consequence the cartoonist will be unable to appear here tonight. Manager Counihan of the New Plainfield theatre announced today that moving pictures and vaudeville would hold the boards every night this week.

MR. COLBY'S CHAUFFEUR VIOLATED SPEED LIMIT

Edward Horn, chauffeur for Howard Colby, brother of State Senator Everett Colby, was nabbed on South avenue by Officer George Dobson Saturday morning for exceeding the speed limit in Mr. Colby's big French touring car. With Horn were two of Mrs. Colby's maids, whom he was taking to the station. He told Judge Runyon that "they had to meet the Misses in New York a certain time, and we were late for the train." Although the officer stated that the car was moving at a rate of forty miles an hour, the chauffeur denied this and said he had it under perfect control, although he was exceeding the speed limit. The flying auto created considerable excitement in its whirlwind trip to the station. Somebody telephoned to Chief Kiely at police headquarters that it had just passed along Fifth street and as the Chief hung up he receiver, he glanced from the window and saw the car going by. He sent an officer out to nab Horn Dobson had already taken the chaffeur's number on South avenue for his subsequent arrest, but the Chief's prompt action saved him the trouble of having to look up his man. Judge Runyon suspended sentence.

Kent Bender, manager of a local garage, also faced the Judge at the session of court today to answer a charge of speeding. Officer Dobson caught him on Watchung avenue Saturday, and declared that he was going thirty miles an hour. Bender said that he was trying to make up time in order to keep an appointment, and told the court that he didn't realize how fast he was going. Judge Runyon suspended sentence with a warning.

KANE NURSING BRUISES HAS TRIAL POSTPONED.

When the case of Alexander Kane, house-wrecker, against Thomas Brennan, face-wrecker, was called in the city court this morning, Kane, the victim of a face-wrecking bee on East Third street Thursday afternoon, asked for an adjournment of the case, and it will be brought up for a hearing next Monday morning. Kane apparently felt that his case was too important to trust to his own Blackstone knowledge, and has retained Francis J. Blatz as his attorney.

Brennan, who holds a position in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was much surprised at the elaborate legal preparations taken by his opponent. "I guess this thing's going to be a fight to the finish," he said to Judge Runyon, "and if it is, I'm going to get a lawyer, too." According to Brennan's story, Kane had made insulting remarks to his sister, who was at court today. Angered by the insult, Brennan sailed in and mussed up Kane's face.

Big Crowd at Fair.

Company K closed its fair Saturday night after a successful week despite the rainy weather of the first few days. The crowd on the last night was far greater than the capacity of the hall and many were unable to gain admittance after buying tickets.

Smoke, But No Flames.

Chief Doane was summoned by telephone to a Watchung avenue residence at midnight last night and although he found the house full of smoke, there proved to be no fire. A defective heating flue is supposed to have caused the trouble.

Central Avenue Grass Fire.

A grass fire near 930 Central avenue caused a telephone alarm to be sent in at shortly after 11 o'clock today and the hose wagon was taken to the scene. The firemen beat out the flames.

CHARTER BOROUGH BANK

Treasury Comptroller Grants Application for North Plainfield Institution.

CAPITALIZATION IS $50,000.

Both Counsel McCaulley and Newton B. Small Deny Reports About Less Capital.

Decorators are at work today putting the finishing touches on the interior of the Somerset street building to serve as the home of the new Borough National Bank, which will be opened at an early date with a capitalization of $50,000. The promoters are incensed over a report, which has gained wide circulation, to the effect that they made an unsuccessful attempt to get a charter with an authorized capital of $25,000, and that they failed in an effort to have the institution known as the First National Bank of North Plainfield.

To a Daily Press representative today, Mr. McCaulley, of Hoboken, the counsel for the proposed banking institution, stated that no application had been made to the State for a charter for a trust company, for, from the first, it was proposed to incorporate a national bank.

"Our dealings have been with the comptroller of the Treasury, at Washington," said Mr. McCaulley, "and we never thought of asking for a $25,000 charter. Neither did we apply to have the institution named the First National Bank of North Plainfield. What we did do was to make application for a charter authorizing $50,000 capital and I might say right here that we already have $35,000 and there will be no trouble in getting all that is needed. On the original application were the names of some out of town men and we were advised by the comptroller that it would be better to have the signatures of six representative residents of North Plainfield. This request was immediately complied with. The application for the charter for the institution, which will be called the Borough National Bank, was granted last Wednesday."

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, one of the principal promoters, confirmed Mr. McCaulley's statement. He said that when the story of the $25,000 charter application was published that it had been inspired by persons inimical to the promoters' interests. Mr. Smalley feels very encouraged over the outlook for the institution which will be the first to be established in that end of Somerset county.

JESSE H. LOUNSBURY WINS BALTIMORE BRIDE

Miss Clara Marie Slade, daughter of Mrs. Helen Slade, of Baltimore, and Jesse Horton Lounsbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue, were quietly married at the home of Mrs. Mary Radford, on West Fifth street, Saturday night. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Radford, as maid of honor, and Orlando H. Lounsbury, brother of the groom, was best man. The double ring service was used. Following the ceremony a reception was held and the bride and groom were showered with congratulations and best wishes. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion with palms and ferns. During the reception supper was served. The couple will reside here, the groom being associated with his father at the Crescent Embossing Works. The wedding march was played by Miss Lillian Colton, of Brooklyn, who later renedred several selections on the piano.

THEIR HOUSE WAS FIRED WHILE THEY WERE AWAY

Fire of a supposedly incendiary origin, completely destroyed the house of David Clark, a wealthy farmer, on the Mountain road near the Stony Hill school-house, Saturday night. As was known to be their custom for years, Mr. and Mrs. Clark had locked up their home and had driven five miles over the mountain to this city to do their weekly shopping. They had been gone but an hour when at the nearest farm house flames were seen to shoot from the roof of their home and before aid could be summoned the place was razed to the ground.

Persons in that section well knew Mr Clark's often expressed views on banks and that he had made it a practise to keep a large sum of money stowed away in the house. This is believed to have led to the fire, Mr. Clark's opinion being that some one who came to rob covered up his deed by setting the house afire. At the time of the blaze, there was $200 in bills hidden away in a desk. The loss on the house was $5,500.

COAL THIEF GANG IS NABBED AND FINED

Continuing his campaign against the wholesale stealing of coal from freight trains, Detective Laverett, of the Central Railroad brought three young coal thieves before City Judge Runyon today, whom he declared were members of a band which makes a practise of boarding coal trains as they pass through town, kicking off the coal and later collecting it from the tracks. The prisoners were Leon Guinaud, nineteen, and George Buss and Pedro Vergo, fourteen and twelve respectively. Each was fined $5.

The arrests were made Saturday night. They pleaded guilty to the charge and acknowledged that they had boarded a train, filled five large bags with coal and thrown them off. They were arrested when they were gathering them up to take them to a common coal bin, which they maintain. Detective Laverett outlined the wholesale stealing of coal, which he says has cost the railroad hundreds of dollars. The three prisoners are alleged to be members of a regularly organized gang of coal thieves, who now have about two tons of the black diamonds in their store house.

The trio denied that they were "caught with the goods," but one of them let slip the fact that he had ridden on trains Saturday and kicked off a good deal of coal for the collectors. The railroad's detectives throughout this region are constantly running down such coal thieves, and Detective Laveratt has been on the trail of this gang for some time.

PLANT TO EMPLOY 200

The American Cement Tile Company to Locate in North Plainfield.

ISADORE MEYERS IS PRESIDENT.

Head of Concern is Interested in Proposed Borough Bank—Will Attract Others.

The first big industry to be located in North Plainfield promises to be a concern that will employ at least 200 and possibly 250 skilled men when it starts operations. It is the American Cement Tile Company, a concern firmly established for several years in Pennsylvania. Already a large tract of ground convenient to the Jersey Central tracks has been purchased but the exact site has not been made known by the company's directors.

Isadore Meyers, a Baltimore capitalist, who spends much of his time in New York, is president of the company, and was instrumental in having the plant located in the borough. It manufactures a large fire proof tile by a secret process and it is said that the output of the Pennsylvania plant is in great demand.

At the present time the concern disposes of most of its cement tile to the Standard Oil Company, which has adopted the make exclusively for construction work on all its large buildings in the East. Considerable of the product is sold to the Federal government and is used on new army buildings now in the course of construction.

Mr. Meyers is one of the leading spirits in the Borough National Bank to be opened on Somerset street in the near future and it is said that he will be the means of bringing other manufacturers to North Plainfield.

CONFESSION IN PUBLIC ESSENTIAL TO FAITH.

A sermon bearing the lesson of the importance of public confession was delivered by Rev. John Y. Broek at Trinity church last night. He said in part:

"In order to make a full confession we must recognize Jesus as Lord of all. Our life is God's investment in us; He is the rightful owner of what we possess and expects us to come to Him for communion and to not be ashamed to make confession of faith by word of mouth. Our feelings may change every day but if our hearts are true we will confess and enter into the fullness of Jesus love and be saved."

PRINCETON'S OLDEST ALUMNI.

Princeton March 1.—The Princeton Alumni Weekly has compiled a list of Princeton's oldest graduates. On March 13, Dr. James Curtis Hepburn, '32, of Newark, Princeton's senior alumnus, will celebrate his ninety-fourth birthday. With two exceptions, it is asserted, Dr. Hepburn has lived longer than any other graduate who has held this honor.

The last survivor of the first class graduated from the College of New Jersey, that of 1748, was Rev. Israel Read, who died in 1793. To him belongs the honor of being Princeton's first "oldest living graduate." He was a trustee of the college during the last thirty-two years of his life and was pastor of the Presbyterian church, Bound Brook.

Dr. Samuel H. Pennington, who preceded Dr. Hepburn, was a member of the class of 1825. He took his medical degree from Hobart College in 1829 and received an LL. D. from Princeton in 1891. He was a member of the Board of Education of Newark from 1845 to 1862. From 1877 to 1897 he was president of the board of trustees of the Princeton Seminary. From 1857 till his death, in 1900, he was a university trustee. He was born on October 16, 1806, and was in his ninety-fourth year when he died.

Dr. Hepburn, the present senior alumnus, was born on March 13, 1815. "His long and distinguished career as an Oriental scholar and medical missionary in Japan," says The Alumni Weekly, "was recognized on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday by the Mikado, who conferred upon him the third class of the Imperial Order of the Rising Sun."

ALL ABOUT PRINCETON '07.

Princeton, March 1—The first record of the class of 1907 in Princeton University has just been published. Three hundred-odd members of the class answered the appeal of the secretary of the class for information as to their whereabouts and occupation. There are 177 men who were not heard from. One statistical table in the volume shows how "1907 encircles the globe." Another gives distribution by occupation: Commercial, 45; manufacturing, 27; practising law, 1; engineering and railroading, 26; banking and brokerage, 24; teaching, 23; lumber, 11; iron and steel, 6; construction, 6; insurance, 7; publishing, 2; contracting, 3; ranching, 2; journalism, 2; real estate, 2; mining, 2; Y. M. C. A. work, 2; transportation, 2; advertising, 2; settlement work, 1; dramatics, 1.

The number of '07 men married up to December 1, 1908, was seventeen, and the number of children born was two. The report of the memorial committee shows that the class of '07 paid $1,000 to the university treasurer during its first year out and had a balance of $479.50. The committee is endeavoring to raise $2,500 before June 1.

Trinity Commandery, No 17, K. T., will hold a regular conclave tonight.

Plainfield in .... The Olden Days.

January 20, 1870.

We witnessed the trial of a Patent Washing Machine at Thoms' hotel on Tuesday, last, which gave entire satisfaction. The machine is a patent of our fellow townsman, Mr. Wm. Pangborn, and for simplicity and efficiency as a washer, beats any machine we ever saw. There is no rubbing or tearing of clothes, as it is on the fulling principal, squeezing the clothes instead of rubbing.

Handwriting of God—This is an excellent book, endorsed by the clergy throughout the United States. The style of the book is attractive and highly entertaining. Our young townsman Charles Williams, is the agent for it in this city. He will call at your residence with the book, when you should not fail to purchase it.

Mr. Abur Smith, a resident of Peapack, visited a store at the place on New Year's Eve, for the purpose of making a few purchases. While there he went to the tobacco box and filled his pipe and while smoking it was found that powder had been put in the tobacco, and the contents went to his eyes, from the effects of which he suffered severely. The powder was put into the tobacco for the purpose of playing a trick on a young man of the village.

The attention of the ladies is directed to the advertisement of Mme. Alphonse, in another part of this paper. The lady comes highly recommended and guarantees satisfaction. Give her a call.

Those old fashioned Farmer's Almanacs are going with a rush at Van Winkle's the Stationer, Front street. The best and most reliable almanac ever printed. Only five cents each.

Commuter Sues Pennsylvania R. R.

New Brunswick, March 1.—Because a gateman at the Jersey City terminal would not let him through the gate until after a scuffle, Jesse Whiting has sued the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for damages. Whiting is a printer in business in New York. Last summer he went on a Hudson river boat excursion arranged by the railroad. When the boat got back to Jersey City a special train was waiting for the excursionists, but Mr. Whiting who is a regular commuter, decided to take a regular train to this city, as it made only one stop, while the special was scheduled to stop at every station. The gateman refused to let him through, but after a scuffle Whiting got his train.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 294, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight in regular session.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BASEBALL.

Baseball fans will have much food for gossip from now until the snow flies next fall. The members of the Giants and Highlanders are turning their faces to the South, and in another week the two teams will be at hard labor. Several members of the Highlanders left over the Pennsylvania Railroad Saturday for Macon, Ga., where Manager Stallings will soon be whipping the team into shape to begin the long gruelling race for the American League pennant. In the party were Charley Farrel, the veteran catcher, who will coach the young pitchers at the training camp; Joe Lake, who is expected to be one of the Highlanders' best pitchers; Willie Keeler, the veteran right fielder, who says he will enjoy a new lease of life; Neal Ball, who played shortstop last season; Jack Knight, the new shortstop from the Baltimore club; Joe Ward, the heavy hitting infielder from Altoona; Jack Kleinow, the Highlanders' regular catcher, and Jock Quinn, who pitched great ball for the Richmond club in 1908 and who, according to Al Orth, looks and pitches like another Amos Rusie. John Burke, formerly associated with Mike Murphy, the well known athletic trainer, will also go along to take charge of the conditioning end of the stunts at Macon. These men will arrive in Macon in time to be joined by the other candidates for positions on the regular team. Hal Chase has left his home in California and is on the way. He has been playing off and on all winter and is ready to jump into the game at a moment's notice. Chase says he will never daily with the outlaws again, but will stick to the New York Americans and do his best. He will probably captain the team.

GOLF.

The open championship of south Florida will be on this week at Palm Beach, later to be followed by the open championship of central Florida at Magnolia Springs and the north Florida at St. Augustine. Why not corral all the winners for an all Florida open tournament to be the closing competition annually of the spring on an accessible course? The affair at Magnolia Springs will conclude a week of tournament play for amateurs. The secretary of the club is Augustus J. Coughlan. The schedule will be:

Monday, March 8—10 a. m., mixed foursome, four prizes; 2:30 p. m., men's foursome, four prizes. Tuesday, March 9—10 a. m., eighteen hole medal play handicap for men, prize for best gross score and sixteen to qualify for two prizes; same for women for gross score prize and eight to qualify for two prizes; 2:30 p. m., first match play rounds for above and consolation prizes for unplaced women and men. Wednesday, March 10—All semi-final and final rounds.

Thursday, March 11—10 a. m., eighteen holes medal play, two prizes, for men and women beaten in first match play rounds; 2:30 p. m., choice score medal play at eighteen holes, best nine to count, one prize for best score by the men and same for women. Friday, March 12—10 a. m., bogey handicap, eighteen holes, two prizes; 2:30 p. m., approaching and putting, men from seventy-five and women for fifty yards, separate prizes. Saturday, March 13—Open championship of central Florida, thirty-six holes medal play. Cup for best amateur and money prizes for best two professional scores.

As the U. S. G. A. open championship is fixed for June 24 and 25, it will be impossible for an American professional to play in the international open tournament at North Berwick, Scotland, July 2 and 3, unless he forsakes home hopes for foreign chances, as Alex Smith did in 1908. The Scotch tournament owes its inception to an American sportsman, who has not only provided $1,600 in prize money but also authorized Arthur Pottow to give $300 toward the expenses of any two American professionals who might decide to play at North Berwick.

en. The Indians looked them over, grunted and then fell upon the oxen and had a feast. They saw a way of having some fun with the wagons, so taking them to the top of a hill, they got in and pushed off. They managed to get out before it reached the bottom, and thus escaped injury, but the wagon was a total wreck. Thus the governor-general's plan was unsuccessful and proved that the Indian, to be civilized, must first be christianized.

Dr. Young will address the men's meeting next Sunday.

An Auto Accident.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In reading the account of the accident to the automobiles of Dr. Davis and myself, published in your issue of February 26, I note that your representative has evidently been very badly misinformed as to the particulars of the case.

I left the garage of the Morris Auto Co. for home at about 5:10 p. m. and stopped at the trolley station to get some cigars and newspapers, after which I proceeded up Watchung avenue toward Front street, on the right hand side of the street, and within ten inches of the curb on my right hand, and at a very slow rate of speed because of the grade from the railroad bridge to the far side of North avenue.

When nearing Second street I saw the machine driven by Dr. Davis cut around the left hand corner of Second street, coming from the direction of Richmond street, at a very high rate of speed, and turning the corner on his left hand so close to the curb that his car was practically headed straight for mine.

Time for thought was very limited, and I concluded that if his machine met mine head on that his car would undoubtedly be turned over, my car weighing nearly 1,400 pounds more than his and my brake being set causing more resistence.

Seeing that if I remained where I was on the right side of the street, that there would follow a bad smash up, I quickly put on power and turned across the street, thinking that he would continue on the course that he had originally picked out, in which case he would have cleared me, but instead of so doing he turned the same way that I did.

I immediately put on my emergency brakes and came to a full stop just as Dr. Davis' car crashed into the side of mine, breaking the frame, wheels and mud guards and bending the axle, and I might add that if I would have remained where I was on the right side of the street, that the damage to the two cars would have been much greater, and in addition to this Dr. Davis would have undoubtedly been seriously injured.

There is practically no damage done to the front of my car, which shows that I did not run into the car driven by the doctor, and quite to the contrary shows that the doctor ran into me, and that he had absolutely no control over his car at the time of the collision.

Your item states further "that about a month ago my car was damaged by a collision in Newark," and for your information I will add that on August 29 last, six months ago, that while my car was standing at the corner of Court and Washington streets, Newark, that it was run into by an ice wagon driven by a drunken driver.

The facts as I have given them relative to the accident of Thursday evening are true to the letter, and can be vouched for by persons who witnessed the positions of both cars after the accident.

Yours very truly,
FRANK W. WEED.

Telephone Poles.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Will you kindly allow me space in your paper for the following article which may prove of interest to property owners in this city.

A few nights ago you referred editorially to a recent decision of the Supreme Court whereby it is necessary for a corporation to obtain permits from people owning property to the middle of the street to erect poles for lights or trolley, or to place pipes or wires in the ground. It is necessary to obtain this permit in writing and file it in the local county clerk's office where it becomes an encumbrance against the property in question.

When I bought my properties on Watchung avenue there was no lien of this kind shown in the deed or in any other way. I did not give any permits. My deeds referred to call for land to the middle of the street, subject to the easement of the public therein for the purposes of a public highway. It does not state that it is for the use of trolley cars, electric lights, sewer, gas or water pipes and unless these improvements are municipal ones, I claim that a corporation has no right to place them there unless I give them permission with or without charge as I see fit. I claim also that I have a right to demand that corporations remove its pipes or poles or obtain my permission for them to remain.

When the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company first applied for its franchise it agreed to give us anything and everything asked for, in order to get the franchise and through the efforts of our hustling townsman Mr. Charles W. Runyon, concessions were made to him that probably would not have been made to a stranger. Now that the company has all it wants, wires underground, poles on the properties, etc., and it thinks there is no chance of another company obtaining a franchise, it places the subscribers upon a limited service at increased rates.

If the city has a right to tax the corporations for the poles, wires, etc., why have private individuals no right to expect payment from the companies for the privileges of placing poles and cables on their property?

It does seem to me that corporations enjoy more right in the State of New Jersey than individuals do. Not long ago the Public Service Corporation wanted to put up a gas tank. It applied for permission to the Inspector of Buildings which was not granted. Then it applied to the Common Council and that body refused to grant the application and the mater was referred back to the inspector, instructing him to get an opinion on the matter from the Corporation Counsel or acting Corporation Counsel which opinion I have failed to hear or see. However, I see the tank is up. If it has the right to erect or build a gas tank without a permit why has not an individual got to have a permit to build a chicken coop?

I think it is high time that taxpayers find out what rights they have and then demand them.

Very respectfully yours,
CHARLES H. HAND.

Plainfield, March 1.

The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Funeral of Emil Gabel.

The funeral service of Emil Gabel, who met a tragic death last week by being blown from a New Jersey Central train while on his way home, was held from the late home on Richmond street, Saturday night and was private. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiated. The remains were taken to Rosdale crematory.

Airships.

I hold it true, with him who sings, to one clear harp in divers tones, that men who'y fly, ere they have wings are apt to break their blooming bones. The birds may think it full worth their while to soar from tree to tree, but while I live this good old earth is plenty smooth enough for me.—Emporia Gazette.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

HIGH LICENSE TENDENCY.

There is undoubtedly a tendency upward in liquor license fees in New Jersey. The City Council at Salem, in this State, is the last municipality making the change to high license. In that place this week the governing body has instituted several reforms. All hotels are to pay $600 instead of $800 for their licenses. Furthermore, they are to close their bars at 11 p. m., and are not to reopen them until 5 a. m. the following day, Sunday, of course, excepted. There are four hotels in the city, which has a population of 7,000. "Only one city in the State," says a Salem dispatch to the Philadelphia Ledger, "imposes a higher license fee upon the hotels than Salem. This is Plainfield, of which Charles J. Fisk, who was the chairman of Governor Fort's Excise Commission, is Mayor. In Plainfield, with a population of 22,000, the six hotels and four saloons pay a tax of $1,000 each, two wholesalers $800 each and one club $500. This city closes its bars from 11 to 6. Montclair, in Essex county, charges hotelkeepers $800 and wholesale liquor dealers $700. Its population is 18,000. There are nine hotels and three wholesale places, which are closed from 11 to 7. In Summit, Union county, while three wholesalers pay $350 each and one club $300. The city, which has 8,000 inhabitants, closes its bars at 11 and they are permitted to open at 6. The fees in North Plainfield, a borough of Somerset county, with 5,600 inhabitants, four hotels and four wholesalers, are, respectively, $700 and $400. Other cities of New Jersey in which the fee for hotels is $500 or more are: Atlantic City, $500; Camden, $500; Cape May, $500; East Orange, $500; Jersey City, $500; Hightstown and New Brunswick, where license are graduated, from $200 to $600." There is evidence enough in New Jersey to indicate that high license is coming more and more to be regarded as essential to intelligent regulation of the liquor traffic. In northern New Jersey it is probably much more in favor than local option. In cities where there is more or less drinking, especially among the foreign born of the population, and where it is believed that the custom would not be easily eliminated, high license appears to be becoming the sensible method of keeping the liquor traffic within bounds. It is worthy of note that Salem county gave the candidate for Senator on a local option platform a majority of 754 in the last election, while Taft's was 540. Senator Plummer has since introduced a local option bill in te State Legislature.—Elizabeth Journal.

H. RAYMOND LODER LEAVES HOLY CROSS

H. Raymond Loder, of New York city, whose resignation as organist and choirmaster of Holy Cross church was recently accepted reluctantly by the vestry, was in charge of the music at the church for the last time at yesterday's services. The music at the various services yesterday was of an especially high order, the full vested choir of forty voices taking part. At the morning service a soprano offertory solo by Carroll Taylor was the feature of the day's music. It is through the efforts of Mr. Loder that Holy Cross music has been raised to its present standard.

Beginning with next Sunday, Mr. Eglinton, of New York city, will be temporary organist and choir master of the church. Mr. Eglinton comes from Trinity church parish, and is a pupil of Felix Lamond.

SPECIAL SERMON FOR HOPE CHAPEL'S MEN

At Hope chapel yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard, preached a sermon for young men. There were many young men present, large proportion of them being from Judge Runyon's Bible Class which had requested a special address. The subject was "The Cost of Discipleship," and it was the first of a series of sermons on "Discipleship" which will be continued on Sunday mornings until Easter.

The text used by Mr. Howard was Luke 9:23, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." He said in part:

"It costs immensely to be anything worth while," said the minister. "There is nothing in the world which costs as much as being a real follower of Jesus Christ, but there is nothing else that begins to be so desirable. Being a follower of Jesus means seeking the best life possible, and, contrary to the belief of some shallow observers, the young men of today are more desirous of the best life than those of any other age. The question is, how many of them are willing to pay the price? The young man who went to Jesus asking what he must do to obtain eternal life was like any young man of today who wants to life an enduring life, a life whose influence will last after him. He loved his money more than he did the chance to get such a life, however, so he could not get it. He lacked the faith and the courage to pay the cost. Not every man is asked to pay in money; because many care little for money and prize other things most highly. The demand of Jesus is that nothing be prized equally with following him in a life of service to man according to the will of God. If you choose anything in preference to that you cannot be his follower.

"This was not only the teaching of Jesus lips, however, it was the teaching of his life as known to us, from the renunciations of the forty days in the wilderness to the great sacrifice of the cross, where he sealed the pledge of his life with his blood, and proved forever that he himself believed what he said when he declared that 'it is more blessed to give than to receive.' The young man who did this is the one great leader of the church, and through the church is ever giving the invitation to other young men to follow him. He wants men who will continue in a selfish world the unselfish work which he began, making the world better in every way possible and at any cost to self.

"The ways a young man is called upon to deny self in order to do a larger service to the world are innumerable, but one of the commonest is in the matter of indulging appetite. If such indulgence means injury to some one else, and in thousands of cases it does, then of course the best life requires its denial.

"A still commoner opportunity of service through sacrifice is that which comes in various ways to young men at the cost of personal popularity. A man cannot be permanently popular who is really following Christ. The approval of one's companions is good only if kept without the surrender of that which is right. The bitter criticism to which President Roosevelt has been subjected is to many persons an additional indication that he is honestly seeking the best things for the country.

"The giving of time and thought to the support of good work of all sorts, like the work of the church for example, is another way of service which often calls for self denial, but it is far more than worthy the cost. Hope chapel itself is the result of just such forgetfulness of self on the part of people who have been trying to follow Jesus. Until within quite recent years, moreover, the proportion of young men in Hope chapel making this sacrifice has been strangely small. It offers one of the finest opportunities for the highest life that is open any where to the young men of the West End, but of course they cannot take advantage of it unless they are willing in the spirit of Jesus to pay the cost in self denial."

COLLEGE CLUB PLANS A SCHOLARSHIP FUND

College women of Plainfield and vicinity gathered Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Rice, of West Seventh street on the occasion of a musicale held in connection with a regular meeting of The College Club. Four new members were admitted to the club, which now comprises seventy-five members, graduates of the various colleges. It was decided to make the next meeting, which will take place early in April, an occasion for theatricals, and two playlets, "Six Cups of Chocolate" and "A Little Savage" will be presented at the Hartridge auditorium at that time. The proceeds will be devoted to scholarship aid for young girls who lack funds for a college education. To maintain such a fund is the primary object of the organization, of which Miss Katherine Ball is president.

The musical program comprised vocal, instrumental and whistling selections by the members. Mrs. Joseph McIntyre rendered two piano solos, Fantasie by Donizetti Listz, and a Russian cradle song, by Henselt; Miss Elsie Goddard sang a delightful Scotch Highland melody, "Turn Ye to Me," "You and I," by Liva Lehman, "A May Morning," and "Love Me if I Live and Love Me if I Die." Miss Helen Patterson played two violin solos, an Adagio from the Wieniawski Concerto, and a cradle song by Drdla. Mrs. Rice rendered a pleasing whistling solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Arthur Chamberlain.

At the conclusion of the music, refreshments were served and the members enjoyed a social hour. Mrs. Rice was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Henry C. White, chairman of the entertainment committee of the club.

JOY THAT IS GONE

BUCKWHEAT CAKES AND PORK CHOPS ARE NO MORE.

City Man Voices Regret for the Breakfast of His Youth—It Comes to Him Now in Memory Only.

"I have wondered sometimes," said the amiable head of a voracious family, "why we didn't have more griddle cakes, wheat and buckwheat, and that sort of thing in our house, because I am very fond of such cakes, and so are all the children, and of buckwheat cakes in particular I have a very pleasant recollection.

"When I was a boy I used to have always buckwheat cakes for breakfast in winter, with fried pork chops or fried sausages, and I used to think that that was a breakfast good enough for anybody, and I am still of the same opinion.

"The cakes we used to mix in a batter pot that was different from any piece of crockery I ever saw, and that I can see now in my mind's eye as plainly as if it stood before me, a deep, straight sided, earthenware pot of a very dark brown glaze and in capacity about a gallon and a half and having in one side of its edge a pouring lip and on the other side a handle; the only pot of just that style and dimensions that I ever saw, and perhaps it was the only one ever made.

"And we valued it highly, I know that if anything had happened to that pot it would have been regarded as a household calamity, familiar to us all as it had become through year after year of use, and the mixing of the batter in it was mighty familiar household rite, the last thing done in the house in winter before we went to bed.

"Every morning when the cakes were cooked there was left in the pot just enough of the material to serve as yeast for the next day's batch; and every night the last thing we did was to get out the buckwheat batter pot and mix up in it the batter for the next morning's cakes; and then we would put a loose cover on the pot and then set it near the kitchen stove where it would get a little warmth, but not too much so that the batter would rise just right. And sometimes it would run over, but not often, for our folks were high experts in making buckwheat batter, and usually our batter rose just enough to fill the pot, rising at the same time to the highest attainable quality; and then in the morning the batter was thinned down a little, so that it would spread just exactly right when poured on the griddle, and then the family was ready to eat 'em.

"It seems to me that the pork chops we had in those days were better than any to be had now; they were from locally raised and fattened pigs and they were very tender and superior, and certainly it would be difficult to find now such sausages as we had then.

"And we used to eat those buckwheat cakes red hot off the griddle, with those superior pork chops, or those extra superlative sausages, and with the pork or sausage grease on the cakes—a morning meal of great delight and glory.

"One calculated to tax the stoutest constitution surely, but we all had cast iron stomachs and it did us no harm; and I have wondered sometimes why we couldn't have something of that sort now; but she, meaning thereby my better half, tells me that cooking cakes means a headache and a burned face and a tired back; that cooking cakes for this family would be an awful task and that it wouldn't do. And so that grand breakfast of buckwheat and sausages comes to us now in memory only."

An Anti-Ant Building.

Reinforced concrete is the material which will be used almost exclusively in the construction of the new government buildings to be erected by the United States at San Juan, Porto Rico, for use as a postoffice, courthouse and custom house. Wood is to be practically excluded from the structure, the only place about the building where wood will be employed will be in the window sashes on one side of the edifice. The interior doors will be rattan. The reason why wood is being avoided by the government in this case is because there is a small ant indigenous to the island of Porto Rico which eats its way up through wooden chairs, doors and desks and makes them spongy on the inside.—Cement Age.

Critical Audience.

Clara, aged six, did not know the meaning of an encore, and was very much disgusted with the audience, at the children's concert in which she took part.

"I just know we didn't make a single mistake," she exclaimed, "yet the people in front got cross and made such a fuss that we had to do it all over again."—Tit-Bits.

The College Widow.

"Mr. Leftguard hugs like a Harvard man."

"Is there a difference?"

"Oh, yes. Every college has a distinctive style of tackle."—Washington Herald.

Natural History.

"Papa, what is a thesaurus?"

"A whatyoumaycallit that lived before the flood, now run out and play."—Houston Post.

BLUE BEARD UP-TO-DATE.

"Now, my dear girl," said Bluebeard, with a crafty smile on his face. "I am going away on a little fishing trip, and I want you to be good. Here are the keys to the garage and the house, and you are at liberty to roam everywhere and satisfy your curiosity, but for heaven's sake don't open the door of the room that this key fits. Any one but that! Just remember. Expect me in a week or so."

Mrs. Bluebeard, however, naturally was so overcome with impatience that she could scarcely wait for him to get out of the house before she was opening the fatal door.

"Ah, ha!" she exclaimed, as she noted the contents, "it will take me a week to find out all about this."

Later, when her husband returned, he found her trying on a new directoire gown, while the dressing-room was strewn with merry widow hats.

"So," he exclaimed, "you have been and gone and done it. Did you—"

"Yes, dear," she replied sweetly, "I looked in the fatal room. I went over the bills that you had allowed all your former wives to run up; and I found that you were keeping me down to one-half of the average. But it's all right now. I am evening up. I—"

And Bluebeard, quietly and neatly removing her head, remarked:

"Dear, dear, the way of the too glad dresser is certainly hard. Will they never learn. I wonder?"—Judge.

The Balance the Other Way.

Boatman—I am the man who sprang into the water and saved a member of your family. You remember you offered $500 to any one who would rescue her.

Millionaire—Y-e-s, I know; but at that time I thought it was my wife who was in danger. It was my wife's mother.

Boatman—Just my luck. Well, how much do I owe you?—New York Weekly.

Girls and Boys.

Old Friend—I s'pose girls are a good deal more expensive to rear than boys, ain't they?

Old Family Man—Waal, they is fer awhile, but mos' generally as soon as a girl marries the expense is through with; but just as quick as a son gits married he wants to borrer all you've got.—New York Weekly.

Who's to Blame?

Wife—Horrors! Our daughter has eloped with your typewriting young man.

Husband—Well, you wouldn't let me hire a young woman.—New York Weekly.

WHAT SHE BECAME.

Fred—There goes Mrs. Jones. She used to be a decidedly pert girl.

Jack—Isn't she still pert?

Fred—No. Marriage seems to have tamed her, and now she's an ex-pert.

Lessons in Natural History.

Little Tom's father was trying to teach him to discover things for himself by analogy and reasoning. So one day he astonished his parent by asking:

"Papa, if a kitty is a little cat, and a hill is a little mountain, isn't a little catamount a kittyhill?" — Baltimore American.

Criticism.

"So you do not approve of my style of speechmaking?" said the youthful statesman.

"No," answered Senator Sorghum; "your speeches are not short enough to be epigrammatic nor long enough to be depended on for time-killing in an emergency."—Washington Star.

A Medical Paradox.

"There is one thing paradoxical about a doctor."

"What is that?"

"He is one of the few men who can be excused for being most angry and irritable when he realizes that he must have patients."—Baltimore American.

Hard to Keep Track.

A man may never know where his second pair of suspenders are, but did you ever know a woman who could tell exactly where her hat pins were when she wanted them?—Cleveland Leader.

Their Set.

She—What set do the Joneses belong to?

He—The carving set, I should say, judging by the way they cut at each other.

Praise-Hunting.

Once in a while a man does the right thing by accident, but he always wants full credit for his judgment, nevertheless.—Cleveland Leader.

Up-to-Date.

"Is he up-to-date?"

"Very much so. He owns a 1904 motor car, but he can tell you all about the 1910 models."—Cleveland Leader.

DISHES BOYS LIKE

DAINTY AS WELL AS SUBSTANTIAL FOODS.

Though His Appetite Does Not Usually Need Tempting He Enjoys Sweet Things at Least Once in a While.

Boys should be fed upon food that will give them strength, and yet at the same time mothers must remember that they sometimes like the dainty things as well as little sister does.

In making the rice pudding this week, just for a change and to tickle the palate of the boys try this recipe. Wash well half a pound of dates and stone them. Chop fine and add to the usual plain rice pudding. Dates are nourishing and all boys like them. In making the usual dish of corn starch, which is bound to appear on the table of all growing children once in so often, try this: In place of the usual amount of sugar added to it sweeten with a cup of maple sirup and the boys are sure to call for "more."

Banana croquettes—This is a nourishing dish, easily prepared at a few minutes' notice. Peel and scrape ripe bananas. Cut each one in two pieces and cut off the sharp end, making them look like a croquette. Roll them in chopped nuts of any kind—either peanuts, hickory or walnuts. Lay on a leaf of lettuce and serve with a little French dressing containing a great deal of olive oil. This is a splendid luncheon dish for the hungry schoolboy.

Roast veal and ham—Purchase two medium thick veal cutlets, rather small in circumference. On one of them place a thick slice of ham and cover with the other cutlet—just as you would make a sandwich. Place in a roasting pan and cook in a hot oven at first to sear the meat, then reduce the heat to moderation. Baste frequently. The gravy of this dish is delicious and the flavor of the meat combination is sure to appeal to the boys of the family.

Meat loaf—Pass through the chopper sufficient cold meat of any kind, veal, beef, chicken or lamb, to make three cupfuls when packed. Season very highly. Add a teaspoonful of celery seed, and some onion juice, and finally half a cup of stale bread crumbs, teaspoon of chopped parsley and two well-beaten eggs. Pack into a loaf and place on a shallow buttered pan. With a wooden skewer make holes along the top of the loaf and insert strips of fat salt pork, allowing the pork to project about half an inch above the surface, and be sure to pack the meat firmly back around it. Bake in a quick oven about three-quarters of an hour, set aside to cool and serve in slices very cold with relishes of pickles or catsup. This makes a splendid and substantial luncheon dish for the boys.

Indian tapioca pudding—Many of the boys are tired of the old-fashioned Indian pudding that grandmother used to make, but this is sure to please them. Soak five tablespoonfuls of tapioca for two hours in water enough to cover it. Pour four cups of scalded milk over four tablespoons of Indian meal with three-quarters of a cup of molasses. Add half teaspoon of salt and cook in double boiler for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the tapioca, which should be drained free from all water, and three tablespoons of butter. Turn all out into buttered baking dish and pour over it one cup of cold milk, but do not stir it through. Bake in a very slow oven, from an hour to an hour and a half. Serve hot with thin cream.

Lamb Cutlets with Carrots.

Trim the cutlets neatly, egg and breadcrumb them and fry them in lard till a light brown color; drain and arrange them in a circle on a dish, placing in the center some new carrots, prepared as follows: Trim a quantity of the smallest new carrots that can be obtained and boil them in salted water. When done drain off the water, add a piece of fresh butter to the carrots, some parsley, finely minced, a dash of pepper, a little powdered sugar and a squeeze of lemon; moisted with a little stock, free from fat, and keep them hot until wanted.

Sour Cream Cake.

One cup of sour cream, one cup of sugar, half teaspoonful soda, one egg, one cup raisins, quarter teaspoonful cinnamon, cloves and allspice, little salt, one large cup of flour; try before baking it, for if the cream is too rich it may not be quite enough. Bake in a slow oven.

Handy Dishcloth.

Take a soft linen towel cut through the center and hem the raw edges. Sew a good-size pearl button on one corner of each. You will never have to run for a knife to scrape a dish, for you will have the button always in your hand, and they never scratch even silver.

To Brighten Carpets.

Into a pail of hot water throw a handful of washing soda. After thoroughly sweeping rugs go over them with a cloth wrung out in this water. Apply this solution to rugs every week and you will find it is the best thing ever tried.

Rolled Oat Cookies.

One cup of brown sugar, half cup of butter, one egg, two cups of flour, two cups of rolled oats, one cup of raisins, half cup of chopped walnuts, four tablespoonfuls sour milk, half teaspoonful soda, little salt. Drop on tins and bake slowly. Very nice.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

Calling at the Langdons' house one evening in February to receive directions regarding important work for the next day, Haines was somewhat puzzled at the peculiar smile on the senator's face. Answering the secretary's look of inquiry, the Mississippian said:

"It's a trick," said Haines.

"I've been told that I can name the new holder of a five thousand dollar a year position in the department of commerce and labor and that if I have no one in particular from my state to name—that—that you would be a good man for the job. First I was glad for your sake, my boy, for if you wanted it you could have the position. But on thinking it over it seemed there might be something behind it not showing on the surface."

"It's a trick," said Haines. "Who made the offer?"

"Senator Stevens."

"I might have known," hotly responded the secretary. "There's a crowd that wants you and me separated. Thought this bait too much for me to resist, did they?" Then he paused, rubbing his fingers through his hair in a perplexed manner. "Strange, isn't it, senator, that a man of your party is offered this desirable piece of patronage, entirely unsolicited on your part, from the administration of another, a different political party? Especially when that other party has so many hungry would be 'tax eaters' clamoring to enter the 'land of milk and honey.' I think Stevens deliberately"—

"There, there, Bud," broke in Langdon, "you mustn't say anything against Senator Stevens to me. True, he associates with some folks I don't approve of, but that doesn't necessarily mean anything wrong, and I myself have always found him thoroughly honest."

"Yes," muttered the secretary, following the senator into the library, "you've always found him honest because you think everybody's honest—but Stevens is just the doctor who will cure you of this ailment, this chronic trustfulness."

Haines laughed softly. "When Peabody's little Stevie gets through hacking at the prostrate body of political purity his two handed sword of political corruption will need new edges."

Thus far neither the senator nor his secretary had suspicion of any questionable deal in regard to the gulf naval base. The rush of other events, particularly the fight over the reduction of the tariff, had pushed this project temporarily into the background so far as they were concerned, though the "boss of the senate" and his satellites had been losing no time in perfecting their plans regarding the choice of Altacoona as the site.

"Better see Senator Langdon."

Peabody and Stevens had ingeniously exploited Langdon at every possible opportunity in relation to the naval base. Asked about new developments in the committee on naval affairs, the ready answer was: "Better see Senator Langdon. He knows all about the naval base; has the matter in full charge. I really know little about it."

So by hiding behind the unsuspecting old hero of Crawfordsville they diverted from themselves any possible suspicion and placed Langdon where he would have to bear the brunt of the great scandal that would, they well knew, come out at some future time—after their foul conspiracy against the nation had been consummated, after the fruits of their betrayal had been secured.

What, after all, the schemers concluded, is the little matter of an investigation among senators to guilty senators who, deeply versed in the law, have destroyed every compromising document that could be admissible as evidence?

And what senator would fear himself?

Why, the senate would appoint an investigating committee and investigate itself, would it not, when the ridiculous scandal came?

And what senator would fear himself, or for himself, as he investigated himself, when the blame had already been put publicly on some one else, some simple minded old soul who could go back to his cotton fields in Mississippi and forget all about it, strong in his innocence, even though shorn of reputation, and desire to live?

CHAPTER X.

WHEN SENATORS DISAGREE.

THE wiseacres of Washington had nightly predicted that the site of the hundred million dollar gulf naval base would be decided on in March after the excitement and gayety attending the presidential inauguration had subsided.

On the morning of the day before this action of the committee on naval affairs was to be taken Secretary Haines sat at his desk in Senator Langdon's committee room in the capitol. Richard Cullen, the favorite associate of Haines in his journalistic days, out earlier than usual on his daily round of the departments for news for his Chicago paper, had strolled in and attempted a few of his characteristic cynicisms. Haines usually found them entertaining, but these were directed at Senator Langdon.

"Now, let me tell you something, Dick," the secretary answered firmly. "Don't you work off all your dyspeptic ideas in this neighborhood. My senator is a great man. They can't appreciate him up here because he's honest—crystal clear. I used to think I knew what a decent citizen, a real man, ought to be, but he's taught me some new things. He'll teach them all something before he gets through."

Cullen hung one leg over Haines' desk.

"You're a nice, quiet, gentlemanly little optimist, and I like you, old fellow," retorted Cullen. "But don't deceive yourself too much. Your Senator Langdon is personally one of the best ever. But he was born a mark, and a mark he'll be to the end of time.

"He looks good now. Sure, I like his speeches, and all that, but just wait. When some of those old foxes in the senate want to put his head in the bag and tie it down, they won't have any trouble at all."

"You're a nice little optimist."

Smiling, Haines looked up at his cynical friend.

"The bag 'll have to go over my head, too," he said with a nod.

"Well, I don't know that Peabody 'd have to strain himself very much or get such an awful big bag to drop you both in, if it comes right down to that, old chap. You're making a mistake. You're as bad as your old man. You're a beautiful pair of optimists, and you a good newspaper man, too—it's a shame!"

After momentary hesitation Cullen continued, thoroughly serious.

"Bud, my old friend," he said in low tone, glancing quickly about, "there's one thing that you've got to put a stop to. It's hurting you."

The secretary's face showed his bewilderment.

"What do you mean?" he snapped abruptly. "Out with it!"

"I mean," replied Cullen, "that rumors are going around that you are keeping Langdon away from the crowd of 'insiders' in the senate for your own purposes—that, in short, you plan to"—

"I understand," was the quick interruption. "I am accused of wanting to 'deliver' Senator Langdon, guarantee his vote, on some graft proposition, so that I can get the money and not he himself. Consequently I'm tipping him off on what measures are honest, so that he'll vote for them, until—until I'm offered my price, then influence him to vote for some big crooked scheme, telling him it is all right. He votes as I suggest, and I get the money!"

"That's what 'delivering a man' means in Washington," dryly answered the Chicago correspondent. "It means winning a man's confidence, his support, his vote, through friendship and then selling it for cash"—

"But you, Dick, you have"—

"Of course, old man, I have denied the truth of this. I knew you too well to doubt you. Still, the yarn is hurting you. Remember that western senator who was 'delivered' twice, both ways, on a graft bill?" he laughingly asked the secretary.

"Should say I did, Dick. That is the record for that game. It was a corporation measure. One railroad wanted it; another opposed it. The senator innocently told an eastern senator that he was going to vote for the bill. Then the easterner went to the railroad wanting the bill passed and got $7,000 on his absolute promise that he would get Senator X. to vote for it, who, of course, did vote for it."

"Yes," said Cullen, "and later, when Senator X. heard that Senator Z. had got money for his vote, he was wild. Then when another effort was made to pass the bill (which had been defeated) the 'delivered' senator said to Z. as he met him unexpectedly: 'You scoundrel, here's where I get square with you to some extent. Anyway, I'm going to vote against that bill this time and make a long speech against it too.' Senator Z. then hustled to the lobbyist of the railroad that wanted the bill killed and guaranteed him that for $10,000 he could get Senator X. to change his vote, to vote against the bill."

"And he got the money, too, both ways," added Haines as Cullen concluded, "and both railroads to this day think that X. received the money from Z."

"Of course," said Cullen, "but X. was to blame, though. He didn't know enough to keep to himself how he was going to vote. Any man that talks that way will be 'delivered.'"

"I know how to stop those rumors, for I'm sure it's Peabody's work, he thinking Langdon will hear the talk and mistrust me," began Haines, when in came Senator Langdon himself, his face beaming contentedly. Little did the junior senator from Mississippi realize that he was soon to face the severest trial, the most vital crisis, of his entire life.

Cullen responded to the senator's cheery greeting of "Mornin', everybody!"

"Senator," he asked Cullen, "my paper wants your opinion on the question of the election of senators by popular vote. Do you think the system of electing senators by vote of state legislatures should be abolished?"

"That concerns future senators."

The Mississippian cocked his head to one side.

"I reckon that's a question that concerns future senators and not those already elected," he chuckled.

Haines laughed at Cullen, who thrust his pad into his pocket and hurried away.

"It is today that I appear before the ways and means committee, isn't it?" Langdon queried of his secretary.

"Yes," said Haines, consulting his memorandum book. "At 11 o'clock you go before ways and means to put forward the needs of your state on the matter of the reduction of the tariff on aluminium hydrates. The people of Mississippi believe it has actually put back life into the exhausted cotton lands. In Virginia they hope to use it on the tobacco fields."

"Where does the pesky stuff come from?" asked the senator.

"From South America," coached the secretary. "The south is in a hurry for it, so the duty must come down. You'll have to bluff a bit, because Peabody and his crowd will try to make a kind of bargain—wanting you to keep up iron and steel duties. But you don't believe that iron and steel need help, you will tell them, don't you see, so that they will feel the necessity of giving you what you want for the south in order to gain your support for the iron and steel demands."

The office door opened and Senator Peabody appeared.

"Peabody," whispered the secretary.

Instantly the Mississippian had his cue. His back to Peabody, he rose, brought down his fist heavily upon the desk and expounded oratorically to Haines:

"What we can produce of aluminium hydrates, my boy, is problematical, but the south is in a hurry for it, and the duty must come down. It's got to come down, and I'm not going to do anything else until it does."

The secretary stretched across the desk.

"Excuse me, senator; Senator Peabody is here," he said loudly and surprisedly, as though he had just sighted the boss of the senate.

The Mississippian turned.

"Oh, good morning, senator. I was just talking with my secretary about that hydrate clause."

Peabody bowed slightly.

"Yes, I knew it was coming up," he said, "so I just dropped over. I'm not opposed to it or any southern measure, but it makes it more difficult for me when you southern people oppose certain Pittsburg interests that I have to take care of."

Langdon smiled.

"I've never been in Pittsburg, but they tell me it looks as if it could take care of itself."

The visitor shrugged his shoulders.

"That's true enough, but give and take is the rule in political matters, Langdon."

P. C. C. RACING TEAM OF 1908.

The liviest season the local cyclists have ever had is coming with the opening of spring, so the devotes declare, and their activity the past few days would seem to indicate that there is something to it. Preparations are being made for the opening of the new club rooms, about April 1.

The principal racing event of the late spring will be a twenty-five mile road race on Decoration Day. The details have not been given out yet, but Jack Horner and Clarence Thorn, who have the matter in charge, are busy with the arrangements. At a recent meeting of the club it was decided to offer prizes to members making the greatest number of centuries for the season and to those having the best averages for the season's runs. The road runs have already been announced by the road captain, and include trips covering New Jersey, parts of New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland, and the grand finale will be a run to Boston, Mass.

Among bicycle clubs all over the country Plainfield is known as a home of "live ones." It was through the efforts of the P. C. C that racing was revived at Westfield, and it was the inspiration given by one of its club runs to Trenton that a club was formed in that city.

The group picture published today is that of the 1908 racing team. Of these riders, Robert Wood and Percy Haberle are considered to have brightest prospects during the coming season.

It was Sherman Habele who broke the world's road record for one mile last year at Westfield, doing it in 2:02, which was one of the most notable cycling events of the year. He was also winner of the Decoration Day ten mile road race, held in this city.

Harry Hooks won the mile city championship held by the club on Labor Day. Raymond Mantz was second in this race. He had finished well up in front at Westfield, and also in the Plainfield ten mile road races. George Adams was considered a possibility in the city championship race, but he had hard luck, falling a number of times while in a good position.

George Simons, one of the youngest members, finished second in the ten mile road race at Westfield.

James Vail finished second at Plainfield in the ten mile race in a field of fifty starters. Wiley, Cubberley and Thompson retired from racing after the Decoration Day road race and so did not compete in the later events.

A class of forty-one men which has for its object the discussion of industrial questions, was organized at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, following the four o'clock lecture service. Yesterday's topic was "The Unemployed and Causes of Lack of Employment." The members joined in a general informal discussion of the subject, under the leadership of H. W. Herrman. Next Sunday's topic will be "The Use of Wealth." An invitation is extended to all men to join the class, which meets at 5 o'clock each Sunday afternoon.

Mysterious Fire at Samptown.

Fire practically destroyed the whole interior of the dwelling house on the Labaw property, near Samptown, yesterday afternoon. The property is occupied by a family of the name of Schenck, and all were away at the time. Passersby saw flames pouring out of the windows and they formed a bucket brigade and did all that was possible to save the contents. Before the fire was extinguished the Schencks returned. Russell Macintyre, of this city, performed heroic services in helping to put out the fire and rescue goods.

Mother and Son Jailed.

An altercation between a mother and her eighteen-year-old son yesterday morning ended by both being locked up in the borough jail, charged with disorderly conduct. The disputants were Mrs. Lottie Miner and Fred Miner, who live on Harmony street. They had had numerous noisy encounters of late and had been warned by the police. Recorder Charles M. Dolliver suspended sentence on both this morning.

Plainfielders for Jury Duty.

Haywood, Henry Apgar, John Neagle, Rolland A. Smith, Edward Craig, Benjamin F. Eddy. Only fifty-four instead of sixty jurors were drawn today, the court believing that number would be sufficient.

Dr. Cooley Buys Pasture.

Public Hearing on Ordinance Providing for Improvement of Certain Streets.

BONDS TO AGGREGATE $11,000.

Petitions Are Received for Macadamizing Other Thoroughfares At Early Date.

Steps were taken by the Common Council at its March meeting, last night, toward improving certain streets during the coming year, as proposed at a previous meeting. Mr. Gloak offered an ordinance which was read twice and ordered advertised, providing for the improvement of Union street, Stelle, Madison, Darrow, Compton avenues and Ravine road, the macadam to be done under the improved methods, which calls for the use of an asphalt binder. According to the provisions of the ordinance the streets are to be macadamized the full width and the work must be completed on or before September 30 next.

To cover the cost of the work it is proposed to issue eleven coupon bonds of $1,000 denomination each, bearing five per cent. interest per annum, to be retired within three years from date of issue, and the abutting property-owners are to be assessed for the benefits of the improvements. The contract for the work is to be awarded the lowest bidder. A public hearing on the ordinance will be granted on Monday night, April 5.

The petitions relative to the improvement of Union street and West Front street, between Clinton and Grant avenues, were returned at the Common Council meeting last night by Councilman Gloak, chairman of the street committee, with the explanation that it is the intention to improve West Front street, from Madison to Clinton avenues, also Union street. The auditing committee reported tax collections for various years, during the past month, of $10,999.82.

Councilman Wilson, chairman of the auditing committee at the Common Council meeting last night, offered a resolution which was adopted, providing that all bills be signed by at least two members of the committees prior to 8 o'clock on Friday night before each regular meeting. Councilman Buxton was the only member to vote in the negative. The change will be a decided advantage to the auditing committee. When Council adjourned it did so to meet on Monday night, March 22, at 8 o'clock.

PASTOR'S AID SOCIETY RE-ELECTS ITS OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Dunn, of West Fifth street, the officers were elected to serve for another term. The single exception in this re-election was the naming of Miss Catherine Lounsbury as secretary, in place of the late Miss Helen Burroughs. The officers are Mrs. Clarence E. Bond, president; Mrs. George B. Wean, vice-president, and Mrs. Freeman Shotwell, treasurer. Reports on the year's work showed the society to have a membership of thirty-five members and be in a flourishing condition.

In conection with the business session came an informal discussion of plans for the spring work of the organization, and the various committees are soon to get busy. At the conclusion of the session, an informal social hour was passed, and refreshments were served.

They Want Sidewalks.

Charles C. Graves and other residents of Clinton avenue and vicinity petitioned for sidewalks on that avenue between West Front and Fourth streets at the Common Council meeting last night. The matter was referred. The report of the alms committee showed the total outside expense for the past month to be $244.75. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that fifteen permits were granted during February, and H. G. Adams, clerk of the District court, reported receipts of $106.70 for the past month with a balance of $77.10.

Small Ball Players to Have Fair.

Assisted by the women of the altar chapter, the members of the third nine of baseball players at Holy Cross church will hold a cake and candy sale at the parish house tomorrow afternoon, between 3 and 6 o'clock. The proceeds are to be used for new uniforms and baseball expenses for the season, and the boys have arranged to serve a special kind of fruit sundae, known as "The Ideal," in connection with the affair.

GEORGE STRONG CLAY THANKS CITY FATHERS

Just before the Common Council adjourned last night, President Tolles called upon the new member from the Second ward, George S. Clay, to make a few remarks.

"Mr. President," responded Mr. Clay, "I am very glad of this opportunity to express to you, and the other members of the Council, my appreciation of the honor which you have conferred upon me, by election to your honorable body. The Common Council of the city of Plainfield has long sustained a very high reputation for disinterested and effective service for the public, and I consider it a great honor to be a member of this body; and thank you very heartily for your action."

Mr. Clay's remarks were followed with applause on the part of all the members.

Y. W. C. A.'S WORKERS ATTEND A SUPPER

Members of the Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A., together with the women serving on the various committees of association work, met at the association rooms last night, when an informal supper was served. The occasion was a social gathering, held that the members of the various committees might become better acquainted.

The collation, which was prepared at the association, was served in the dining-room, which was lavishly decorated with yellow jonquils and asparagus fern. They dainty place cards were hand-painted with jonquils and violets. Covers were laid for sixty. The arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Elliott T. Barrows, chairman of the social committee of the association.

At the conclusion of the supper, Mrs. F. G. Mead, president of the association, made a few remarks in keeping with the occasion. The diners concluded the evening with an informal hour of music and song.

CORPORATION COUNSEL SAYS LET THEM FIGHT.

Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh, to whom was referred the matter in dispute between Harry Dreier and Frank Bacon regarding the sale of the Experience Moe property by the city to the former, submitted his report at the March meeting of the Common Council last night. Mr. Marsh said that inasmuch as Mr. Dreier had purchased the property from the city, according to the provisions of such sales, that the city has no power or authority in the matter; that the matter in dispute is solely between Mr. Dreier and Mr. Bacon as the former had had the title searched and saw fit to accept the deeds, etc.

The corporation counsel said also that the courts are open for the settlement of such matters. The opinion and other papers in the case were ordered filed.

ANNOUNCE CAST FOR A HOPE CHAPEL PLAY

Rehearsals are going along nicely for the Christian Endeavor play, "Men, Maids and Matchmakers," to be presented at Hope chapel on Friday night by members of the Endeavor society of the chapel, for the benefit of the music fund of the church. Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, herself a talented elocutionist, is acting as coach for the society and under her direction the cast is making decided improvement.

The play in itself is interesting, there being three acts and an abundance of fun. The bachelors and maids are presented to each other and to the audience. Aunt Selina appears on the scene, interferes with the course of true love and brings about an engagement. That is in the first act. In the second act, one month later, Dr. Imoff turns up and proves irrepressible. Mr. Vincent gets a lesson in love-making; Mr. Richards gets in hot water; Miss Howard understood and everybody gets into a state of dissatisfaction.

In the third act, one day later, Mr. Vincent is peace-maker. Aunt Selina upsets Miss Marshall's plans. The course of true love runs smoothly for once and everyone is made happy. The cast:

Bachelor maids—"Miss Lillian Stewart," Miss Mary N. Mortimer; "Miss Katherine Howard," Miss Bertha A. Jones; "Miss Elizabeth Everett," Miss Elizabeth Slorah; "Miss Alice Marshall," and "Aunt Selina," Miss Elsie Rimmer. Bachelors—"Guy Richards," Frank Rimmer; "Charles Brewster," Harold Brownell; "Roy Vincent," John Slorah; "Dr. Imoff," Russell Randolph; "Sammie," (a large cat.) Tickets can be purchased either at the door or from the members of the society.

TELLS OF THE WORK AT SCHOFIELD SCHOOL

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church held a largely-attended and interesting meeting in the parlor of the edifice, yesterday. Mrs. Sarah Taylor, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Philadelphia, and one of the trustees of the Martha Schofield School at Aiken, S. C., made an address, telling of the great work being accomplished there. Miss Schofield, for whom the school was named and who has been engaged in the work for over forty years, celebrated the seventieth anniversary of her birthday last week. Mrs. Taylor spoke only words of praise of her devotion.

It was reported that the society realized $286.20 as profit from the recent turkey supper, and several donations were made at the meeting, aggregating $275 to various objects in the church. The society also voted $10 as a birthday gift for Miss Schofield. Two new members were elected. The reports showed the society to be in a flourishing condition the prospects for the coming year being very bright.

AWARD STONE CONTRACT TO N. B. SMALLEY & CO.

Rivalry in the matter of bids for the work of furnishing crushed stone to the city for the coming year was renewed at the March meeting of the Common Council, last night, between N. B. Smalley & Co. and the Watchung Stone Company. Smalley & Co. won by a good margin, thereby getting the contract away from Warren B. Travell's concern. The latter, however, gets the contract for furnishing crosswalks, culverts, etc., his bid being the lowest.

N. B. Smalley & Co. submitted the following bid for crushed stone: Fine screenings, 78 cents; ½ inch, 78 cents; 1½ inch, 78 cents; 2½ inch, 70 cents. The bid of the Watchung Stone Company is as follows. Fine screenings, 84 cents; ½ inch, 84 cents; 1½ inch, 78 cents; 2½ inch, 68 cents. The Watchung Stone Company presented an endorsement from L. W. Page, of the Department of Agriculture, stating that its stone meets every test.

The Watchung Stone Company, Andrew Roach and Patrick Nugent presented bids for furnishing crosswalks, culverts, curbing, etc., but that of the company for the various sizes of stone being 22, 43, 47, 66 and 75 cents a foot, was the lowest and the contract will be awarded the concern. All of the bids were referred to the street committee.

COMMENCEMENT ORATOR

G. H. Utter, Ex-Governor of Rhode Island, Selected by Education Board.

TRANSACT ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Reports are Submitted—Superintendent H. M. Maxson Tells of His Recent Trip.

Former Governor George H. Utter, of Rhode Island, will be the speaker at the Plainfield High School commencement exercises, to be held Thursday evening, June 24. Mr. Utter, who is owner and editor of the Westerly, Rhode Island, Sun, was born in this city and is a relative of Miss Jessie Utter, of Central avenue. He is a graduate of Amherst College.

It was the intention of the Board to have Mr. Utter as the speaker at last year's commencement exercises, but he was engaged to speak at a national Sunday-school convention being held in Kentucky at that time. The Board of Education has not announced where the exercises will be held this year.

At the meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education held last night at the Plainfield High School, the certificate of the Board of School Estimate, providing for the expenditure of $10,000 instead of $5,000 for furniture in the new Darrow Avenue School, was presented. It had been signed by all the members of the Board and later in the evening was submitted to the Common Council. At the last meeting, it was claimed that an appropriation of $5,000 was insufficient for furnishing the new building, and the amount was doubled. At last night's meeting bids were ordered advertised for this furniture, and these will be opened at the next regular meeting of the Board, to be held April 5.

Routine business occupied the time of the members, and the meeting adjourned before 9 o'clock. Mr. Abbott was the only member absent. Bills amounting to $1,000 were audited and ordered paid. The report of the custodian of schools showed a balance of $93,366.44 to the credit of the Board on February 28. The report of the medical inspectors showed that 638 pupils have been examined at the various schools during the month.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson, of the city schools, presented his report on the recent national convention of the school superintendents at Chicago which he attended. The report will be published in full tomorrow.

RECORDER CAMPBELL NABS A WIRE THIEF SUSPECT

Recorder David C. Campbell, of Dunellen, made an arrest this morning while on his way to his office. Passing the new unfinished residence of John Fedderman in that place about 6:30, he observed a man inside and knowing that it was not the custom of the workmen to be on the job so early, he stopped to investigate.

The man, who was about sixty years of age, did not give a satisfactory account of himself or explain his presence in the building, and besides, he had in his arms some fifty or sixty pounds of copper telephone wire.

Recorder Campbell placed him under arrest and called Marshall William R. Sliney, who locked the fellow up. He will be given a hearing tonight at 6 o'clock.

Thieves broke into Mr. Fedderman's carpenter shop last night and made away with $200 worth of carpenter's tools belonging to his employes, of whom there are ten. There is no clue as to the identity of the miscreants. It is no believed that the man found at the house this morning had anything to do with the robbery at the shop.

P. H. S. Faculty in Game.

A team composed of five members of P. H. S. faculty will battle for basketball honors tomorrow afternoon with the swift senior class team. The championship of the school is the stake. Secret practices are being held by the faculty squad and great tricks are looked for. Those in the lineup will be: Faculty—Travell, Best, Howe, Riley and Hubbard. Seniors—Prior, Wilcox, Randolph, Robbins and Beeken. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

CITY CO-OPERATES FOR CHARTER CELEBRATION

The March meeting of the Common Council held last night, was one of the shortest of the year. There was but little business of importance to be considered due to the fact that an adjourned session was held last week, when several matters were disposed of, including liquor licenses.

Mr. Tolles named F. L. Holt, Herbert Buxton and C. C. Randolph as a committee to represent that body in the Fourth of July celebration of the granting of the city charter, as requested by the Board of Trade.

George S. Clay, the new member from the Second ward, who succeeds R. L. Hall was present for the first time. President Tolles announced that he had appointed him chairman of the license committee and also a member of the committees on police, lights and trees and laws and ordinances and that Mr. Mygatt was relieved from membership on the laws and ordinance committee.

The contract with the Buffalo concern for a new steam roller and scarifier for a consideration of $2,300 and the old roller was reported and filed.

A petition received from L. C. VanNest for permission to erect a cement block stone building at 218 East Fourth street in which to store sashes and blinds, was referred to the fire and building committee, and later granted on motion of the chairman, Mr. Taylor, it being understood that the structure will be erected under the direction of Building Inspector T. O. Doane.

The Board of School Estimate certified to the Common Council last night that it had determined that the amount necessary to furnish the new public school building on Darrow avenue would be $10,000. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

PLAN FOR EXTENSION OF WEST FIFTH STREET

During a suspension of business at the March meeting of the Common Council, last night, Mr. Gloak, chairman of the streets and sewer committee, moved for a public hearing on the ordinance to open West Fifth street, between Grant and Darrow avenues. V. W. Nash, Jr., appearing for John Rafferty, owner of considerable property in that vicinity, requested a postponement of action for two weeks or a month until he could look into the matter. At present he believed the improvement would be a disadvantage to him and on those grounds opposed it. In view of this opposition, on motion of Mr. Gloak, the ordinance was laid over for the present.

There was alson a public hearing on the ordinance to open Mariners place, but no one appeared to speak either for or against this proposition, and it is the intention of the Council to adopt the ordinance according to the original plans.

MRS. BARTINE DEAD AGED SIXTY-TWO YRS.

The funeral services of Mrs. Maggie Vanderveer Bartine, aged 62 years, widow of Judge John D. Bartine, who died Sunday night in Somerset Hospital, will be held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Rebecca Vanderveer, with whom she had lived at Somerville for several months. Mrs. Bartine had been under treatment for a long time and her death was not wholly unexpected. She was one of the best known residents of Somerville and had a host of friends in this city. She was deeply interested in religious and charitable enterprises.

Mrs. Bartine was a member of the First Reformed church, Somerville and for many years a teacher in the Sunday-school. She was married to Judge Bartine in 1868 at Rocky Hill and soon afterward moved to Somerville. Judge Bartine was well known in legal circles throughout the State and was an executor of the William A. Rice estate, for whose murder Lawyer Patrick is now serving a life sentence.

Surviving are one son, Edwin V. Bartine, of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Dyer, of Wing's Station, N. Y.; also one brother, George V. Vanderveer, of Somerville.

Miss Anna L. Case Sang.

Miss Anna Lucretia Case, soprano; Mrs. Florence Jones, contralto, of New York, and Daniel Beddoe, tenor, of New York, sang at the seventy-fourth annual dinner of Saint David's Society of the State of New York, held at the Hotel Astor, New York, last night. The artists were given a great ovation.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT TRADE BOARD'S BANQUET

The Board of Trade banquet committee, at its meeting held last night at the office of Secretary A. S. Herr, reported that about 250 tickets for the affair have already been sold and all arrangements are practically completed. The work of arranging the seating at the various tables still remains to be done.

D. DeMolli has been secured as caterer, and the dinner will be served by him at Truell Hall. A number of important matters relative to the final arrangements for the banquet are to come up at the March meeting of the Board of Trade, to be held at the Board rooms, Coward building, Thursday night. All those having tickets for sale are urgently requested to hand in their reports to E. M. Laing previous to this meeting.

TO BUY APPARATUS FOR NEW FIRE HOUSE

Now that the new East End firehouse is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy, Mr. Taylor, chairman of the committee on fire and buildings, offered a resolution at the March meeting of the Common Council, last night, authorizing the advertising of bids for a combination chemical engine and hose wagon. The resolution was adopted, but not until there was some discussion which was started by Mr. Buxton.

In the opinion of the Fourth ward member he believed that the advertisement should be inserted in trade journals as well as the official papers of this city. "Why," said Mr. Buxton, "I think we should advertise as far as Westfield." This bit of sarcasm led Mr. Taylor to remark that the committee intends to send the advertisement from the local newspapers to trade journals and thus the object would be attained.

Following up the argument, Mr. Buxton suggested that an advertisement be placed in the "Engineering News, as well as other periodicals devoted to fire matters." This brought a smile to the countenances of several members who were surprised to learn that the Engineering News has gone into the fire business. It was finally decided to allow the committee to cause the advertisement to be inserted in such trade journals as they deem desirable, in addition to the official newspapers of this city.

Another resolution introduced by Mr. Taylor, which was adopted, authorized the city clerk to advertise for bids for furnishing oats and hay for the use of the fire department, according to the previously adopted policy of the Common Council.

CHARMING CONTRALTO TO SING AT RECITAL.

Miss Christine Miller, the contralto, who appears at the first of Joseph McIntyre's two Lenten musicales, has a most enviable reputation as an interpreter of songs. The Indianapolis News, speaking of the recent appearance of Miss Miller in that city, has this to say of her:

"Miss Christine Miller received an ovation. She has a rich contralto voice, reliable method and sincere art, combined with irrestible personal qualities."

The first of these musicales will be given Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna on Watchung avenue, at 4 o'clock. Hans Letz, who has been playing with Mr. McIntyre's trio so successfully this winter, will collaborate with Miss Miller. Mr. McIntyre will preside at the piano. Further particulars regarding the affair can be obtained from Mr. McIntyre by telephone.

Surprised John Keough.

A surprise party was given in honor of James Keough at his home in Lee place, Saturday night. Games and singing were enjoyed during the first part of the evening, while violin, piano and phonographic selections completed the program. The affair was arranged by Miss Mary London. Mr. Keough rendered several violin solos, while Charles Eller assisted on the piano. Those who entertained with solos were Miss Anna Frazier, Miss Florence Long, John Foley, James Keough and Frank Frazier. Dancing was a feature and supper was served at midnight.

Lenten Lectures on The Psalms.

The first of the Lenten series of lectures and Bible study on the Psalms, to be given by W. D. Murray, will take place at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday night. Other talks in this course will be held Thursday evenings during Lent, and all women are invited to attend.

CENSURES A DETECTIVE

Judge Runyon Tells Rabig, of C. R. R. Force, His Use of Weapon was Unwarranted.

BOY CRAP SHOOTERS NABBED.

Seven Colored Lads, Caught on Flat Car, Badly Scared by Detective's Gun Play— Sentence Suspended.

Censuring Detective Rabig of the Central Railroad squad for firing on seven colored boys discovered shooting crap on a gondola car near the freight house yesterday afternoon, City Judge Runyon released the prisoners with suspended sentences. The culprits, all of whom are between fourteen and eighteen years of age, were badly scared.

"This custom of railroad detectives firing on trespassers," said Judge Runyon, "is a method of justice which this court cannot approve. We realize that the railroad loses much coal by the practice of jumping on the cars and stealing it, and we are willing to co-operate with the railroad in stopping these robberies. But gun-play has been abused by the detectives, who seem too willing to fire upon trespassers. Shooting should only be resorted to in extreme cases, where life has been taken or is in danger. The court considers that Detective Rabig's actions in firing on these boys was entirely uncalled for and will therefore suspend sentence on these prisoners, who have been badly scared."

It was late yesterday afternoon when Rabig spied the lads shooting crap on a flat car. He opened fire, but says he only fired three times, with blank cartridges, shooting in the air. The prisoners gave their names as Fred Somerset, of East Third street; David Martin, of Filmore avenue; Theodore Scotland, of East Second street; Walter Robinson, of East Third street; Frank Peterson, of Berkman street; Edward Ford, of Richmond street, and LeRoy Johnson, of Plainfield avenue. The boys told Judge Runyon that they were fired on no less than ten times, and testified that one of the bullets hit the iron support of the flat car on which they were playing. As soon as the gun-play began, the party "dusted," but as one of them had left his bicycle, the detective nabbed him with a companion who returned with him shortly afterward. The two gave the names of the other members of the party and Officer Dobson rounded up the five for the hearing.

Questioned about the shooting, Detective Rabig told Judge Runyon that he always carried blank cartridges in his revolver and had fired in the air to show the boys that he meant business. He said he had his revolver with him, but no blanks. In speaking of the practise of shooting at trespassers, Judge Runyon took occasion to refer to the recent shooting by Detective Doody, who wounded an alleged coal-stealer at Fanwood. Chief Kiely told the detective that if any of the city officers had fired upon a man under those circumstances he would be haled before the police board.

After the trial, Joshua Gray, chief of detectives for the Jersey Central, learned of the reckless use of the revolver made by his man and had something to say. He informed Chief Kiely that he never knew how wantonly the weapon had been used by some of his staff and that he would make it his business to have it stopped at once.

E. C. DEAL REMEMBERED BY HIS FELLOW P. S. C. MEN.

Deal, formerly of this city, who was general manager of the central division of the electric branch of the Public Service Corporation, and who resigned on Saturday to take a position in the South, was presented with a handsome loving cup and a watch fob studded with diamonds by the employes of his department, Sunday afternoon. The affair took place in Elizabeth.

The presentation was made by Assistant Manager E. R. French, of Elizabeth, and a suitable response was made by Mr. Deal to whom the gifts were a great surprise. A collation followed. Mr. Deal goes to Greensboro, N. C., to become superintendent of the gas, electric and trolley departments of the public service there. Mr. French will succeed Mr. Deal.

Royal Showing of Fine Springtime Wash Goods!

To step in out of the blow and bluster of outdoors and walk thru our great Wash Fabric Section is like passing thru a garden in full bloom, for flower-decked fabrics are on every side—wonderful things from the looms conjured for this season, and most remarkable colorings have the dyers made possible. Some of the silk and cotton combinations from abroad are truly marvelous, and they are setting a pace for the silk makers, rapid as have been the advances in the making of their sister fabrics.

We have just been looking thru some of the ultra-pretty things, and we want to say a word or two for each of them.

Gold Cloth is one of the richest of the new fabrics, deriving its name from the close imitation to the color of gold which is attained. The rich gold stripes alternate with pretty Dresden stripes, forming a combination at once charming and effective. There will be many a rich gown seen this season made up of these splendid stuffs; 45 inches wide; $2 a yard.

Silk and Cotton Voile—Remarkably fine fabrics—are bound to find great favor. They come largely in black and white combinations. Some have exquisite white lace striped effects. They are 45 inches wide and come in several grades; 95c to $1.75 the yard.

Silk and Cotton Novelties are shown in a variety of practically all the fashionable shades. They have plain satin and jacquard stripes—very pretty indeed; 39c and 50c the yard.

Silk and Cotton Pongees—Good rough effects—may be had in all the popular shades, including wistaria, taupe, tan and natural; will make handsome dresses for summer wear; 39c, 45c, 50c the yard.

Banzai Silks—Silk and cotton mixtures, having rich silky sheen, and may be had in all colors imaginable; the feature is a wide dotted border—a novel innovation truly; 45 inches wide; 75c the yard.

Andersons Zephyrs are shown in hardly less than 150 patterns; lots of them particularly good for men's shirts; many that will make up beautifully into children's dresses; useful also for other purposes; 32 inches wide; 29c per yard.

Foulards of silk and cotton are shown in a large variety of beautiful new patterns and rich colorings; 27 inches wide; 39c the yard.

Kimono Cloth—Another silk and cotton mixture, is very beautiful indeed; specially designed for kimonos and house gowns; all in charming Persian designs and colorings; 27 inches wide; 39c a yard.

French Novelties with large embroidered spots; already going like the wind; hardly able to keep them in stock; white and various shades; 27 inches wide, 39c.

Swiss Applique is woven with a flounce every 48 inches, the pattern being adaptable for waist front, collar and sleeves, enabling you to have a full dress completely trimmed for only $3; all wanted colors and black; 25c the yard.

The showing of White Embroidered Swisses, Batiste, Lawn, India Linon, French Lawn and White Pique is the largest seen in any store in the State. Prices are moderate through the line.

Wonder if Wall Street will sing the doxology at high noon on Thursday?

Why is it that men famous in educational work or men of National renown in other walks of life are not selected to deliver the commencement day orations?

The Governor, not his commission, is responsible for the big bill incurred in the excise investigation and that fact should be borne in mind by the legislators. That commission was the pet idea of Mr. Fort and everybody knows that the work was done at his direction, therefore it does seem strange that he will stand by and see the members of that body "roasted" and moreover will deliberately consign the suggested remedial measure to the wastepaper basket.

It is just about time that some of those railroad detectives should be brought to the bar of justice to answer for the reckless way in which they handle their revolvers. Some of them, judging by recent performances, have got it into their heads that their badge of office warrants them in using the deadly weapon on the slightest provocation. It was only a day or two ago that one of these men wounded a fleeing coal thief. Today one of their number admitted in police court that he had fired on some youthful thieves and was unable to prove his assertion that blank cartridges had been used. Judge Runyon's denunciation of this detective was most deserved and the object of his censure should consider himself lucky for not being held for the grand jury for his conduct.

The Cynic Says—

The Cynic says that nine councilmen wear mustaches; six wear glasses; two are addicted to red neckties; two cover their necks with stand-up collars; two are bald-headed and two are in the near-bald class, and eleven take themselves seriously. For more facts about the members of this august body and its funny side read The Buzzard every Saturday.

CITY RETIRES $5,000. WORTH OF ST. BONDS

The street improvement bonds to the amount of $5,000 which were retired at the March meeting of the Common Council, last night, were issued for a term of three years, with the proviso that they could be paid off at any time during that period. The assessments having been paid so promptly, City Treasurer W. F. Arnold found it possible to liquidate the indebtedness at the expiration of a year and half, which is quite unusual.

There are three lots of street bonds, one issue being for $3,000, which will be retired in May, another for $10,000 and a third for $14,000 which will be retired just as soon as the assessments come in. The fact that $5,000 were paid off at this time, shows that the tax collector and treasurer have been very active in their duties.

FORT TAX PLAN REJECTED.

Economy and Diversion of School Funds Likely in Jersey This Year.

The interests which have fought Gov. Fort so strongly in the matter of railroad taxation held a meeting with certain Jersey lawmakers in New York city on Saturday, and it was decided that Gov. Fort's plan to increase the "main stem" railroad taxes should not be recommended to the Legislature. The meeting was held in New York so as to avoid any interference from lawmakers.

Ex-Gov. Stokes and Senators Frelinghuysen and Hillery are reported to be the directing forces in this program. The report of the Joint Finance Committee will recommend ecenomy in State expenditures to avoid the threatened deficit, and the recommendation of Gov. Fort will be turned down. About $250,000 will be taken from the railroad taxes for certain educational work instead of the State fund. About $60,000 will be allowed the State Normal School, $50,000 for State students at Rutgers College, about $3,000 for the maintenance of the School for the Deaf, $40,000 for the new State Normal School at Montclair, and about $15,000 a year for the Colored School at Bordentown.

The chances are that the committee will not recommend that the County Tax Boards be abolished. The members of these Tax Boards and their friends are believed to be too strong politically to have the Governor's recommendation become effective.

ATROCIOUSLY ASSAULT AN AGENT OF S. P. C. A.

Dr. Frederick A. Zucker, veterinary surgeon, and an agent for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was mobbed yesterday morning at Elizabethport by a gang of enraged Jews, who broke his nose and blackened both his eyes and kicked him severely about the body. Several men drove away his assailants.

Dr. Zucker heard a man had a sick horse in Court street, near Fourth, that he was ill-treating it and went there to make an investigation. The man told him he had no horse, and when Dr. Zucker insisted on looking over the premises, the man's son slapped him in the face.

Zucker tackled his assailant, knocked him down, placed him under arrest. When he undertook to take away his prisoner he was attacked by several women who tried to tear the youth away from him, but failed to do so. Their cries brought a number of Jews to the scene and they at once pitched into Zucker, released the prisoner, and then proceeded to punish the doctor, who may be disfigured for life from the thrashing he received

When he was rescued from their clutches he went to police court, where he swore out warrants for some of his assailants, whose names he ascertained.

RUM RULE FOR JERSEY CITY, PRIEST PREDICTS.

"I am doing police duty every Sunday because the policemen won't do their duty," said Rev. John C. MacErlain, rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Jackson and Bidwell avenues, at Jersey City, Sunday night after making a tour of the Greenville section of Jersey City. Father MacErlain is also in charge of the Home for the Cure of Inebriates. Of his experience yesterday he said:

"I found an intoxicated man in Myrtle avenue beating his wife, and I telephoned to the police to get on the job, that I wasn't going to do all the work for them. But I don't blame the poor policemen. If they make excise arrests they are apt to get into trouble with the men higher up. I knew this condition would exist as the result of the last election.

"The officials of Jersey City are making no effort to enforce the excise law. I see Governor Fort is backing out, too. There is nothing now for Jersey City but rum rule. Although I am doing police duty every Sunday, it is impossible for me to get into the saloons. The lookouts know me and the side doors are locked in a hurry."

SHOT BY PLAYMATE, GIRL MAY RECOVER.

Hope is now entertained that the bullet wound in the side and abdomen of ten-year old Nettie Brown, of Hackettstown will not prove fatal. The child was shot accidentally by Willie Beam, seven years old, with whom she was playing. The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown, of New York, and with her mother and sister has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Congie, near here. Her mother went to Hackettstown Friday afternoon to do some shopping and Nettie went to the home of Frank H. Beam, a neighbor, to play.

Mrs. Beam was away In some manner the children became possessed of a revolver and cartridges. In their play the weapon was discharged. The bullet struck the girl on her side and, striking a rib, was deflected downward, entering the abdominal cavity. So far efforts to determine the exact location have failed.

Milk Producers May Fight.

New Brunswick, March 2.—At a meeting of the dairymen of Somerset and Middlesex counties, held at the court house here Saturday afternoon, the matter of complying with the new milk ordinance adopted by the local board of health was further discussed. It was decided to have the executive committee see if the board would not withdraw the provision as to the temperature at which the milk must be kept. If this appeal is not successful the ordinance is to be tested in the courts.

Plainfield in .... The Olden Days.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

January 27, 1870.

A boy out West was asked if he knew where liars went, and answered yes—they went to New York to write for the Tribune. Editorial.

The farm of Archibald Davison situated near Townsbury, Warren County, has been sold to a company for $30,000. It contains 100 acres and is believed to have large deposits of iron ore.

The police force of Elizabeth, now numbering 33 men, will this year cost $38,000. During 1869 the number of arrests made was 500.

This is an exceptional winter. Everybody prophesied intense cold, and now everybody is asking where the ice is to come from.

During the past week 214 cars arrived at the communipaw stock yards containing 1,980 cattle, 4,999 hogs and 10,649 sheep. There were slaughtered 392 cattle, 4,861 hogs and 7,380 sheep.

We call attention to our fine colored printing. Look at "Gazelle Supper Ticket," for a specimen. We can do as good printing as can be done in the State and at lower rates. We do our own work. Give us a call and satisfy yourselves.

The annual meeting of the Editors Association of the State of New Jersey was held at Trenton last week.—The following are the officers for the ensuing year: President, Z. K. Pangborn; Secretary, John F. Babcock; Treasurer, James F. Yard. Nine new members were elected.

The City authorities of Burlington have decreed the indiscriminate killing of all dogs found running at large in that city.

Exciting Bowling Match.

An exciting bowling match was rolled on Johnny Campbell's alleys last night between W. G. Mangan and Albert Utzinger and A. W. Dunavan and Edward Fincke, the former team taking three out of the four games rolled. Mangan was high man with a score of 220, while Utzinger put up a 218. LIGHTED SIGNAL FOR PRINCETON "BOBBIES."

The efficiency of the police force of Princeton, consisting of a marshal and two assistants, is shortly to be increased by a novel scheme. A red lamp is to be suspended from a cornice of the First National Bank building, on the corner of Witherspoon and Nassau streets, the most central point in the town.

By its connection with the Mayor's office, the flaring of the light will make known to the borough policemen that there is trouble afoot. The corner where the lamp will be placed can be seen from almost all parts of the town. The guardians of the peace who are accustomed to saunter along Nassau street have hitherto been out of reach several times when there was mischief under way, particularly in the backwoods section of the town where negro settlements have sprung up.

Telephoning the Mayor's office has not always presented a solution to the difficulty, for the Mayor then must find one of the three policemen, a task not so easy in a town of Princeton's dimensions. There is some talk now of connecting the red light with the telephone wires, so that a ring in the Mayor's office surely will bring one the officers.

FLOUR TRAIL LED TO ARREST.

Red Bank, March 2.—In the future if John Abrams again undertakes to steal flour, he will be careful not to cut the bag which contains it. Saturday night Abrams, it is charged, broke into John Baker's store, in Shrewsbury avenue, and took a twenty-five-pound bag of flour. Then, it is claimed, as he crawled out of the window he had broken to gain entrance, a sharp piece of glass came in contact with the bag, unknown to Abrams.

The flour trickled in a tiny stream from the opening and left a track all the way to Abram's lodgings, nearly half a mile distant. When Abrams entered the house he told the women folks he wanted some hot biscuits for breakfast Sunday morning. The flour trail was followed by Chief of Police J. Frank Patterson, who took Abrams in custody. Abrams denied the theft, declaring he had picked up the flour along the railroad track. The man was committed to the county jail yesterday morning.

Union Freeholders Visit Hospital.

Elizabeth, March 2.—The Union County Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon began a tour of inspection of the Elizabeth General Hospital, at the invitation of its board of managers. It is the outcome of charges made recently against the institution. These charges alleged that poor patients were discriminated against. After an investigation by a joint committee it was declared that the charges were unfounded.

—The finest olive oil, imported direct by Neuman Brothers, can be purchased in quantities to suit at lowest prices.

—Miss Ella Benedict and her mother, of Putnam avenue, will remove April 1 to the Brokaw property on Duer street, now occupied by Alburtus Swalm. Mr. and Mrs. Swalm will board temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Willett, of Craig place and later will take an apartment in the Jackson building.

The Harvard-Yale regatta this year will be held on July 1, after the Poughkeepsie races, instead of before, as it was last season.

FRIENDLY SONS PLAN BANQUET ON BIG SCALE

For fourteen years, consecutively, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, composed of leading Irish-Americans, of Elizabeth, and vicinity, have held a banquet on St. Patrick's Day, and each of the affairs has proven successful and enjoyable from every standpoint. This year's will be the fifteenth, and will be no exception, judging from the elaborate arrangements being made for it by the committee. It will take place in the hall of the Young Men's Catholic Literary Association, Rahway avenue, Elizabeth. Governor Fort will be present, if unforseen circumstances do not interfere with the plan. He has given his promise.

Congressman James A. Hamill, of Jersey City, will speak, as well as others prominent in the political and business life of the State. P. J. Madden, of Chicago, called by the Friendly Sons the "Thousand-Mile Man," because he always attends the banquet if he is within a thousand miles of Elizabeth, will very likely be present. The Rev. John A. Dillon, curate at St. Mary's church, and formerly in charge of Sexton Hall College, will be one of the orators.

Practically every official in Elizabeth and many of the county officials will be present. Chief Kiely, Mayor Fisk, former Mayor James F. Buckle, Amos Andrews, E. C. Westcott and George J. Tobin will represent Plainfield.

Purcell, of East Orange, will do the catering. Henry Leahy and John R. Laggren, the decorating, and Harry Wetton will furnish the music. T. Arthur Baker will lead the choruses, as usual.

The committee in charge of the banquet consists of General D. F. Collins, chairman; Edward Nugent, George J. S. Murphy, Richard T. Potts, W. Carrol Metlack, William Whelan, Henry Leahy and William J. McCloud. The officers of the Friendly Sons are: General D. F. Collins, president; Henry Leahy, treasurer; George J. S. Murphy, secretary.

NEW JERSEY'S ECONOMY PLAN AS MAPPED OUT.

Members of the special New Jersey Legislative Committee, who have been making an inquiry into the condition of the State's finances, with a view of submitting recommendations for the relief thereof, conferred Saturday at the office of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, 76 William street, New York. A final draft of the report the committee will make is being gone over carefully, and Mr. Frelinghuysen, after a conference with his associates, said it was quite probable this would be signed before nightfall and presented to the Legislature at Trenton tonight.

Mr. Frelinghuysen was not inclined to discuss any of the recommendations the committee have embodied in the document, but he did say it was quite voluminous and went fully into the financial situation. "It was stated there was nothing drastic about the suggestions to be made, and the belief was expressed the report would be adopted without dissent upon presentation.

The committeeemen took occasion to deny indignantly that any outside influences had been at work in the compilation of the report and particularly resented the imputation that former Governor Edward C. Stokes had conferred with any of them about it.

"Governor Stokes or no one else has had anything whatever to do with the findings of the committee," said Mr. Frelinghuysen. "He has never conferred with us or met with us, either collectively or individually, nor have we as a body or as individuals been to see or talk with him or any one else about it."

It is understood legislative bills drawn in conformity with the committee's report will be offered in the Senate the same time the report is presented.

Rescue Mission Anniversary.

The Rescue Mission at Elizabeth celebrated Sunday night at Westminster Presbyterian church its seventeenth anniversary. The mission was established in 1892, and has done splendid work, reclaiming fallen humanity. The mission is in a flourishing condition. An excellent musical and literary program was rendered Sunday night and several addresses were made by clergymen and others priasing the institution for its untiring labors toward the betterment of those who applied to it for help.

Zouaves' Itinerary.

The survivors of the Veteran Zouaves of Elizabeth intend to keep pretty busy this year. Besides going to Washington this week to attend President Taft's inauguration they have made arrangements to go to Belvidere, May 30, to take part in the Memorial Day celebration and will spend three days in that town. June 19 they will go to Trenton to take part in the dedication of the monument to heroes of the Civil War and in October will take part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York City.

Some Clayton glassblowers who made from $12 to $15 a day working in the West before the slump in the trade there are now chopping wood in the woods near Clayton for sixty-five cents a cord rather than be idle.

USE PRESS WANT ADS

OVERFATNESS CONDEMNED.

Fat, or even fattish, women readers who want to be in the mode this year must understand that the demand is for lines, not curves, and govern themselves accordingly.

That means OFF with the fat. It has become a duty. Many are trying exercise or dieting; but it is certain they will find these methods too slow and unreliable. The cheapest and safest way to get in form for the Directoire mode is by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. Any druggist (or the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich.) will give you a large-sized case of these elegant little fat reducers, containing a good, generous supply, for seventy-five cents, and even this quantity should be enough to make a decided impression on your excess fat. Many have lost as much as a pound a day.

These Marmola Prescription Tablets may be used with impunity and likewise perfect confidence, for, being made strictly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, they are, of course quite harmless. They are rather beneficial than otherwise, in fact, never disturbing the stomach or causing a wrinkling of the flesh.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

A meeting of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada was held in Millville Saturday night, when President Dennis A. Hayes delivered an address on matters of interest to the trade.

William J. Rogers, sixty-two years old, who fell unconscious while on a house roof at Vineland and died soon afterward from hemorrhage of the brain, was buried yesterday. Muskee Tribe of Red Men and the Junior Mechanics attended the funeral.

The police of Gloucester late Saturday night raided the alleged disorderly house of Mrs. M. H. Henson, 936 Jersey avenue, and a boathouse on the river front. In both places a number of men and women, besides the alleged proprietors, were captured.

While at play near her home, at 217 Steven street, Camden, yesterday, four-year-old Ruth Truax came near losing her sight when a companion struck her in the eye with a sharp-pointed rod. She was taken to the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital, where hopes are entertained for saving the sight of the eye.

There was a jubilee meeting in the First Methodist church, Vineland, yesterday. Notes for $5,400, a debt incurred seventeen years ago, when the building was enlarged, were burned while fervent prayers were offered to God. Rev. J. W. Wright, district superintendent, assisted the pastor, Rev. Dr. John Handley, in the service.

Atlantic City detectives who trailed Clarence Schlosser, a nineteen-year-old Camden youth, to the boardwalk, created a sensation among a crowd of young folk with the young man by placing him under arrest. Schlosser was locked up to await the action of the Camden authorities, who notified the Atlantic City police that the charge against the youth was made by the father of a young woman.

Leisurely walking into Cooper Hospital, Camden, yesterday afternoon, Charles Riley, colored, of 811 Branch street, said that he had been stabbed by a woman with a hatpin. Examination by physicians showed that the fine point of the pin had nearly struck the man's heart. He refused to give the name of his assailant or say why he was stabbed. After receiving treatment he left the institution.

Within two years the printing shop of Joseph H. Pilson, 273 Washington street, Jersey City, has been ablaze five times. All of the fires were on Sunday night soon after 11 o'clock. The fifth fire occurred last Sunday night. All the fire apparatus in the lower section of the city responded. The damage is estimated at $500. The firemen said that the five fires were in all probability caused by crossed electric wires or spontaneous combustion.

Government life savers at Cold Springs Inlet, near Cape May, hurried to the rescue of the schooner Eugene Castle yesterday morning when the craft struck in the dangerous sand bars lying off the entrance to the harbor. Although the vessel was in no particular danger, unless a storm arose, the life savers stayed aboard all day, assisting the crew to prepare for the work of floating the vessel at high tide. Yesterday the vessel was floated off without throwing overboard any of her cargo of corn.

The proprietor of a Trenton garage has so far consulted the comfort and convenience of Trenton chauffeurs as to provide a waiting-room for them in his establishment. He has issued invitations to all the auto handlers in this city to attend a reception to be held in the waiting room this evening, after which a "chauffeurs' club" is to be organized. The automobile owners are not especially delighted with this seeming "unionizing" of their chauffeurs, and it is said that a number of them have given orders to their drivers to be absent from this "social function."

Members of the Iona Grange, which has now been in existence about six years, have organized what they call a Grange Board of Trade, with J. Hampton Leonard as president. They have rented a large two-story building, centrally located, which will be fitted up with every convenience for a grange. The second story will be used for a hall for grange meetings. They will also have a library and reading-room. The first story will be used as a storehouse, and the farmers will buy their seeds, fertilizers, farming implements and household necessities at wholesale prices, which will be distributed from this point.

When the early communicants were about to enter the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Broadway and Market streets, Camden, Sunday, they found a small bundle lying on the steps. When one of the women picked it up the wall of an infant was heard. When carried into the church a baby girl, about a month old, was found comfortably wrapped in a shawl. There was nothing to disclose the identity of the parents. After Rev. J. A. Morrissey, the assistant pastor of the church, had christened the infant it was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital. The baby has blue eyes and dark hair.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

This remark brought a frown to Langdon's face.

"I don't like bargaining between gentlemen, Peabody. More important still, I don't believe American politics has to be run on that plan. Why can't we change a lot of things now that we are here?"

Langdon became so enthused that he paced up and down the room as he spoke.

"Peabody, you and Stevens and I," continued Langdon, "could get our friends together and right now start to make this great capital of our great country the place of the 'square deal,' the place where give and take, bargain and sale, are unknown. We could start a movement that would drive out all secret influences"—

The secretary noticed Peabody's involuntary start.

"The newspapers would help us," went on Langdon. "Public opinion would be with us, and both houses of congress would have to join in the work if we went out in front, led the way and showed them their plain duty. And I tell you, Senator Peabody, that the principles that gave birth to this country, the principles of truth, honesty, justice and independence, would rule in Washington"—

"If Washington cared anything about them, Langdon," interjected the Pennsylvanian.

"That's my point," cried the Mississippian—"let us teach Washington to care about them!"

"Langdon, Langdon," said Peabody patronizingly, "you've seized on a bigger task than you know. After you reform Washington you will have to go on and reform human nature, human instincts, every human being in the country, if you want to make politics this angelic thing you describe. It isn't politics, it's humanity, that's wrong," waving aside a protest from Langdon.

"Anyway your idea is not constitutional, Langdon," continued Peabody. "You want everybody to have a share in the national government. That wouldn't meet the theory of centralization woven into our political system by its founders. They intended that our government should be controlled by a limited number of representatives, so that authority can be fixed and responsibility ascertained."

"You distort my meaning!" cried Langdon. "And, senator, I would like to ask why so many high priced constitutional lawyers who enter congress spend so much time in placing the constitution of the United States between themselves and their duty, sir, between the people and their government, sir, between the nation and its destiny? I want to know if in your opinion the constitution was designed to throttle expression of the public will?"

"Of course not. That's the reason you and I, Langdon, and the others are elected to the senate," added Peabody, starting to leave. Then he halted. "By the way, senator," he said, "I'll do my best to arrange what you want regarding aluminium hydrates for the sake of the south, and I'll also stand with you for Altacoola for the naval base. Our committee is to make its report tomorrow."

Langdon observed the penetrating gaze that Peabody had fixed on him. It seemed to betray that the Pennsylvanian's apparently careless manner was assumed.

"H'm!" coughed Langdon, glancing at Haines. "I'm not absolutely committed to Altacoola until I'm sure it's the best place. I'll make up my mind today definitely, and I think it will be for Altacoola."

"My boy, the duty must come down."

The boss of the senate went out, glaring venomously at Haines, slamming the door.

A moment later a page boy brought in a card. "Colonel J. D. Telfer, Gulf City," read the senator.

"Bud," he remarked to the secretary, "I'm going to send my old acquaintance Telfer, mayor of Gulf City, in here for you to talk to. He'll want to know about his town's chances for being chosen as the naval base. I must hurry away, as I have an appointment with my daughters and Mrs. Spangler before going before ways and means."

CHAPTER XI.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE "INSIDERS."

COLONEL J. D. TELFER (J. D. standing for Jefferson Davis, he explained proudly to Haines) proved a warm advocate of the doubtful merits of Gulf City as a hundred million dollar naval base. His flushed face grew redder, his long white hair became disordered, and he tugged at his white mustache continually as he waxed warmer in his efforts to impress the senator's secretary.

"I tell you, Mr. Haines, Gulf City, sah, leads all the south when it comes to choosin' ground fo' a naval base. Her vast expanse of crystal sea, her miles upon miles of silvah sands, sah, protected by a natural harbor and th' islands of Mississippi sound, make her th' only spot to be considered. She's God's own choice and the people's, too, for a naval base."

"But unfortunately congress also has something to say about choosing it," spoke Haines.

"To be shuah they do," said Gulf City's mayor, "but"—

"And there was a man here from Altacoola yesterday," again interrupted the secretary, "who said that Gulf City was fit only to be the state refuge for aged and indigent frogs."

"Say, they ain't a man in Altacoola wot can speak th' truth," indignantly shrieked the old colonel, almost losing control of himself, "because their heads is always a-buzzin' and a-hummin' from th' quinine they have to take to keep the fever away, sah."

"Congress has something to say"—

The mayor sat directly in front of Haines, at the opposite side of his desk. Regaining his composure, he suddenly leaned forward and half whispered to the secretary:

"Mah young friend, don't let Senator Langdon get switched away from Gulf City by them cheap skates from Altacoola. Now, if you'll get th' senator to vote fo' Gulf City we'll see—I'll see, sah, as an officer of th' Gulf City Lan' company—that you get taken ca-ah of."

Haines' eyes opened wide.

"Go on, colonel; go on with your offer," he said.

"Well, I'll see that a block of stock, sah—a big block—is set aside fo' Senator Langdon an' another fo' you too. We've made this ah-rangement elsewheah. We'll outbid Altacoola everah time. They're po' sports an' hate to give up."

"So Altacoola is bidding, too?" excitedly asked Haines.

Compare This Car With Others at Any Price

THE CAR OF QUALITY AND LOW COST.

THREE 1909 MODELS

Our "20" at $1,000 (Runabout)
Our "30" at $1,500 (5 Passengers)
Our "40" at $2,000 (7 Passengers)

exemplify the unapproached Mitchell construction. All models have four cylinders and selective transmission.

MITCHELL "30"—$1,500

Equipped with Magneto, 5 Lamps Generator and Horn

Settle your doubts once for all about what kind of car you want. The Show is your opportunity. There you can compare all others with the Mitchell models.

If you desire a roomy, luxurious touring car, see the Mitchell "40" at $2,000. Judge its worth by cars selling as high as $4,000. Here is a 40-horsepower car—a handsome car—a car of the highest finish—a car that seats seven passengers—has a wheel base of 122 inches—a car with platform rear spring attached outside the rear frame just as on $5,000 cars—a car with all metal body—springs of vanadium steel—aluminum castings strengthened with bronze—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $2,000.

If it is the popular $1,500 product that you wish—just see the Mitchell "30." Go over it part by part and then see how far short the others fall. Here is a $1,500 car with double ignition, magneto and vibrator coil and batteries (no extra charge for $150 magneto)—oversize tires—deatchable tonneau with choice of runabout deck, surrey body or single rumble seat—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $1,500.

If it is a nifty runabout the Mitchell "20" will fulfill your highest expectations—and then offer you features you didn't know were possible at the price—4 cylinders—20 horsepower—32x3½ tires, the size that usually goes on 5-passenger touring cars—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $1,000.

Please note carefully what Mitchell construction means. There's a big difference, especially between "assembled" cars and the Mitchells built entirely at the Mitchell factories.

Take the "30," our famous $1,500 car, as an example: In other low priced cars even the cheapest magneto—nothing to be compared with the one used on the $1,500 Mitchell—is listed as an "extra."

As magneto ignition is coming into universal favor, and every motorist wants it in his car, this magneto "extra" means $1,650 for the $1,500 car.

Remember, a standard magneto goes with the Mitchell "30" and is included in the $1,500.

Then there are the Mitchell's 32-inch wheels and 4-inch tires.

These tires alone would cost you $50 extra a set with any other machine.

Four-inch tires are the large size, made especially to take care of all the overload possible to a car of ordinary size.

On other $1,500 cars and on many that cost twice $1,500, you get only 3½-inch tires.

They are the ordinary size—the tires that are always blowing up or wearing out in short time, no matter how good they are, because 99 cars out of a hundred have to carry an overload.

You can "overload" your $1,500 Mitchell as often as you like. It has the tire capacity for more overload than you will ever pack in.

Consider what this means in money saving after you get your $1,500 car. Any experienced motorist will tell you that tire expense is ordinarily one of the heaviest drains. The oversize tires of the Mitchell also means the easiest riding, and a big saving of wear on your machine.

But the Mitchell "30" is built for economy all the way through.

It averages more miles per gallon of gasoline than any other 4-cylinder car, no matter what the price.

A big help in keeping down the cost of operation is the Mitchell's simplicity.

Give it oil and gasoline—and then let the machinery alone. That's what we have always said to Mitchell users. And they will tell you the rule works on the Mitchell.

We have the best system of lubrication that could be worked out in eight years.

One important reason why we can give you so much more car and so much better car for $1,500 is that ours is not an "assembled" car—that is, it is not gathered up one part from one manufacturer and another part from another. The Mitchell is built entirely at the factory of the Mitchell Motor Car Co., Racine, Wis. (Standard Manufacturers, A. M. C. M. A.)

The same quality of workmanship in an "asembled" car would cost you $2,000 to $2,500.

In the Mitchell Crank Shaft there are five very large bearings. One bearing at each end, and three extra ones between. We have made 5,000 crank shafts in this way, and not a single one of them has ever been broken.

The chassis of the Mitchell "30" is a matchless demonstration of rigidity and strength in pressed steel construction. No better quality of pressed steel can be had, and in putting our frames together on all sizes of cars we strongly reinforce them at every point. No conceivable strain of ordinary or extraordinary usage will rack them. And still the weight of a frame is only moderate. It is strong enough to be safe and not so heavy as to be clumsy.

Throughout the car—wherever the best results can be secured—nickel alloy and vanadium steels are used liberally.

These steels are employed in the crank shaft, transmission and rear axle shaft—in all the driving mechanism. The springs are vanadium steel. Aluminum castings are used wherever possible, strengthened with bronze wherever there is any strain.

The transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, the kind used on all the high priced cars.

The Mitchell "30' is commodious, comfortable and a beauty. The wheel base is 105 inches.

See the Mitchell cars! They are the most complete expression of American automobile building today—the product of eight years and $11,000,000 worth of experience. If you miss the show, send for the Mitchell catalog.

Paying For Bungalow.

The Common Council at tis March meet, last night, paid $2,500 to Alexander Milne for the last but one of the remaining payments for his work of constructing the new police headquarters. The bill was certified to by Tracy & Swartout, architects and inasmuch as the building is practically finished, it was thought best to make this payment. There still remains about $108 due Mr. Milne, which will be paid when he has entirely completed his contract. The Council also paid the architect's bill of $162.70. This action was taken on motion offered by Mr. Buxton, chairman of the finance committee.

3 Reasons Why You Should Buy an E-M-F:

1st. Weighs only 1,800 lbs (60 lbs for each horse power); expense for tires and up-keeps reduced to a minimum.

2d. Design, workmanship and material is the best that money, brains and experience can produce.

3d. The factory is making 12,000 of this one model for 1909. This makes the price of $1,250 possible. Were they only building a few hundred of these cars it would be impossible to sell them for less than double. The list price includes a splitdorf magneto, full lamp equipment, horn and kit of tools.

MISSION WORK CAMPAIGN

Local Congregational Societies Convene Jointly with Bound Brook and Westfield

GOOD SPEAKERS FOR TONIGHT.

Mass Meetings Being Held Simultaneously in All Parts of Country—Discuss Missionary Methods.

A joint missionary conference is being held today at the Congregational church. Participating in the event are the Congregational churches of Bound Brook, Westfield and Plainfield. Throughout the county in 200 churches similar joint conventions are being held simultaneously.

The societies participating are: The American Board, The Congregational Home Missionary Society and the American Missionary Association.

Following the opening devotional exercises, at 3:30 this afternoon, Rev. G. W. Crawford, of New Haven, Conn., A. M. A., will deliver an address. Other speakers of the afternoon will be Rev. Dr. C. C. Creegan, of New York, and Rev. Dr. Charles W. Small, State Secretary of Ohio.

The night session, beginning at 7:15, will be devoted to a discussion of the apportionment plan and missionary methods, in which the pastors, church workers and visiting speakers will take part. Brief addresses will be made by Prof. Kelly Miller, of South Carolina; Rev Dr. John P. Jones, former missionary to India; and Rev. W. G. Puddefoot, of Indiana.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich is chairman of the local committee, which comprises: Frank L. Clawson, H. V. Hubbard, F. O. Weeks, J. A. Powlison, S. W. Dunning, A. Miller and A. W. Nielson.

The meetings are of significant interest, as they are a part of the extensive missionary campaign with mass meetings in all parts of the country. The speakers are of wide reputations. Dr. Jones is an acknowledged authority in India, and his books on India's problems are strong and thoughtful. Professor Miller is a colored man, a graduate of Howard University and Johns Hopkins, and is an able writer and a brilliant lecturer.

JAPANESE STORIES BY WOMAN ENTEPTAINER.

The Men's Club of the First Baptist church has secured for its meeting on Monday night what will doubtless prove one of the most delightful entertainments of the year.

Miss Grace Violet Correll, a niece of John Luther Long, has been very successful in presenting his Madam Butterfly and other Japanese stories to the public. She will give a program to the Men's Club and the ladies of the congregation. Miss Carrell reads in Japanese costume. She has lived with her parents in Japan and thus interpets her selections with first hand knowledge.

Surprised Abram VanCleef.

A birthday surprise party was given in honor of Abram VanCleef at his home on Elm place, last night. Games of various kinds were played and phonographic selections added to the pleasure of the guests, after which refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac VanCleef, and Miss Huff, of Roselle; Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanCleef and Mr. Hopewell of this city; George Felmley and Miss Felmley, Mr. and Mrs. George Rink and daughter, Miss Clara Rink; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lant, Mr. and Mrs. John Lant and Mrs. Addie Vannaman, of Plainfield.

Mrs. Celinda Tugwell.

Mrs. Selinda Tugwell, aged 83 years, widow of Gideon Tugwell, and mother of Stephen H. Tugwell, of Putnam avenue, died this morning at the home of the latter, following a long illness. Mrs. Tugwell was born at Wellington, Ontario, and lived there for many years. She resided in Chicago for a long time and when her husband died there three years ago, she came to Plainfield to make her home with her son. She was a communicant of the Episcopal church at Wellington. She is survived by one son. The notice of funeral will be announced later.

Provides for Payment of Wages.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman has introduced a bill in the Senate which authorizes the payment of wages of a deceased employe within thirty days after death, without administration, to wife, children, father or mother, sister or brother, in the order named, and in the absence of either, to undertaker or doctor. It has been referred to the committee on finance.

CO-OPERATE TO CLEAN UP DIRTY GREEN BROOK

The Boards of Health of Plainfield and North Plainfield will hold a conference in the office of the city board on Tuesday night, March 9, for the purpose of considering ways and means for the improvement of the sanitary condition of Green brook. This matter has been one of contention for a long time and the health authorities have at last decided to take it up with a view of accomplishing something.

The attention of the Boards of Freeholders of Union and Somerset counties has been called to the condition of the stream, but both boards disclaim responsibility in the premises and the members say that it is not up to them to make any improvements. The Plainfield Common Council has also considered the question, but without any tangible result. For this reason the health boards have agreed to see what can be done.

LECTURE ON "FIRST AID" MADE REAL PRACTICAL

An unexpected opportunity to put into practise practical methods of resuscitation as they were being outlined at the time in a lecture by City Physician Charles B. Lufburrow was afforded the local police officers at police headquarters yesterday afternoon when Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy fainted dead away in the lecture room. The medical man had been speaking of the best methods of reviving a fainting person, when suddenly "Con" keeled over without a bit of warning. He was eagerly pounced upon as laboratory material by the policemen, and was "brought around" according to the most approved methods, as they had just been explained and chartered on the blackboard of the lecture room. So thorough was the work of resuscitation by his fellow officers that McCarthy was shortly fine as a fiddle, and laughingly accepted the thanks of the men for the practise he had afforded them.

The lecture was one of the course on "First Aid to the Injured," which is being given for the benefit of the members of the police force by Dr. Lufburrow. Practical methods for taking care of the suddenly stricken, the wounded and the accident victim are outlined in the course by the medical man, and all the policemen gather in the court room, which is fitted up with a temporary blackboard on lecture days.

PICTORIAL NARRATIVE OF LIFE OF LINCOLN

Although the story of Abraham Lincoln's life has been told over and over again during the past month in lecture, sermon and school recitation, in newspapers, magazines and books, that it is still a popular subject was proven last night when a large audience gathered at the First Presbyterian church to hear Dr. Julius E. Ward in a pictoria. narrative of the great man's history.

The illustrations included a large assortment of photographs taken at the different stages of Lincoln's career. There were views of the crude cabins in which the ancestors lived, and traced the wanderings of the family from the stockade settlement in the Kentucky mountains, where the grandfather was killed by Indians, to the lonesome birthplace of the future President. The migrations of his people continuing into Indiana and Illinois, the homes were much the same in general aspect, always of roughly hewn timber.

The lecturer gave many of the details of Lincoln's rise to fame and of the closing chapter of his life.

Want Funds for Garfield Memorial.

The Garfield Monument Association will not relax its efforts to secure a $10,000 appropriation from Congress to complete the Garfield monument at Long Branch. The bill introduced by Senator Briggs in January last will be reintroduced at the special session. The association hopes to secure funds so that the memorial can be unveiled September 19, the twenty-eighth anniversary of the President's death. The memorial is about one third constructed.

Will Entertain Wheelmen.

Jack Horner will celebrate his birthday tonight by giving a party to the Plainfield Cycle Club at his home on East Front street. All members of the club are cordially invited to attend.

GAVE MISSIONS $1,200.

Women of Crescent Avenue Church Society Review Year's Achievement.

MONEY FOR LOVELL'S WORK.

Treasury Balance Voted to His Work In China at Annual Meeting Yesterday—The Officers.

The report of Mrs. William E. Hoyt, treasurer of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church, read at the annual meeting of the society at the church parlors yesterday afternoon show that during the past year the organization has contributed a total of more than $1,200 toward the support of missionary teachers abroad and the maintainance of their work. The society has contributed money for the work being done by the missionaries in Brazil, India, Siam and Laos, a considerable amount for scholarships in Christian schools in Brazil and money for the maintainance of work at various foreign medical missions. The society numbers 225 members of the church.

A feature of this report was the fact that the members of the society voted unanimously to send the balance in the treasury—about $87, to Gilbert Lovell as a donation for his work in the boys' school he founded there. Mr. Lovell is the representative of the Crescent Avenue church in the mission work in China. The donation of the neat treasury balance was entirely without precedent, for the society does not regularly assist in the support of Mr. Lovell's school.

The election of officers resulted in the re-naming of all of last year's officers except two. Mrs. I. W. Cochran was elected second vice-president, in place of Mrs. William S. Hubbell, who resigned, and the resignation of Miss Elsie Hammond was the cause for the election of Mrs. Frank Clark as secretary of young people's literature. These are the officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller; first vice-president, Mrs John Gray Foster; second vice-president, Mrs. I. W. Cochran; third vice-president, Mrs. J. S. Zelie; secretary, Mrs. Orton G. Dale; treasurer, Mrs. William E. Hoyt; secretary of literature, Mrs. Isaac N. Field; secretary of young people's literature, Mrs. Frank Clark and superintendent of collections, Miss Julia S. Scribner.

In connection with her report as supervisor of the Boys Mission Band of the church, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller tendered her resignation from the work. During the thirteen years that she has been at the head of the boys' band, the organization has raised about $1,150 which has been sent to boys' schools abroad, and barrels of clothing have also been sent off regularly. The resignation of Mrs. Miller came as a surprise to the meeting, and no one has yet been named to take her place in carrying on the work with the band. The report of the Sunshine Mission Band, an organization of the girls of the church, was made by Miss Helen Brown, in the absence of the president, Miss Harriet Goddard, and showed that the girls too have made an excellent showing through donaitons to foreign missions.

In connection with the meeting there was a short address by Rev. Dr. Richard S. Campbell, formerly of Southampton, Long Island. Following the session, an informal hour was passed by the women, and tea was served by the social committee, of which Mrs. Daniel Ginna is chairman.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY SOON TO BE STARTED.

Another industry for Plainfield will soon be in operation. This will be the manufacturing agency for the famous Simplex motor-cycles, which recently came into notice as record holders in American and European countries. Charles F. Fulmer and his son, Allen Fulmer, have taken the contract from the company and are planning to have their shop on Sycamore street fully equipped for the work. It is proposed to turn out several machines a day. The Simplex now holds the world's records both in endurance and speed, having made a mile in 32 3-5 seconds. Another notable race won by the Simplex was the climbing of the famous Wilkes Barre, Pa., hill in 102 seconds.

Miss Ruth Ford.

Miss Ruth Ford, the eleven year old daughter of Mrs. Agnes L. Ford and the late Edward Ford, of 220 Richmond street, died this morning. Notice of funeral will be given later.

"Scope of Motherhood."

The Plainfield Mothers' Association will meet at the Plainfield High School Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Elizabeth Powell Bond will speak on "Scope of Motherhood."

HEARING BEFORE JUDGE WHO ARRESTED HIM

John Lang, who was arrested in Dunellen yesterday morning by Recorder David S. Campbell, was given a hearing last night, his captor sitting in judgment over him He was bound over to the grand jury and was taken to New Brunswick by Marshal William R. Sliney, today, where he was lodged in jail.

The man is a stranger, sixty-one years old. Cheif Kiely, of this city, on being furnished with his description, suspicioned that he was a well known crook, but in a personal interview with the prisoner was unable to identify him. When arrested he had in his possession, besides fifty pounds of wire, a rope to which was attached a stone, his implements for pulling down the wires.

PURCHASE BIG TRACT; PLAN IMPROVEMENTS

That improvements on a large scale will be made in the near future on the L-shaped piece of property recently purchased by David C. Smalley and Frank Mobus at the south side of the railroad and fronting on Park avenue and Fourth street, is the statement made by Mr. Smalley today about the big transfer.

"Mr. Mobus and I," he said, "now jointly own a strip about forty feet wide, extending from Park avenue just south of the Central Railroad Company's property to a point opposite the eastbound station platform where the property is now occupied by that intelligence office building. From there, our property runs to East Fourth street at right angles, the strip being forty feet wide and terminating at Fourth street with the building occupied by the Morey-LaRue laundry.

"We are planning to begin improvements in the near future, and will have a street cut on the property from Park avenue to the station park. This will have a concrete sidewalk, ten feet wide, leading from the street, and the roadway here will be of macadam, thirty-eight feet wide. This improvement will necessitate the domolition of Miss Lincoln's flower store and the intelligence office, which was formerly the old police station.

"The statement that there will be a roadway leading up to the depot park from Fourth street is entirely unfounded. The building of the laundry company will be preserved. It is planned to erect some buildings along the drive frontage of the property in the near future. You can say that these buildings won't be 'one-story sky-scrapers either, but will be permanent, good-sized business houses." Charles H. Lyman made the deal.

HEALTH BOARD MAKES ITS MONTHLY REPORT

According to the reports presented at the monthly meeting of the Plainfield Board of Health, yesterday, the sanitary condition of the city is good. The following communicable diseases were reported during February: Scarlet fever, 6; diphtheria, 1; typhoid fever, 1; tuberculosis, 6; measles, 11; chickenpox, 2; total, 27.

The cases of scarlet fever were in different sections of the city and there was no common source of infection. The one case of typhoid fever reported was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital from Westfield and was not a Plainfield case.

During February 30 samples of milk were collected and analyzed. The average bacteria was very low. The following is the average of the thirty samples: Fats, 4.3 per cent.; solids, 13.42; solids not fat, 9.12; lactometer, 115; bacteria per cubic centimeter.

Numerous complaints were received during the month of the various dumps about the city and as a result four were closed. An endeavor was made to make the garbage collectors pay more attention to the city ordinances. Two were arrested, taken before City Judge Runyon and fined $3 in each case. Two plumbers were prosecuted for violation of the city ordinance. In one case sentence was suspended and in the other a fine of $25 was imposed. A permit was granted to the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company to carry on the business of scavanger and the plumber's bonds of A. L. Carney, P. E. Neylon and John L. Miller were ordered filed.

These returns were made to the office during February: Marriages, 11; births, 34; still-births, 1; deaths, 26. Forty-six per cent. of the deaths were of persons over sixty years of age.

HEPTASOPHS BIG RALLY

Delegates From Many Cities Attend District Meeting of Protective Conclave.

THE VISITORS MAKE SPEECHES.

Object of Meeting Was to Discuss Proposed Legislation to be Considered at the Saratoga Supreme Session.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Improved Oedrr Heptasophs was held last night, when there was a joint installation and district meeting in Exempt Firemen's hall. In addition to the members of Protective Conclave, No. 505, of this city, there were present large delegations from Westfield, Elizabeth, Somerville, Asbury Park, Trenton and Morristown, the members from Morristown coming here in large touring cars.

The object of the meeting, which was presided over by J. V. E. Vanderhoef, supreme committeeman of the order, was to discuss the proposed legislation to be enacted at the next supreme session to be held in Saratoga in June. Edward Sheffield, of Brooklyn, a member of the department of organization, was the principal speaker and he held the close attention of the members while he presented the proposition. A vote of thanks was extended to him at the close of his remarks.

The officers of Westfield and Protective Conclaves were installed by District Deputy Supreme Archon Joseph K. Beans, of Trenton, assisted by Supreme Inspector Howard Heath of Asbury Park. Allen H. Vanderhoef was installed as archon of the local conclave, who by the way is the youngest archon in New Jersey, and possibly in the order. He is following in the footsteps of his father, who has been one of the leading members of the order for twelve years.

Other speakers of the evening were Dr. Elmer Bonvis, of Trenton; A. P. Lovejoy, of Elizabeth; Dr. V. D. Totten, of Morristown; Charles A. Smith, of Westfield; Nathan Weill, of Somerville; V. W. Nash, Sr., and E. M. Laing, of this city. At the close an elaborate supper was served by the entertainment committee comprising C. G. August, R. H. Barnard and A. H. Vanderhoef.

Another large meeting will be held at Trenton on Monday night, March 15. The supreme archon will be there and it is expected that a big delegation from this city will attend.

CHIEF CROKER'S ADVICE AGAINST "FIRE DEVILS"

The question of equiping the new East End fire-house with an automobile apparatus is by no means certain. The Councilmanic fire committee or at least some of the members are not convinced that it would be a wise move. Mr. Mygatt, who has made more or less of a study of the question, had a personal interview with Chief Croker of the New York fire department a few days ago, and the latter informed him that in his opinion the automobile apparatus is still in the experimental stage and is not considered absolutely reliable for fire purposes. However, he believes that it will be the coming thing for fire-fighting.

This opinion does not agree with that of Chief Doane, who says that he now believes the automobile apparatus to be the only thing; although it was not long ago that he had the same idea as Chief Croker. Chief Doane says that the machine has passed the experimental stage and favors the installation of one in this city. Still, while the fire committee is undivided in its opinion the Common Council is not likely to purchase an auto machine. The committee now intends to advertise for bids for a combination chemical and hose wagon, but the resolution authorizing this did not state what kind of power is desired. Perhaps, the prices on both kinds will be received.

WIZARD PRESS IS MADE HERE FOR NEWARK PAPER

The Morning and Evening Stars of Newark, owned by former U. S. Senator James Smith, Jr., have just purchased from the Potter Printing Press Company, of this city, a new sextuple press of the latest model and thoroughly equipped with all the modern devices, some of which are to be found in no other press of this style. It is a fine compliment to a local industry. It is the most perfect modern printing machine, and will be installed in a few weeks. James E. Martine was instrumental in making the sale.

The press will print 50,000 four, six, eight, ten or twelve page newspapers an hour; or 25,000 fourteens, sixteen, eighteen, twenty, twenty-two or twenty-four pages an hour. The paper goes through the press faster than the speed of the fastest railroad train and papers are turned out at the rate of fourteen a second, quicker than the wink of the eye, and it will produce as good printing as is done on the high-class magazines.

In thirty-seven hours this press would print a chain of Stars reaching 3,000 miles or from New York to San Francisco. In approximately two weeks the press would print enough Stars to form a belt around the world at the equator.

The press will print in colors, giving perfect results in solids or tints. There is no waste of paper; the fold and the margin are accurate and the cutting is perfect. All shafts to cylinder are of steel. All cylinder bearings are of phosphor bronze and rolls and shafts are fitted with phosphor bronze slip bushings. An entirely new stereotyping outfit will be installed with the new press, making it possible for the Star to make greater speed on editions than any other New Jersey newspaper. By the terms of the contract the new press will be installed and in operation in the Star building within a few weeks.

COAL PRICE TO ADVANCE

Strike of Anthracite Miners on April 1 Will Make Fuel Dearer.

CONSUMERS ARE GETTING BUSY.

Local Dealers Report An Unusually Large Business For This Season of the Year.

The affirmation by the anthracite coal operators of their refusal to acceed to the demands of the mine workers, which are counter to the agreement of the Anthracite Commission in nearly every important detail, is causing the local coal men to corral as many of the black diamonds as they can before the miners go out on strike. The announcement has been made that the strike will begin April 1, unless the causes for dissatisfaction can be adjusted in a conference before that time.

The local coal men, many of whom have secured a large supply of coal, it is said, are advising their patrons to lay in a supply of coal this month, declaring that there may be a repetition of high coal prices of the strike of seven years ago. At that time, it will be remembered, the city's supply of coal was quickly exhausted and people had great trouble in securing the fuel, paying as high as $13 a ton for it for a considerable time.

The miners, it appears, want union recognition, and the labor situation at the principal anthracite mines is in a very unsettled condition. The miners demand an eight-hour day, and declare that their minimum day's pay shall be $3. They further want to be paid by weight, instead of by the car, as is the present system. The airing of these demands of the workers in the regions, together with some lurid strike talk, is causing a great demand for coal throughout this section, and although the price remains the same, the coal men are doing a notable amount of business for this season of the year.

MANY CASES ARE ADJOURNED IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Twenty-two cases in all were adjourned at the weekly session of the District court, this morning, not being ready for trial. But few cases were disposed of. That of S. C. Johnson and Herbert Johnson trading as S. C. Johnson & Co., against W. Edward Cranston, on contract was settled. The case for possession of Christopher Becker against Ralph di Matthews, was dismissed and possession was granted the complainants in the cases of J. W. VanSickle against Cornelius Smith and Corlell, Leifke and Laing against George H. Kenyon.

The motion for a new trial in the case of the American Tin and Terner Plate Company against D. W. Litteil was denied.

Public Service Redeems 195,256 Transfers Daily

AFTER you had boarded a trolley car, paid your nickel and received a transfer from the conductor, did you ever give even a fleeting thought to the extent, or value, of the transfer privileges on the PUBLIC SERVICE lines? Probably not. Most persons have other things to think of while riding and it is only natural that you should be like most persons. If you want a transfer you take it, more or less perfunctorily, because it is worth while if you intend to continue your journey on another car. And that's all there is to it—so far as you are concerned.

But that is not all there is to it from the PUBLIC SERVICE point of view. What's more, if you are not likely to think on the transfer subject while in the cars you are much less apt to give it a thought, when not riding, unless it is brought specifically to your attention. That's exactly what PUBLIC SERVICE seeks to do in this talk. To transfer your thoughts, momentarily, to transfers.

TRANSFERS BY THE MILLIONS.

The transfer system came with the consolidation and development of the trolley lines. In the earlier days of street railroading the separate lines did not carry each other's passengers without the payment of extra fares, but with the advent of the trolley came the transfer, and now millions of them are issued annually. And transfers are really equivalent of cash to every person who uses them.

Some idea of the value of transfers to the riding public may be had by noting PUBLIC SERVICE records which show to what extent advantage has been taken of the system. PUBLIC SERVICE was formed in 1903 and as it had control of its street railways during only a part of that year, the figures given herewith show the number of transfers actually collected from passengers during the years 1904 to 1908 inclusive:

1905	52,335,108
1906	60,197,968
1907	68,533,265
1908	71,268,398
Total for five years	302,906,288
Daily average, 1908	195,256

TRANSFERS SAVE YOU MONEY.

The figures show that 302,906,288 riders used transfers for rides on PUBLIC SERVICE cars during the last five years, If all were compelled to pay five cents each for the same ride it would have meant the enormous total of $15,145,314. But it is not claimed that such a saving was effected, as it is undoubtedly true that without transfers very many of those 302,906,288 riders would have walked.

If we suppose that only one-half of the total number would have paid the extra nickel see what a mighty sum of car fare that would have meant. Why even ten per cent. of the total—and that's a very small proportion—would have been one and one-half millions of dollars in the five years or three hundred thousand dollars a year.

There's room for differences of opinions as to how many transfers represent what otherwise would have ben cash fares but there can be no dissent from the proposition that the transfer system is a distinct advantage and a valuable asset enjoyed by the public.

Transfers add to the service afforded the rider by extending the length of the five-cent ride.

Transfers save the rider money by enabling him to complete for one fare journeys which no one car line covers.

Transfers are issued by PUBLIC SERVICE at 230 different points throughout its street railway system.

Transfers, incidentally, mean that a five-cent fare is really not a five-cent fare when a transfer is given. And as nearly 30 per cent. of the revenue riders use transfers they cut a big figure in PUBLIC SERVICE'S receipts. Don't they now?

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The annual township report is out and ready for distribution among the taxpayers. The treasurer's report shows a neat balance on hand. The delinquent tax list, however, shows over fourteen thousand dollars still outstanding on 1908 taxes. This is partly accounted for by the hard times of the past year.

UNMARRIED LAD NOT DESERTER OF FAMILY.

Edward M. Ely, twenty-three years old, and looking like a boy of seventeen, was taken to police headquarters at Jersey City on Monday night. To his own amazement—for he declared he was unmarried—he had been arrested charged with having "deserted his wife and two children, boys, one fourteen and the other ten years old, on May 21, 1907." The policeman had arrested the wrong man, but Ely was willing to go with him to have his own innocence proved. When Mrs. Elizabeth Ely, who made the charge, saw him she exclaimed: "That boy! Discharge him at once."

When Detective-Sergeant Maxwell brought Ely to headquarters and recited the charge, explaining that Mrs. Elizabeth Ely lived at 280 Academy street, Sergeant William H. Foley looked preplexed.

"Say, Ely, you must have been about eight years old when you were married. What have you got to say for youself?" asked Sergeant Foley.

"I never was in Jersey City before and didn't know I was married and the father of two boys until Sergeant Maxwell told me," replied Ely "I guess you have the wrong man this time."

The warrant for Ely's arrest was issued by Acting Police Judge Wanley, of the First Criminal Court, on Saturday, and the Jersey City policeman arrested him on Monday at the general supply station of the Government Lighthouse Department, at Tompkinsville, Staten Island. Ely told the policeman that he was willing to come here without a requisition.

To add to the confusion, a policeman sent to 280 Academy street, Jersey City, to escort Mrs. Ely to headquarters to identify the man under arrest found that there was no house of that number in Academy street. Later, Mrs. Ely was found at 208.

Ely laughed when Mrs. Ely disclaimed any knowledge of or acquaintance with him. He considered his arrest and trip to Jersey City a joke. Mrs. Ely said that she had been told that her husband was at a boarding house kept by Mrs. Scott, in First avenue, New Brighton. Ely is the only man of that name stopping there. Although convinced that Ely was too young to be the father of a fourteen-year-old boy, Sergeant Maxwell obeyed orders and brought him back to convince Mrs. Ely that the Staten Island Ely was not her husband.

homes have had many an enjoyable round under pleasant conditions. This is much better than their unusual condition at this time, which is to be wrapped up in heavy coats and to shiver in chill blasts while envying the sojourners under sunny skies.

The Palm Beach fixture of the week will be the open championship of southern Florida, and as it will be the first over the enlarged course the old time contest will this time gain a special interest. Arthur H. Fenn, the Palm Beach professional, now has the record at 71. He has one of the Southern open championships to his credit and George Low, then wintering at Miami, won it in 1901 and 1902. As to recent winners Gil Nicholls was the victor in 1905, W. J. Travis in 1906, Aleck Smith in 1907 and Will Anderson last year. Throughout the week of March 8 there will be an amateur tournament at Magnolia Springs to wind up with the new central Florida open championship, and the Bon Air tournament will be on at Augusta, Ga.

Will Anderson also won the all Florida open last year at St. Augustine and he will defend this and the Palm Beach title before going to his new berth at the St. Louis Country Club in April. The tournament chain reaches northward from Florida and the last links—not a pun—will be the North and South at Pinehurst and the Southern Cross championship of the Palmetto Golf Club at Aiken. The Southern Cross has been played since 1896, when A. H. Fenn, then of course an amateur, was the winner. Herbert C. Leeds, Reginald Brooks and Marion Wright, the latter two more than once, were other victors in the early days of this championship. An unequalled record has been made by Harold A. Sands in carrying off the Southern Cross cup for five successive springs. The coming tournament will be of more consequence than ordinary, for a party of Northern amateurs are to join together to play at it. The Atlantic City Country Club tournament, to be held over a course stiffened up with new hazards, and the spring function of the Country Club of Lakewood will as usual tread on the heels of the Southern championships.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GENERAL SPORTS.

Hicks, the Harvard hockey player, is the best skater in the intercollegiate world.

Columbia has won seven games from members of the old Big Five of college basketball.

Harvard, Cornell and Yale are the earliest of the Eastern college crews to be on the water.

Yale sent several players to the indoor lawn tennis tournament, but they did not do very well.

The conference colleges by a small vote have decided to go back to seven game football schedules.

The new constitution of the athletic association at Michigan requires a $10,000 bond of the graduate director.

R. M. Brown, a former Princeton end who coached Virginia P. I. in football last year, will be at Colgate this season.

Since the Burns-Johnson fight, Georgetown College Journal says there has been a revival in boxing in the institution.

Coach Conibear of the University of Washington crews wants an "American Henley" established on Lake Washington.

GOLF.

The Montclair Golf Club committeemen have made it clear that they are not in accord with the disposition in certain quarters to encourage four-ball matches to the discomfiture of others. The local rule states that no three or four ball match shall start from the first tee while a two-ball match is waiting to play. Furthermore, it says that no three or four ball match shall be allowed to start on Saturdays after 12 noon, or on Sundays or holidays before 12 noon. This particular rule, however, will only be in force from May 1 to Election Day.

The rules of golf stipulate that players having holed out should not try their puts over again when other players are following them. The Montclair lawmakers add: "Nor should they linger on the green to make up their score card or discuss the number of strokes taken on the hole."

With reference to the common objection to trees on a golf course a Boston scribe says: It is not that very good rounds of golf cannot be had on those courses where there are trees, but wherever they are found the general effect is to contract a player's game, to leave him with the feeling that, after all, he is only fooling around in a park. Real golf is played out in the open, with the sky above and the country stretching like the ocean before one. The game is you and your ball and your club, and the universe is the battlefield. Even the opponent and the partner sink into insignificance.

Trees are very well in their place. They are good to sit under and for birds to sing in. Their leaves and branches in the wind at night soothe the insomniac like the sea beating on the coast. Some carve their names on them. In the spring when the sap flows we feel with them and rejoice with them and bear cheerfully the rheumatic shoots, but trees have no place on a real golf links.

Golf tournaments that confer titles on the winners will begin for the season this week in southern California and Florida, to continue at frequent intervals until the women's national at Merion in October, which thus far is the championship to hold the latest date of the season. This has been such a mild winter about Philadelphia, New York and Boston that the stay-at-

BASEBALL.

Clifford Randolph, of Grant avenue, who has signed with the Newark Eastern League club this season, will leave for the South on Sunday, where he will join the Newarkers in their spring training. "Cliff" believes that he will be able to "make good." He is in fine condition and with a little practice will be able to push the curves and twists over the pan as of yore.

According to The New York Sun positive information has been received by that newspaper that "Mike" Donlin will not play with the Giants this year. He is now making about $1,000 a week with his wife, Mabel Hite, in vaudeville, and in addition has received a flattering offer to play two games a week during the summer for a Chicago outlaw club. However, there is no weeping in the New York baseball club, and the management believes it will be able to complete its schedule.

It has just leaked out that the Cleveland American League club has just paid the record price for the services of the veteran pitcher Cy Young. There is proof of a conclusive nature that the Boston American League club, in addition to the young pitchers Chech and Ryan, received a certified check for $12,500 from Messrs. Somers and Kilfoyle, the Cleveland magnates. This is the largest amount ever paid for a ball player's release. The New York National League club paid $11,000 last year for Pitcher Marquard of Indianapolis, which was a new record price at the time, for prior to that $10,000 paid for the release of Mike Kelly, John Clarkson and other stars was the top notch. On the face of it the Boston Americans appear to have secured much the better of the transaction. Young pitched in twenty-six games last year, which means that he is rapidly nearing the end of his diamond career.

A. M. Nahon, who has been the secretary of the New York Americans since the club was first organized, has just resigned his position to take advantage of a chance in another business venture. His duties have been assumed by Thomas Davis, President Farrell's brother-in-law, who is well and favorably known among sporting men. Secretary Davis will have entire charge of the business management of the Highlanders at home and on the road.

Charley Hemphill, the hard hitting centre fielder of the Highlanders, sent his signed contract to Secretary David yesterday with a request that he be allowed to remain at Hot Springs for a week more before reporting to Manager Stallings at Macon. The request was granted. Jack Chesbro will not join the team until early in April, but he says he will exercise at his home in Massachusetts and will be on deck ready for hard work on the slab.

The Mission Study classes will meet at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Friday night.

City Judge William N. Runyon will lead the special Lenten service at Hope chapel tomorrow night.

Plainfield, N. J., March 3, 1909.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Ervin Saunders, a millionaire of Yonkers, who died the other day, has set an example that some wealthy Plainfielders might well emulate in disposing of their earthly possessions. With the exception of bequests made by the late Job Male, James Clark, Charles Hyde and a few others, little has been bequeathed for the benefit of future generations here. A public library building, in keeping with the general tone of the municipality, a commodious and modern day nursery and other buildings for similar institutions should appeal to those who might make them possible by bequests.

Here is the reason expressed by Mr. Saunders in his testament for remembering his own city, which is published for the benefit of some who have large fortunes and can well afford to follow the philanthropist's example: "I conceive it my duty as well as a privilege and pleasure to devote a substantial portion of my estate to what seems to me to be the best interest of my home city, in which I have spent a happy life and acquired my property, and thus to assist in the relief of suffering therein and to aid the youth thereof to live more useful lives, to establish and maintain happier homes, and to become better citizens, and thus to bring the greatest good to the greatest number of my fellow-citizens."

HE SHOWS 'EM UP.

In his defense of the State committee's action in directing its executive committee to confer with the Republican organization members in the Legislature regarding proposed legislation, former Governor Murphy hits the nail square on the head. In his own effective way, without the mincing of words and without sparing the mighty, the former chief executive points out that it is the right and duty of the Republican party to advise with those whom it has placed in office as to the effect of proposed laws, both as to the party itself and to the people at large. He also has the courage to flay those who "carry water on both shoulders," and who are making love to both "regulars" and "new idealtes." When one's ambition deadens his reason it certainly is high time that his "gallery-playing" tactics be exposed. The former Governor has risen to the occasion and the "bluff" has been called.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman is a model legislator. No one gainsays that fact except it be the discredited and impotent People's Lobby. And yet Senator Ackerman would not conceal the fact that he frequently advises with and listens to the counsel of his own party's managers in his own county. Certainly if a man of such undoubted integrity, independence and fearlessness can afford to pursue this policy, there is no logical reason why legislators of less ability and less independence cannot do the same thing.

DESERTED A VACATION HUSBAND IN UNION, N. J.

How a young wife left her husband in Coeymans, N. Y, to go to New York on a two weeks' vacation, and while in New York was married to another man with whom she lived for twelve days in Union, N. J., was told in the suit of husband No. 2, George H. Metzgar, against Grace May Knowles Metzgar, which was decided in Metzgar's favor by Justice O'Gorman on Monday.

As part of his evidence Metzgar exhibited a letter which he found one night when he went home from work. It was from his wife, and told him that her former husband had found her and that she had gone back to Coeymans with him. Metzgar said he did not know his wife had been married before until he found the letter on the dining-room table. He traced her to her home in Coeymans, where he met her husband.

Metzgar testified he met the young woman in New York at a dance and fell in love with her on sight. She represented she was unmarried; he proposed a few days afterward, and she accepted him. The wedding took place on February 8, 1908. Metzgar said they lived as happily as two doves.

Harry Knowles, the first husband of the girl, said he married her March 28, 1902. He could not understand why his wife took it into her head to be married again. She told him she was going to New York to visit friends.

Too Much.

"Do you think that Miss Kidder was having fun with me?" asked Chawley.

"Well, old chap, give me the details," was Arthur response.

"You see, I had my bull terrier with me, and I said to her, 'That dog knows as much as I do.' And she said, 'Don't you think $4.50 was too much to pay for him!'"—Cleveland Leader.

WHEN THE CHILD IS CONVALESCENT.

The guardians of a child who is recovering from illness know that meal time is often more than a matter of table setting and food buying. Theorists say, "Make a child eat!" but mothers know that this is often impossible and the little one is reduced to tears.

It will be found easier to tempt the fitful appetite rather than to scold or punish. Delicate children can often be coaxed into a hearty meal when force work would mean a scene. Make the meal a play time. Serve bread and butter cut into thin slices and piled up log cabin wise into a house.

Name dishes for different rhymes, as Jack Horner's pie for hollowed out rolls cooked like croutons and filled with the nourishing poached eggs. Potatoes can be molded into the form of a wall with an egg perched on top to represent Humpty Dumpty; the child will quickly eat up the egg to prevent "the great fall."

Boiled rice can be molded into snowballs, floating island can have all sorts of delightful fancies woven about it, vegetables can be cut into odd shapes, and nourishing custards, if put in individual molds of animals will be eaten without a protest.

Beef juice usually causes a struggle, but if the child pretends he is Jack the Giant Killer, hurrying to get rid of the delicious juice lest the giant think it "the blood of an Englishman," it is swallowed without a murmur.

The game becomes of interest to mother as well as child, as the necessity to invent new stories and fresh forms to tempt the little one to eat demands ingenuity. Insensibly the child learns to eat, so that later the practice can be discontinued.

A trouble? Yes, but not half so troublesome as to sit up half the night with a child cross from lack of food, or as to see dear ones dwindling from insufficient nourishment that a little effort could supply.

ROSES FOR MILADY'S GOWN.

Now that fickle society has become imbued with the craze for flowers as an accessory to dress the factories are accordingly turning their attention to the fashioning of these pretty things.

Roses in a factory! Real roses, mind you, pink and soft and delicate petalled, roses sending out their exquisite garden fragrance among the odors of oil and leather and acid, roses with drops of dew jeweling their half-uncurled leaves. Killarneys and American Beauties and Marechal Niels standing in jar after jar among belts and tool benches and electro-chemical baths, real roses for the basic material which this curious factory converts into metal rosebud hatpins.

Perhaps you've seen them in the city—metal rosebud hatpins in the big jewelry stores—and have wondered how the artist secured such faithful reproductions. But they are the work of no silversmiths. There is just one place in the world that turns out these rosebuds, and that is a little factory in North Carolina.

Here the perfumed roses come fresh every morning from the greenhouses, hundreds of them at a time, some barely opened, some with two or three leaves curled back, some closed tight and smooth in their long green calyxes. Here the roses go through a new and interesting process that turns them into metal, hardening them beyond possibility or destruction, and reproducing every vein and leaf and roughness of calyx beyond chance of change.

NOTHING EXCITING.

The colonel was stopping for the night at the cabin of a North Caolina mountaineer, and at sundown, as they sat smoking on the doorstep, a man came along on horseback and halted to "Howdy?" When salutations had been exchanged, he was asked what was going on up his way, and he replied:

"Waal, not much. Reckon you heard about Zeke Scott bein' shot by Lem Smith?"

"N-o-o! You don't say!'

"Yes, shot right down in his tracks. Anybody tell you about Tom Henderson gittin' killed by a fallin' tree?"

"Gracious, no!"

"Yes, tree fell on him and took his life. Good man was Tom. Hear about old Mrs. Withrow?"

"'Deed, no. What about her?"

"She was makin' soft soap, and her clothes took fire, and she burned up. Nice old lady, Mrs. Withrow. You must have heard about Joe Birdsall and Steven Singleaon gettin' into a row and cuttin' each other all to pieces with knives?"

"Not a word of it. Lordy, but how you talk!"

"And maybe you didn't dun hear about Jim Smallwood shootin' the constable that tried to arrest him?"

"No. Why, I'm shook outer my butes. I thought you said you had no news.

"And I haven't got—I mean excitin' news. These are just nayborly happenin's, and we don't pay no' tenshun to 'em up our way."

Savory Celery Soup.

The girl who gets her own luncheon ought to know how to make a good nourishing soup. Celery soup is delicious and can be made on the chafing dish by using the blazer for the white sauce, and the hot water pan for the other ingredients

A Three cups celery cut in small pieces, two slices onion, three cups cold water and a little parsley. Cook twelve minutes and strain.

B Four tablespoonsful each flour and butter, two and one-half cups milk, salt, cayenne. Make B into a white sauce, add A, season.

NEED MANUAL TRAINING

In Report of Superintendents' Convention, Dr. Maxson Makes Suggestions.

GRADED SCHOOLS ARE FAULTY.

He Hopes to Establish Special Classes for Incorrigibles and Truants.

Following is Dr. Henry M. Maxson's report to the Plainfield Board of Education relative to the work at the National Superintendents' Association convention at Chicago:

"In accordance with the will of the Board, I attended last week the annual meeting of the National Superintendents' Association. On the way to Chicago I had opportunity to learn much of the methods and principles followed in other cities in New Jersey and Pennsylvania through conversation with the superintendents who were on the train, which is no small part of the profit of these meetings.

"The program of the convention was one of the best we have had for some years; the subjects being practical and well treated.

"Among the important matters discussed were: Elimination of Waste in School Work; Closer Articulation between the Higher Institutions and the High Schools, Dealing with Truants and Incorrigibles; School Hygiene, and Industrial Education in its various phases.

"A strong argument was made for more individual treatment of the pupil. The tendency of a graded school is to deal with children in the mass. This often results in leaving the slower pupils behind These can not understand the work, get discouraged, fail in promotion and drop out. To counteract this, various plans are proposed, that will enable the teacher to study and train each pupil individually. In most of our buildings, we now have one teacher whose special work it is to take pupils that are backward in some one subject and give them special individual attention to get them on their feet so that they can advance satisfactorily. This has proven very beneficial to many pupils. Another plan which I am gradually establishing is to have part of the class exercises individual work instead of class recitations. This I believe will be still more beneficial.

"The treatment of the delinquent pupil question was specially interesting in view of advanced work we have recently undertaken in the appointment of an attendance supervisor. I received much encouragement in finding that Miss Ball is following much the same line of treatment advocated by those who have made careful study of the matter.

"The delinquent boy whether truant or incorrigible, is such because of subnormal conditions of some kind. The true method is to study the conditions that surround him and try to change them or counteract their influence. Sometimes he is a misfit in the school, or the school subjects do not interest him. This will be helped by a closer study of the individual or my new adaptation of the work. In many cases, the introduction of more manual training is a help. But in most cases, the trouble centers in the home and the first point of attack is the parents. In one respect we are not yet adequately equipped for handling this question. We should have a special class in which such children may be placed, for individual treatment. The delinquent needs special study, and his teacher should have but few pupils and under conditions that will permit much latitude in management. I am hoping that the completon of the Darrow Avenue school will make it possible to find a vacant room somewhere that may be used for such a class. It will be of great value not only to the children that are sent to it, but also to the regular classes where the time of the teacher is now unduly taken up by their presence.

"The question of Industrial or Vocational Training was discussed in its various phases. This is a question that is bound to become much more prominent within the next decade. The High School is now in a certain sense a vocational school. It is particularly strong in the matters that are essential in preparing for professional or mercantile life. In fact, it prepares definitely for the vocations of the office life. Our own school is more general in its work than many are, but still it is a fact that but little is done directly for the pupil that is going into the trades, and I believe that courses of study are bound to undergo great changes in adjusting conditions to meet the needs of this class of pupils.

"Industrial education should be understood as not aiming simply to train more skillful operatives; it is not simply to increase production in our industries. Its aim should be to give the pupil some acquaintance with the broad field of industry, its processes, its principles, its difficulties, its attractions, its rewards; to the end that the pupil may have some opportunity and some knowledge to determine wisely what part of the field he shall enter.

"It should also familiarize him with the fundamentals that underlie all industries and so prepare him to enter more efficiently into the special line he adopts after leaving school.

"It will uplift our industries by bringing into them trained minds. As the high school now gives power in professional and mercantile life, so the idea of the industrial school is to give power in industrial life."

Plainfield in .... The Olden Days.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

September 14, 1870.

Our fellow townsman, Mr. Alpheus Mundy, of the firm of Mundy & Jones, leaves for the West today on a pleasure trip of some weeks duration. We wish him a pleasant trip.

Mr. Keller has broken ground for a handsome three story frame building on the corner of Emily and Somerset streets, North Plainfield. The lower floor will consist of a corner store or saloon, the other side to be used as a dwelling. Mr. Richard Davis is the architect.

We notice quite a number of fine silk hats worn by the gents lately, in Plainfield and wondered where they got them, we were agreeably surprised in looking at the tip of one of them to find that they came from "Shotwell" the Hatter, who has a few more left.

October 5.

Peck has the neatest store in the city so the ladies say, and they ought to know. We notice that he is right after all the latest novelties. Have you seen Peck's store? That's the question at the family board, in the cars and on the street. The people are delighted to see a bright, cheerful first class store. The ladies call it the Broadway Store.

October 12.

We are sorry to record the severe illness of John H. Van Winkle, Esq., who is suffering from typhoid fever. We trust we may soon see him convalescent.

We learn with sincere regret of the serious illness of our worthy townsman, L. L. Compton. We trust we may soon again see his countenance among us.

SUMMIT EXCISE BOARD REFUSES FOUR LICENSES.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Excise, of Summit, yesterday morning, the applications of Mrs. Catherine Morrissey and David A. Butler, for hotel licenses for their respective places in Chestnut and Morris avenues were refused. The application of Louis Martin for a license to conduct a saloon at 53 Park avenue, was not granted. George Hanzorian, a grocer, made application for a wholesale license for his building in Morris avenue. This also was refused.

Robert J. Murphy, William J. Woestendiek and August C. Hahr were granted renewals of license for the Halcyon House, Summit House and Spring Lake Hotel. Wholesale licenses were granted to S. Scheuer & Son, Charles M. Decker & Bros., Charles Siebert and H. R. McNeill.

The protests against the granting of licenses to Mrs. Morrissey, Butler and Martin had been considered before the open session, and no allusion was made to them during the meeting. Much interest was manifested regarding the outcome of Martin's application, and the city hall was well filled before the hour for the meeting of the board. It has been alleged that a relative of Martin's openly boasted of the strength of his local political pull, and to have stated that this pull would be sufficient to insure the granting of the license. He is also said to have made the statement that locally prominent Republicans had guaranteed the license as a reward for political activity.

FAVOR CUTTING DOWN HUDSON FREEHOLDERS.

If plans of the Men's Club of the First Reformed church of Bayonne do not miscarry, a petition may be circulated providing for a referendum on the question of adopting the Strong act replacing the present Board of Freeholders with a smaller board.

De Witt Van Buskirk, president of the Mechanics' Trust Company, advocated such a course in a speech at the club meeting last night. He pointed out that the Board of Freeholders is entrusted with the disbursement of $1,600,000 of public money annually. "Is the board," he asked, "made up of men whom we would select to handle our own business affairs?"

His remarks were applauded, and a resolution indorsing the suggested change was adopted. He will speak at the next meeting of the club, and the petition necessary to secure the submission of the question of a change to the voters may be prepared.

Councilman Charles A. Cillimer, chairman of the Bayonne Finance Committee, had shown last year the greatest percentage of increase in populaton of any city in the United States. That rapid growth, he explained, complicated all old problems of good government and created many new ones.

Within Two Years of Century.

Mrs. Ella Schomp celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday at her home in the village of Millstone on Monday. It was a family gathering and has been an annual event for the village for years. Mrs. Schomp lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ella Sutton, and several grandchildren. She is a well preserved woman and thoroughly enjoyed the festivities.

The BOYNTON Square Fire-Pot Furnace

develops every atom of heat energy possible, by complete combustion, and leaves no clinkers and no waste.

The square pot burns less fuel and it thoroughly consumes all it takes—a double economy. All your earnings don't go into the fire when you run a BOYNTON.

For cleanliness and the trifling care necessary to run it the BOYNTON is easily the first choice of every man who takes the trouble to get acquainted with it. Look up the BOYNTON dealer in your town. The price is not prohibitive.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

The Boynton Furnace Company, 207-209 Water Street, New York.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Plainfield Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching,
With distressing disorders,
Daily existence is but a struggle.
No need to keep it up.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Plainfield people endorse this claim:

Robert Love, 44 Duer street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For eight or nine years I was a victim of kidney complaint. Every cold I contracted settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. Any heavy lifting or much standing on my feet gave me additional pain. In the morning upon arising, my back was in a bad condition and the lameness did not disappear until I had exercised for some time. I doctored and used several so called kidney cures, but this was only a waste of money. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in the newspapers, I procured a box at Randolph's Pharmacy and began their use. When I had taken about half the contents of the box, my condition was greatly improved and before long the pain left me entirely. I will always speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills when the opportunity offers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PRAISE FOR ROOSEVELT

Resolutions Adopted by Labor Association Given Out at the White House.

Washington, March 3.—The White House gave out the other night the following resolutions adopted by the International Longshoremen's Association at Detroit on February 19:

Whereas the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt will in March retire from the office of Chief Executive of our nation, after nearly eight years of vigorous effort in behalf of all the people, his enemies proclaiming him an "apostle of unrest," but the toilers revering him as the apostle of righteous unrest; and

Whereas Theodore Roosevelt is the embodiment of a personal and progressive force that must leave an indelible impress upon our industrial life and be a great moral factor for the betterment of humanity; is the friend of the common people and the comrade of all who respond to the heartbeats of humanity in the struggle for better things; is a true American, whose home life is an epitome of the ideal Christian family, and is without ostentation or any un-American mannerism; and

Whereas President Roosevelt has endeared himself to the American people by his manly and vigorous promotion and advocacy of laws and regulations in their interest and by his championship of a "square deal" for all, and has won for himself a place in the hearts of the people which is a fitting tribute to his worth; and

Whereas it seems appropriate under the circumstances that we, a part of the body of American wage workers, should, although necessarily in an inadequate manner, give expression to the high esteem and unbounded respect in which Theodore Roosevelt is held by the rank and file of organized labor, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the marine branches of the International Longshoremen's Association, in conference assembled, do tender Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, heartfelt and sincere gratitude, with best wishes for his future happiness and prosperity.

Signed by Mortin Cole, grand president Licensed Tugmen's Protective Association; Charles McCarthey, grand president Tug Firemen and Linemen's Protective Association; Charles Rees, president International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel and Dredgemen; Claude Worth, president International Dredge Workers' Protective Association; T. V. O'Connor, president International Longshoremen's Association.

UNABLE TO REMEMBER HIS CAMDEN MARRIAGE.

Town Clerk H. L. Weeks, of Hempstead, gave C. J. Auchterlonie a shock on Monday at Hempstead when he showed him a letter which he had received from Philadelphia, and in it Mr. Auchterlonie read that he, Auchterlonie, was married on August 2, 1893, to Miss Hester Ramsey, in Camden, N. J.

Auchterlonie was married at Hempstead three weeks ago to Caroline Marsh, daughter of Eugene Marsh. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. M. Kerr, of the Hempstead Presbyterian church.

Auchterlonie is a chemist, works for G. S. Yeager, and has an excellent reputation at Hempstead. If he married Miss Ramsey he doesn't remember anything about it. He says:

"I was in an asylum for weak-minded children when I was seventeen, and can dimly remember having a woman guide me around the grounds and take me into the city at different times. Her name was Miss Ramsey, but if I ever became her husband I don't know the slightest thing about it."

Mr. Weeks a few days ago received a letter from C. W. Coles, of 114 Market street, Philadelphia, asking for a certified copy of the record of the marriage of Auchterlonie to Miss Marsh. Weeks sent it and yesterday he received a second letter from Mr. Coles thanking him and saying that at the time of writing he had before him the certified copy and also the certificate of marriage of the same Auchterlonie to Miss Ramsey. Mr. Coles didn't say what his connection with the case was.

RAHWAY ROAD CHANGES; KELLER IS PRESIDENT.

Control of the Rahway Valley Railroad Company on Monday passed into the hands of Louis Keller, of Springfield. The road, which was promoted by Mr. Keller, and which is about seven miles in length, running between Aldine and Summit, has been controlled by Elmira (N. Y.) capitalists, the largest stockholders in the company being William W. Cole and Matthias H. Arnot, comprising the Elmira firm of Arnot & Cole. These men yesterday withdrew from the company.

President Keller, who is largely interested in the Beltusrol Golf Club, and who owns a vast tract of land in Springfield Township, near the Baltusrol Mountain, will begin shortly the building of a spur which is to connect with the Rahway Valley road near the Shunpike road, west of the Baltusrol Golf Club grounds. This spur is to run 1,400 feet to the northerly spurs of the Baltusrol Mountain. It is said Mr. Keller has plans under way for the building of a large hotel on the Baltusrol Mountain as well as several handsome houses.

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY THOMAS A. WISE

"Why, of co'se it is. An yo' as blind as that o' ah yo' foolin' with me?" questioned Telfer suspiciously. "Seems to me yo' ought to know more about that end of it than a fellah clear from th' gulf."

"Certainly, certainly," mumbled Haines impatiently as he endeavored to associate coherently, intelligently, in his mind these startling new revelations of Telfer with certain incidents he had previously noted in the operations of the committee on naval affairs.

Then he looked across at the mayor and smiled. Apparently he had heard nothing to amaze him.

"Colonel," he returned calmly, dropping into a voice that sounded of pity for the gray hairs of the lobbyist, "about fifty men a day come to me with propositions like that. There is nothing doing, colonel. I couldn't possibly interest Senator Langdon, because he has the faculty of judging for himself, and he would be prejudiced against either town that came out with such a proposition."

"Lan' speculation is legitimate," protested the colonel cunningly.

Haines agreed.

"Certainly—by outsiders. But it's d—d thievery when engaged in by any one connected with putting a bill through. If I were to tell Senator Langdon what you have told me it would decide him unalterably in favor of Altacoola. Senator Langdon, sir, is one of the few men in Washington who would rather be thought a fool than a grafter if it came down to that."

The mayor of Gulf City jumped to his feet, his face blazing in rage, not in shame.

"Seems to me yo're mighty fresh, young man," he blustered. "What kind of politics is Langdon playin'?"

"Not fresh, colonel; only friendly. I'm just tipping you off how not to be a friend to Altacoola. As to his politics, the senator will answer you himself."

A scornful laugh accompanied Telfer's reply.

"Altacoola, huh! I reckon yo' must be a fool, after all. Why, everybody knows of the speculatin' in land around Altacoola, and everybody knows it ain't outsiders that's doin' it. It's the insiders, right here in Washington. If yo' ain't in, yo' can easy get a latchkey. Young man, yo'll find out things some day, and yo'll drop to it all.

"I guess I was too late with yo'. That's about the size of it. I guess Altacoola 'll talk to yo'," went on the mayor. "If that feller Fairbrother of Altacoola had been able to hold his tongue maybe I wouldn't know so much. But now I know what's what. I know this—that yo're either a big fool or—an insider. Yo're a nice young feller. I have kind-a taken a fancy to yo'. I like to see yo' young fellers get along and not miss yo'r chances. Come, my boy, get wise to yo'rself, get wise to yo'rself! Climb on to the band wagon with yo' friends."

Bud concluded that he might be able to get more definite information out of Telfer if he humored him a bit.

"I tell you, colonel," he finally said, "these are pretty grave charges you're making, but I'll tell you confidentially, owing to your liking for me, that it is not yet too late to do something for Gulf City. Now, just suppose you and I dine together tonight early, and we'll go over the whole ground to see how things lie. Will you?"

The colonel held out his hand, smiling broadly. He felt that at last he had won the secretary over; that the young man was at heart anxious to take money for his influence with the senator.

"All right, my boy, yo're on. We'll dine together. Yo' are absolutely certain that it won't be too late to get to Senator Langdon?"

"Get wise to yo'rself! Get wise!"

"Absolutely positive. I wouldn't make a mistake in a matter like this, would I, unless I was what you said I was—a fool?"

"Of course not. Oh, yo're a slick one. I like to do business with folks like yo'. It's mighty educatin'!"

"Thanks," answered Bud dryly. "It's certain that Langdon won't decide which place he's for until tomorrow. I promise you that he won't decide until after I have my talk with you."

"Yo' see," said Telfer, "I asked that question because, as yo' probably know, Congressman Norton and his crowd is pretty close to Senator Langdon"—

Haines cut him short with a gasp of surprise.

"Norton!"

Telfer, wrinkling his forehead incredulously, looked at Haines. "Surest thing you know, my boy."

Bud turned his head away in thought.

"Oh, leave the Norton outfit to me, I'll fool them," he finally said.

"Good."

Telfer shook the secretary's hand heartily.

"Yo're no fool, my boy. Anybody can see that—after they get to know yo' all. That's what comes of bein' one of them smooth New Yorkers. They 'pear mighty sanctimonious on th' outside, but on th' inside they're the real goods, all right."

The lobbyist hurried away, his bibulous soul swelling with satisfaction. He was sure of triumphing over Altacoola, and he was willing to pay the price.

Haines sank into his chair. "I wonder what Washington 'insiders,'" he murmured, "are speculating in Altacoola land. Telfer mentions Norton's name. I wonder"—

The door opened, and before him stood Carolina Langdon.

"Ah, Miss Langdon," he exclaimed, "I am glad to see you!"

She walked to him and extended cordially a slender gloved hand.

"This is a real pleasure, Mr. Haines," she began. "I've been waiting to talk to you for some time. It's about something important."

"Something important," smiled Haines. "You want to see me about something important? Well, let me tell you a secret. Every time I see you it is an important occasion to me."

Carolina Langdon had never appeared more charming, more beautiful to young Haines than she did that day. Perhaps she appeared more inspiring because of the contrast her presence afforded to the unpleasant episodes through which he had just passed; also Carolina was dressed in her most becoming street gown, which she well realized, as she was enacting a carefully planned part with the unfortunate secretary.

His frankness and the sincere admiration that shone in his eyes caused her to falter momentarily, almost made her weaken in her purpose, but she made an effort and secured a firmer grip on herself, for she must play a role that would crush to earth the air castle this young secretary was building, a role that would crush the ideals of this young optimist as well.

PENNINGTON FIRES MAY EVER BE A MYSTERY.

The situation at Pennington Seminary, where President Frank Moore is endeavoring to sift out the offender in the supposed cases of incendiarism, has changed little since yesterday, and the indications at present are that no charge will be fastened upon any one.

Dr. Moore said yesterday that he had made as thorough an investigation as he could to account for the location of every one of the fifty young women "co-eds" at the hour of the two fires, and each had established satisfactory alibis. He admitted he was badly puzzled. It is likely that unless some new evidence is secured the affair will be allowed to drop and remain a mystery. The town authorities say they have no evidence sufficiently strong to warrant making a direct accusation of any person.

Judge Cuts Off His Own Light.

Vice-Chancellor Garrison had to decide a case against his own interest in Jersey City on Monday, and Counselor George Holmes was in the same boat, for he represented the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which the borough of Seabright sought to enjoin from removing the wires of the electric company from the railway company's poles which were placed there, it was alleged, without permission. The vice-chancellor denied the injunction and the wires will come down, and the lighting will be by oil lamps unless an amicable adjustment is made. The vice-chancellor and Mr. Holmes have summer homes at Seabright that have been equipped with wire for electric lighting, and they may have to burn oil.

"Sportsmen" Wipe Out Swans.

Seaside Park, March 3.—A flock of seven wild swan, that made their home in Barnegat Bay last fall, have been entirely wiped out by gunners. The flock consisted of two snow-white ganders and five females, gray in plumage. One of the ganders measures eight feet six inches from wing tip to wing tip, and six feet from the point of his bill to the end of his toes. These birds are very rare in this locality, often a year going by without one being seen. They were killed with old-time, muzzle-loading duck guns, loaded with buckshot, ordinary duck shot having no power to penetrate their thick feathers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Williams, of East Ninth street, are sojourning at Atlantic City.

AUTO NOTES.

Officials of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey and the New Jersey Automobile Trade Association are making quiet but determined efforts to induce the members of the State Legislature to pass the amendments to the motor vehicle law introduced by Austin Colgate. The bill has passed its second reading in the Assembly and the members of the lower house seem favorably disposed toward the bill. The motorists hope the measure will get a favorable reception from the State Senators.

The automobilists have found only one objectionable feature in the bill, the provision that non-residents shall pay a fee of $1 for temporary license and registration number pad. The motorists think the charge should be done away with, as New York and the other States that recognize New Jersey licenses do not exact such a fee for the temporary use of their roads by motorists registered in New Jersey. The clubs of the State will try to have the one dollar fee provision stricken out of the amendment.

Board Raises School Money.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman has called the Union County Tax Board's attention to the fact that the school fund in the county has been increased by $100,000 through the efforts of the board. He says that the county ratables have been raised to a point which entitles the county to the additional sum.

MRS. MEAD PRESIDENT OF M'ALL AUXILIARY

The annual meeting of the Plainfield branch of the McAll Auxiliary was held this morning at the Plainfield Public Library, when these officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead; secretary, Mrs. Herbert E. Bariglt; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster; honorary vice-president, Mrs. Lawrence Myers; acting vice-presidents, Mrs. J. S. Zelie, Mrs. W. A. Freeman, Miss Addie Dietrich, Miss Ida Yerkes, Mrs. F. O. Herring.

Several letters received from Limoges, France, where the branch supports a chapel and Bible readers, were read and were encouraging to the members. The report of the treasurer showed the receipts for the year to be in advance of the previous twelve months. There was a discussion of the conference to be held here May 5 and 6, and several committees were named to look after the details. At that time representatives of the association from all parts of the country will be present.

Want Mr. Fowler.

Letters have been received by the New Jersey Congressmen in Washington from Alfred Smith of Riverton, protesting against the election of Joseph G. Cannon as Speaker of the House of Representatives, and advocating a change in the rules. This and similar letters all seem to emanate from the same source and all are directed against Mr. Cannon and are in favor of Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, for Speaker. Mr. Fowler is unquestionably an able man, and one who would make a first-class Speaker, if elected, but there is uractically no chance that he will be chosen, for "Uncle Joe" has more than enough votes pledged to elect him.

Squire Naar Wants Hearing.

Justice of the Peace Manfred Naar, of Mercer county, whose impeachment by the Legislature is being urged by the Auto Club of America, has asked the House Judiciary Committee to give him a hearing before making any report on his case. It may be that his wish will be be granted, but the opinion seems to prevail, however, that the impeachment proceedings will be started nevertheless. Monday afternoon the committee heard W. W. Niles, a New York autoist, who had a complaint to make against Naar. Chairman Lewis said afterward the committee had not decided when to make a report.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN'S WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary of the First Presbyterian church, was held this morning when reports for the year were received, officers were elected and Mrs. J. A. Frazier, of Elizabeth, secretary of the Board of Freedmen, gave a talk. These officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Howard A. Pope; vice-president, Mrs. T. C. Bodine; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Poagland; treasurer, Mrs. William H Thorn; secretary of literature, Mrs. John S. Johnston; superintendent of sewing, Mrs. W. R. Causebrook; secretary and treasurer of sewing meeting, Mrs. E. W. Ponier.

The reports were all good. All of the pledges were met and work has been done for the Children's Home and the Day Nursery, while several boxes and barrels of literature and clothing have been sent to mission fields. Following the morning session lunch was served under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Dunn, chairman; Mrs. William H Thorn, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Andrew Petrie. The waitresses were the Misses Gertrude Abbott, Hyatt, Peacock, Englehart, Martin and Miner. Miss Miner presided at the piano during the meeting. This afternoon the Women's Foreign Missionary Society will hold its annual meeting, when Dr. Nelson, of Syria, will speak.

REASONS FOR RARITAN CANAL DISUSE SOURT.

In the Senate Monday night at Trenton, a resolution was introuced by Mr. Silzer providing for the appointment of a committee of three Senators to ascertain the reasons for the disuse of the Delaware and Raritan Canal, to determine whether or not there is discrimination in the supplying of boats for use thereon, and also to investigate and report the utility and advisability of adopting legislation tending to revive the usefulness of the canal.

The resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary, is similar to the joint resolution of last year. It recalls the argument made last year by representatives of the United Companies, that the latter had good reason if so disposed to abandon the canal after New Brunswick had blocked traffic with a stone bridge which made the navigation of larger vessels impracticable.

IN THE QUAKER PHASE SHE ASKS FOR OLD LAW.

President Robbins, of the Senate, at Trenton, showed his sense of humor Monday night by submitting the following communication which he had received from Caroline B. Zelly, secretary of the Moorestown Grange:

"At our last grange meeting I was directed to send thee a communication concerning the need of a law prohibiting the ending up of balloons bearing lights on Fourth of July, and other occasions, unless accompanied by a human caretaker, as such balloons greatly endanger property. We ask for they influence to secure such a law.

Mr. Frelinghuysen increased the levity of the Senators when he moved that the communication be referred to the Committe on Agriculture. It was.

"Remember that you are this evening standing on soil that has been deluged with the blood of patriots that we might have the right to gather just as we have gathered here. (Great applause).

"And if the bloodhounds appear, if the minions of tyranny present themselves and order us to move on in defiance of our sacred rights, let us——"

"Come off that box and get along with you!" commanded a policeman, who appeared at that moment, with club in hand. (Painful ten second pause).

SLEEVES FOR ALL OCCASIONS.

Let us thank Dame Fashion for giving us back the short sleeve.

The newest sleeves for evening and very dressy wear are close fitting and quite short; that is to say, they reach a little more than half way between the shoulder and elbow, and follow the lines of the arm very closely.

For less dressy occasions and street wear they are supplemented by a long lace or chiffon sleeve also close fitting and generally matching in color the tone of the dress, finished in mitten form over the hand. This shape is now preferred to the one terminating at the wrist.

When real lace is used for the long sleeves, it is not necessary, or even desirable, to change its color, and some of the same variety of lace is usually worked in on the wrist, to a greater or less degree.

Sometimes only a yoke or deep lapels will be seen and again the whole blouse will be of the lace, having only a skeleton waist of the dress material, to which the sleeves are attached.

Against Prudential's Bridge.

Joseph A. Beecher, of Newark, was doing a little lobbying about the House Monday night in his own behalf. He was telling legislators that the Smith bill to allow the Prudential Insurance Company to bridge Bank street was all wrong. Mr. Beecher is interested in some property in Bank street, and several years ago prevented the Prudential from accomplishing what it is striving to do this session. He wants to prevent it again.

MURPHY REPLIES TO FORT

Governor's Criticism of Legislation Committee Unjust, He Says.

"IT'S A TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT."

Former Governor Declares That His Committee Has Never Interfered Improperly in Any Legislation.

Characterizing the criticisms of the committee on legislation of the Republican State Committee, recently appointed to keep a watch on legislation as a "tempest in a teapot," and scoring those who pronounce it unwelcome as the Republican party's "half friends, half enemies," former Governor Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State committee, has issued a statement in reply to Governor Fort's recent protest against the committee's interference in matters in Trenton.

Following is Chairman Murphy's statement:

"To the Republicans of New Jersey:

"I find, on returning from an absence of ten days in the South, that the action of the State committee, at its meeting on February 19, in constituting its executive committee a committee on legislation has caused some criticism in the State on the part of the Democrats and those, who, for their own ends, desire to be regarded sometimes as Independents and sometimes as Regular Republicans. I have not heard that the action of the committee has been crititized by any genuine Republican, who believes in his party, and who believes that the best interests of the people are safest when confided to its charge.

"What the committee did, and the reason for its action, was explained in the statement made by Governor Stokes, which was sufficient for those who desire information, and should have been sufficient for every one. But, in these days of new political fashions, which change as frequently as women's bonnets, it has come to be thought improper, apparently, that the Republican State Committee, which care for the well-being and preservation of the Republican party, should exercise its right to advise with the Republican members of the Legislature concerning those measures which are of interest to the party, and not to the party alone, but, as Republicans believe, to the people as a whole.

"This 'tempest in a teapot' has created so much fuss that I have been requested to make a statement of the situation, lest the action of the committee should be misunderstood, and it should be regarded as assuming the functions both of the Governor and the Legislature. It is because it has been charged with doing this that a statement is justified.

"The duty of the State Committee is to issue calls for conventions, to prepare the platforms of the party subject to the approval of the conventions, to conduct the State campaigns for Governor and for President, and to advise with the leaders of the party in the various counties of the State, with the active members of the party in the Legislature, upon measures affecting the people of the State, and it has even at times ventured to make suggestions to the Governor of the State—and this without offense. It serves the political ambition of no man. It holds in charge the political destiny of no man. It cares for the interest of the Republican party, and, through that party, the interest of the people, and so long as this country is governed by party, so long it must continue to do this, and when it fails it will go to defeat, and it should go to defeat.

"The State committee has never yet interfered improperly in any legislation, and it probably never will. But it has never hesitated to counsel those in authority as to what it believed to be for the best interests of the party and the people, and, as long as I am chairman of the State committee, it will never cease to do this.

"It is said that its advice is unwelcome. Unwelcome to whom? To the Republicans who have fought the party battles and carried the party to success? Not at all. But unwelcome to its enemies, and its half enemies, and its half friends. Notwithstanding this criticism, the committee will go on with what it has undertaken to do, and what it believes to be its duty to do now, as heretofore, and it will try as best it may to save the party from a whole lot of foolishness that now seems to threaten it from its enemies.

"FRANKLIN MURPHY,
"Chairman Republican State Committee."

"COUNT" J. K. VAN NESS' CASE TO BE RE-TRIED

The Court of Errors and Appeals for the March term opened yesterday in Trenton, with Chancellor Pitney presiding. All the Judges but Justice Reed, who is presiding at a murder trial in Mercer county, were present. Of the 155 cases on the calendar, it is understood that but seventy will be heard this term, and the rest will be adjourned until next term.

The only case of interest to Plainfielders is the appeal by "Count" J. K. VanNess from the decree of the Court of Chancery in the foreclosure case by George W. Marsh against him. In this case, which was heard several years ago, Mr. Marsh sued to foreclose a mortgage against "Count" VanNess and the defense set up by the latter was that he had paid certain sums for which he had not been given credit.

During the progress of the trial the "Count" was taken ill several times and in consequence it was prolonged. The final decision by the Chancery Court was against VanNess in part, though he did get a partial verdict, and it is from that part of the decision against him that he has appealed to the Court of Errors. W. S. Angleman is representing "Count" VanNess and Former Judge Gilhooley, of Elizabeth, is counsel for Mr. Marsh. The case will probably be reached tomorrow and a bitter legal fight is expected.

CITY STREET GANG BUSY IN STICKY SNOW.

The unexpected return of winter weather, accompanied by a small sized snow storm, caused sudden activity in the street cleaning department. Street Commissioner Gavett was on the job early this morning and within an hour or so he had a gang of twenty men and four carts at work cleaning up crosswalks, opening gutters and removing piles of snow from the trolley station and other central points.

The storm was not of sufficient severity to cause much alarm and but little delay was occasioned in the operation of the local and main line trolley cars. The telephone and telegraph companies experienced but little trouble, the telephone company being greatly protected by its extensive underground work in this city.

That the storm was unexpected is shown by the weather reports announced this morning, which predicted fair weather today and tomorrow. When questioned today as to what trouble the storm had caused him, Street Commissioner Gavett replied: "Why, this is fun. If for no other reason I am glad it arrived because it will give the street gang something to do and the men appreciate the chance."

POLICE NAB MAN AND WOMAN IN EMPTY HOUSE.

A man and woman were arrested in a vacant house at Westervelt and Summit avenues last night, about 8:30 o'clock. Residents of the neighborhood had seen them enter through a window and thought they were burglars, whereupon they notified the police.

Chief George Weiss and Marshal William Gaub went to the place and took the couple into custody. Both were locked up, and this morning were given a hearing before Recorder Dolliver, who fined them $2 each on a disorderly charge. The woman gave her name as "Mrs. Araminta Jackson." Her companion was Fred Kane.

Mrs. Louis Morel, Sr.

Mrs. Louis Morel, Sr., aged 65 years, died very suddenly at her home on Park avenue, Scotch Plains, this morning. Rev. W. G. Puddefoot, of Indiana, Tells Mission Workers About Gary.

MISSIONARY CAMPAIGN THERE.

Congregational Societies Hold Mass Meeting—Rev. Dr. John P. Jones Lectures on India.

Two lecturers enthused the mass meeting of the Congregational Missionary societies last night. One is an active worker in the home field and the other abroad. Rev. W. G. Puddefoot, of Indiana, who inducted considerable genuine humor of the hoosier variety into his discourse, told of the work being done in his own State, and Rev. Dr. John P. Jones, of the India field, gave an insight to the conditions in that country.

The meeting, which began in the afternoon, was one of two hundred held simultaneously in various parts of the country and designated as a joint missionary campaign Participating in it were: The American Missionary Association, The Congregational Home Missionary Society and The American Board The Congregational societies of Bound Brook and Westfield joined with those of this city and were represented by large delegations. Rev Charles L. Goodrich, of this city, was chairman.

The speakers during the afternoon session were: G. W. Crawford, of New Haven, Conn., who made a plea for higher education for colored people; Rev. C. C. Creegan, of New York, visiting missionary to China; Rev. Charles W. Small, State Secretary of the Home Missionary Society for Ohio; Rev. C. J. Ryder, secretary of the American Missionary Association, and Dr Ray, of Texas.

A recess was taken at 6 o'clock for supper, which was served in the church parlors. The night session began with a general discussion by the delegates of missionary methods and of the plan for apportioning donations. The speakers of the evening followed.

Rev. Puddefoot's address was a strong plea for the home missions. He kept the audience in constant laughter by giving unexpected turns to serious remarks and illustrating philosophical expressions with humorous anecdotes. Gary, Indiana, where is located the largest steel mills in the world, he believed to be greatly in need of missionaries. Its meteroric growth from a patch of scrub oaks to a city of 10,000, almost in a night, had not given it a chance to acquire stability, and its population was made up mostly of rough men, whose drunken carousals made life dangerous for every one. It had paved streets, wide concrete sidewalks, modern stone buildings, but there were more than a hundred saloons and but few churches. Murder and other crimes were common.

The speaker pointed out that this was a spot which should be looked after. He hoped to see the time when the Congregationalists would erect a substantial church in the place. "All benevolences," he said, "spring up from Christian influence. Cut off that influence and you take out the foundation.

Dr. Jones, in his address on India said, in part: "India, the land of ultra conservatism, is throbbing with the spirit of unrest. Japan's victory over Russia thrilled all east, and the people are beginning to say, if the Japs can conquer a great nation of the West, what cannot India do, with its millions of inhabitants.

"What the natives of India want is governmental rights They are not yet ready for self-control, but would like to be placed on the same basis, under the British flag, as Canada and Australia.

"No people in the world are equal to the Brammins intellectually. They rea the spiritual head of that country and have been for thirty centuries. To live together with amity, the English must learn sympathy with the Indian ideas. The natives are craving for Christianity and the Western ideas appeal to them. Many villages are ready for teachers, but the board is powerless to supply them all, for want of funds. Our hands are tied by the church, which will not give more."

Following the petition of residents of West Front street, between Grant and Clinton avenues, Street Commissioner Gavett has had that thoroughfare repaired temporarily. FACULTY FIVE VICTORS

P. H. S. Pedagogs Trim Senior Class Basketball Team, 30-24.

COLLATION FOLLOWS GAME.

Principal Travell's Playing at Centre A Feature of Basketball Burlesque in School Gym.

In a veritable triumph of mind over matter, a practical demonstration of the value of height and reach as assets in basketball, even though skill and "wind" be lacking, the Plainfield High School faculty five deliberately up and trimmed the senior class team of the school after their own interpretation of the rules at the school gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The final score was 30-24, but fame is but short-lived here below, and Omega Oil is very good for sprains, bruises and stiffness.

About 150 members of the student body and school faculty witnessed the struggle for supremacy, and a big cohort of "rooters" made the ether vibrate with howls of joy when the faculty players, taking the lead after the first minute of the game, kept ahead during the forty-five minutes of kaleidescopic contortions on the part of the pedagogs which represented actual play. To Lindsey Best, purveyor of scientific wisdom in the school laboratories, be a big hunk of the glory, for his ten baskets and six net swishers from the foul line were in themselves sufficient to bring defeat to the school boys. He was the captain of the pedagogic quintet and played with a grace, ease and brilliancy that must have made him a favorite subject for Hamilton College cheers in years gone by. The mighty "Zeus" Travell, principal of the school, was responsible for the first basket shot, however, and later netted the ball again by reaching over the edge of the basket and releasing it from his grasp. He gained more ground for his team than any other player. Costumed in grey and encased for more than two-thirds of his length in directoire-fitting Turner pants, his throat was embraced by a brilliant bandanna which gave his appearance the motif of that of a Rough Rider. His job was to occupy the inner circle of the basketball floor and slap the ball into space on each toss-up. A grey shaft of one waywardness, he made good. "Sammy" Howe, who teaches history, "Sunny Jim" Hubbard, who draws his pay for his knowledge of botany and four other more practical subjects, the tawny "Pat" Riley, who but lately joined the ranks of the faculty and talks German in the class-room, and one George Broadbent, who does calisthenics with a broom at the school afternoons, were the other players.

"Sunny Jim" Hubbard, who hates to be "done into print" even in the true Roycrofter style of his Erie county namesake, deserves a paragraph all by himself. His work doesn't show up at all in the summaries, but he was pitted against "Slim" Snyder and came in as a valuable asset in all the team work. His desire to guard closely and his inability to turn sharply gave him the appearance of Dorando during the first half, when he marathoned around almost perpetually.

Stanley Robins, who captained the school team, made the first basket as soon as the play began, but the tall principal tied the score a moment later and soon afterwards Captain Best put the pedagogs in the lead. At the end of the first half, the faculty five led by a score of 13-7. Wilcox did the best work for the schoolboys, and, although pitted against "Mr. Travell," made seven goals from the floor and added a point from the mark. Several points were awarded the faculty for being interfered with in attempts to shoot field goals.

"Ben" Evans, team-mate of George Broadbent, was the referee, and the fact that he wore a police badge on his overalls and carried a bamboo cane, made his decisions unquestionably correct on every occasion. Ludlow VanDeventer, a freshman, dressed as a physician of the old school, was the official "faculty doctor" and rendered effective "first aid," especially when the tall grey shaft of pedagogic humanity at centre alighted on the side of his foot instead of the sole, after a leap which enabled him to scrape the sky light of the gymnasium with his finger-tips. Fingers and foot were promptly "doctored" in most approved style and thereafter Mr. Travell kept out of the rarified atmosphere more consistently.

Manager Charles E. Prior, of the school team, announces that the "gate receipts" from the game were $25.20. At the conclusion of the play, a "spread" was served in the school basement. The refreshments

MANGANESE SAFE CO. AGAIN APPEALS CASE

Monday was opinion day in the Court of Errors and the only cases of interest to Plainfield out of the forty decided, were the appeals argued at the November term of court involving appeals taken by Samuel and Martha Rodman against the Manganese Steel Safe Company, from the preliminary injunction, which were dismissed by Vice-Chancellor Howell.

These appeals were taken by Mr. Rodman and his wife and the opinion of the Court on Monday, which was written by Judge Swayze, decides that the vice-chancellor should be sustained. George Ball and W. S. Angleman represent Mr. Rodman and John R. Hardin, of Newark, is counsel for the safe company.

Another case was started by Mr. Rodman a few weeks ago in which a preliminary injunction was granted. This case is still pending. The opinion of the Court of Errors and Appeals will not affect the new case in any way.

YOUNG BASEBALL PLAYERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL FAIR.

Under the auspices of the members of the third nine of the Holy Cross Club, a highly successful sale and reception was held yesterday afternoon in the church parish house. The proceeds of the affair amount to nearly $45, which includes a check for $25 sent to Manager Raymond Kline of the baseball team by one of the men of the church. The generous donor enclosed a brief note with the check, in which he characteristically stated that he hoped the check would "make a home run."

The parish house was tastefully decorated with the national colors and club flags for the occasion, and cake, ice cream and candy were served by the boys at small tables, bearing dainty candelabra. The popular refreshment was "The Ideal Sundae," concocted by the boys after an exclusive formula, and this had a big sale. Captain George Ball of the team was at the head of the general committee in charge of the affair. He was assisted by Raymond Kline, the manager, and the members of the team. Assisting the boys were the members of the altar chapter of the church and the rector Rev. George A. Warner. The proceeds of the affair will be used for the purchase of uniforms and equipment for the team.

TRIAL BY JURY FOR LAVER, WHO FACES S. P. C. A. CHARGE.

Gustav Laver, of Duer street, who was arrested Tuesday by Constable William Pangborn, special officer of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for alleged cruelty to his horse, was given a hearing in Justice of the Peace Thomas Snape's court last night. William G. DeMeza, Laver's attorney, petitoned the court for a trial by jury, and his request was granted. The case will come up Friday night. W. A. Coddington is counsel for the Society.

The complaint brings Laver, who is a grocer, to task for cruel treatment of his horse, whom he is alleged to have beaten and abused.

NO RAISE AT RAHWAY.

Reformatory Manager's Salary Not Boosted by Assembly.

The board of managers of the Rahway Reformatory are puzzled over the defeat by the Assembly of the measure providing for an increase of the manager's salary, now $3,000. They see no way out of the difficulty and have said so.

Dr. Frank Moore, of Pennington Seminary, has said that he would not accept the place unless at an increased salary. Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, a member of the board, stated today that he could see no way out of the trouble except through an appropriation from the Governor's emergency fund, and he was not inclined to favor this plan.

To Lecture on the Holy Land.

An illustrated lecture on the Holy Land will be given at St. Stephen's parish house Monday night by Rev. Mr. Dexter, of East Orange. The lecturer is a graduate of Oxford and has traveled extensively in the Holy Land. The proceeds of the affair will go toward the defrayment of the church debt.

TAFT IS NOW PRESIDENT

Impressive Ceremonies Marked Inauguration of Roosevelt's Successor.

PLAINFIELDERS AT CAPITAL.

Union County Committee's Special Carries Twenty-five From Here For the Ceremony.

William Howard Taft took the Presidential oath of office on the stand on the east front of the Capitol at Washington at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and, succeeding Theodore Roosevelt as the nation's chief executive, became the twenty-seventh President of the United States. A crowd of more than 100,000 people cheered him as he delivered his inaugural address immediately afterward. At noon the oath of office was administered to James Schoolcraft Sherman, the Vice-President, in the Senate chamber.

Immediately after delivering his address President Taft and his party left the Capitol for the White House and closing in behind the carriages came the head of the mammoth inaugural parade. This was reviewed by Mr. Taft from the stand in front of the White House, where he stood from 2:30 until 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. The sleet storm which has isolated Washington from the outside world let up shortly before noon and the sun shone intermittently during the inaugural exercises.

The Union County Committee's inauguration special left Plainfield at 10:30 o'clock last night for Washington, a half-hour late, and arrived at its destination at 6 o'clock this morning. There were about three hundred of the "faithful ones" aboard and everyone was enthusiastic at the start over the junket. In addition to the number of Plainfielders who went to the Capitol City, there was a big crowd at the North Avenue station to see them off. The disagreeable weather apparently had no effect on the members of the party, neither did it keep anyone home who planned to take the trip.

The special, which was scheduled to leave here at 10 o'clock, was delayed in Elizabeth and this city in all about a half hour. It was composed of eight Pullman sleepers, two ordinary coaches, one combination coach and one baggage car. While there was plenty of room for everyone, it was agreed that it was the biggest inauguration party ever leaving the county on such a trip.

All of the county officials were aboard, headed by County Chairman Frank H. Smith, former County Chairman Hamilton F. Kean, County Clerk James C. Calvert, Sheriff Robert Kirkland, James White, and including many city officials and numerous lesser lights from Elizabeth, Rahway and all along the line between the county seat and Plainfield.

Among those from Plainfield in the party are Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, former Mayor James F. Buckle, City Clerk James T. MacMurray, Tax Collector William R. Townsend, Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, Overseer-of-the-Poor A. D. Ayers, George J. Tobin, Andrew McCardell, Ralph L. Morrow, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., J. Henry Crane, Judge William Newcorn, Charles H. Dunham, Councilmen W. L. Gibak, Herbert Buxton, and Frank DeWitt Randolph, George Stewart, Hugh B. Sweeney, Francis J. Blatz, Charles H. Hand, William A. Coddington and John H. Cose.

While in Washington the county delegation will be the guest of United States Senator John Kean, which means that nothing will be left undone in providing all with a good time. The start for home will be made at 1 o'clock tomorrow morning and the special should reach Plainfield about 8 o'clock.

Despite the fact that New Jersey found itself too poor to send a regiment or two to take part in the inaugural parade, the State will be strongly represented by several marching clubs and the 1st Cavalry troop of Essex county. Nearly every Republican of any prominence in the State will also be on hand, and the State's representation at the inauguration ceremonies will be a large one.

Governor Fort and his party left Trenton shortly after noon yesterday in a private car. On reaching Washington they were taken to the New Willard hotel, where the Governor engaged a whole floor.

In the Governor's party, besides the executive, are Leslie R. Fort, his son and private secretary, of Lakewood; Franklin W. Fort, another son; Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Mrs. Frelinghuysen, John D. Prince and Mrs. Prince, of Ringwood; Senator Oliver H. Brown, of Spring Lake; Dr. Bruce S. Keator, secretary of the State Board of Health, Asbury Park; Assistant Adjutant General Frederick Gilkyson, Colonel Austin Colgate, the Governor's personal aid, and the members

It was reported at the meeting that there will be considerable change in the corps of teachers after the summer vacation, several of the present force going to other places.

Arthur S. Flagg, who has been overseer of the poor for several years, has resigned his position. Ill health is the reason, he being unable to leave the house on account of injuries received in a trolley accident several months ago.

Compare This Car With Others at Any Price

THE CAR OF QUALITY AND LOW COST.

THREE 1909 MODELS

Our "20" at $1,000 (Runabout)
Our "30" at $1,500 (5 Passengers)
Our "40" at $2,000 (7 Passengers)

exemplify the unapproached Mitchell construction. All models have four cylinders and selective transmission.

MITCHELL "30"—$1,500

Equipped with Magneto, 5 Lamps Generator and Horn

Settle your doubts once for all about what kind of car you want. Now is your opportunity. You can compare all others with the Mitchell models.

If you desire a roomy, luxurious touring car, see the Mitchell "40" at $2,000. Judge its worth by cars selling as high as $4,000. Here is a 40-horsepower car—a handsome car—a car of the highest finish—a car that seats seven passengers—has a wheel base of 122 inches—a car with platform rear spring attached outside the rear frame just as on $5,000 cars—a car with all metal body—springs of vanadium steel—aluminum castings strengthened with bronze—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $2,000.

If it is the popular $1,500 product that you wish—just see the Mitchell "30." Go over it part by part and then see how far short the others fall. Here is a $1,500 car with double ignition, magneto and vibrator coil and batteries (no extra charge for $150 magneto)—oversize tires—deatchable tonneau with choice of runabout deck, surrey body or single rumble seat—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $1,500.

If it is a nifty runabout the Mitchell "20" will fulfill your highest expectations—and then offer you features you didn't know were possible at the price—4 cylinders—20 horsepower—32x3½ tires, the size that usually goes on 5-passenger touring cars—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $1,000.

Please note carefully what Mitchell construction means. There's a big difference, especially between "assembled" cars and the Mitchells built entirely at the Mitchell factories.

Take the "30," our famous $1,500 car, as an example: In other low priced cars even the cheapest magneto—nothing to be compared with the one used on the $1,500 Mitchell—is listed as an "extra."

As magneto ignition is coming into universal favor, and every motorist wants it in his car, this magneto "extra" means $1,650 for the $1,500 car.

Remember, a standard magneto goes with the Mitchell "30" and is included in the $1,500.

Then there are the Mitchell's 32-inch wheels and 4-inch tires.

These tires alone would cost you $50 extra a set with any other machine.

Four-inch tires are the large size, made especially to take care of all the overload possible to a car of ordinary size.

On other $1,500 cars and on many that cost twice $1,500, you get only 3½-inch tires.

They are the ordinary size—the tires that are always blowing up or wearing out in short time, no matter how good they are, because 99 cars out of a hundred have to carry an overload.

You can "overload" your $1,500 Mitchell as often as you like. It has the tire capacity for more overload than you will ever pack in.

Consider what this means in money saving after you get your $1,500 car. Any experienced motorist will tell you that tire expense is ordinarily one of the heaviest drains. The oversize tires of the Mitchell also means the easiest riding, and a big saving of wear on your machine.

But the Mitchell "30" is built for economy all the way through.

It averages more miles per gallon of gasoline than any other 4-cylinder car, no matter what the price.

A big help in keeping down the cost of operation is the Mitchell's simplicity.

Give it oil and gasoline—and then let the machinery alone. That's what we have always said to Mitchell users. And they will tell you the rule works on the Mitchell.

We have the best system of lubrication that could be worked out in eight years.

One important reason why we can give you so much more car and so much better car for $1,500 is that ours is not an "assembled" car—that is, it is not gathered up one part from one manufacturer and another part from another. The Mitchell is built entirely at the factory of the Mitchell Motor Car Co., Racine, Wis. (Standard Manufacturers, A. M. C. M. A.)

The same quality of workmanship in an "asembled" car would cost you $2,000 to $2,500.

In the Mitchell Crank Shaft there are five very large bearings. One bearing at each end, and three extra ones between. We have made 5,000 crank shafts in this way, and not a single one of them has ever been broken.

The chassis of the Mitchell "30" is a matchless demonstration of rigidity and strength in pressed steel construction. No better quality of pressed steel can be had, and in putting our frames together on all sizes of cars we strongly reinforce them at every point. No conceivable strain of ordinary or extraordinary usage will rack them. And still the weight of a frame is only moderate.. It is strong enough to be safe and not so heavy as to be clumsy.

Throughout the car—wherever the best results can be secured—nickel alloy and vanadium steels are used liberally.

These steels are employed in the crank shaft, transmission and rear axle shaft—in all the driving mechanism. The springs are vanadium steel. Aluminum castings are used wherever possible, strengthened with bronze wherever there is any strain.

The transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, the kind used on all the high priced cars.

The Mitchell "30' is commodious, comfortable and a beauty. The wheel base is 105 inches.

See the Mitchell cars! They are the most complete expression of American automobile building today—the product of eight years and $11,000,000 worth of experience. Send for Mitchell catalog.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BASEBALL.

Clifford Randolph's friends here are sincerely hoping that he will land a permanent berth with the Newarks.

The Clinton Avenues will practically be the same as last year with the exception of one or two positions. Manager Dorflinger expects to have Seery behind the bat, and he has signed Boyd, of Elizabeth, to cover an outfield position. He is considered one of the best in the county.

Manager Dorflinger is now busy scheduling games for the season. He is sure of a series with Somerville, and will probably have contests with High Bridge and Flemington, in addition to the numerous other fast teams that were seen here last year.

Manager Listman of the Y. M. C. A. baseball club, is sure that his aggregation this year will be the best in the history of the association. It will make a strong bid for the State association championship. There will be the usual series of games with Clinton Avenue which is sure to arouse local interest.

Several promising candidates have been assured of a good tryout with the Y. M. C. A. team this year, and Manager Listman is confident of having a strong battery.

Ray Egner, the well-known pitcher, will be on the staff of the Trenton Tri-State League club this year.

Pitcher Hank Mathewson, brother of "Christy" Mathewson, will play with Savannah in the South Atlantic League this year.

Roy Beecher, formerly a twirler for the Newark Eastern League club, will be with Rochester this year.

Manager McGraw appears to be bending in his decision regarding Mike Donlin and George Wiltse, who are the only two "holdouts." He says that they can accept the salary offered or leave it alone, because the amount will not be increased.

GOLF.

There is fine golfing at the Country Club of Lakewood and it will hold until the end of spring, for the sandy soil does not succumb to mud, and snow is the only weather agency that stops the players. Van Cortlandt Park's course is well patronized and will be in commission except for a week or two when the spring thaw sets in. What public golf may yet achieve at New York, Chicago, Boston and elsewhere is indicated by the patronage of the three public courses of Edinburgh during the last year. There were 172,251 golf tickets issued, and the total amount received from the players was about $5,760. The public subscription course at Salisbury Plains, Garden City, is one of the best about Manhattan just now. The turf is dry and springy for the season and the greens very true; while in shaded places the traces of new grass is in evidence. Dyker Meadow too is affording an enjoyable round, although soft in spots.

About 1895-97, when Americans who yearned to golf did not care whether the course was laid over a grassy commons or in a forest, there was a great smashing of timber for nearly every new link. Now the golfers seek first the proper land and do not try to knock any old sort of tract into a links. Near London, England, where many large royal and other forests have been preserved, those who seek golf are having troubles with trees. The London Corporation Council has, however, granted permission for semi-public courses on commons in Epping and Hainauet forests, but the timber is to be spared as much as possible. For a new club in Slough no less than 1,300 trees are being felled to make room for the course. This is involving a great deal of money, but in the immediate vicinity of London land can hardly be obtained for golf links, and, recognizing the value of golf, the landowners are going to considerable expense to obtain it.

Lost Dog Rang Doorbell.

Bayonne, March 4.—Duke, one of Recorder Hugh H. Mara's pair of prize bulldogs, was returned Tuesday night, after having been missing since Thursday. The return was made under conditions that indicated that the thief, or at any rate the person making restitution was something of a practical joker, the leash was tied to the doorbell of the O'Mara home. The "button" of the bell operates something like an old-fashioned knocker, and everytime the lever is raised the door bell jingles. The dog's antics kept the bell ringing at a rate that brought O'Mara to the door in anything but a judicial frame of mind.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD SUIT NEARS END.

Final litigation over a Sheriff's sale held in 1901 was begun before Vice-Chancellor Howell at Newark, yesterday. The suit is brought by Aaron E. Johnston, acting for the estate of Mrs. Mary E. Throckmorton, to recover from Thomas P. McKenna, Hugh E. Reilly and others, about $7,000 to satisfy a judgment against the Rockwood Hotel, at Long Branch, owned by Mrs. Throckmorton.

The case has been in the courts almost continuously for more than seven years. The Court of Chancery tried it, in its various phases, three times, and the Court of Errors and Appeals took it twice. Suit against Patrick J. Reilly was brought on the same grounds as the present suit, and was won by Mrs. Throckmorton, but it was discovered that he was not responsible, having acted as a mere dummy for Hugh E. Rielly and McKenna.

Former Vice-Chancellor Pitney, in deciding the former case, said: "A judgment creditor, Clarence G. Van Note, sold under execution a valuable equity of redemption in mortgaged premises (the hotel), and became the purchaser for the amount of his judgment. Subsequently he sold the equity to defendants (Reilly, Skelly and Fogarty) for a small sum on their fraudulent representations that they were acting for the debtor."

Plummer Bill Hearing Tuesday.

Local option supporters will rally at Trenton Tuesday to make another fight against saloons at the public hearing to be granted the Plummer Local Option Bill. Senator Frelinghuysen has set the time for the hearing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the anti-saloon forces will have an hour to speak on the measure and will be followed by their opponents for an hour. Local option supporters will then be given an hour to reply and the enemies of the bill will conclude the debate in a half hour. It is reported that there will be but six speakers from the Anti-Saloon League this year, and these will be business men from different sections of the State. Last year there were twenty-seven speakers.

MECHANICS' ORDER POUNDS GOV. FORT

Trenton, March 4.—The Junior Order of United American Mechanics issued another statement yesterday condemning Governor Fort for still standing by his plan of diverting school moneys to the State. After discussing "attempts on the part of the Governor to destroy our system of State aid to public schools," the statement continues:

"We are advised that the Governor continues his opposition to the law of 1906, which, he says, 'was vicious legislation.'

"The Governor, it is apparent, will spare no efforts to in some manner carry out his plan, whatever other solution of the difficulty may be presented. Other solutions of the financial difficulty have been or will be presented which will solve the problem and not change the law of 1906, nor cause a State tax. Therefore, we call upon you to renew your work of agitation, to again see or write your Senator and Assemblymen, protesting against any repeal or change of the law of 1906, and to arouse the people of the State, that there shall be an end to this effort to cripple the schools of the State.

"Use every effort to arouse your community and to keep it aroused. Deny at once any statement that the board of managers are to make any compromise whatever. We are fighting for a principle, and can neither compromise nor surrender.

"Our present duty is to make sure of the retention of the law as it now exists and demands our best efforts. We confidently count upon and urge your council and legislative committee to do its best, and do it at once. Next week will be too late. What is done must be done at once. Get busy, everybody. Send your protests at once. Get every friend of the public schools to do the same.

"If all help in this matter we will gain the victory."

MARRIAGE LAST RESORT TO HOLD A HOUSEKEEPER.

Clayton, March 4.—Rather than lose his housekeeper, Magistrate Benjamin M. Turner popped the question and was married to Miss Sarah E. Corson, of Beasley Point, Sunday night. The courtship, the proposal and the marriage all took place in less than an hour. Miss Corson has been employed by Mr. Turner for four years.

Miss Corson had her trunks packed Saturday and was to leave Sunday evening. As she was going from the house she stopped in Mr. Turner's office and regrets were expressed on both sides. Even at the last minute Mr. Turner tried to induce his housekeeper to remain.

After the last farewells were said Mr. Turner called Miss Corson back and said he had one more inducement to offer: "Will you marry me?"

"This is so sudden, your honor," answered Miss Corson, but after the suddenness wore off a note was sent to Rev. A. C. McConnell, pastor of the Baptist church, to which Miss Corson belongs, and he soon arrived, accompanied by Mrs. McConnell. The bridal party called on their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. George Litchfield, where the ceremony was performed.

The first intimation that Mr. Turner's children had of the marriage was when they returned home late from church and found the marriage certificate lying under a bright gas light.

MOTHER'S TEARS FREED SON WHO STOLE JEWELS.

Jersey justice succumbed to a hysterical mother's plea that her son be freed from the disgrace of imprisonment at Atlantic City, when Chief of Detectives Richard Whalen reluctantly surrendered to the custody of his grieving parents Wesley Meehan, seventeen years old, son of a New York broker, who ran away with $7,000 worth of the contents of his mother's jewel cabinet.

Refusal of Mr. Meehan to prosecute his son left the authorities no other alternative than to discharge the young man, unless they were willing to take a chance of convicting Meehan, with Charles Benz and John O'Donnell, his companions, on the evidence placed at their disposal by the New York police, and the testimony of pawnbrokers to whom Benz had attempted to sell a $2,500 diamond sunburst and other jewels for anything the brokers were willing to advance on them. Chief Whalen communicated with the New York authorities and after a midnight conference with the weeping parents of young Meehan, decided to drop the case.

Meehan said the trio expected to sell the jewels and go to South America on the proceeds.

ESSEX MAN'S APPEAL BEFORE ERRORS COURT.

The March term of the Court of Errors and Appeals was opened Tuesday at Trenton. Many new cases were added to the original long list, important among the additions being the suit instituted by the collector of Essex county to test the constitutionality of the civil service law. As the case involves important State principles, with the consent and upon motion of the attorney general it was advanced on the list.

In opening these accounts we pay more attention to the applicant's reputation for paying his debts than to the size of his bank account or to the extent of his real estate holdings. As a result we have on our books today a very large number of absolutely reliable, prompt paying customers. The convenience costs us practically nothing, while it contributes materially to our purchasing and selling power, at the same time it enables you to buy what you want, Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, Sewing Machines, Talking Machines and General Household Goods. Pay a small amount down and the balance is arranged in weekly or monthly payments to suit your convenience.

By doing business with us on the "Household Club Plan" you do not have to pay the exhorbitant prices usually charged by installment houses. "Our Prices" are the same to everybody. Come in and let us explain the Plan in detail.

WOMAN WARNS SPITTER.

He Tells the Wife of Dr. Scudder to Mind Her Own Business.

Jersey City, March 4.—Health Inspector Hagen's corps of uniformed inspectors did duty on the trolley cars yesterday, looking for violators of the anti-spitting ordinance. So far as they could see, the ordinance was being observed, and no arrests were made.

Mrs. John L. Scudder, wife of the Rev. John L. Scudder, of the First Congregational church, had occasion yesterday to reprimand a man who persisted in spitting on a trolley car floor. The man, when spoken to by Mrs. Scudder, told her to mind her own business, and when she threatened him with arrest he left the car.

To Record Jungle Sounds.

Winsted, Conn., March 4.—To get the shouts of the half civilized natives on the hunt for big game, the weird music and songs, the conversation among those who have only a dialect as a form of communication, as well as those who have a language; the roar of the wild beasts of the jungle, the cries of the prey at bay, the shouts of the hunters, and similar sounds in Africa, President Roosevelt has had a graphaphone of aluminum specially made for him by the American Graphaphone Company of Bridgeport.

Bolt Driven Into Hand.

Paterson, March 4.—An iron bolt, five inches long, and three-quarters of an inch in diameter, was driven into the back of the hand of Miss Marcella Youngman, at the Van Kirk mill Tuesday. No bones were broken, but so tightly was the bolt driven in between the bones that the ambulance surgeon attached to St. Joseph's Hospital ambulance, was unable to remove the bolt until the young woman was taken to the hospital. The metal penetrated her hand to within a quarter of an inch of the palm.

Stabbed in a Quarrel.

Jersey City, March 4.—Patrick Moran, of 87½ Jordan avenue, is in the City Hospital with a stab wound in the left breast. The physicians say there is little chance of his recovery. The wound was inflicted by John McHarg, of 10 Factory street, who, with Moran, was employed in the plant of the Jersey City Paper Company in Cornelison avenue. The two became involved in a dispute which led to blows and McHarg used the knife.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. E. F. Ege is critically ill at Truell Inn, where she has been stopping for some time.

Mrs. Sarah A. Wilson, of 58 Race street, who is celebrating the anniversary of her birthday today, was remembered by her many friends, who gave her a postal shower.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, have returned home from Atlantic City, where they have had a ten days' change of air and scenery. Both are perceptibly benefitted in health.

SWAIN WAS FAITHLESS.

Bayonne, March 4.—Before Recorder Mara in the police court yesterday was arraigned Samuel Gaul on complaint of Miss Gertrude Corass, of New York. The young woman charged that Saul had been engaged to her, but several days ago jilted her.

Shortly after he left her home Miss Corass discovered that some of her jewelry and money was missing and, following him to Bayonne, had him arrested. Saul was remanded.

Hen Lays Duplex Egg.

Red Bank, March 4.—By laying two perfectly formed eggs with hard shells one within the other a little brown hen belonging to Mrs. Andrew L. Wilson, of Oceanport, has made all Oceanport sing its praises. The largest egg was three and a half inches in length and nine and three-quarters inches in circumference. In the interior was the other egg, also perfectly formed and about the size of a normal egg.

The Sunday-school session of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church is held at 12 o'clock noon on Sunday.

Rev. Vincent VanM. Beede, assistant at the House of Prayer, Newark, preached at St. Stephen's church, last night.

PERMITS INVESTMENT IN FOREIGN SECURITIES.

The Senate Committee on Banks and Insurance reported Monday night at Trenton a committee substitute for Assembly bill 99. It makes only a minor change in the language of the original measure. Assembly 99 was "a supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide for the regulation and incorporation of insurance companies, and to regulate the transaction of insurance business in this State,' approved April 3, 1902." It provided that any insurance company of this State doing business in other countries may invest so much of its funds as are required to meet its obligation incurred in such other States or foreign countries and in conformity to the laws thereof, in the same kind of securities issued in such other States or foreign countries that such company is by law allowed to invest in in this State.

The Assembly bill was an almost verbatim copy of a similar provision in the New York State insurance law. For greater clearness the references to "other States" have been eliminated in the Senate committee substitute, and only the provision with respect to "any foreign country" established.

This bill, it is stated, was introduced in the House to permit the Prudential and other insurance companies, where they desire to do business in foreign countries, to invest a sum sufficient to meet the obligations incurred by them therein, in the securities of such foreign country. In other words, the Prudential would desire, in going into Canada, or any other foreign country, to utilize a portion of the funds paid by the citizens of such country by investing in the securities of the country in which the premiums are paid.

HOUSE FOR STRINGENT IMMIGRATION LAWS.

New Jersey has taken a hand in the immigration question, as may be seen by the following, offered in the House at Trenton Monday by Mr. Crosby, of Ocean:

"Whereas, The landing of thousands of objectionable immigrants in the United State annually is a fact for which the world offers no precedent, and is a menace to American institutions, the American home and American labor; and,

"Whereas, There are now many bills before the Congress of the United States for the better regulation of immigration and the revision of the tariff; and,

"Whereas, The regulation of foreign immigration is a necessary supplement to the tariff, an essential element in the protection of America from ruinous competition by cheap labor at home, ruinous in our endeavor to establish an American industrial democracy; and,

"Whereas, Protective tariff without proper immigration restrictions is a travesty on the industrial problems; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, that copies of this resolution be forwarded to our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and that we respectfully ask them to enact more stringent immigration laws to protect our people, both native born and naturalized, against wholesale immigration from foreign lands."

Mr. Crosby said afterward the resolution, which passed, had no ulterior intent and spoke for itself.

General Secretary Resigns.

John H. Strawbridge, general secretary of the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., has resigned to take a similar position with the Sioux City Y. M. C. A. He makes the changes principally on account of his wife's health. Mr. Strawbirdge has been in Elizabeth nine years, coming from West Philadelphia. When he went to the county seat the association had one room, a table and a pair of boxing gloves. Today the association is one of the best equipped in the State.

HEALTH BOARD BUSY.

Inspectors Covered Practically Whole State Last Month.

Trenton, March 4.—In the month ending February 15 the State Board of Health inspected eight creameries, 110 dairies, 49 milk depots, 446 grocery stores and 40 drug stores. Practically the entire State was covered. Inspection was also made of public water supplies at Riverton, Palmyra, Wenonah, Bound Brook and Bridgeton. Sewage disposal plants were inspected in twelve cities and towns, and cases of special pollution at Clinton, Dover, Bernardsville, Rahway and Bridgeton. The ice pond at Westwood was inspected.

Of 240 specimens of milk tested in the laboratory, 232 were above standard. Of a total of 384 samples of spices and drugs examined, 346 were above standard, thirty-eight were below and twelve suits were instituted.

GOV. FORT FAVORS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS

Governor Fort has transmitted to the Legislature the report of the State Commission on Industrial Education. Accompanying the report is a message, in which the Governor discusses the conclusions of the commission. The message is as follows, in part:

"The commission recommends a separate system from the system of public education. The public school system, of course, is largely a day system, while the industrial school must of necessity be largely a night system. As the commissioners say in their report: 'Although the partial time day school may become popular in the future, at present only a small percentage of the manufacturers of New Jersey favor this form of instruction, which, it is said, would tend to disorganize the factories and shops.'

"In Germany the industrial system has progressed so far that in every community where there are at least 40 youths, between the ages of 14 and 18 years, engaged in commerce or industry, they are obliged to attend an industrial improvement school for at least seven hours per week for three consecutive years. This may, and probably does, account for the rapid strides which Germany is making in industrial lines.

"New Jersey has industrial schools at Newark, Trenton and Hoboken, which are doing admirable work, and the results of their labors the report of the commission, which is herewith presented, shows to have been that those educated in the schools have increased their earning capacity to an amount which equals, on an average, an increase of $1,000 per year in the earning capacity of each graduate.

"What the State has so well begun, let us endeavor to strengthen, promote and advance along the lines suggested in the report herewith presented."

RESOLUTIONS ON TEDDY AND GUARDIANS' BOARD.

Two resolutions eulogistic of President Roosevelt and expressing grateful appreciation for the distinguished service he has given the country, and a third, a sarcastic effusion, offered in thanks for the State Republican committee's "Board of Guardians," made up part of the fun in the House at Trenton on Monday night. Mr. Sullivan, the minority leader, of Hudson, put in the "Guardianship" paper, and on motion of Mr. Martin it was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations, of which he is chairman.

As for the Roosevelt resolutions, both of which were adopted in the House and later in the Senate, one came from Mr. Books, of Essex, and the other from Majority Leader Lewis, of Burlington. The former's was framed in this way:

"Whereas, On March 4 next, Theodore Roosevelt, twenty-sixth President of the United States, will retire from office after an unparalleled period of service in behalf of the people; and,

"Whereas, During his whole public career, and especially since his occupancy of the Presidential office, he has ever been an unswerving foe of all that is base and sordid in politics; he has relentlessly battled against those whose conception of government is a license to prey on their weaker brethren; he has embraced every acclaim to his countrymen; he has given expression to their ideals, their hopes and aspirations; in fact, within the domain of human endeavor he has exerted an influence for good almost impossible of calculation, and has exemplified in the highest degree the virtues that challenge the admiration and love of his fellow-citizens;

"Resolved, That the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, the Senate concurring, expresses in behalf of her citizens their grateful appreciation of his distinguished service and wish him Godspeed and many years in his future sphere of activities.

The Lewis resolution, offered immediately afterward, was:

"Whereas, The Hon. Theodore Roosevelt retires from the Presidency of the United States on Thursday March 4, 1909, after seven years' able, patriotic administration of public affairs:

"Resolved, That the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, the Senate concurring, extend to the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt the heartfelt thanks of a grateful people for his splendid administration; and,

"Resolved, That the flag of the Union shall fly on the State Capitol and all other public building of the State in his honor on Wednesday, March 3, 1909."

Almost before Clerk Parker had finished reading the above, Mr. Sullivan was on his feet with his encomium. Here's the way it appeared:

"Whereas, It is reported in the daily press that the Republican State committee in its unique wisdom has appointed a special committee of its members to attend the remaining sessions of this Legislature, and to see that proper legislation is enacted; and,

"Whereas, It is of the utmost importance to the people of the State of New Jersey that said select committee be untrammeled by the rules of a mere House of Assembly; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, First, that the House of Assembly congratulate the Senate and itself on the acquisition of a Board of Guardians.

"Second, That the privilege of the floor for the remainder of the session be given to the said select committee.

"Third, That a copy of the minutes of this House, containing this resolution, be forwarded to each of the said gentlemen when printed."

RAILROADS ARE DEFENDANTS.

Trial of suits charging the Pennsylvania, Reading and Central railroads with violations of provisions of the Federal Safety Appliance act for steam roads, was started yesterday in the United States District Court before Judge William M. Lanning at Trenton. In these actions there are three violations against the Pennsylvania, four against the Reading and fifteen against the Central railroads. In case of conviction of all violations a fine of $100 can be imposed in each instance.

The courtroom was filled with witnesses, mostly employes of the three railroad companies. The specific allegation in each instance is that cars were moved from the yards in Jersey City without the safety appliances required by law. The case will not be decided for some time.

CHAPTER XII.

THE LURE OF A WOMAN'S LOVE

CAROLINA had come to find out from Haines, if possible, how her father was going to vote on the naval base and to induce the secretary to persuade him to stand for Altacoola—if there seemed danger that he would vote for another site. That was her scheme, for Carolina had put $25,000 into Altacoola land, money left by her mother. Norton had persuaded Carolina to invest in the enterprise to defraud the government, promising her $50,000 clear profit. How much she could do in Washington society with that!

The continued uncertainty over her father's final attitude had strained her nerves almost to the breaking, for the success of the conspiracy depended on his vote. Not even the words of Norton, her future husband, could reassure her. Her worry was increased by the knowledge of Randolph's investment of her father's $50,000.

That Carolina must sacrifice Haines on the altar of her consuming desire for money, for a higher worldly position, was an unimportant consideration. He stood in the way. Any moment he might discover the existence of the Altacoola scheme, he would immediately tell her father, and she knew her father would immediately decide against Altacoola—the bright hopes of her future would turn to ashes. Norton's money as well was invested in Altacoola. He, too, would be ruined. She was sure that she loved Norton, but she could not marry a penniless man.

Carolina resumed the conversation.

"It isn't anything so very important, Mr. Haines. It's about father."

Haines beamed.

"I have the honor to report, Miss Langdon," he bowed, "that your father is making the very best kind of a senator."

The girl hesitated.

"Yes; he might if he had some ambition."

"Don't worry! If he comes down to that, I have ambition for two. You want him to be a success, don't you? Well, he is the biggest kind of a success."

"I never believed that he would be," confessed the daughter.

Haines laughed.

"Why, do you realize that today he is one of the most popular men in public life throughout the country; that 'What does Langdon think?' has become the watchword of the big body of independents who want honesty and decent government without graft?

"I tell you that's a big thing, Miss Langdon. That's success—real success in politics, especially in Washington politics.

"Now, if there's anything else you want him to have, I'll see that he gets it. I'll try to get it for him"—he paused a moment, then added, with heartfelt meaning in his voice—"and for you, Miss Langdon."

Carolina played coquettishly with the secretary.

"For me, Mr. Haines?" she questioned archly, with an effective glance into his eyes.

Bud's pulses began to throb violently—to leap.

"Yes," he exclaimed unsteadily, "for you, and you know it. That's the inspiration now, my inspiration—the chance of winning your belief in me, of winning something more, the biggest thing I ever thought to win — because, Miss Langdon—Carolina—I love you." He bent over and seized the girl's hand. "Ever since the day I first saw you I"—

"And for you, Miss Langdon."

She shook her head indulgently and in a moment drew her hand from his.

"You mustn't be so serious, Mr. Haines. You don't understand southern girls at all. We are not just like northern girls. We are used to being made love to from the time we are knee high. Sometimes I fear we flirt a little, but we don't mean any harm. All girls flirt—a little."

"But somebody wins even the southern girls," declared Haines eagerly.

The girl's face became serious, earnest, sincere.

"Yes, somebody does, always," she said. "And when a southern girl is won she stays won, Mr. Haines."

"And I have a chance to win?" questioned the determined young northerner.

Carolina smiled sweetly and expressively.

"Who knows? First make my father even a bigger success—that's first. Oh, I wonder if you can realize what all this life means to me! If you can realize what those years of stagnating on the plantation meant to me! No man would have endured it!" she exclaimed bitterly. "I am more of a man than a woman in some ways; I'm ambitious. From the time I was a little girl I've wanted the world, power, fame, money. I want them still. I mean to get them somehow, anyhow. If I can't get them myself, some one must get them for me."

"I want power, fame, money!"

"And love?" suggested the man. "You are leaving love out. Suppose I get all these things for you?"

Bud's pounding heart almost stopped. He could scarcely gain his breath as he saw creep into Carolina's eyes what he believed to be the light of hope for him, the light even of a woman's promise.

"Who knows, Mr. Haines? There's no reward guaranteed. There may be others trying," she answered.

Haines laughed—the strong, hopeful, fighting laugh of the man who would combat the boss of the senate on ground of the boss' own choosing.

"All right!" he cried. "If it's an open fight I'll enlist. I'll give them all a run. What are your orders?"

Carolina appeared indifferent.

"I don't know that I have any particular orders, sir knight, except to see that my father does all he can for the Altacoola naval base."

Haines paused, seized by a sudden tremor.

"The Altacoola naval base?" he stammered. "Well, all I can say is that the senator will do what he thinks right. That might bring power and fame—a right decision in this case—but it can't bring money."

Carolina shrugged her shoulders.

"Money?" She laughed with affected carelessness. "Well, we'll have to let the money take care of itself for a time. But I do want him to vote for Altacoola, because I believe that will be the best for him. You believe in Altacoola, don't you?"

Haines hesitated, then answered:

"Well, between the two sites merely as sites Altacoola seems to me rather better."

Miss Langdon held out her hand impulsively.

"Then it will be Altacoola!" she cried. "Thank you, Mr. Haines. We are partners, then, for Altacoola."

The young man grasped her hand earnestly.

"I'd like to be your partner for good, Carolina!" he cried.

They stood there close together, holding each other's hands, looking into each other's eyes, when the door opened and in came Charles Norton.

CHAPTER XIII.

AN OLD FASHIONED FATHER.

CONGRESSMAN NORTON was startled visibly at the sight of Carolina and Haines apparently so wrapped up in each other. Perhaps she was getting interested in the handsome, interfering secretary. That a woman sometimes breaks her promise to wed he well knew. Plainly Carolina was carrying things too far for a girl who was the promised wife of another.

Carolina and Haines showed surprise at Norton's entrance.

The congressman advanced and spoke sneeringly, his demeanor marking him to be in a dangerous mood.

"Do I intrude?" he drawled deliberately.

Carolina drew away her hands from Haines and faced the newcomer.

"Intrude!" she exclaimed contemptuously, a tone that Norton construed as in his favor and Haines in his own.

"Intrude!" Haines laughed sarcastically, feeling that now he was leader in the race for love against this Mississippi representative, who was, he knew, a subservient tool and a taker of bribes. "You surely do intrude, Norton. Wouldn't any man who had interrupted a tete-a-tete another man was having with Miss Langdon be intruding?"

"I suppose I can't deny that," he replied.

The secretary smiled again.

"I'll match you to see who stays," he said.

But Norton's turn to defeat his rival had come. He held out a paper to Haines.

"Senator Langdon gave me this for you. I reckon I don't have to match."

The secretary opened the note to read:

"Where in thunder does that hydrate come from—South America or Russia? How much off on the tariff on the creature do we want? Come over to the committee room, where I am, right away. Say it's an urgent message and get in with a tip."

The secretary looked up, with a smugness.

"You win, Norton. I'm off. Good-by." And he started on a run to the senator's aid.

Norton turned angrily on the girl as the door closed.

"See here, Carolina," he cried, "what do you mean by letting that fellow make love to you?"

Carolina Langdon would not permit rebuke, even from the man she cared for. She tossed back her head and said coolly:

"Why shouldn't I let him make love to me if I choose?"

"You know why," exclaimed Norton, his dark face flushing sullenly. "Because I love you and you love me!" And he seized her and pressed her to him. "That is why!" he cried, and he kissed her again and again.

"Yes, I love you, Charlie; you know that," Carolina said simply. She was conquered by the southerner's masterfulness.

"Then why do you stand for that whippersnapper's talk?" asked Norton perplexedly.

Carolina laughed.

"Don't you see, Charlie, I have to stand for it? I have to stand for it for your sake, for Randolph's sake, for my own sake, for all our sakes. You know the influence he has over father.

"He can make father do anything he wants, and suppose I don't lead him on? Where's our project? Let him suspect a thing and let him go to father, and you know what will happen. Father would turn against that Altacoola scheme in a moment. He'd beggar himself, if it were necessary, rather than let a single one of us make a dollar out of a thing he had to decide."

"You're right, I reckon, Carolina," said Norton dejectedly. "Your father is a real type of the southern gentleman. He hasn't seen any real money in so long he can't even bear to think of it. Somebody's got to make money out of this, and we should be the ones."

"We'd lose frightfully, Charlie, if they changed to Gulf City, wouldn't we?" said the girl apprehensively.

"Do I intrude?"

"I'm horribly afraid sometimes, Charlie. That's why I came here today. I wanted to influence Haines, to keep him straight. Is there any danger that they'll change? You don't think there is, do you?"

"Of course not, child. Stevens has got his money in, and Peabody. There are only five on the committee. It's bound to go through."

"Then why is father so important to them?" asked Carolina.

"It's past my understanding, Carolina. I don't see how he's done it, but the whole country has come to believe whatever your father does is right, and they've got to have him."

"And father is completely under the domination of this secretary," murmured the girl thoughtfully.

Norton nodded.

"We've got to get rid of him, Carolina. That's all there is to it. He has to go! When it comes to bossing the senator and making love to you, too, he's getting too strong."

"How can you do it?" she asked. "You know when father likes any one he won't believe a thing against him."

Norton agreed sorrowfully.

"That's right. Seems like the senator's coming to think more of this fellow than he does of his own family.

"Why shouldn't I let him make love to me?"

Why, I wouldn't be surprised if he'd even let one of you girls marry him if he wanted to marry you."

"We'd have something to say about that," Carolina laughed amusedly. "Do you think that Hope or I could ever care for a man like this fellow? Of course not. But do be careful, Charlie. This Altacoola business must go through right. It would be too cruel not to have it so. And then"—

"And then you and I'll be married at once, Carolina, whether your father likes it or not," ended Norton for her. "With Altacoola safe, we can do as we please, as between us we'll be rich. What does it matter how we get the money, as long as we get it."

CHECK FRAUD LAID TO ELIZABETH JUNKMAN.

Thomas Magnolia, a junk dealer, whose place is at 604 Third avenue, Elizabeth, was arraigned in Police Court Tuesday at Elizabeth on a charge of being an accomplice in a bank swindle. The prisoner along with another man for whom the Elizabeth police are looking, is accussed of buncoing the National State Bank at Elizabeth, out of $250 by means of a forged check. The check was signed with the name of Michael Derosa, a wholesale junk dealer, at 634 Newpoint road, Elizabeth, who does business at the bank, and the money, it is alleged, was made payable to Magnolia's confederate, the junk dealer identifying him as being all right to the paying teller.

When the swindle was discovered last Friday, Magnolia was arrested, and has been confined since in a cell at police headquarters.

The third degree was worked on him by the Elizabeth police authorities, but he refused to divulge anything. Judge Mahon committed him to the county jail in default of $2,000 bail on a complaint made against him by James Maguire, cashier of the State Bank.

The police say that Magnolia and the other man belong to a gang of check swindlers who have been operating successfully for some time in Newark, New York and Brooklyn.

DOCTOR HAS ODD EXPERIENCE.

Washington, N. J., March 3.—A slight accident at the Edison cement plant, at New Village, in which a resident of Broadway was injured, gave Dr. C. B. Smith several cases Monday and kept him busy for a time. The physician received a telephone message to the effect that William Strunk had been injured and was taken to his home at Broadway and for the physician to come on the trolley at once. Dr. Smith was unable to catch the trolley and so went to Broadway in his automobile. When he stopped in front of the home of William Strunk, the latter's wife came to the door, and when the physician inquired if "Will" was at home Mrs. Strunk at once became hysterical and told Dr. Smith she knew something terrible had happened to her husband. It was necessary for the doctor to quiet the already distracted woman.

About that time, a messenger arrived from the home of John Strunk and told the physician that a mistake had been made, and that John was the one who had been injured. Dr. Smith was asked to hurry, for Mrs. Strunk had became hysterical when her husband was carried home on a stretcher. Dr. Smith attended to the injured man and hysterical woman. Strunk had a piece of flesh torn from his leg by a belt catching him at the cement plant and his knee cap was also displaced.

There are three men named Strunk employed at the cement plant, and each one resides in Broadway.

VAN HISE LOOKS AROUND.

Visits Middlesex Jail to Prepare for Hanging Lang.

James Van Hise, of Newark, who has won considerable fame of a kind in this State for the businesslike manner in which he has swung many murderers into eternity, went to New Brunswick yesterday for the purpose of getting information that may be of use to him on March 23, in case he has to carry out the death sentence of Frederick Lang Measurements of the shed in which the execution is to take place showed that the cement floor will have to be dug to a depth of four inches where the scaffold will stand in order to get the necessary clearance. Lang was measured and found to be 5 feet 3½ inches. He weighs 130 pounds.

This is Van Hise's third visit to New Brunswick since Lang was first sentenced to die. It is possible that Lang's counsel, Alan H. Strong, will make another move to save the condemned man next week.

THIEVES CONFESS.

Jersey City, March 4.—Detectives Van Horn and Rooney, after a week's hard work, succeeded today in clearing up the robbery of an Erie Railroad freight car on Washington's Birthday. Bales of silk valued at $800 had been stolen and disposed of by the thieves to Mrs. Mary Marks, of 320 Grand street, who gave them $114. Mrs. Marks subsequently disposed of the property in New York. The detectives today arrested Martin Mulhearn and Thomas Hasson, and both confessed that they, with John Waring, already under arrest, had committed the robbery.

A portion of the stolen silk has been recovered, and Mrs. Marks is under arrest for receiving stolen goods.

MEETS HORRIBLE DEATH TRYING TO SAVE TIME.

Edward Dieckermann, fifty years old, of Livingston avenue, Lyndhurst, was instantly killed by an eastbound express on the Lackawanna Tuesday at Rutherford. His body was thrown twenty-five feet and terribly mangled and both legs were cut off and the head crushed. He ran up the embankment fifty feet east of the Lyndhurst station to save time.

Dickermann was hard of hearing and in addition was carrying an open umbrella. It was supposed that he did not hear the train approaching, which does not stop at that point. Former Coroner Cornelius Collins had the body taken to his morgue at Rutherford and County Physician H. M. McFadden, of Hackensack, viewed the body later. He gave a permit for the burial after learning the facts. No inquest will be held.

Dieckermann was a bookbinder and worked in New York. He had liven in Lyndhurst about a year. He is survived by a widow, a son Frederick and daughter Julia.

TUBERCULOSIS CAMPAIGN LOWERS DEATH RATE.

Trenton, March 4.—It is believed the decrease in the rate of mortality for the month ending February 15 is due in large part to the campaign being conducted against tuberculosis in this State, whereby the ventilation of sleeping-rooms is constantly urged and life in the open air and sunlight pointed out as a remedy for lung troubles. According to the bureau of vital statistics there were 3,277 deaths in this State, a decrease of 251 from the same month last year.

Of the deaths there were 248 resulting from Bright's disease, 388 from pneumonia, twenty-eight from spinal meningitis, 127 from cancer, 304 from tuberculosis, sixty from diphtheria, thirty-nine from scarlet fever, thirty-six from measles and twenty-five from typhoid fever.

TO PUSH PROSECUTION.

Elizabeth S. P. C. A. Wants Dr. Zucker's Assailants Punished.

Feeling that the assault committed on their agent, Dr. F. A. Zucker, was a direct blow at their organization, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Elizabeth, intends to give its moral and financial support to the veterinarian in his prosecution of the four men held for attacking him Monday. Several other officers have been attacked of late, and there is a feeling that if the doctor's assailants are prosecuted to the full extent of the law it will result in a better respect for the society's authority.

Dr. Stephen J. Keefe, president of the society, has determined to have it take an active part in the prosecution. Raymond T. Parrot, the society's counsel, will prosecute the case. Dr. Zucker will hereafter receive a salary in recognition of his good work.

The local board also has under advisement the proposition to join with Roselle in appointing an inspector. The special committee will report at a special meeting of the board Monday night, March 15, at which time a milk ordinance will be introduced.

THINKS SHE KNOWS SNIPPER.

Men Suspected of Cuting Off Bride's Hair Released.

Joseph Clemons and Louis Lierly, who were arrested on suspicion of having cut the hair of Mrs. Louis Kalla, the bride of two days, were discharged from custody at New Brunswick yesterday, their innocence having been proven. The police are inclined to believe that the victim knows who cut her hair.

She was very popular before her marriage, and is said to have jilted numerous suitors. One of these evidently cut her hair with a pair of shears found in her yard, but there is no clue yet to "Jack the Snipper."

A shoot fest was held at Thomas Brantingham's club yesterday afternoon when several matches were closely contested. The two men team match was won by Al Ivins, of Red Bank, and William Kennedy, of Mattawan. The former scored 47 out of a possible 50 and his partner registered 44. They were opposed by S. P. Bissett and Thomas Brantingham, who made 35 each.

Fred Quad, of South River, won a race for 25 birds by dropping 11 to Peter Feller's 6. Many local sportsman attended the affair, which was followed by an informal reception at the club house.

Another contest is arranged for Saturday afternoon, between Thomas Brantingham and R. C. Stryker, of White Plains. The match will be for 100 birds a side.

One Is Opposite Police Headquarters in Elizabeth.

The apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kennig, opposite police headquarters, Elizabeth, were robbed Tuesday night of a diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Kennig a gold locket and chain of her daughter and also some other articles of jewelry, in all about $100 worth.

Burglars also entered the rooms of Mrs. Michael Reilly, in the same building, where they obtained $3 and overlooked $20 which was in a bureau drawer. The residence of Samuel Koester, 504 Westfield avenue, was also entered and a $25 gold bracelet, some gold stick pins and other articles of jewelry were stolen.

The detectives noticed them in the Pennsylvania Railroad station and took them into custody after they had bought tickets for Washington. They will be detained until Friday.

Mrs. Agnes Hughes Vatier's romance has ended in the divorce court. She is the daughter of the late R. W. Hughes, who was the proprietor of a steam laundry in New Brunswick, and her husband was a clerk at a local soda fountain. They were secretly married on December 9, 1907, by the Rev. W. Bernhardt Proky, of 140 Court street, Newark, but lived apart. Now the girl has tired of the romance, and in her petition states that she was under sixteen when married, and asks to have the marriage annulled on that account.

To Bar Frats in Schools.

The Westfield Board of Education has placed itself on record against the formation of secret societies among pupils in the schools and expressed the wish that parents would assist the board in breaking up the practise of forming such societies, which interfere with the discipline in the schools. The borough expects to spend between $10,000 and $20,000 upon the proposed plant.

After an absence of almost a month, Miss Rhoda Westervelt, 16 years old, of West Thirty-fourth street, Bayonne, returned home yesterday and announced that she is now the bride of Robert C. Meier, who is four years her senior. They were married in Philadelphia. The parents of both young people are well known society folk.

INFANT STRANGLED IN SUDDEN CONVULSIONS

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Robinson, colored, of Manning avenue, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. Death was due to a bursted blood vessel, caused by choking while asleep. The mother, in an adjoining room, heard it grasping for breath and rushed into the room to find the baby lying on its back on the bed. The death struggle ended almost at the same time, and it could not be ascertained what had brought on the convulsions. The child was but a few weeks old.

County Physician Long, of Somerville, signed the burial permit this morning. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, and interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

"STEAKS" ARE WHISKEY.

That whiskey is being sold from butcher shops as steaks, chops, etc., is the charge made by members of the Bayonne Liquor Dealers' Association. It is further charged that grocers are doing a thriving business supplying families with liquor, without a license. The liquor dealers have been going around collecting evidence, which they say they will make use of when the proper time comes.

"I know of one butcher shop that received four barrels of whiskey last week," said Councilman Neil O'Mahoney, who is secretary of the Liquor Dealers' Association; "today all that stock went out as 'meat.' That man does not hold a license. If we can get the evidence the police should be able to."

A recommendation will be made to the city to charge a license fee of $500 for grocers to sell liquor. The regular license fee is $300.

Theatre Lobbies Crowded.

Because of the great crowds that throng the lobbies of the two Elizabeth theatres, the Board of Fire Commissioners will take steps to remedy conditions so as to to avert a panic. While the theatres are now well guarded in case of fires, etc., the lobbies are thronged nightly, and on Saturday nights much difficulty is encountered in keeping the crowds in order.

INDICT ELEVEN OFFICERS

All Directors of State Mutual Found Guilty Except Two.

TO SUBMIT BILLS THURSDAY.

Sweeping Accusations of Conspiracy and Malfeasance Face Heads of Wrecked Concern.

The Camden county grand jury, sitting in the Camden court house, yesterday afternoon voted for indictment of eleven officers and directors of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association charging them with participation in the wrecking of the concern. There are a number of Plainfield members of the association and the action is of much interest here. The charge in this one blanket bill is against the directors for making a false statement of the affairs of the concern at the meeting at which trustees were appointed.

A majority of the officers and directors of the association are included in the indictments. An exception is made in the case of J. Willard Morgan, vice-president, who is believed not to have been cognizant of the transactions investigated, and Secretary P. Kennedy Reeves. The full list of directors is:

Former Judge E. Ambler Armstrong, of Camden; Israel G Adams, of Atlantic City; P. P. Baker, of Vineland, president of the Tradesmen's Bank; Rev. F. R. Brace, of Blackwood; Carroll Bassett, of Summit; former Judge Harry S. Douglass, of Cape May County; Franklin Dye, of Trenton, former secretary of the State Board of Agriculture; Alexander R. Fithian, of Bridgeton; Edward E. Groscup, of Wenonah; Robert Gwynne, Jr., Mayor of Salem; A. C. B. Havens, of Toms River; C. E. Hill, of Newark; S. Stanger Iszard, of Camden; G. B. Mershon, of Cranbury; J. Willard Morgan, of Camden, former State Controller; H. O. Newcomb, president of the Mechanics' National Bank of Millville; Charles N. Reading, of Frenchtown; Harry Reeves, Surrogate of Camden County; P. Kennedy Reeves, of Bridgeton; Edward L. Rice, former clerk of Cape May County; Charles H. Richman, of Woodstown; Dr. George W Shaffer, of Cream Ridge, and F. Frank Shull, of Wenonah.

The grand jury will meet Thursday night, March 11, when Prosecutor Scovel, of Camden county, will have the bills drawn up and they will be formally returned by the jury. Just before the State Mutual collapsed a meeting was held at which eleven directors were present. At this meeting, it is said, the condition of the association was apparent, but a false statement was issued to the public, on which ground the directors were indicted

"Madame Butterfly."

Miss Grace Violet Correll, who will read a number of John Luther Long's Japanese stories under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Baptist church, Monday night, has won considerable fame. Mr. Long in speaking of Miss Correll, says: "Miss Correll is not a 'reader.' Her work is extremely artistic and satisfying, for she merges herself into the work she does, for which the word 'reader' is quite inadequate, yet for which I know no one word, so distinguished is her art." All the members of the church and congregation are invited to be present.

Seventh-Day Baptist Services.

At the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow morning, the pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw, will preach from the text, "It is good for us to be here." This will be followed by the regular communion service. The covenant meeting will be held this evening. At the Junior C. E. meeting at 3 o'clock tomorrow, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson will speak. The senior Christian Endeavor society will hold a consecration meeting at 4 o'clock, to be followed at 4:45 by the young people's class for Bible study.

No Change in Fare at Present.

The two taxicabs now in operation here by the Plainfield Taxicab Company are carrying passengers for the regular cab fare, until the Common Council takes action on the proposed amendment to the ordinance governing such vehicles. The company has asked for a franchise to operate from three to ten taxicabs, and one is now being held in reserve.

Will Hold a Heart Social.

Following the business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church, Tuesday night, a heart social will be held under the auspices of the social committee. An interesting program has been arranged, including a sketch, "A Bachelor's Reverie."

PRESIDENT TAFT AND HIS CABINET.

FREEHOLDER DOANE ON HOSPITAL BOARD

Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, of this city,, has been made a member ex-officio of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital. The appointment was made by Director Benjamin King, at the March meeting of the Board of Freeholders in Elizabeth, yesterday. The freeholders requested the Board of Governors to make a selection of a representative member, but word was received yesterday that it preferred to have the appointment made without suggestion. Director King thereupon appointed Mr. Doane.

This action is the result of a discussion that inasmuch as the Board of Freeholders appropriate various sums to the hospitals in the county, it should be represented through the appointment of a freeholder on the different boards, Muhlenberg Hospital receiving $5,000 from the county. The freeholders asked the board of Muhlenberg Hospital to express a choice, but this it declined to do, explaining that it would rather leave that matter to the county board. The appointment of Mr. Doane meets with the approval of the Board of Governors and friends of the hospital.

SALE OF CHARITY PLAY TICKETS LARGE.

There has been a most successful sale of tickets for the performance of Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady," to be given at the New Plainfield theatre, Monday night, March 29, for The Day Nursery. Tickets were placed on sale at J. W Gavett's store on West Front street, yesterday morning, and there was a great demand for them. The sale will be continued there Monday morning and those who have reserved tickets by telephone can get them at Mr. Gavett's store at that time.

"The Chorus Lady," now in its second season, is considered one of the greatest theatrical successes now before the public and Rose Stahl has achieved lasting fame in her masterful interpretation of the leading part. The performance here will be for worthy charity, The Day Nursery, which is conducted by the City Union of The King's Daughters, and there is no doubt but that capacity audience will witness the play.

An Ancient Celebration.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association will hold a celebration Sunday night at Saengerbund Hall. A permit was granted today by Mayor Townsend. The application for the permit describes it as "a celebration of an ancient feast."

PLAN CELEBRATION OF FEAST OF PURIM

Celebration of the Feast of Purim will be begun in the local Jewish community at sunset tomorrow and will last through Sunday. It will be marked here by special services in the synagogue tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock and Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. At these services Rabbi Davidson will read special passages from the Book of Esther, known as "Megiliah," which is the foundation of the festival. The feast is the greatest occasion for jollification and celebration on the Jewish calendar and will be marked by a mammoth Purim ball, to be held at Saengerbund Hall Sunday night.

The festival is commemorative of the deliverance, about 480 B. C., of the Jews out of Persian bondage, and it has always been a season of merrymaking and rejoicing, second in that respect only to the festival, which is observed by the Jews to celebrate "the rejoicing of the law." It is the one holiday when every observant Jew is expected to drink wine.

Immediately after the end of the services in the local synagogue, the Purim frolic will begin, and continue until Sunday evening. The ultra-orthodox observe a second day of the festival, which is known as Shushan-Purim, after the city of Shushan, where a victory was won by the Jews over the Persians on the day after Haman, the arch-conspirator, had been hanged through the devotion and courage of Esther.

JUNIOR C. E. SOCIETIES EFFECT A RE-ORGANIZATION

Spicer, secretary and treasurer.

A constitution was adopted and plans looking toward the State Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Plainfield in October, were discussed. The next meeting will be held Friday afternoon, April 23, at the Congregational church.

LIVELY SALE OF TICKETS.

Report of Charter Day Celebration Committee at Last Night's Meeting—Discussion of 'Phone Rates.

Warren B. Travell, chairman of the Board of Trade banquet committee, announced last night at the March meeting of the board that Emerson E. Parvin, of Watchung avenue, had been secured as an additional speaker for the banquet, to be held at Truell Hall next Thursday night.

Mr. Parvin is secretary of the International Mercantile Marine Company. His talk will be on steamship navigation and he will give some interesting details about the recent steamer Republic disaster. His company operates the White Star, Red Star and American lines.

Secretary Herr announced that preparations for the banquet were progressing satisfactorily and that upwards of 300 tickets had been sold. The next meeting of the committee will be held Monday night.

Eight new members were elected to the board. They are: Clyde D. Burgess, Boyd Fullerton, P. H. Burns, A. E. Faber, G. A. Andrews, H H. Apgar and Richard D. Williams.

The committee in charge of plans for the charter celebration, July 4, reported through its chairman, Capt. W. C. Smith, that considerable preliminary work had been done and that prospects for a big celebration were bright.

In this connection Warren B. Travell, secretary of the organization committee, announced that letters had been sent to one hundred organizations requesting them to appoint committees to aid in the general preparations, and that a number of them had complied. The majority were yet to be heard from.

Several minor matters were taken up by the board. These included a discussion of the increase in telephone rates made recently by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. The president was authorized to appoint a committee to co-operate with that of the Merchants' Association in an investigation of the subject.

FIGURES ON COST OF TRUNK SEWER READY

The preliminary survey for the proposed trunk line sewer in which Plainfield and several nearby municipalities are interested, has been completed by Hering & Fuller, engineers, the estimated cost of its construction has been submitted and is under consideration by the governing bodies of the different towns who contemplate joining in the improvement. While the details of this report have not been made public yet, it is known that there is some difference of opinion concerning them. An alternative proposition has also been prepared and this, too, will be considered.

A sufficient length of time having elapsed for looking over Hering & Fuller's report, a conference has been called for Tuesday night in this city, at which the representatives from the various towns, including Plainfield, North Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Dunellen, Bound Brook, South Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan and New Brunswick are expected to attend. There will be a general discussion of the whole proposition with a view to ascertaining just what is advisable and what can be done toward solving the problem.

All of the towns will be compelled sooner or later to seek some other approved method of disposing of sewarge and the question is of vital interest, requiring careful consideration. The total cost will be the important factor and if this can be brought within a reasonable figure it seems quite likely that the sewer will be a reality in the future.

Lecturer, Disappoints Audience.

Edward Howard Griggs, who was to have given a lecture on "The Tragedy of the Pursuit of Knowledge" was storm-bound en route to this city from the South by train, and did not put in an appearance at Vincent Chapel yesterday afternoon. A good-sized audience gathered for the lecture, but after waiting for some time in the chapel were dismissed. No date has been set for the lecture, which is the fourth of a course of five to be given here by Mr. Griggs.

Entertained Thimble Club.

Mrs. Caspar Waglow, of Elm place, entertained the Thimble club at her home, yesterday afternoon. The time was spent in sewing and enjoying a fine musical program, including instrumental and vocal selections by Mrs. Edward O. Clark. Tea was served afterward by Mrs Caspar Waglow, assisted by Mrs. Philip Geise and Mrs. Fred Conde, the last named of High Bridge.

VANDERHOOF BANKRUPT; OWES SEVEN DOCTORS

A noticeable feature of the list of debts submitted by Frank Vanderhoof, of West Front street, in his petition of bankruptcy recently filed in the United States District court at Trenton is the number of physicians among his creditors. His "doctor's bills" amount to $537.50, and the petition states that he owes $2,071.82 and has no personal property, wearing apparel and bills due him amounting to $64, being his only assets.

In his petition he charges that he owes seven local physicians and a local druggist. Among his fifty two creditors are many whom he owes for horses, meats and groceries, debts contracted when he was in business as grocer and butcher. Eight years back taxes, amounting to about $35 are among the claims. Vanderhoof states in his petition that he has not paid any money to counsel in this bankruptcy matter, but that he has "promised to pay $100 to W. G. De Meza and Codington & Swackhamer."

Vanderhoof has been adjudicated a bankrupt and the case has been referred to Referee Atwood L. De Coster at his office in Elizabeth, where a meeting of the creditors will be held next Friday. In view of the petition filed and the fact that there are no assets, it 's thought that the creditors will examine Vanderhoof under oath and if they do not recover any other assets, will not insist upon having a trustee elected.

That the Christian Endeavor play, "Men, Maids and Matchmakers," to be given at Hope chapel, tonight, will be a decided success, was demonstrated at the dress rehearsal last night. Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, the dramatic coach, expressed great pleasure over the splendid manner in which all the participants interpreted their lines. The play will be given for the benefit of the music fund of the chapel and there is every indication of a capacity audience. Tickets can be obtained at the door.

DIDN'T SEE INAUGURATION

Plainfielders on Union County Special Spent Yesterday Stalled on Train.

REACHED CAPITAL AT 5 P. M.

But They Had a "Perfectly Corking Time," and Arrived Home at 2:40 O'clock This Afternoon.

The three hundred Union county Republicans, who left here Wednesday night bound for Washington to see President William Howard Taft inaugurated, experienced the sad disappointment of not having their hopes realized. Tied up and blocked by one of the worst storms of the year, the party did not reach the Capital City until late yesterday afternoon, hours after the important event. However, United States Senator John Kean was at the depot to receive fellow countrymen and give them a good time.

The belated "special" arrived in this city at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon, with the local delegation. They brought no account of the inauguration ceremonies and were not in the parade, but they had a "perfectly corking time." The party spent the night in Washington and climbed aboard the "Special" right after breakfast today.

After passing Philadelphia Wednesday night, the county special ran into one of the worst storms experienced this year. For miles out of Washington trains were held up, unable to make any progress. The congestion of traffic at the Union Station in the Capital City was the worst in years and traffic was blocked beyond description. The baggage car on the Union county special was well supplied with "dry and wet goods" and all were assured that the inward man would be well taken care of no matter how long the journey was delayed.

What made matters still worse was that all telegraphic and telephone communication was cut off and it was impossible to send or receive any word to the relatives or friends at home.

All through trains from Washington have been delayed for hours. The train due in this city at 7:42 this morning has not reached Plainfield, and the fast mail due here at 3 o'clock this morning did not go through until nearly 11 o'clock. The greatest inconvenience has been caused by the lack of telegraphic communication. All other trains from the west have been delayed anywhere from three to six and eight hours and it will probably be late today or tomorrow before the regular schedule is restored.

The original program called for the inauguration ceremony yesterday to take place on the historic east side of the Capitol building. Because of a terrific blizzard that set in Wednesday night and raged all yesterday morning it was found necessary to have both ceremonies take place in the Senate. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller, of the Supreme court. President Garfield was the last President to be inaugurated in the Senate chamber.

The weather conditions were the worst on record in the list of Presidential inaugurations. Washington, from a snow-buried city early yesterday morning, was transformed by sleet and rain into a veritable sea of slush. Following the proclamation of Mr. Taft as President the national salute was fired, this being the signal for the starting of the inaugural parade. More than 25,000 regular soldiers, sailors and marines waded through the slush-filled streets. Only one or two military organizations were in line.

President Taft was anxious to have the inauguration ceremony take place outside, as planned. He declared that he did not mind the weather conditions.

Senator Knox, chairman of the committee of arrangements, however, ruled otherwise, and Mr. Taft finally agreed to the change, principally because he feared that if the ceremony was held in the open air it might have an injurious effect on the aged chief justice who officiated.

Sues to Recover $376.25.

Bahrenberg Brothers & Company, of New York, produce dealers, has, through its counsel, Robert Newton Crane, of this city, instituted a suit in the District court against Robert Westcott, formerly of Plainfield, to recover $376.25. The case will come up on Wednesday, March 10.

Red Men to Dance.

A dance will be given by Miantonomo tribe No. 118, at Saengerbund hall, Tuesday night, March 16.

CLEARS HOSPITAL OF REFUSING POOR

A report practically exonerating the Elizabeth General Hospital from all blame in connection with the charges of refusing to admit sick poor people was submitted to the Union County Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon by the committee which had been investigating the accusation of Mrs. Emily E. Williamson.

The report condemned the practise of the hospital officials, however, which compels poormasters of the various cities, towns and boroughs to pay for poor patients from their respective places. In the past the hospital people have compelled such payment. The committee recommended the stopping of the practise, stating that the Board of Freeholders' appropriation covered this point. It was stated, however, that where municipalities, towns or boroughs desire to pay they can do so.

Regarding the charge of Mrs. Williamson, the committee stated there seemed to be an over-zealous desire on the part of some of the hospital clerks to compel payment by poor patients. The hospital was lauded as "a public-spirited institution" and its work praised.

Mrs. Williamson was thanked by the committee for her interest, and assured that she would hereafter experience no difficulty in getting patients admitted. The committee stated that there had been other rumors, prior to the letter of Mrs. Williamson, to the effect that difficulty had been experienced. The committee made a thorough investigation, giving the public and the hospital board two hearings.

At the first hearing the testimony introduced was of a rather sensational nature. This was declared by the committee in its report to be practically groundless.

It was decided to send copies of the report to other hospitals in the county, so that the board's stand regarding the admitting of poor patients would be understood. A copy was also sent to Mrs. Williamson and to the General Hospital.

The committee consisted of Freeholders Henry Krouse, William Garrison and County Collector Nathan R. Leavitt. The board appropriates $8,000 yearly to the General Hospital, $3,500 to St. Elizabeth's Hospital and $3,000 to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital.

As a result of the probe, the Freeholders decided to have the several hospitals inspected periodically hereafter. The committee appointed for this purpose by Director Benjamin King is composed of Messrs. Krouse, Wilbur, Garrison, Haviland and Swain.

JOHN W. WINTERS CLAIMED BY DEATH.

Chaplain of Jersey City Lodge, One of Oldest Elks, Succumbs After Long Illness.

Jersey City, March 5.—John W. Winters, who was believed to be one of the oldest members of the order of Elks, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 241 Henderson street. He had always insisted that he was 87 years old, but his death discloses that fact that he was born in Snug Harbor, Staten Island, December 2, 1832.

He was chaplain of Jersey City Lodge of Elks, and was also prominent in Masonic circles. For upwards of fifty years Mr. Winters was in the employ of the Jersey City Gas Company. He had been ill a long time. A widow survives him.

OLD SLEUTH'S WIFE'S WILL.

Arguments on Contest Heard in Elizabeth Court.

For three hours yesterday morning Judge Edward S. Atwater, in the Orphans' Court, at Elizabeth, listened to arguments of attorneys for the caviator and his opponents in the Halsey will case. W. R. Wilson, proctor for Lewis H. Halsey, of Cranford, the caviator, summed up his side of the case, and Raymond T. Parrot, representing Rena Isabelle Halsey, executrix and principal heir named in the will, occupied the time until adjournment.

Mr. Wilson argued that the testimony of several of the witnesses showed that Mrs. Henrietta A. Halsey, mother of Lewis H. Halsey, was of unsound mind when she made the will.

Mrs. Halsey was the wife of Harian P. Halsey, who wrote the "Old Sleuth" detective stories.

SKULL FRACTURED BY STONE AS HE WORKED IN WELL.

Struck by a heavy stone that dropped upon his head as he was at work at the bottom of a well, Silas H. Chamberlain, twenty-six years old, was probably fatally injured at his farm in Mt. Olive Township, near Budd's Lake, Wednesday. He was taken to a Paterson hospital.

A big stone which protruded from the side of the well about five feet below the top had evidently become loosened by frost. Without the least warning it suddenly worked loose and fell upon the unprepared man below who was fixing some tiling at the bottom.

The stone struck Chamberlain on the back of his head over the right ear. His skull was fractured in a terrible manner. He did not utter a cry and his condition would not have been known to his companion above had not Davis heard the rattle of the pebbles that followed the stone's loosening. He called to Chamberlain, and receiving no response, called Amos Mooney, working nearby, to come and aid him. By diligent labor they raised Chamberlain's unconscious body from the well, and sent for medical aid.

Drs. Miller and Thayer, of Netcong, responded. A brief examination showed them Chamberlain's condition was very serious, and they ordered the sufferer sent to Paterson General Hospital. There the physicians declared yesterday it is uncertain if the victim's life can be saved.

greatest golfing strength of the Southland."

It is expected that the committee of the Metropolitan Golf Association will soon meet to announce the course for the M. G. A. championship and the dates assigned for tournaments. It is believed that the championship will go to the Apawamis Club, which held the contest last in 1901, when Findlay Douglas won and Seely beat Travis in the semi-final. Other courses mentioned are Deal, where Douglas won again in 1903, and St. Andrews, where Jerome Travers began his title winning by taking the M. G. A. championship in 1906. St. Andrews is now as nearly perfect as a green may be, the only changes deemed necessary this spring being a trap between the fairway of the eleventh and twelfth holes and another to the right of the thirteenth fairway. While hopeful of gaining the M. G. A., the Apawamis Club men will not be in the dumps should the championship go elsewhere, for an open tournament, the intercollegiate tournament and the seniors' tournament are already booked for the course at Rye.

"PEERLESS ONE" TO BE "JIM" SMITH'S GUEST

William Jennings Bryan, who is to deliver his lecture, "The Prince of Peace," at Centenary Methodist Episcopal church, Newark, Saturday night, will be the guest of former United States Senator James Smith Jr., while in that city.

Mr. Bryan will be met at the Market Street Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad upon his arrival Saturday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Charles L. Mead, pastor of Centenary church, and escorted by him to the home of Mr. Smith, 14 Washington place, for dinner. The invitation came from the former Senator, Dr. Mead explained, as a personal friend of the Commoner. Mr. Smith, it is understood, will accompany Mr. Bryan to the church.

New Hats for Spring.

The French milliners are showing shirred hats of black velvet, medium sized and worn well down over the head, trimmed with two long plumes. The turbans now are tiny and trimmed with one gold or silver ornament. At one famous shop is also a blue beaver with one small bluebird on the side. At Suzanne Talbot's the same shirred hats are shown, and French hair (which most likely is identical with the American article) is arranged to harmonize with the shapes of every hat. For the turbans, worn actually over the eyes, the hair is parted in the middle and arranged low at the back.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BASEBALL.

Just when the baseball fans were beginning to get enthusiastic about the coming season, winter weather arrives and all plans are off temporarily. However, some satisfaction can be had by reading the encouraging reports from the southern training camps.

Now that Dave Brain has signed with the Bisons that corner position problem which has bothered Owner Potter for two years has been filled. Stallings offered Cincinnati $3,500 for Brain last season.

There is a possibility of McGraw calling Mike Donlin's bluff and not coming across with that contract for $8,000. O'Hara and DeVore are showing things at Marlin these days.

Pitcher Kellogg, of whom Connie Mack said nice things, has been purchased by Toronto. Kellogg was an early spring recruit a few days ago.

Henderson, the new pitcher purchased by Cleveland from Stockton, Cal., won thirty-five out of forty five games pitched last season.

Sandy Bannister will be taken South by Rochester this year. Bannister pitched great ball for the Flower City outfit early last season, but toward the close of the year his work fell off.

"Laughing Larry" Doyle has joined the Giants at Marlin. Devlin is the only infielder now missing, and Herzog is taking his place at third base.

"Chief" Bender yesterday delivered his signed contract to Connie Mack. Bender received a cut in salary, but can make this up by pitching a certain number of games.

Mike Donlin has denied that he will join Jimmy Callahan's outlaws. Donlin also added that unless McGraw gave him the terms he asked for soon he would sign a theatrical contract which would not terminate until July 5.

Adrian C. Anson has completed the playing dates for his Colts in the East. The veteran will play first base on the team. The list of dates is: April 6, Baltimore; 7, Philadelphia Nationals; 8, Philadelphia Americans; 9, Trenton; 10, Newark; 11, Albany; 12, Boston Nationals; 13, New York Giants; 14, Hartford; 15, Springfield; 16, Worcester; 17, Providence; 18, Waterbury; 19, Scranton; 20, Syracuse; 21, Rochester; 22, Buffalo; 23, Utica.

The Eastern League of Professional Baseball Clubs will hold its annual schedule meeting at the Victoria Hotel today. President P. T. Powers has prepared a 154 game schedule which will probably be adopted. This powerful minor league, the success of which is chiefly due to the hustling energy of President Powers, will provide some high class ball throughout the circuit. Many rising young players are in the Eastern's ranks, together with former major league stars who can still play fast ball. Baltimore, Newark, Jersey City, Providence, Buffalo, Toronto, Rochester and Montreal make a compact circuit which is a source of annual profit.

GOLF.

Percy H. Whiting, reporter in the South for New York Golf, has for some seasons made a selection of the best players on the year's game in that part of the country. This time he put Nelson Whitney first and H. Chandler Egan second, an opinion justified by the final of the Southern Golf Association championship, but quite unwarranted when Egan's victory over Whitney at Louisville is considered, and also the former's past performances. Whitney and Eustis, however, are the best golfers yet delivered in the South, judging from their records and what professionals say about them, for while Knowles is also a grand golfer he has had the advantage of playing at Yale. Whiting's annual task has done much to enlighten the Northern players regarding the game of their brothers of the South. This year it has been supplemented by a consensus ranking of Southern golfers by Southern golfers, in which the ballots gave this result:

1, H. Chandler Egan, Louisville; 2, Nelson Whitney, New Orleans; 3, Lawrence Eustis, New Orleans; 4, Albert Schwartz, New Orleans; 5, J. P. Edrington, Memphis; 6, C. L. Nelson, Louisville; 7, Leigh Carroll, New Orleans; 8, Andrew H. Manson, Darien; 9, George C. Oliver, Birmingham; 10, Ellis Knowles, Pensacola.

Whiting's comment is: "It develops that this ranking was not intended to show which players in the South are the best on the strength of the showings in tournaments last year, but merely as an opinion in regard to which team of Southern players could make the best showing—the ten strongest players, that is if all were in practice and at their best. It is to be wondered why Ellis Knowles and Albert Schwartz were not given slightly higher rankings, but on the whole those ten players at their best represent about the

WRITES OF ARAB LIFE

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph's Letter to Rev. Dr. Chambliss.

THE PEOPLE AT BISKRA.

Interesting Account of Life and Religion in Arabian Desert City He Visited.

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, who is traveling abroad with his wife and sister, Mrs. Huntsman, of Providence, R. I., are now at Naples, where they went from Algiers. Mr. Randolph, who began his trip about a month ago, has written a description of his stay at the city of Biskra to Rev. J. A. Chambliss, of this city. The letter is dated February 14, and was written at the Hotel de Oasis, at Biskra. The complete letter follows:

"Our little party of three, my wife, my sister and myself, might be discovered surrounded by sand and by Arabs—if indeed there were any to discover us. At a neighboring hotel there are a very few English and Americans—at this hotel, excepting ourselves, there are French people only, though some days ago there were two or three whom we suspected of German longings. We talk the best French we can to the hotel folks and shopkeepers and Arabs. Of these last not a few have a fair working knowledge of the French language. They trade, guide, serve and beg in that tongue.

"I use the term Arab in a generic fashion. In appearance to the ordinary traveler all these dusky folks are Arabs; but in fact some belong to sons of the soil much longer in possession. Many tribes and peoples meet here, where the railway comes down from the barren steppes of the Atlas mountains which it had climbed from Algiers and Phillipeville and Tunis, and where the camels come up from the desert—across which they bear their burdens from many far-away oases and frontiers. Biskra is itself situated on an oasis on the northern portion of Sahara. It is watered by a "source," or "oued," which flows from Atlas snows.

"I have referred to the older sons of the soil. Nobody knows how long the Kabyles have lived in these northern oases and in the mountains still further north, forming the great bulwark of the Mediterranean. For fully fifteen hundred years prior to the first Arab invasion, they were here. They participated in the wars between Carthage and Rome. Where Biskra stands there was, about the beginning of our era, a Roman town—Visescra

"Biskra is now a settlement holding about ten thousand persons, of whom nine-tenths are Africans of all sorts and one-tenth Europeans. Of Africans the more important divisions are Kabyles, Arabs and Jews. I include the latter for it is long since they had any other country, and by their activity and cunning they constitute a class in importance disproportionate to their numbers. The more marked difference between Kabyles and Arabs is that the former labor and the latter loaf. The Kabyle women are not compelled to cover their faces as the Arab women do. They are all Mahomedans, but as a general fact the Kabyles are less bigoted and fanatical. Here lies the hope of this ancient race. At Biskra there is no American consul; and here is no American or English mission. The Jesuits have planted their standard here, however; and the street on which this hotel stands bears the name of a Cardinal whose monument is here most prominent. But Christianity of any sort goes here with halting step.

"In Algiers we found a party of perhaps a score or more of Christian workers. They work in different fields, but now and then meet for conference. Some have schools and services amongst the Arabs and some amongst the Kabyles who speak quite a different language. Some hold Protestant services and classes amongst the French shop girls and operatives. We have met several of these teachers, and the writer has attended a Kabyle service, conducted by Dr. Eugene Cuendet and Mr. Shorey. At this service over fifty poor Kabyle men were present, some of whom have come to the mission meetings for a long time, and have a good knowledge of, and interest in, the Scriptures. Dr Cuendet has translated the New Testament and Palms into Kabyle. He and Mr. Shorey talked to the room-full in the Kabyle tongue. Then he asked one of the three visitors to speak and the writer was put forward for this task. My two minutes' talk was translated to the audience by the missionary and was something like this:

"In the country from which I come, four thousand miles across the ocean, are many millions of men and women who believe in the Savior today preached to you. Yet in the flesh He was never neighbor to you than to us. It has been my privilege to stand on the hill above Nazareth from which the Lord Christ often looked on the same beautiful blue sea which you see daily from the hills of Algiers. You should feel yourselves near to Him. We are all children of one Great Father—you and we who live so far apart. We must all worship and obey our Great Father, and it is our common privilege to know and love and follow His Son, our Saviour.'

"Afterward many of these poor Kabyles came and grasped my hand. Hymns were sung by them in their own language and prayers were said; and at the end a small loaf of bread was given to each. Among them were some very old men—some lame and a few who were blind. It was a touching scene.

"Miss Welch and Miss Smith, whom we met one evening at our hotel at Algiers, are English ladies and grew up in the Church of England, but have for fifteen years worked on broad lines in the Christian cause in Africa. In effect they are Baptists, but, of late, their work has been to some extent taken under the wing of the Methodists. Miss Anderson, a devoted young lady of French-English extraction and education, has recently joined them.

"We have made two excursions out into the desert and have visited several of the squalid, mud villages of the natives. In Biskra are many date-palms and some pretty parks, but the loviest park in this region—if not in the world—is Parc London, on the little oasis of Beni-Mora, very near us here. It is the spot where Hitchens got his inspiration for the "Garden of Allah." It is owned by an old Frenchman, a bachelor. My wife and sister and myself have been absolutely charmed by its tropical beauty, and with the marvelous arrangement and scrupulous care for which its keepers are entitled to so much credit. We hope to go again to the Garden of Allah. In the course of another week we shall return to Algiers and hope to sail in about ten days for Naples."

Y.M.C.A. CIRCUS FOLK READY FOR "BIG SHOW"

The Y. M. C. A. circus aggregation is preparing to emerge from its winter quarters. Everything is in readiness for the first grand performance next Friday night. The animals have a well-fed appearance and the performers and side show attractions are in a good condition, excepting the living skelton, who has been kept on a hard-tack diet and did not take on any flesh.

The menagerie and side show attractions include bears, tigers, monkeys, one giant, the tallest man in the world, a champion fat man, the largest frog in the world, a three legged man, bearded lady, living skeleton. Clifford de Beeres, magician and conjurer, will show some startling and systifying tricks. Accompanying the show are a number of glib, brazen-voiced barkers.

The main show performance will include leaps over elephants, dangerous and hazardous undertakings; tumbling by Babcock and Rogers, of Rutgers College; lightning, fantastic and dazzling maneuvres on horizontal bars, by talent from New York Turn Verein, and from the Newark Y. M. C. A. gymnasium teams. There will be club swinging by the national champion, George Flynn, captain of the New York University gymnasium team, and by R. O. Phillips, of the N. Y. U., and A. Morrison, of Rutgers College, in "lithe, sinuous, startling movements."

There will be dangerous and spectacular high diving, and William Briggs' trained dog, "Trixitinne," will perform her inimitable tricks, for the delight of the ladies. A collection of feats, astounding and bewildering, on parallel bars, horse and horizontal bars will be shown by members of the New York Turn Verein gym team and Newark athletes.

PATERSON STATE MEET WILL BE HELD MARCH 13.

The date for the Y. M. C. A. State meet at Paterson has been set for March 13. Physical Director Listman of the local association, has a strong team to send, and it is expected that on this occasion Russell Lawrence will increase his own record in the shot put, which already stands as the world's best in scholastic contests.

Among the events will be a twenty-yard dash, twelve-pound shot put, running high jump, standing high jump, potato race and wrestling and gymnastics on horizontal and paralel bars.

BOY ATHLETES COMPETE AT Y. M. C. A. MEET.

S. Hochberger in the Boys athletic meet at the Y. M. C. A. last night, won the standing broad jump with a leap of 9 feet, 5 inches. F. Hochberger was second, distance 8 feet, 7 inches, and W. Taylor, A. Manley and B. Naylor were tied for third place, distance 7 feet, 3 inches.

The twenty-three yard swim was won by Clifford Vail in 15 1-5 seconds; F. Hochberger, second, 15 3-5 seconds; S. Hochberger, third, 16 seconds.

A Good Suggestion.

One of the speakers at the dinner given in Cleveland by the National Educational Association was Booker T. Washington, the distinguished negro leader of the South. In the course of his remarks he told the following story about a Southern minister, who was evidently rather long winded:

"One Sunday morning while the minoister was in the midst of his serman and had reached the point where he was shouting, 'And fourthly, dear brethren,' a man poked his head through the door, and said in a low voice:

"'Don't get too much excited, parson, but your church is on fire!'

"'All right, Brother Jones,' said the parson. 'I will hasten out. But possibly you'd better wake the congregation.'"—Judge.

League Team Selected.

The personnel of the Y. M. C. A. State League team will include these men, according to an announcement made by Physical Director Listman this morning: Pitchers, Chauncey Murphy, James Scott, William Russell and John P. Cock; catchers, Ralph Schoolmaker and John Burns; first base, John Jacot and John Payne; second base, Harry Gilmore and Frank Evans; short stop, Chas. Loizeaux; third base, James Conroy; fielders, Milton Miller, George Vanderbilt, William Schoolmaker, David Pond and Harry Joseph. Practice is being held in the gymnasium.

Not Very Relevant.

A man who stuttered badly went to a specialist, and after ten difficult lessons learned to say quite distinctly, "Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers." His friends congratulated him upon this splendid achievement.

"Yes," said the man, doubtfully, "but it's s-s-such a d-d-duecedly d-d-difficult rem-mark to w-w-ork into an ordin-a-nary c-o-convers-s-sation, y know."—Life.

WAIL OF THE RICH

MAN WITH LARGE INCOME HAS HIS TROUBLES.

Supposed by All to Be Dwelling on the Sunny Side of Easy Street Yet He Is Constantly in Debt.

Pity the poor man who has an income of six or eight or ten thousand dollars a year. He has more worries than the man who works for three dollars a day. One of these poor men whose salary is eight thousand was telling his woes to a friend the other day.

"Poor," said he. "I'm as poor as a church mouse. Even if I do get eight thou' a year, I'm in debt, and I've been in debt ever since I can remember. I never have been able to catch up. The general public thinks that a man with an income of twenty-five or thirty dollars a day is blessed. But they haven't an idea of how he is hemmed in and hampered and held in thrall by the very fact that he has an income of that amount.

"Take my daughter's case, for instance. Of course she must have a fine education and every advantage that a father who makes as much money as I do can provide. Did it ever occur to you how much it costs to afford such advantages to a young lady of eighteen or nineteen? I sent my daughter to Vassar, and, as befitting a girl of her age and station in life, I rigged her out with a complete equipment in the way of dress. What do you suppose that girl did? Within two months she put on 23 pounds in weight. Not a thing in her wardrobe would fit her. Well, my wife bought a new outfit complete for her. That girl of ours came home for the Christmas holidays, a few weeks later, with most of her garments held together by strings. She had outgrown even the second lot. Now, I've got to buy a third outfit for her.

"Then there's that young hopeful who's my son and heir—a fine, bright youngster and the joy of the household. He had a minor sort of an ailment lately and it was necessary to perform a slight operation. I have a brother who is the chief examiner in one of the large life insurance companies. He is a bachelor, and he thinks a great deal of my boy. When he heard that my son would have to have an operation he insisted that none but the very best surgeons should have the case. So we got the best surgeon in the city. On account of my brother's position and influence we got him at half rates. We also had several eminent gentlemen in consultation. They charged only half the regular rate. The operation required the administration of ether. My brother, from his long experience, did not deem it safe to have the anaesthetic administered without having my son's heart examined first by a noted heart specialist. He only charged half price. Then my brother would not consent to having the ether given except by a specialist in that line, and of course we had to have the most expert and accomplished of trained nurses. They were the only ones who charged full price.

"My boy's heart was all right. I am delighted to know it on such eminent authority. But I'm afraid mine is not. It has been weak ever since I received those 'half price' bills.

"These are only some of the minor troubles of the poor man who has but eight thousand a year income."

Bright Idea Went Wrong.

The keeper of one of the large hotels in Paris frequented by the poorer classes of guests recently determined to smoke out with sulphur a couple who would not pay their bills and would not leave. Unluckily, the fumes penetrated to the rest of the building. Exit by the front door was impossible, as the landlord had locked it, and, being stupefied by the fumes, could not remember where he had put the key. The fire brigade eventually arrived and rescued the choking guests, including the offending couple. Now not only those two guests have gone, but many of the others as well, who also have not paid their rents.

Too Much.

"Do you think that Miss Kidder was having fun with me?" asked Chawley.

"Well, old chap, give me the details," was Awthur's response.

"You see, I had my bull terrier with me. And I said to her, 'That dog knows as much as I do.' And she said 'Don't you think $4.50 was too much for him.'"

Works Well in Other Cases.

Father—I am going to have my children learn Esperanto.

Friend—Is that so? Then I will give you a little advice good for one who wants to learn the new language: Go to the country in which the language is spoken.

Scientifically Studied.

"So there is a war cloud hovering over Europe?" said the diplomat.

"Yes," answered the weather expert. "But it's the usual sort. It contains possibilities of atmospheric agitation, but no real thunder and lightning."

The Wise Father.

"I should like to marry your daughter, sir," said the young man.

"All right," replied the old man. "Let's get down to business. I'm not going to ask 'Can you support her?' here, will you?" That's what I want to know."—Detroit Free Press.

VALUE IN

MILK AND CREAM

Depends on Quality as well as Price.

Our Cream for instance, is worth from half again to twice as much as that of most other dealers, on the ground of richness and consequent greater cost to us.

No artificial "thickeners" or preservatives in ours either. Our cream is thicker because richer.

Rich Milk 8c per qt; Rich Cream 12c per half pt.

MEANS END OF "CHEAP MEN."

Professor Sees Good Results from Declining Birth Rate.

There are signs that folks will soon cease to be a glut in the market. In what time a babe grows to manhood the birth-rate of Italy has fallen a tenth, of Hungary an eighth, of Germany and Holland a seventh, of France and Scotland a sixth, of England a fifth. But not from hard times, mark you. For why should the baby crop of Australasia have shrunk a third? Why should the proportion of children among Americans have fallen a quarter in 40 years? No symptom of pressure, this, but of release—release of women from the home "sphere," of wives from the yoke of husbands, of married couples from the injunction to "increase and multiply." The unlooked-for promptness with which the millions have developed a sense of responsibility in this matter of family bids us hope for a Golden Age when the specter of overpopulation will be laid forever.

Tell a Celestial gentleman of a mandarin lad of Chinese wiped out by plague or flood, and you get the bland comment, "Plenty Chinamen left!" Such contempt is natural where overbreeding has cheapened humanity. In the teeming Orient common people seem as little considered as clay pigeons at the shooting traps. Being a grasshopper in the eyes of others, the individual ends by being a grasshopper in his own eyes. Hence, in the east, pessimistic religion, crouching obedience to rulers, wifely submission, subordination of self to family or community, frivolous suicide, meager philanthropy. The west, on the other hand, is already the region of dear men; with a slackening output of babies, human beings will become still dearer. The Black Death, by sweeping away a third of the English people in the fourteenth century, so enhanced a man's worth that serfdom came to an end. On the same principle, a lighter birth-rate will give the common people not only more economic value, but also more social and political value.—"The Outlook for Plain Folk," by E. A. Ross, in Everybody's.

Two Pounds of Sausage.

A gentleman of the old school he was, tall and stately; but he concerned himself overmuch with the family marketing. He rode not in a "one-hoss shay," but in a two-horse street car. This fact is not an indication that the tale is as remarkable as its hero, but merely that the town in which he lived and moved and marketed was very like the proverbial chaise in the measure of its horse-power.

He counted all the inhabitants among his friends. The fact was borne in upon him as a ban rather than a blessing when two pounds of fresh country sausage sprang of its own volition from his overladen basket and recoiled itself on the single top plate of a small coal heater that had never before done duty as a cooker.

The sausage sizzled on, while our enthusiastic marketer, removing his glasses, courtesied to the amused spectators.

Shark Impaled by Steamer.

A shark of the enormous species which haunts the Red sea was the cause of an extraordinary incident in the passage of the liner Oroya of the Orient Royal Mail line from Sydney to London. The liner had just rounded the islands of Perim, when it was found that a huge tiger shark was firmly fixed on the bow of the vessel. The shark, which was estimated to be from 23 feet to 25 feet in length, struggled in vain to free itself, beating violently with its tail on the starboard side of the liner. Its head was twisted round the port bow. Eventually the Oroya reversed her engines and the shark got free and disappeared in the depths, leaving a track of blood from the wound in its side where the prow of the ship had struck.

Husband and Wife.

"As the husband is the wife is." Of course, there are exceptions, but in the main there never was truer word spoken. A wife bears her husband's name, she takes his place in society, and in everything unless she be far more than uncommon, his future gives color and shape to hers. Undoubtedly a good wife will do a man good and not evil all the days of her life, yet there are times when the good seem powerless; the world is full of women who deserve to be ranked with the noble army of martyrs; women whose good deeds, whose saintly acts of self-sacrifice, are to all human vision as precious pearls cast before swine.—Exchange.

No Rest for the Weary.

Mrs. Coopah—Ah see youah Lillie ain't very pert t'night, yet she has been dancin' ev'ry dance.

Mrs. Hooley.—Ah know; it don't signify nothin' if she's dancin' every dance. Lillie's got one o' dem new hip-hipless corsets on an' she just can't sit down.—Puck.

Method in Madness.

Nurse—But why did you tell that patient it would be all right for him to eat such indigestible things.

Doctor—Why, don't you see, he'll develop dyspepsia and come round for me to cure it.

Not His Fault.

"You are an unusual son in law."

"Yes?"

"Yes, you nearly always help me to the tenderest part of the steak."

"Darn it! I never can tell which is the tough end."

CURRENT VERSE.

A Little More Cross.

A little more cross and a little less creed,
A little more beauty of brotherly deed;
A little more bearing of things to be borne,
With faith in the infinite triumph of morn.
A little less doubt and a little more do
Of the simple, sweet service each day brings to view;
A little more cross, with its beautiful light,
Its lesson of love and its message of right;
A little less sword and a little more rose
To soften the struggle and lighten the blows;
A little more worship, a little more prayer,
With the balm of its incense to brighten the care;
A little more song and a little less sigh,
And a cheery good-day to the friends that go by.
A little more cross and a little more trust
In the beauty that blooms like a rose out of dust;
A little more lifting the load of another,
A little more thought for the life of a brother;
A little more dreaming, a little more laughter,
A little more childhood, and sweetness thereafter;
A little more cross and a little less hate,
With love in the lanes and a rose by the gate.

The Friends of Our Friends.

Our friends—well, they're all that fine folks ought to be.
But the friends of our friends—oh, my!
We cannot account for our friends having friends
Of that sort—and it's no use to try.

Take the Slashings! They're lovely, in all things just right;
But they're friends with the Whapseys! And why
Is beyond comprehension. We can't see at all
Why it is—and it's no use to try.

It's the same with the Jamsons, who're way up in G.
They're friends with the Bumseys! My eye!
That jars us to think of—it "wonders" us much—
Can't "solution" it—and it's no use to try.

And it's all-fired tough when at evening we call
On our friends and find their friends there. By Moses! We can't "explanation" those friends
Of our friends—and it's no use to try.

You.

I wear the stars like lilies in my hair,
I feel the breeze like God's breath on my face
Whispering an unknown word—and everywhere
I see the vision of a love-lit face.

So strange it seems! A little while ago
I knew not any of these lovely things;
To all my dreams the demons answered no,
Darkening the daylight with their evil wings.

Tell me, beloved, who are learned and wise,
How do you hold all beauty in your hand,
And all the host of heaven in your eyes,
And in your hours the moons of fairyland?

You pass my threshold, and the narrow roof
Is peopled with a million forms of air,
The barren boughs of faith are all abloom,
And I am mute with wonder and with prayer.

—Elsa Baker, in Smart Set.

A Man and His Pride.

He struggled along till he stood at the top,
On the peak that we call "Success,"
And he gave little heed, nor even would stop
At the cry of a soul in distress.

But proud of his strength and proud of his gold
And proud of the fame he had won,
He died in his pride when his story was told
And the toil of his day was done.

The papers recorded the facts of his life—
The world condescended to pause
Men spoke of the part he had played in the strife
And voted him formal applause.

Now his name is forgot and his fame is forgot
And of all the processions who wend
Through the valley of shadows none visits the spot
To murmur: "This man was my friend."

—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Quitter.

It ain't the failures he may meet
That keeps a man from winning;
It's the discouragement complete
That blocks a new beginning.
You want to quit your habits bad;
And when the shadows flittin'
Make life seem worthless like an' sad,
You want to quit your quittin';

You wan't to quit a-layin' down
An' sayin' hope is over,
Because the fields are bare an' brown,
Where once we lived in clover.
When jolted from the water cart
It's painful to be hittin'
The earth; but make another start,
Cheer up, an' quit your quittin'!

Although the game seems rather stiff
Don't be a doleful doubter;
There's always one more inning if
You're not a down-and-outer.
But fortune's pretty sure to flee
From folks content with sittin'
Around, an' sayin' life's N. G.—
You've got to quit your quittin'.

When a Great Man Dies.

The flags are hung half-mast to-day,
But they'll all be high to-morrow!
This is the big world's cruel way.
Ah! this is how we sorrow!

A moment's grief, a brief delay
From plow and field and furrow—
The flags are hung half-mast to-day!
But they'll all be high to-morrow!

We mourn one hour, we pause to pray
(Sad prayers that we must borrow!)
One little while we softly say
Poor words of pain and sorrow;
The flags are hung half-mast to-day,
But they'll all be high to-morrow!

—Lippincott's Magazine.

Inter Nos.

I did not know that Heav'n was Heav'n
Until thy heart touched mine;
I did not know that Love was Love
Until I drank of thine.

I did not know that Wrong was Wrong
Until I ruled thy soul;
That Weak was Weak and Strong was Strong
Until I paid the toll.

And now I know that Lost is Lost,
For I cannot regain;
And now I know that Hell is Hell,
For I can feel its pain.

FARMER ANGRY AT STATE BOARD'S ACT.

Roselle Park Man Says Barn Was Improperly Declared Not Well Ventilated.

Deeply incensed at what he claims to be unjust action by the State Board of Health in condemning him for not having his barn properly ventilated, Edward Garthwaite, of Roselle Park, denounced the board for its action before the Union County Board of Agriculture at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. He insisted that his barn was well ventilated, and said a few harsh things about the State officials.

The board seemed to agree with Garthwaite, and a committee was appointed to investigate his charges and learn whether or not he had been discriminated against. If the committee substantiates his accusations the president of the board, E. R. Collins, of Westfield, will take the matter up with the State board. The committee is composed of Albert Lambert, J. C. Headley and E. P. Beebe.

Albert Nutley, of Roselle Park, also complained of like discrimination, but having sold out his business as a result, he said, of the State board's action, he didn't care to press the charges.

LAKEWOOD HOTEL TO BE SANITARIUM.

Nathan Strauss, Its Owner, Proposes to Convert Big Hostelry Into Place of Rest.

Lakewood, March 5.—Information reached the public today that the Lakewood Hotel, the largest in this famed winter resort, would not be conducted as a hotel after this season, but would be turned into a sanatarium. The hotel is controlled by Nathan Strauss, of New York, and during the past week has has had several prominent New York physicians here looking over the building with a view to making the necessary alterations.

The squash and tennis court are to be changed into a large swimming pool, and a big open-air sun parlor is to be built. The sanitarium will be conducted chiefly for thos desiring rest and quiet, and for this it is admirably situated, being away from the heart of the town and surrounded by a pine forest.

It is understood that part of the hotel will be kept open all through the summer for those desiring the quiet of the pines.

PRESIDENT TAFT GETS 'POSSUM FROM JERSEYMAN.

Thomas Craig, of Montclair Heights, was awakened about 11 o'clock last night by the barking of his dog. When he got up to investigate he found his dog frantically pawing at a small opening under the foundation of the shed kitchen. Mr. Craig procured a shovel and assisted the dog in making the hole larger so that the animal could get beneath the building. The next minute he could hear sounds of a struggle, and then the canine came back dragging with him an immense 'possum.

Mr. Craig secured the wild animal before the dog could kill it, and says he will send it to President Taft with his compliments, as being Jersey fed and, therefore, better than the Southern breed which Mr. Taft has recently been eating. The 'possum weighed twelve pounds.

SAYS HE'LL BLOW UP WRECH'S HOME.

Spurned Suitor Thrashes Father of Girl He Wants and Wrecks His Saloon.

Peter Woolly yesterday threatened to dynamite the saloon of Marcel Wrech, at Bayonne, whose daughter had refused his attentions. Woolly met the saloon-keeper's daughter several days ago, and since then had been bothering her. She complained to her father

Woolly asked the father if he might call on the young woman, and when the father refused the request, Woolly became abusive. He wrecked the saloon, beat the father and threatened to kill the daughter. The police were summoned and Woolly was placed under arrest. At headquarters he said that when liberated he would dynamite the saloon-keeper's home.

JUDGE RUNYON TALKS OF GOD'S COVENANT

Discussing the covenant between God and the Christian from its standpoint as an exchange of values—allegiance and love to God as a means of securing the fulfillment of His promises to mankind as set forth in the Bible—City Judge Runyon gave a most practical and interesting talk at the second of the series of Thursday night Lenten meetings held at Hope chapel last night. There was a good attendance, as these meetings are proving of great interest, and the talk was especially helpful.

The speaker told of the change in the place religion holds in the life of people, in introducing his subject. He said that Christianity today had gained a broader recognition within past years than ever before in the history of the church. A feature of this movement is the support awarded by scientists, who were at one time considered as the rankest of agnostics and atheists. Lord Kelvin, the famous English scientist, was cited as one of the men who has done much to bring about this condition. The Bible today, Mr. Runyon said, seems to have a higher and wider scope of influence than ever before.

Attention was called to the marked characteristic of the New Testament in recording so many personal promises of God to the people. Each of these, however, is governed by certain conditions, of love, obedience and right-living, and Mr. Runyon pointed out that these convenants were business propositions, wherein God promised certain benefits in return for allegiance. In the latter part of his talk, the speaker discussed the nature of such a covenant with God and its obligations upon men. He said that all true Christians must take the pledge of allegiance and duty and live up to it before they could realize the benefits of the covenant, which come from God.

Class Dined.

The Bible Study committee of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the members of the N. P. H. S. gymnasium classes in the association rooms last night. Dinner was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in games and solving pictures. Mrs. Charles Tennant is chairman of the committee, and those in charge of the entertainment were Miss Ethel Colton, Miss May Serrell and Miss Harriet Mattison.

Preparatory services will be held at Trinity Reformed church, tonight, and communion service on Sunday morning.

A praise service, with a special musical service by the quartet choir will be held at Trinity Reformed church, Sunday night.

N. Y. Concern Sues Plainfielder.

Strohmeyer & Arp Company, of New York, has commenced an action against Michael Riccardo, of this city, to recover $100 alleged to be due on contract for the purchase of implements used in grading. The case will be tried before Justice Smalley on Monday. William G. De-Méza represents the complainants and Robert Newton Crane the defendant.

3d. The factory is making 12,000 of this one model for 1909. This makes the price of $1,250 possible. Were they only building a few hundred of these cars it would be impossible to sell them for less than double. The list price includes a splitdorf magneto, full lamp equipment, horn and kit of tools.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

CHAPTER XIV.

WHEN A DAUGHTER BETRAYS HER FATHER.

BUD returned to find Miss Langdon and Norton still in the room. New buoyancy, new courage, thrilled in his veins. He would give this congressman the battle of his life for this prize, of that he was confident.

"I have an engagement with Mrs. Holcomb, Senator Holcomb's wife," she said, "so I must hurry away, but I expect to be back to see father."

"I think I'll just wait," suggested Norton. "I have to see the senator as soon as possible, and he ought to return from that ways and means committee meeting pretty soon."

When Carolina had gone a slight feeling of constraint settled over the two.

"The senator's pretty busy these days with his naval base matter coming up, isn't he?"

"Yes; keeps him pretty busy receiving delegations from Altacoola and Gulf City and patting them both on the back," said Haines. "Had a man from Gulf City in this morning with some pretty strong arguments."

The secretary watched Norton keenly to note the effect of this hint in favor of Gulf City.

"Gulf City!" Norton sneered. "Shucks! Who'd put a naval base on a bunch of mud flats? I reckon those Gulf City fellows are wasting their time."

"Think so?" suggested Haines. "Are you absolutely sure?"

Norton started.

"Why, you don't mean to tell me," he exclaimed, "that Senator Langdon would vote for Gulf City for the naval base?"

"I don't mean to tell you anything, congressman," was the cool rejoinder. "It's not my business. The senator's the one who does the talking."

An ugly sneer wrinkled the congressman's face.

"Well, I'm glad he attends to his own business and doesn't trust too many people," he said pointedly.

The secretary smiled in puzzling fashion.

"That's exactly why I don't talk, congressman," he said pleasantly. "The senator doesn't trust too many people. If he did, there might be too much money made out of land speculation. Senator Langdon doesn't happen to be one of those senators who care for that kind of thing."

"I suppose you think you're pretty strong with the senator," ventured the Mississippian.

"Tell you the truth, I haven't thought very much about it," replied Haines, "but, if you come right down to it, I guess I am pretty strong."

"Suppose you've influenced him in the naval base business, then."

Still the secretary smiled, keeping his temper under the adroit attack.

"Well, I think he'd listen to me with considerable interest."

"But you're for Altacoola, of course."

Haines shook his head.

"No, I can't say that I'm for Altacoola. Fellow who was in here this morning put up a pretty good argument, to my mind, for Gulf City. In fact, he made it pretty strong. Seemed to show it was all to my interest to go in with Gulf City. Think I'll have to investigate a little more. I tell you, Norton," spoke Haines in a confidential manner, "this land speculation fever is a frightful thing. While I was talking to this fellow from Gulf City I almost caught it myself. Probably if I met the head of the Altacoola speculation I might catch the fever from him too."

"Why don't you put your money into Gulf City and lose it, then?" replied Norton, nodding his head scornfully. "That'd be a good lesson for a rising young politician like you."

Senator Langdon's secretary peered straight into Norton's eyes.

"Because, congressman," he said, "if I were to put my money in Gulf City perhaps I wouldn't lose it."

The southerner took a step forward, leaned over and glared angrily at Haines. His face whitened.

"You don't mean that you could swing Langdon into Gulf City?" he gasped.

Haines smiled.

"I can't say that, Norton, but I guess people interested in Altacoola would hate to have me try."

"I didn't know you were that kind, Haines," said Norton, his virtue

"I'll make you pay for that!"

aroused at the thought of losing his money. "So you're playing the game like all the rest?"

"Why shouldn't I?" shrugged the secretary. "I guess perhaps I'm a little sore because the Altacoola people haven't even paid me the compliment of thinking I had any influence, so they can't expect me to work for them. The Gulf City people have. As things stand, Gulf City looks pretty good to me."

"Is this straight talk?" exclaimed Norton.

"Take it or leave it," retorted Bud.

The Mississippian leaned with his hands on the desk.

"Well, Haines, if you're like the rest and are really interested in Altacoola, I don't know that you'd have to go very far to talk."

"You know something of Altacoola lands, then, Norton?" said Robert, tingling with suppressed excitement. He felt that he was getting close to real facts in a colossal "deal."

Norton was sure of his man now.

"Well, I am in touch with some people who've got lands and options on more. I might fix it for you to come in," he whispered.

Haines shook his head.

"You know I haven't much money, Norton. All I could put in would be my influence. Who are these people? Are they cheap little local folks or are they real people here who have some power and can do something that is worth while?"

"Do I look like I'd fool with cheap skates, Haines? They're the real people. I think, Haines, that either Senator Stevens or Senator Peabody would advise you that you are safe."

"Ah! Then Stevens and Peabody are the ones. They'll make it Altacoola, then sell to the government at a big advance and move to 'Easy street.'"

"That's right," agreed Norton.

Bud Haines straightened abruptly. The expression on his face gave Norton a sudden chill—made him tremble.

FORMATION OF REELFOOT LAKE.

Strange History of Spot Where Night Riders' Crime Occurred.

The physical history of Reelfoot lake of night rider fame is not without a certain interest of its own. The lake came into existence as the result of a series of earthquakes which began in December, 1811, and continued until June, 1812.

Some authorities say that the earthquakes merely heaved up a great ridge of land across the path of the Reelfoot river, which runs into the Mississippi, and that this dam caused the water to back up and broaden out and form a lake; but the favorite account in the neighborhood is to the effect that the ground sank, springs were opened up, neighboring creeks diverted from their course and the overflowing waters of the Mississippi rushed in during the flood season of the spring of 1812.

It is said that for an hour and a half the waters of the Mississippi flowed up-hill while filling up the depression caused by the earthquakes. Both accounts likely have this much of truth in them that the entire configuraton of the ground was changed by the earthquakes. Big lake, west of the Mississippi, is said to have been formed in the same way at the same time.

Reelfoot lake is sixteen or eighteen miles long, writes Don Marquis in Uncle Remus' Magazine, very irregular in shape, and covers from 35,000 to 40,000 acres of land. It varies in width from a mile in some places to four or five miles in others. The northern end is extended by a series of sloughs and bayous into Kentucky.

The most distinctive feature of the lake's appearance, the feature which first impresses and stays longest with the observer's fancy, is a certain grotesque effect as if a set of crazy men had been operating a piledriver there for the last century, for the trunks, stumps and stark branches of dead trees stick out of it everywhere in desolate parody of some such human handiwork; far below the surface the fish dart among the boles and branches where the squirrels frolicked a hundred years ago.

There are beautiful spots here and there, but the effect as a whole is not beautiful; at its best, when the mist rises and myriad protruding tree trunks are white and ghostly in the moonlight, it is weird; the general remembrance is of something uncouth. It is a kind of sloven lake that has preferred to sit down with its hair uncombed all day long, but at night it does manage to achieve a touch of wizard dignity.

To Sift Nation's History.

This country is now rich in its historical literature, but of the recent output most has come from west of the Hudson and north of the Potomac and Ohio. We can now study with minutest detail almost every phase and period of our history, with the sole exception of the south, which is late in coming to the front with its own records. The southern people have been content to make history rather than record it, and for this reason materials are meager. But there are in the south writers who are now taking high rank and of whom much more may be expected. We are beginning for the first time to get some studies of the reconstruction period, for instance, out of which an opinion may be formed instead of being taken off-hand at the dictum of contemporary writers who were prejudiced on one side or the other.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Natural Gas in India.

Consul General William H. Michael of Calcutta writes that 20 miles from Chittagong natural gas issues from a crevice in the ground in considerable quantity. It has been burning so long that the oldest inhabitant can give no idea of when or how it was set on fire. The general belief among the natives is that the gas has been on fire for centuries. At any rate, the gas flow has been burning as far back as any records have been kept by white people.

It is now suggested—and some steps have been taken to carry out the suggestion—that the fire be extinguished and the gas be brought under control and piped down to Chittagong for lighting and fuel and power purposes.

The citizens of Chittagong have concluded that it would be cheaper to utilize the gas than to introduce electricity for fuel, power and lighting.

Trying to Canonize Nero.

Now a historian comes forward to say that Nero was one of the great benefactors of mankind and a great help to Christianity. It is true that attempts have been made to prove that Henry VIII. was a model husband, but the rehabilitation of Nero in the world races' esteem has hitherto been considered beyond the limit. Perhaps the next investigator will discover that we have always been mistaken in the belief that the first man blamed everything on the woman.

Keeping His Word.

"It's real mean," the young woman exclaimed.

"What's the matter?" her mother inquired.

"Before I married Herbert I made him promise to pass every evening at home with me, and now he says he's sorry, but he can't take me to the theater without breaking his word."

Signs of Jealousy.

"The count must love me."

"Why?"

"He gets sulky whenever another man wants to know how much papa is worth."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning March 7, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Life lessons for me from the Psalms.—Ps. xlvi, 1-11. (Consecration meeting.)

The expression "for me" indicated in the topic has a special significance as related to the Psalms. Every book of the Bible applies more or less to the individual, but the Psalms in this respect surpass all others. No other book has been more widely read, and no other has had so many comments written upon it. The reason for these things lies close to the surface. The Psalms are largely devotional. They are the expressions of the soul in its relation to God under the most varied circumstances. The experiences of the soul are and always have been essentially the same, and hence when the soul is cast down or exalted, when under depression or blessed with a perfect trust, we turn to the Psalms to read the experiences of others under similar circumstances, and we never go away without a blessing. The Psalms have been a powerful factor both in church life and national life, but, above all, they have filled longing wants in the individual life. If you have neglected or are neglecting this book as a means of your personal growth in experimental religion and in all graces you are making a sad mistake. In the Twenty-third Psalm, for instance, only the singular personal pronoun is used, illustrating that they are "for me."

The book of Psalms is a collection of sacred poems, used in song and composed by various authors, but principally by David, and hence they are commonly called the "Psalms of David." They include historical references, confessions of men, Messianic prophecies, the outpourings of the soul in times of doubt and despair and praises and rejoicings in times of implicit trust and joy. The book consists of 150 Psalms, yet there is no division as to time or as to the subjects used. The Jews divide them into five books, which division has been followed by the revisers of the Old Testament:

Book I.—Ps. 1-41.
Book II.—Ps. 42-72.
Book III.—Ps. 73-89.
Book IV.—Ps. 90-106.
Book V.—Ps. 107-150.

Nor are the divisions arbitrary. At the end of each one there is a natural stopping place. The first book closes with the words, "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting, amen and amen" (Ps. xli, 13); the second, "The prayers of David, the son of Jesse, are ended" (Ps. lxxii, 20); the third, "Blessed be the Lord forevermore, amen and amen" (Ps. lxxxix, 52); the fourth, "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting, and let all the people say amen; praise ye the Lord" (Ps. cvi, 48); the fifth, "Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord; praise ye the Lord" (Ps. cl, 6).

The Forty-sixth Psalm is a lesson to the church and to us as members of it. In the midst of all the trials of the church "God is in the midst of her; she shall not be mired. God shall help her, and that right early." So it is with our lives. God is in the midst of them, and we need not fear though the earth and the mountains be moved or the waters roar. "God is our refuge and our strength."

workingman. He has been a preacher for years. He is also an earnest Endeavorer and contributes an article weekly to the organ of British Christian Endeavor societies, a vigorous and entertaining account of doings in parliament. It is much to the glory of Christian Endeavor that our society has so noble a representative in the world's greatest legislative assembly.

A recent article about Mr. Nicholls' work closed with this paragraph:

"I happened to speak to Mr. Nicholls about a prospective engagement. He referred to his diary. Not a Sunday free until June! Towns in every part of the country were included in the list. A telegram arrived arranging for a meeting on the morrow at Bournemouth. Mr. Nicholls was in 1907 on eight committees in the house. He was busier than ever."

PATENTED

This is the Square Pot of the

that saves fuel and dollars and will heat the whole of a house. In every great engine and under every big boiler you'll find a square fire box. Ever noticed it? Well—we have adapted that principle to our furnaces. A square pot gives a clean, hot, clinkerless fire without waste of fuel. It requires the least attention and responds instantly. BOYNTON furnaces only have square fire-pots. It is our patent. There are other improvements. A square ash pit that improves the draft and makes removal of ashes easier. A pure air supply—for health's sake. A dust flue that saves the rooms above.

Look up the BOYNTON dealer in your town and talk it over.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Children are much more likely to be made nervous than to be born nervous.

There is no better equipment for the little one who must win his way in the world than perfect health.

A congenial atmosphere in which to unfold his own particular kind of bloom is what the child's awakening nature craves.

To be successful in exacting obedience, there must be no threats, nor must anything be offered the child in the way of a bribe.

The mother who holds high the standards of the home is she whose example and influence shape the tender minds of her little ones for good or evil.

One of the first duties to her child is to spare no effort in her endeavor to provide him with a physique fitted to be the support and companion of his mind.

One of the secrets of gaining prompt obedience from children is to make few matters points of contention. To overlook is what the most successful mother knows how to do.

The child feels his own position keenly when he loses self-control. To aggravate his misery by blows or commands, when he is not in a physical condition to understand them, seldom brings good results.

The green shoots appearing above the brown earth of nursery tea and gingham pinafores, are very tender, and, as they grow, the mother must smile on them, for if she turns away they will most surely lean out toward sun and perhaps never bloom in the home garden at all.

That God's will has made woman the mother of the human race, and that to be a true mother, a "good mother," with all that that dear old-fashioned word means, is to perform in the world the noble end for which she was destined in paradise.

IN MORALIZING MOOD.

Brooding over failure binds the brain to inaction and lessens the chance of betterment.

It is not reasonable to insist that all people should share alike in the material things of life.

The disposition to coddle a sense of injustice is one of the most unfortunate heritages of mankind.

It is hardly reasonable to expect that a feeling of gladness should exist in the neighborhood of an empty pocket.

There is nothing more conducive to independence of Don't Worry claim than a healthy balance to one's credit in the savings bank.

Satisfaction and contentment are not always purchasable, but they are not far distant when ample means are unselfishly and wisely used.

When the victim of untoward circumstances gives time to nursing his misfortunes he will find that they thrive and multiply like mites in mellow cheese.

Much more time is wasted in assailing the reputation of successful men than would be required for the erection of memorials to perpetuate the memory of their good deeds.—Frank B. Welch, in The Sunday Magazine.

QUIET KNOCKS.

The hardest obstacle a man has to overcome is frequently himself.

A woman may be as young as she feels, but she doesn't always look the part.

The man who forgets what he ought to know seldom knows what he ought to forget.

There isn't anything much more uncomfortable than a professional hero who has lost his job.

The man who is always borrowing money is almost as great a nuisance as the one who has no money to lend.

An auotomobile tour demonstrates that when you stop at a country inn you must put up with the inn conveniences.

The pen may be mightier than the sword, but the sword swallower generally makes more money that the poet.

When Dame Fortune knocks at our door we are consumed with the hope that all out neighbors are looking out of their windows.

SCHOOLBOY "HOWLERS."

Here are some amusing blunders—in England they are known as "howlers"—made by British schoolboys:

"The masculine of vixen is vicar."

"Algebra was the wife of Euclid."

"To kill a butterfly you pinch its borax."

"The blood vessels are the veins, arteries and artilleries."

"A ruminating animal is one that chews its cuba."

WORKED FOR HOME MISSIONS.

Officers Re-Named for New Year at Yesterday's Meeting—Mrs. Bennett's Address.

The report of Mrs. William Myers, treasurer of the Women's Home Mission Society of the Crescent Avenue church, given in connection with the annual meeting of the organization held in the church parlors yesterday afternoon, showed that during the year $1,400 has been raised for home mission work and sent to various schools and missions in this country. Aside from this, Mrs. E. H. Hatch, the secretary, reported that many boxes and barrels of clothing and necessities had been sent out, among them a big Christmas box to a school in Virginia.

The money raised during the past year was sent to the Goodwill Mission, in Dakota, where extensive mission work is done among the Indians; the Harbison Freedmen's Academy in North Carolina, the Nashville Farm School for boys in North Carolina, where the local organization helps pay the instructors, and a mission school in Alaska. Mrs. H. R. Halloway, secretary of literature, reported on the missionary magazines and periodicals received by the organization during the year.

Mrs. I. C. Pierson, president of the society, presided at the meeting, and the annual election resulted in the naming of all but one of the previous year's officers. The single exception was Mrs. Hatch, who was elected secretary to take the place of Miss Mary Ketcham, who resigned last fall. Since Miss Ketcham's resignation, Mrs. Hatch has been acting secretary. The officers named were these: President, Mrs. I. C. Pierson; vice-presidents, Mrs. W. E Honeyman and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore; treasurer, Mrs. William Myers; secretary, Mrs. E. H. Hatch; secretary of literature, Mrs. H. R. Halloway.

LICENSE AND TAG FOR BOROUGH DOGS

An ordinance providing for the licensing of dogs in the borough was introduced by Councilman Smalley at the meeting of the borough Council last night. It was passed on its first and second reading. The ordinance specifies that every dog shall be licensed, and the price for each license is fixed at $2.50, the dog to be adorned with a tag attached to its collar, bearing a number corresponding to the number of the license.

Should this ordinance be adopted, the policy of muzzling dogs would be abandoned, and every canine found at large not tagged would be destroyed by the police. The penalty for not procuring a license is to be a fine not exceeding twenty dollars or imprisonment in the borough lockup or county jail not exceeding seven days, or both fine and imprisonment.

Before the ordinance can be effective it must pass a third and final reading at the April meeting of the Council. It can then be put in operation at once.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR ROBERT MURRAY

In honor of the fifty-second anniversary of his birth, about twenty friends of Robert Murray, the auctioneer, gave him a surprise party at his home on West Front street, last night. The affair was planned by a few friends and Mr. Murray was completely surprised when the delegation arrived at his home. The evening was spent in dancing and singing, features being the violin selections by John McDonald, while "Chief" MacDuff delighted all by giving an original Scotch "sword dance." Refreshments were served during the evening.

The selections on the violin by John McDonald were of the real Scotch style; while the dancing of the sailor's hornpipe, Highland fling and sword dance and Mr. Murray were enjoyable features. The "Chief" out-danced Mr. Murray, although over seventy years of age. Those taking part in the dances and cake walk were the Misses Gray, Stewart, McDonald, Head, Mrs. MacDuff and the Misses Murray. IT WAS A GREAT PARADE

So the Union County Crowd Heard When Ceremonies Were All Over.

A SADLY DISAPPOINTED LOT.

Twenty Hours En Route and Then a Long and Weary Delay for the Start Home.

New Jersey gave William H. Taft some 80,00 majority.

Mr. Taft forgot all about that fact on Thursday afternoon. The very first thing he did after retiring Mr Roosevelt to private life by being sworn in as his successor was to announce that he was ready to see the parade. He had waited long enough for the Union county Republicans, 230 strong, to put in an appearance, and that was all there was to it.

When it was found by those 230 martyrs on arriving at Washington after a twenty hour trip just what Mr. Taft had done, the vow was taken right then and there not to vote for Mr. Taft again, at least not until 1912. Another vow was taken to have a parade all by themselves, and so those 230 hungry, weary and sad mortals fell in behind their band, which had serenaded everyone on the train, including Aleck Ayres. Up Pennsylvania avenue they swept, or rather crept for they were a sorry lot after a night of little sleep.

The first thing that offered any opportunity to even matters up happened to be Senator John Kean's buffet lunch and the 230 almost forgot about the Senator himself in their scramble for his private lunch counter. Some had planned to go to the inaugural ball and others preferred the high ball, but it was a tame lot that finally decided to make a raid on the restaurants where a sandwich was sold for fifty cents provided you waited half an hour to get it. But didn't those sandwiches taste fine and didn't those mortals have appetites.

To top it all off and make the whole affair one grand big success, the Jersey pilgrims stole back to the Union station, where they were given another treat. The train was scheduled to leave at 1 o'clock on Friday morning. Everybody was ready and in groups of five and ten they told each other how they were going right to bed and stay there until the porter shouted "All out."

One o'clock came and went and so did succeeding hours. Senator Ackerman, Hamilton F. Kean and Mayor Fisk were talking against time and the terminal officials in their attempt to get the train. The only ambition the railroad men showed was in efforts to invent excuses and the line they handed out was of fifty-seven varieties. When it was nearly dawn, the special was sent into the station at a funeral cortege speed. Then a cheer went up from the crowd and then something else went up in the air. The tired-out aggregation was told that they would have to wait until the cars were heated. There was a sufficient supply of this commodity in the crowd but it was altogether of too hot a kind to be used for such a purpose. When 6 o'clock came, the excursionists were generously permitted to have a look into their cars. They took something besides and they took it just so long as undisturbed by a few who cared not for sleep.

If you wanted to appreciate what "Home, Sweet Home" really means you should have seen that "inauguration parade party" when Plainfield was reached at 2:35 yesterday afternoon. Oh, yes, they all had a bully time watching that parade and next week you'll find them all at the moving picture shows where they can get for ten cents what they missed with twenty dollars or more.

ARGUE VAN NESS CASE

Lawyer Tells Court of Appeals That Client Should Be Allowed Claim.

SUIT OVER THE MORTGAGE.

George W. Marsh is Plaintiff and the Realty Involved is Worth About $35,000.

The case of George W. Marsh against "Count" John K. Van Ness, which is on appeal from the Court of Chancery, was argued before the Court of Errors and Appeals at Trenton yesterday. The court announced after the arguments, that it would consider the matter. An opinion is expected at the June term.

The case is founded on a mortgage that was given by "Count" Van Ness to the late John R. Marsh, of Scotch Plains, on April 24, 1891, for $3,000 covering property owned by "Count" Van Ness, which is said to be worth about $35,000. After the death of John R. Marsh, George E. Hall was appointed administrator and he started a foreclosure of the mortgage in the Chancery Court in February, 1903, but no process was ever issued to "Count" Van Ness and in November of the same year George W. Marsh, a son of the late John R. Marsh, bought the mortgage from the administrator for $1,000, and he then, through Judge Gilhooley, of Elizabeth, started foreclosure proceedings. These foreclosure proceedings were contested very bitterly by "Count" Van Ness and he charged in his defense that when Marsh loaned him the money that he was obliged to pay a bonus for the same and that he was also forced to pay usurious interest for the loan, and his further defense was that he paid to Marsh certain sums on account of the mortgage and that with these payments and the bonus and usurious interest he paid, that he had liquidated the whole mortgage and that there was nothing due to Marsh at the time of his death. The Chancery Court in its decision of the case decided partly in favor of Van Ness and allowed him a credit of $2,979.78, but "Count" has appealed from this decision and says that he should have been allowed the whole amount.

Counselor Winifield S. Angleman has represented "Count" Van Ness in this litigation from the start and has made a splendid fight up to this time, and the argument that he has advanced to the Court of Errors is a forceful one. He insists in his brief that "Count" Van Ness should have been allowed his total claim and had this been so, that the mortgage would be paid.

He says "In no matter what aspect the complainants case is viewed, it bears the ear marks of something wrong."

The late John R. Marsh lived in Scotch Plains and carried on a butcher business and accumulated a large sum of money and at the time of his death was reputed to be worth $375,000 besides real estate.

George W. Marsh is his son. The property in question is situate on East Front street and occupied by "Count" Van Ness at this time, and he claims it is worth $35,000.

INSULTING LANGUAGE LANDS BOYS IN COURT

Charged with having made insulting and disorderly remarks to two little girls, Louise Montonra and Jennie Redman, of Madison avenue, Wells Cregar of Watchung avenue and Edward Wilson, of Plainfield avenue, two fifteen-year-old boys, were haled before City Judge Runyon today on the complaint of the girls and their parents. The girls told the court that they were passing through Voehl's alley Wednesday afternoon when the boys made coarse and insulting remarks to them. They complained to a policeman and the boys were arrested.

At their hearing before City Judge Runyon today, the boys were given a good stiff lecture on propriety and decency. The Judge is going to keep an eye on the pair, for Wilson has not been going to school regularly. They will have to report at court next Saturday morning to give an account of their doings for the week. Sentence was suspended, but the two were given to understand that they would have to be very careful of their deportment in future and would be watched by the police.

AUTO LINE RUNNING FROM N. Y. TO PHILA.

Following the same route as the ancient stage coach line which seventy years ago ran between New York and Philadelphia by way of Trenton, two big five-passenger automobiles are to operate a daily service, and the first car left the Quaker City yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and reached New York at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The automobiles do not pass through this city, but go from New Brunswick, where the daily noon-day stop is made for luncheon, to Elizabeth, by way of Rahway.

The auto left New York at 10 o'clock this morning on the first return trip, reaching the Quaker City at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The schedule provides an average speed of twenty miles an hour. Only one car will be used at present, but if the service proves satisfactorily and attractive another car will be placed in commission. The machine to be used will accommodate five passengers in addition to the driver. The intention of the company is to maintain the service both summer and winter.

On the return trip the stop was made as Princeton for luncheon. Only one car, "the Bellevue-Stratford" started yesterday, the other not being ready, but both will be in commission next week.

BOROUGH COUNSEL QUITS

Senator C. A. Reed Resigns as Corporation Attorney After 21 Years Service.

HE NEVER LOST A CASE.

Mayor Townsend and Councilmen Praise Him—No Successor to Be Named This Year.

Former State Senator Charles Arthur Reed, after serving the borough for twenty-one years as legal adviser tendered his resignation last night. No successor will be named this year, Mayor Townsend announced today.

After the reading of this communication to the Council from Mr. Reed, in which he asked to be relieved of the duties of the office, the Mayor paid a compliment to him in these words: "There may be other municipalities in New Jersey, which have had corporation counsels who have served twenty years, but none have been served in a more satisfactory way than the borough of North Plainfield. Mr. Reed has never lost a case for the borough during the twenty-one years he has been in the office, and in the perplexing questions that have arisen from time to time he has kept us straight. I regret that he is obliged to give up his post."

Councilman W. L. Smalley complimented the counsel and Councilman L. B. Woolston, after declaring that the general public could scarcely appreciate the full value of Mr. Reed's services, made a motion that the resignation be accepted with regret.

Mayor Townsend believes the $500 salary paid annually to the counsel can be saved to the borough. If any question arises requiring the advice of a lawyer, one may be consulted, but the borough will try to get along without the services of a regular counsel.

Mr. Reed's letter to the Mayor and Council follows:

"I hereby respectfully tender my resignation from the office of Corporation Counsel of the borough, to take effect immediately and ask your acceptance.

"First appointed to this office in March, 1888, by the then Mayor, Justus H. Cooley, and re-appointed each succeeding year and by each succeeding Mayor without regard to political faith, and confirmed by each succeeding Council for the last twenty years, I have now served the borough in the capacity of legal adviser for twenty-one years.

"These re-appointments, coming annually for so long a period and from so many of the best citizens of the borough who at different times served as members of Council and as Mayor, and who were constantly familiar with the manner in which the duties of my office were discharged, I naturally regard as a high compliment.

"My relations with almost all of these gentlemen were at the time they were in office and are now most pleasant. In my belief no body of men ever gave more careful, honest or unselfish service in the discharge of such public duties than the half hundred or more citizens of North Plainfield who, without salary or compensation, have composed its governing body.

"So long and so pleasant a relationship I naturally regret to terminate. But the office is one that demands much time and attention. Its duties, instead of being confined to mere attendance upon Council meetings as many suppose, embrace the hundred and one questions constantly arising regarding the practical carrying on of the government of a community of six thousand people, whose ideas are frequently most divergent.

"For some years the pressure of other and to me far more important business matters has made it difficult to devote the necessary time to this office. Now I am entrusted by a valued client with business which will probably take me away from home for two or three months and

THE CAR OF QUALITY AND LOW COST.

THREE 1909 MODELS

Our "20" at $1,000 (Runabout)
Our "30" at $1,500 (5 Passengers)
Our "40" at $2,000 (7 Passengers)

exemplify the unapproached Mitchell construction. All models have four cylinders and selective transmission.

MITCHELL "30"—$1,500

Equipped with Magneto, 5 Lamps Generator and Horn

Settle your doubts once for all about what kind of car you want. Now is your opportunity. You can compare all others with the Mitchell models.

If you desire a roomy, luxurious touring car, see the Mitchell "40" at $2,000. Judge its worth by cars selling as high as $4,000. Here is a 40-horsepower car—a handsome car—a car of the highest finish—a car that seats seven passengers—has a wheel base of 122 inches—a car with platform rear spring attached outside the rear frame just as on $5,000 cars—a car with all metal body—springs of vanadium steel—aluminum castings strengthened with bronze—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $2,000.

If it is the popular $1,500 product that you wish—just see the Mitchell "30." Go over it part by part and then see how far short the others fall. Here is a $1,500 car with double ignition, magneto and vibrator coil and batteries (no extra charge for $150 magneto)—oversize tires—deatchable tonneau with choice of runabout deck, surrey body or single rumble seat—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $1,500.

If it is a nifty runabout the Mitchell "20" will fulfill your highest expectations—and then offer you features you didn't know were possible at the price—4 cylinders—20 horsepower—32x3½ tires, the size that usually goes on 5-passenger touring cars—a car of unapproached Mitchell construction—at only $1,000.

Please note carefully what Mitchell construction means. There's a big difference, especially between "assembled" cars and the Mitchells built entirely at the Mitchell factories.

Take the "30," our famous $1,500 car, as an example: In other low priced cars even the cheapest magneto—nothing to be compared with the one used on the $1,500 Mitchell—is listed as an "extra."

As magneto ignition is coming into universal favor, and every motorist wants it in his car, this magneto "extra" means $1,650 for the $1,500 car.

Remember, a standard magneto goes with the Mitchell "30" and is included in the $1,500.

Then there are the Mitchell's 32-inch wheels and 4-inch tires.

These tires alone would cost you $50 extra a set with any other machine.

Four-inch tires are the large size, made especially to take care of all the overload possible to a car of ordinary size.

On other $1,500 cars and on many that cost twice $1,500, you get only 3½-inch tires.

They are the ordinary size—the tires that are always blowing up or wearing out in short time, no matter how good they are, because 99 cars out of a hundred have to carry an overload.

You can "overload" your $1,500 Mitchell as often as you like. It has the tire capacity for more overload than you will ever pack in.

Consider what this means in money saving after you get your $1,500 car. Any experienced motorist will tell you that tire expense is ordinarily one of the heaviest drains. The oversize tires of the Mitchell also means the easiest riding, and a big saving of wear on your machine.

But the Mitchell "30" is built for economy all the way through.

It averages more miles per gallon of gasoline than any other 4-cylinder car, no matter what the price.

A big help in keeping down the cost of operation is the Mitchell's simplicity.

Give it oil and gasoline—and then let the machinery alone. That's what we have always said to Mitchell users. And they will tell you the rule works on the Mitchell.

We have the best system of lubrication that could be worked out in eight years.

One important reason why we can give you so much more car and so much better car for $1,500 is that ours is not an "assembled" car—that is, it is not gathered up one part from one manufacturer and another part from another. The Mitchell is built entirely at the factory of the Mitchell Motor Car Co., Racine, Wis. (Standard Manufacturers, A. M. C. M. A.)

The same quality of workmanship in an "asembled" car would cost you $2,000 to $2,500.

In the Mitchell Crank Shaft there are five very large bearings. One bearing at each end, and three extra ones between. We have made 5,000 crank shafts in this way, and not a single one of them has ever been broken.

The chassis of the Mitchell "30" is a matchless demonstration of rigidity and strength in pressed steel construction. No better quality of pressed steel can be had, and in putting our frames together on all sizes of cars we strongly reinforce them at every point. No conceivable strain of ordinary or extraordinary usage will rack them. And still the weight of a frame is only moderate. It is strong enough to be safe and not so heavy as to be clumsy.

Throughout the car—wherever the best results can be secured—nickel alloy and vanadium steels are used liberally.

These steels are employed in the crank shaft, transmission and rear axle shaft—in all the driving mechanism. The springs are vanadium steel. Aluminum castings are used wherever possible, strengthened with bronze wherever there is any strain.

The transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, the kind used on all the high priced cars.

The Mitchell "30" is commodious, comfortable and a beauty. The wheel base is 105 inches.

See the Mitchell cars! They are the most complete expression of American automobile building today—the product of eight years and $11,000,000 worth of experience. Send for Mitchell catalog.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BASEBALL.

Boyd, who has signed with Clinton Avenue for this season, is considered one of the fastest fielders and best stickers in this part of the State. He should prove a valuable man to the locals.

Provided Seery does not sign with one of the Connecticut State League teams, he will be found behind the rubber for the Clinton Avenues this summer. He did good work here last year.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. team are getting in good work at the gymnasium just now in preparation for the season. As soon as the weather will permit, Manager Listman will arrange for outdoor practice.

Red Calhoun has signed a contract to play first base for the Jersey City team. The Skeeters' infield will be made up as follows: Calhoun, first base; Londrigan, second; Foster, short; Courtney, third.

Baltimore wanted Phil Lewis, of Brooklyn, and offered a nice sum for his release, but the Superbas' owners would not sell the erratic infielder.

One by one the holdouts are falling in line. Catcher Jack Butler, who raised a noise in Rochester, finally came through with his John Hancock.

Vic Willis, Pittsburg's star pitcher, has retired from his retirement and will be with the "Stogies" again this year.

Outfielder Harry Armbruster, formerly with Newark and Providence, has been sold by Toledo to St. Paul for $1,000.

Meriden has been dropped from the Connecticut League circuit. The new club to be admitted is Northampton, Mass. It was at Meriden where former manager Walter Burnham discovered Pitcher Ed. Walsh.

Tommy Corcoran, the former Cincinnati and New York shortstop, may blossom into a magnate this season. He is trying to purchase the Waterbury Club, of the Connecticut League.

Among the former Jersey City players now with the Philadelphia Nationals, who will go to the training camp at Southern Pines, N. C., are Pitchers McQuillan, Foxen and Moore, Catcher Crist, Third Baseman Grant, Shortstop Doolan and Outfielders Clement and Handford.

Pittsburg is said to be after Third Baseman Bryne, of the St. Louis Nationals, and may trade Allan Storke, formerly with Providence.

Catcher Maurice Steelman, formerly with Rochester, has been purchased by Altoona from Utica.

GOLF.

There is no assumption of infallibility by the handicap committee of the Western Golf Association—Charles E. Willard, chairman; Charles T. Atkinson and Harry B. Clow. In sending to the chairman of each club's handicap committee for the figurse regarding the length of course, par, bogie, the amateur and professional records, together with the club rating of the best ten players, a further inquiry is made that relieves the official from mere detail and is calculated to give to him an enthuiasm for the mental part of the task.

The chairman is asked to note the 1908 rating of his club's members and to place opposite each name what he thinks the handicap should have been. He is also to let the committee know how near to the par of his course these players would come with their Western Golf Association handicaps deducted from the average of the best three scores made by them during last year.

Official sanction has been granted the Fox Hills Golf Club by the Metropolitan Golf Association for an open amateur tournament on May 13, 14 and 15. This will probably be two weeks prior to the Metropolitan championship. At the last meeting of the board of governors of the Fox Hills Golf Club more than eighty new members were elected, including twenty from the Crescent Athletic Club. An amendment to the constitution was adopted with relation to non-resident membership. Heretofore no one was eligible to non-resident membership who resided within fifty miles of the clubhouse. This was changed to within ten miles of the boundary limits of greater New York.

Although no official decision has been reached as yet, it is said by those to know that the next championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association will, in all probability, be held over the links of the Apawamis club. An executive committee meeting of the association will be held in March, when the date and selection of a course will be definitely determined.

As Easter falls on April 11 this year, somewhat earlier than usual, there is speculation as to whether the Country Club of Atlantic City or the Country Club of Lakewood will choose Easter week for the spring tournament.

MR. REED RESIGNS.

After an honorable and appreciated service of more than two decades, former State Senator Charles A. Reed has resigned as corporation counsel for North Plainfield. To have been reappointed to such an enviable position twenty-one times in succession, under all sorts of administrations, and to have discharged the duties satisfactorily is a record than any lawyer might well be proud of, but to have never lost a single case for the people during all that period constitutes a record that stamps its possessor as a barrister of unusual ability.

I feel that the time has come when I can no longer serve the borough as corporation counsel.

"With the very best wishes for the future success and prosperity of the borough of North Plainfield generally and of its citizens individually, and with a deep appreciation of the many evidences of friendship displayed by you, gentlemen, in the past and which I hope to retain in the future, I am

"Sincerely yours,
"CHARLES A. REED."

Mr. Reed will leave at an early date for Japan having been retained by a wealthy client to spend several months in his interest.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED.

Judge Booraem Tells Mrs. Herman She Was a Trespasser.

Mrs. Viola Herman, of Perth Amboy, who recently lost a suit against Policeman Hansom, of that city, applied to Judge Booraem for a new trial at New Brunswick yesterday. She based her claim for damages upon her ejectment from the meeting room of the Degree of Pocahontas at Perth Amboy. She claimed to be a member of the order and the officers of the lodge claimed that she had no right in the meeting room and called in the policeman, who ejected her. She brought suit mainly for vindication, not for damages.

Judge Booraem declined a new trial, holding that the policeman could not have been expected to determine whether the woman had a right in the hall; that he acted rightly in ejecting her when informed by the lodge officers that she was a trespasser. Judge Booraem said that he thought redress should have been sought from the officers of the lodge instead of from the policeman.

FANCY WORK EVEN IN PAINTING WALLS.

It's an open question whether anything so commonplace as house and sign paint may be considered in a decoratice sense, and there's some doubt as to the painting of walls by way of "fancy work." The woman in the story did not so regard it after she had done the deed, for there was quite some work connected with the rejuvenating of this room, which was her very own. A woman she was, but she knew her own mind, and under her direction the room grew into a thing of beauty. The walls were first well scraped, the crecks replastered, and when this repair job was completed, she glued to the wall a width of common burlap, which extended up from the baseboards ("skirting" they call it in England) about three feet.

Above this there was nailed a narrow moulding of unpainted wood. The nails were sprigs and the holes were putty filled. There was also tacked another moulding of the same design, but smaller, on the upper line where sidewall and ceiling joined—and then another similar one just a foot below it.

She now painted the ceiling and sidewalls, including the two upper mouldings, with three coats of robin's-eggblue paint—just everyday house and sign paint. She then put three coats of paint, just one shade darker, on the burlap and on the moulding above it, and the result was most satisfactory. A beautiful room, obtained for a small amount of money and accomplished by home talent—really no expense except the materials—and a woman's effort.

HER COIFFURE AND HER CHARACTER.

We are now told that observant men sum us up according to our coiffure. Even women who follow the latest fashion in hair-dressing display certain characteristics in doing so. For example, it seems that we are to be regarded as formal, stiff, uncomfortable folk if we are too exact in doing our hair a la mode.

On the other hand, the woman whose hairpins show a tendency to fall and whose "ends" refuse to keep in order, is obviously a loose-minded scatter-brain.

It seems to me that the woman who finds a becoming style of coiffure and keeps to it more or less is she who one can always feel sure is reliable. Queen Alexandra and the Princess of Wales are of this type. They always seem to be in the fashion, yet their coiffure practically remains the same.

Somehow, men always seem to resent a change of coiffure in the women they like. A man goes abroad for three or four years, leaving a fiancee in a quiet home, and with him he carries an impression or a photograph of Mary or Joan with her hair done this way or that.

When he returns he expects to see her exactly as he has pictured her during the time of his absence. In meantime, she has altered her style of hairdressing, she will be sure to notice, when the first rapture of greeting is over, a shade of disappointment on his face, and sooner or later is bound to come to the semi-resentful "What have you done to yourself? Why, you've done your hair differently."

HAIR RIBBONS NOW REPLACE AIGRETTES.

Not so many years ago about the only people to be seen at the opera with coiffure ornaments were those who wore tiaras, aigrettes or ostrich feathers, set in gemmed arrangements, or natural flowers. But no more. Now the hair ribbon is in high favor. And in some instances this ribbon is a scarf of chiffon. One worn at the Metropolitan Opera House the other evening was of a soft green shade, matching the dress. There seems to be little rhyme or reason in the color, which may be black or white or any becoming tint, matching the dress or the shoulder scarf. The point is to have the accessory twined about the puffs and waves artistically and becomingly. The ends do not show, the scheme reminding one of the way ropes of pearls are manipulated by some.

Then the ribbon, pure and simple, as often as not it is of silver. As a rule, the most gracefully arranged ribbons show no bows, but simply meander among miladi's locks in fetching fashion.

"I don't know. I've had the grip and haven't been able to go calling any afternoon this week."—Detroit Free Press.

It Costs Money to Paint.

It costs more if you don't. Your house wears out if not painted. Then it costs money to repair it and money to paint it. It don't cost much money to paint with the L. & M. Paint, because 4 gallons of the L. & M. and 3 gallons of Linseed Oil makes 7 gallons of ready-for-use paint at only $1.20 per gallon. Thirty-five years use in every part of the United States has proven it. Sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. Meyer, Scotch Plains; Edw. Pennock, Dunellen.

A DAINTY CONCEIT.

The most recent piece of news for today is not of the cut of the gowns, but of the important matter of accesories—those charming little daintinesses which make or mar the costume.

On the Rue de la Paix, in the little jewel shops near the Hotel Continental, are shown pretty hairpins—a kind of epingle neige—which women use to fasten their veils behind. The dainty little things are made of platinum, and are covered with diamond dust, which has given them their name—"Pins of snow."

Then there is a wonderful bracelet made. Instead of a precious metal, ermine is used in the shape of a serpent. The clasp is under the head and the bracelet is finished with three small tails. You see, the little animal is so very small that it just fits round the wrist. This bracelet is very new and very effective when worn over white gloves.—Eloise, in Philadelphia North American.

We Ought to Have More Pay Days.

"Your husband plays poker a great deal, doesn't he?"

"No," answered young Mrs. Torkins, "he doesn't play much."

"What prevents him?"

"The fact that pay day doesn't come oftener."—Washington Star.

THE LINGERIE OF THE STOUT.

Those of us who are not possessed of sylphlike figures must have a care as to undergarments.

To apepar to the best advantage the underskirt and corset cover must be fitted with the same exactness as the outer garment, for no matter what pains may be expended on the latter, the results cannot be satisfactory with ill-fitting undergarments.

The corset cover should be of a fitted variety and boned in the front. It will be better to finish it at the waistline with a circular peplum that fits closely over the hips. This will prevent its slipping up, and yet add very little bulk.

The underskirt can be either made from a gored pattern or from one having a circular yoke and gored lower portion. It will be better with the present style of dressing to have it close at the side front rather than the back. The placket can be made down the left side of the front gore.

The finish at the bottom should be simple and plain, with not too great a width, so that it will make the skirt stand out, for at present everything is done to make them hang as soft and clining as possible.

A Lesson in Grammar.

"Come, come, Willie," remonstrated the teacher, "you must say 'they are not' or, if you wish, 'they aren't,' but never 'they ain't.'"

"Why not?" demanded Willie.

"Because it ain't right."—Catholic Standard.

A POPULAR GIRL AND THE REASON THEREOF.

"Why does Margery always have such a good time, when she is so ugly? That is easy! It is because she is the most thoughtful girl I have ever known," and the girl questioned glanced admiringly at Margery helping a lame child over a crossing.

"It isn't a forced thoughtfulness, either, the kind that is put on with the company manners, but cannot be found when mother must do the cooking or father comes home tired and wants his slippers. She seems to know by instinct the kind of things you would best like, and she promptly does it for you.

"It makes no difference whether you are young or old, Margery seems to sense your needs. I've seen her put down a book to amuse her baby brother almost before the little fellow realizes he is getting tired of his present plaything; and she is just lovely with that tiresome grandfather of hers, who asks such impossible questions. Knowing how curious he is, whenever she hears an unusual noise she makes it a point to find out what it is, then runs and tells him.

"The bashful boys and girls just dote on Margery, for she never forgets what torture it is to them to be noticed and is always speaking up for them or not telling when they hide in corners.

"Hers is the kind of popularity that is going to last, too, for it don't depend on her complexion or on the shape of her nose. She will be a belle when the beautis of hr set are faded beyond rcognition."

The thoughtful girl is not only popular, she is loved, says the Philadelphia Press. She knows how to make herself welcome whatever the circumstances; she merges her own wishes in th welfare of others without counting the cost.

True, the thoughtful girl usually is imposed upon. Her friends may not realize that they work her, but they do and hard. When we know that one will look out for our interest before her own, we have to be thoughtful too, not to grow selfish.

There is a difference between thoughtfulness and fussiness, and the great danger to guard against is the ultra thought for others comfort that may breed a bore. We love the girl who is unobtrusively thoughtful, and run from the one who crams her interest in our doings down our throats.

BURGLARS DROP LOOT FLEEING FROM FIRE.

Patrick MvCarren, caretaker at the cottage, formerly owned by the late Harry C. Miner, in East Red Bank, stumbled over a bag of silverware early yesterday morning. He was on his way home from town and had taken a short cut across a field. Startled by his find he hurried toward the Miner cottage. It was all right, but the front doors of the next house, the summer home of Mrs. Pauline Denhard, of Brooklyn, were open and the interior was a mass of flames. There is no doubt that the house was robbed and then set on fire. The fire may have been set intentionally, but it is believed that it was accidental. The fact that the thieves dropped the silverware indicates that they left in too great a hurry to be careful.

The local fire department was summoned, but could do nothing, the flames had secured such a start. The house was completely furnished and not a single article was saved. The loss was about $15,000.

DATES FOR TAX APPEALS.

Trenton, March 6.—The State Board of Equalization of Taxes has fixed the following special meetings for hearing appeals during the remainder of March:

Jersey City, March 10 and 11, at the city hall, to hear Jersey City appeals.

West Orange, March 15, at the town hall, to hear appeals from West Orange.

Elizabeth, March 18, at the courthouse, to hear appeals from Union and Middlesex counties.

Newark, March 19, at the city hall, to hear appeals from Essex County.

Camden, March 24, at the courthouse, to hear appeals from Camden and Gloucester counties.

Hackensack, March 25, at Court Square building, to hear appeals from Bergen County.

The time for filing appeals with the State board from the assessments of 1908 expires April 1, and special meetings throughout the State will be fixed after that date.

DROWNING ENDS DIVORCE SUIT.

Joseph E. Stricker, a Perth Amboy attorney, says that, next to Mrs. Jens Abrahamson, he is probably the person most interested in the news received at Perth Amboy yesterday of the finding of Abrahamson's body in a river in Montana. Mrs. Abrahamson retained Mr. Stricker to secure for her a divorce on the ground of desertion, after she had failed to hear from her husband for a period of more than three years. The lawyer went to more trouble than is usual in such cases in an effort to locate the missing man and finally commenced an action in the New Jersey Court of Chancery.

The testimony had been taken and all formalities complied with, after notice of the suit had been served by publication in newspapers. Mr. Stricker is expecting notice each day that a decree has been filed. Mrs. Abrahamson is out of town at present and her whereabouts is not known.

Amusements.

Beginning Monday, March 8, Frederick Thompson presents Edward Abeles and the original company in "Brewster's Millions" for a limited engagement at the Academy of Music, New York city. "Brewster's Millions" is the most successful farce comedy of recent years and as "Monty" Brewster, Edward Abeles is seen in a part which he has made famous. His interpretation of the role is so earnest and sincere that one forgets the absurdity of the thing and sympathies with the young millionaire in his desperate effort to get rid of one million within a year in order to be eligible for a second inheritance of seven times that amount. The other characters are in practically the same capable hands identified with the play during its run of ninety-eight consecutive weeks. The supporting company is readed by Miss Amelia Milton as "Peggy" Gray and includes Emily Lytton, Nestor Lennon, Ada May Talbott, Willard Howe, George Clare, Gaston Bell, Grace Arnold, Joseph Woodburn, Albert Sackett and all the others who assisted in winning fame and success for the farce in its original production.

Miss Margaret Meaney, of this city, has been visiting her parents at High Bridge.

Mrs. Sarah Garretson, of Millstone, is visiting friends in Plainfield for a few days.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, of this city, was called this week to New Germantown, in consultation with Dr. F. A. Apgar, concerning William Alpaugh, who is critically ill.

HANDICAPPED.

This is the Case With Many Plainfield People.

Too many Plainfield citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Plainfield evidence?

Mrs. Margaret Reville, 732 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I was troubled with a weak and lame back and was unable to find anything that would give me relief. My back pained me so badly at times that I dreaded to stoop. When I caught cold or overexerted myself, my suffering was doubled. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Randolph's Pharmacy, helped me at once and I continued taking them until cured. I have had no need of a kidney remedy in the past two years, but value Doan's Kidney Pills today as highly as ever."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY THOMAS A. WISE

"Now I've got you," cried the secretary. "You've given yourself dead away. I've known all along you're a d—d thief, Norton, and you've just proved it to me yourself."

"What do you mean?" Norton was clinching his fist. Words like that mean fight to a southerner!"

"I mean that before Senator Langdon goes one step further in this matter he shall know that his colleagues and you are thieves, Mr. Norton, trying to use him for a cat's paw to steal for them from the government. I suspected something this morning when Gulf City tried to bribe me and a visitor from there gave me what turns out to be a pretty good tip."

"So that was your dirty trick," exclaimed the congressman as he regained his composure.

"Set a make believe thief to catch a real one," laughed the secretary. "Very good trick, I think."

"I'll make you pay for that!" cried Norton, shaking his fist.

"All right. Send in your bill any old time," laughed Haines. "The sooner the better. Meantime I'm going to talk to Langdon."

He had started for the door when Carolina Langdon re-entered, followed by her brother Randolph.

"Wait a minute," said Norton, with unexpected quietness. "I wouldn't do what you're about to do, Mr. Haines."

"Of course you wouldn't," sneered Haines.

"I mean that you will be making a mistake, Haines, to tell the senator

"You can't refuse to believe Miss Langdon."

what you have learned," rejoined the southerner, struggling to keep calm at this critical moment when all was at stake. He realized, further, that now was the time to put Haines out of the way—if that were possible. "A mistake, Mr. Haines," he continued, "because, you see, you don't know as much as you think. I wouldn't talk to Langdon if I were you. It will only embarrass him and do no good, because Langdon's money is in this scheme, too, and Langdon's in the same boat with the rest of us."

Haines stopped short at this astounding charge against his chief.

"Norton, you lie! I'll believe it of Langdon when he tells me so; not otherwise."

Norton turned to Randolph.

"Perhaps you'll believe Mr. Langdon's son, Mr. Haines?"

Randolph Langdon stepped forward.

"It's true, Haines," he said; "my father's money is in Altacoola lands."

Haines looked him up and down, with a sneer.

"Your money may be," he said. "I don't think you're a bit too good for it, but your father is a different kind."

Carolina Langdon stood at the back of the room, nervously awaiting the moment when, she knew, she would be forced into the unpleasant discussion.

"I reckon you can't refuse to believe Miss Langdon," drawled Norton, with aggravated deliberation.

"Of course," stammered Haines, "I'd believe it if Miss Langdon says it's so."

The congressman turned toward Carolina as he spoke and fixed on her a tense look which spelled as plainly as though spoken, "It's all in your hands, my fortune—yours."

She slowly drew across the room. Haines could hardly conceal the turmoil of his mind. The world seemed suddenly snatched from around him, leaving her figure alone before him. Would she affirm what Norton and Randolph had said? He must believe her. But surely it was impossible that she—

Carolina played for time. She feared the making of a false move.

"I don't understand?" she said inquiringly to Norton.

He calmly began an elaborate explanation.

"Miss Langdon, this secretary has discovered that there is a certain perfectly legitimate venture in Altacoola lands being carried on through certain influential people we know and by me. The blood of the young reformer is boiling. He is going straight to your father with the facts.

"My father—is—in—the deal."

"I have tried to explain to him how it will needlessly embarrass the senator and spoil his own future. He won't believe me. He won't believe your brother. Perhaps you can make it clear."

At last Carolina nerved herself to speak.

"You had better not go to my father, Mr. Haines. It will do no good. He—is—in—the deal! You must believe me when I tell you so."

The girl took her eyes from the secretary. He was plainly suffering.

CHAPTER XV.

CAROLINA LANGDON'S ADVICE.

"LET me speak to Mr. Haines alone," said Carolina to Norton and her brother.

Norton turned a triumphant grin at Randolph as he beckoned him out and whispered: "Leave him to her. It's all right. That New York dude has been riding for a fall—he's going to get it now."

"I am sorry, so sorry this should have occurred, Mr. Haines," Carolina said gently.

The secretary looked up slowly, his face drawn. It was an effort for him to speak

"I can't understand it," he said. "I mightn't have thought so much of this a month ago, but I have come to love the senator almost as a son, and to think that he could be like the rest of that bunch is awful."

"I can't understand it," he said.

"You are too much of an idealist, Mr. Haines," said the girl.

"And you? What do you think of it?" he demanded.

The girl's glance wavered.

"Don't idealize me too much, either, Mr. Haines. I didn't think it was much. Perhaps I don't understand business any too well."

"But you see now?" insisted the man.

The girl looked up at him sorrowfully.

"Yes; I see at least that you and father can never work together now."

Haines nodded affirmatively.

"I suppose so. I'm thinking of that. How am I to leave him? We've been so close. I've been so fond of him. I don't know how I could tell him."

In girlish, friendly fashion Carolina rested her hand on his arm.

"Won't you take my advice, Mr. Haines? Go away without seeing him. Just leave a note to say you have gone. He will understand. It will be easier for both that way—easier for him, easier for you." She paused, looking at him appealingly as she ended very softly, "And easier for me, Mr. Haines."

He looked at her thoughtfully.

"Easier for you?" he said. "Very well, I'll do it that way."

The secretary stepped slowly to his desk, sat down and started to write the note. Carolina watched him curiously.

"What will you do," she asked, "now that you have given up this position?"

"Oh, I can always go back to newspaper work," he answered without looking up.

"I can go back to newspaper work."

The term "newspaper work" gave Carolina a shock. She had forgotten that this man had been a reporter. Here he was turned loose with the knowledge of this "deal," which she knew would be popular material for newspapers to print. She must gain still another point, and she felt that she had enough power to win against him.

"I'm going to ask you still another favor," she said.

Bud returned her look with a bitter smile.

"What is it?"

"You have learned about this—this land matter and"—

"Oh, yes! I can guess. You want me to keep quiet about it—to hush it up," a shade of scorn in his tone.

"I only asked this so that you would not disgrace me," she pleaded.

Disillusioned at last, robbed of his lifelong optimism, shorn of his ideals, even his love—for he began to despise this beautiful, misguided woman—Haines sat broken in spirit, thinking how quickly the brightness of life fades to blackness.

"Very well," he said sadly. "I suppose you are innocent. I'll save you. If they're all—your father, too—crooked, why shouldn't I be crooked? All right; I won't say anything."

"I only ask you not to disgrace me," pleaded the girl. "You will promise that?"

"It's a promise."

She sighed in relief.

BOWLING CONTESTS AT CAMPBELL'S ALLEY

In a duck pin match rolled at Campbell's alleys, last night, the conditions of which were best six out of eleven games, Louis Skelly was returned the victor over "Giff" Beers. Skelly rolled consistently throughout and but nine games were necessary for a decision, Skelly winning six to his opponent's three.

The score:

Skelly—105, 86, 101, 102, 89, 91, 102, 87, 82.

Beers—89, 89, 86, 98, 80, 126, 99, 92, 81.

Interesting contests were the rule in the series rolled in Campbell's two-man tourney last night. Meyer and Meyer, although they rolled high individual and high team scores, had to be content with an even break, while Leonard and McNaughton captured four games and lost two, one by a single pin. Willett and Skinner carried off two games.

The scores:

P. Meyer	153	180	231
W. Meyer	177	222	185
	330	402	416
Willett	188	184	179
Skinner	204	161	184
	392	345	363
P. Meyer	149	168	167
W. Meyer	200	189	152
	349	357	319
McNaughton	170	155	190
Leonard	200	201	190
	370	356	380
Willett	177	177	174
Skinner	203	212	196
	380	389	370
McNaughton	179	188	186
Leonard	211	171	189
	390	359	375

TIGERS TO TAKE PLACE OF NASSAU HALL LIONS

The two stone loons that have guarded the entrance to Nassau Hall at Princeton, since 1879 are to be replaced by two tigers, couchant, emblematic of the college athletic nickname.

The incongruity of the lions, when the baseball and football teams of the college are known throughout the country as the "Tigers," has been apparent to the students for some time, and there is general satisfaction over the change.

The building which the new tigers will guard is one of the most famous in the country. It is known as "Nassau Hall," or "Old North Building." The Continental Congress met within its walls during the days of the Revolution, and it was burned by the British who followed Washington on his retreat south.

Miss Mildred Howell, of Whitehouse, has been visiting her cousin, Miss Lillian Teeter, of this city.

THIS FRUIT SALAD SERVED IN A MELON.

This variety of salad is always appreciated. As a friend remarked the other day, "One is never far wrong in including a fruit salad in the menu," and on her table there was a special note of novelty about the salad.

Instead of being served in the ordinary way, in a glass bowl or silver dish, it was in a melon, this being the new way of serving this popular favorite. This is how it was made:

Required:
One small hothouse melon.
One orange.
One banana.
Two or three halves of tinned apricots.
Quarter of a pound of black grapes.
Quarter of a pound of white grapes.
Sugar to taste.
Juice of half a lemon.
A tablespoonful of brandy, if liked.
A few glace cherries.

Cut off a neat piece from the stalk end of the melon; this is to form the lid later. Then carefully scoop out the fruit from the peel, leaving just a thin lining only.

Save the juice, cut the melon taken out into neat cubes, put in a bowl. Peel the orange, divide it into sippets, remove the pith and pips, and cut each sippet in two or three pieces, and put them with the melon.

Peel and slice the banana into pieces about an eighth of an inch thick, stalk the grapes, and, if possible, remove the seeds.

Cut the apricots into dice, put all the fruit in the bowl, strain the lemon juice over, add two tablespoonfuls of apricot syrup, and about the same of the melon juice, sprinkle it well with sugar, and, if you are using brandy add it.

See that the salad is sweet enough, let it stand for about an hour; then fill in the melon case, heaping the fruit up high, and contrasting the colors prettily.

Arrange a few pretty leaves, such as vine or bay or burberis on the plate, place the melon on it, and put on the lid.

Here are other ways of serving salad: Put it into the peels of oranges or of grapefruit; in either case use all or parts of the juice and fruit you have removed.

Or pineapples are most effective, especially the fresh ones, with the pretty tuft of green leaves on the top.

Then, again, these salads look very inviting served in custard glasses.

Spaghetti With Tomato.

Boil spaghetti one hour, or until tender, in well salted boiling water; drain in colander until dry. Make a rich tomato sauce, using one can tomatoes, one small onion sliced and four cloves. Boil this ten minutes and strain, add salt and pepper to taste, das of cayenne if liked, teaspoonful of butter; two teaspoonfuls of sugar, and boil five minutes longer. Thicken while boiling with one tablespoonful of corn starch wet with cold water. Now butter your baking dish, put in one layer of spaghetti, one layer of tomato sauce, then a thin layer of grated cheese, then another layer of spaghetti, and so on until dish is full. Bake in a moderately hot oven twenty to thirty minutes.

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF THE BOROUGH COUNCIL

North Plainfield Council did not discuss finances last night as had been expected, but at Mayor Townsend's suggestion, it was decided that the chairman of each committee make an estimate of what would be needed in his department and report at the special meeting to be held Tuesday night, March 16.

The contract for furnishing crushed stone for the streets was awarded to J. Y. Wilson & Co. The price submitted by them, which was the lowest, was: Half inch screenings, 74 cents; one inch, 74 cents; 2½ inch, 70 cents.

A two-foot cross walk was authorized to be constructed on Watchung avenue at Regent street. A permit was granted S. H. Beeching to erect a building on his property; also to Henry De Mott for a barn on his Pearl street lot; to W. J. Trembath, for a building on Chatham street, and to S. Mantz, for a residence building on Duer street, near the brook.

The ordinance locating the new fire limits which was introduced at a former meeting, was passed on its third and final reading last night.

Mayor Townsend appointed a committee of three to give assistance to the Plainfield Board of Trade in its Fourth of July celebration. The committee named comprises Councilmen Woolston, Smalley and Van Aredale.

A petition from the residents of upper Somerset street and Watchung avenue for the macadamizing of that portion of those thoroughfares, was laid on the table.

The report on delinquent taxes was made by Deputy Collector Frank A. Neal, who stated that about $200 had been collected since the last meeting. Borough Clerk Fred A. Martin announced that there was yet outstanding $8,050, of which $1,500 was personal property.

One game remains to be played in the series but it will not affect the championship. These individual scores were made: Conroy, 2; Stein, 2; Stiner, 3; Morris, 1; Lidgate, 2; Doane, 1. Fouls: Doane, 3; Conroy, 5.

READY FOR CONFERENCE

Churches Fail to Make Requests and Bishop Will Decide Appointments.

AT NEWARK ON MARCH 31.

Many Methodist Episcopal Pastors Want to Make a Change—No Transfers Here.

The fifty-second annual session of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, will open in Centenary church, Newark, on March 31, Bishop T. B. Neely presiding. Several knotty problems will come before the conference which are likely to involve a number of churches and cause considerable confusion especially in the matter of appointments.

For the first time in the history of several church the present pastors have publicly announced their intention of leaving from their charges, and the churches have failed to extend calls to possible successors. This means that the whole matter of appointment in the cases referred to will be left to the Bishop and his cabinet. While the presiding Bishop at a conference has never encouraged what might be termed as dictation from the churches as to pastoral appointments, he has always depended more or less on suggestions so that harmonious conditions might exist.

This year Bishop Neely and the cabinet will be obliged to settle the question of appointments in several instances relying upon their own judgment entirely. There are at least a dozen pastorates to be filled in this way and they are likely to involve extensive interests in the settlement of preachers.

Rev. E. C. Dutcher, of the Dunellen church, has announced that he will not return there another year and the church has made no effort to pick a successor. The members do not believe that a man should remain longer than three years and it has always followed the custom of not expressing a choice.

Among the other pastors who have publicly declared their intention of changing and the churches who have failed to extend calls are the following:

Rev. F. J. Buback, Grace church, Port Richmond, S. I.; Rev. J. H. Howard, West Side avenue church, Jersey City; Rev. W. H. Palmer, Centenary church, Jersey City; Rev. H. J. Johnson, Franklin street, Newark; Rev. C. E. Scudder, Belleville, Newark; Rev. Fred Bloom, Lafayette, Jersey City; Rev. D. B. Tompkins, Paterson; Rev. J. O. Sparnon, Trinity, Paterson.

Rev. Mr. Huback has been called to Philipsburg; Rev. Mr. Scudder to Simpson church, Jersey City; Rev. Mr. Tompkins to Spring Valley. Outside of these thre instances no choice has been expressed among those named. That it will be a difficult matter for the Bishop to make these appointments so that the best interests of all will be conserved, is an admitted fact.

Plainfield is more fortunate for in each of the local Methodist churches, calls have been given to the pastors to return another year and there is reason to believe that they will be sent back by the Bishop. Outside of the appointments, it is predicted that the conference will be a quiet one. There are no great questions to be presented, at least none are in sight now and there will be the absence of a contest in the selection of delegates to the General Conference, which was held last year.

Nearly a Hero.

"Hands up!"

The passengers on the Pullman car took in the situation at a glance and did exactly what the train robber told them to.

At the points of his guns he relieved them of their valuables. But at the sight of one woman he paused with a start.

"Who are you, woman?" he demanded.

"I," he wavered, "am Miss Fay de Fluffle, the well known actress. Here are my jewels—take them all!"

The holdup held up his head proudly.

"No," he replied, "I may be a robber, but I am no press agent. Keep your wealth."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

To Make Blankets Last.

A woman who must make her money go as far as possible is responsible for this hint on making blankets wear twice as long as is natural to them. Most blankets are put on so that the loose end comes at the head of the bed, and the double fold is tucked into the mattress at the bottom, causing it to wear out from rubbing. She found out that by reversing the blankets on alternate weeks the wear was more even and they lasted much better. The free edges, of course should be buttonhole stitched with wool.

WANT FORT'S BIG STICK

Republican State Committee Will Connive to Strip Him of Power.

BITTER FIGHT IS EXPECTED.

State Executive Has Some Bombs Ready to Throw At His Party Leaders 'tis Reported.

The Republican State Committee will meet this week on the call of State Chairman Franklin Murphy to confer as to the best means of stripping Gov. Fort of his political power. It was declared in Newark yesterday that Gov. Fort's visit to the White House on Friday had been for the purpose of getting the "big stick" President Roosevelt had left there, and laying it about him in the counties where the machine leaders had prepared to fight him. The State leaders are to meet to take away the "big stick" if they can.

Everything indicates that the fight Gov. Fort and Chairman Murphy have precipitated will be equal in intensity to Gov. Hughes' fight against the machine in New York State. Gov. Fort was at Lakewood yesterday, resting after his visit to Washington, but he received a few friends who have been on the ground in Trenton watching the movements of the faction which has sworn to annihilate the Governor. The Governor was bland and smiling, and seemed to be enjoying the rumpus his defiance of the State Chairman had kicked up.

Just what the meeting of the organization men can accomplish toward defeating the Governor has not been developed. It was said in well-informed quarters close to Gov. Fort yesterday that the Governor had a bomb or two more, ready to be thrown, which would make a sensation far greater than that caused by his announcement that he and the Legislature needed no help or advice from the Republican State Committee. The past activities of certain politicians in furthering the interests of great corporations might be laid bare, it was declared. One of these bombs, it is said, might be exploded in South Jersey soon.

It was reported in Newark yesterday that Gov. Fort had been getting some information from Gov. Hughes on his direct nomination views, and also information respecting the Public Utility laws in this State. This will be used, it was said, to further the utility bills being pushed by the New Idea men in the Legislature. Altogether, the alliance between Gov. Fort and the Colby men was regarded yesterday as of a distinctly stronger character.

FIRE IN VACANT HOUSE; PLUMBERS MAY BE TO BLAME.

Fire was discovered at midnight Saturday night in the vacant house at 735 West Third street, owned by Louis Shiff. Patrolman Messler, who saw the smoke, sounded an alarm from box 84 and the fire department extinguished the blaze, which resulted in a loss of about $50.

Shiff, who planned to move into the house on April 1, said that he believed the fire to have been started by plumbers, who were at work there Saturday, and believes a dropped match or cigarette caused the damage.

George J. Cubberley Surprised.

The Brinkly Social Club, of New York, gave a birthday surprise party Saturday night to George J. Cubberley, formerly of this city, at his home in Flatbush, N. Y. The affair was a complete success, Mr. Cubberley not having the slightest hint of the visit. Features of the evening were vocal and instrumental solos, games, dancing, and the Messrs. William W. H. I. and Walter Cubberley, of this city, furnished selections on the violin and mandolin. Supper was served at midnight and toasts and speeches were listened to with pleasure. About thirty people attended the affair.

Will Recite Japanese Stories.

The members and friends of the First Baptist church are invited to the recital to be given there tonight by Miss Grace Violet Correll, under the auspices of the Men's Club. She will recite a number of John Luther Long's Japanese stories, including "Madame Butterfly." George Maxwell, of St. John's church, Charlestown, Mass., in speaking of Miss Correll says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Miss Correll as a reader of worth. Her interpretation is a delight, for she makes word pictures and puts life into her profession."

To Hear Tax Appeals.

The State Board of Equalization of Taxes will be in session at the Court House at Elizabeth on Thursday, March 18, to act upon tax appeals.

VILLAGER'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

George Pace, of South Plainfield, had a narrow escape from being killed Saturday, while driving over the Lehigh Valley Railroad crossing at that place with a load of logs. A passenger train was approaching, but Pace did not see it until within thirty yards of him. His horses were then on the crossing. With all possible haste he backed the team and their feet had just cleared the tracks when the train whizzed by, missing the horses by the narrowest margin.

This is one of the most dangerous crossings along the Lehigh Valley road. It is not protected by gates and on one side the view is obstructed by a coal trestle. There have been several narrow scaps. A little more than a year ago a hay wagon owned by George A. Becker was struck by the Black Diamond Express. Mr. Becker and his workmen were severely injured at the time.

VAGRANT HAD COCOA; DUBBED "THE COCOANUT"

William Harris, who wandered to town from Salem county, will be remembered at police headquarters as the "The Cocoanut." A dozen twenty-five cent cans of cocoa were taken from him Saturday night, when he was arrested for vagrancy, and his behavior at his hearing before City Judge Runyon today, gave rise to the belief that his "brain is dusty."

It was Patrolman Messler who nabbed William, and he found him cruising around in the West End, near Albert street, late Saturday night. He carried the dozen cans of cocoa wrapped up in a pair of pants under his arm. Every time he was asked how he got the stuff, he told a different story, so the police are inclined to think that he cracked a case of the cans in a freight car somewhere. He said it was all he had to live on, for he had no folks and no money.

Asked what he thought ought to be done with him, Harris said: "You might gimme $2 and send me back to Salem county, 'cause there's where I wanter go." Judge Runyon suspended sentence and told Harris to leave town. The prisoner did not get his cocoa back for it will be held until claimed by the party to whom it belongs.

"Plowshare Poet" in Charge.

William Jeffery and W. H. Rogers, the latter of Highland Farm, have taken possession of the Bloomfield farm at East Spottswood, pending a settlement of differences among the heirs of the estate. Mr. Jeffery and Mr. Rogers went to Spottswood Saturday to take charge of the property and the latter will remain there indefinitely, or until the trouble is settled. He has had an extensive experience in real estate matters and is qualified in every way to handle this complicated case.

Fireman Knocked Down.

A still alarm was rung in for a fire at the Casino at Westfield Saturday night. On the way Fireman Barney Feeley got into a dispute with Assistant Chief Kelly and was knocked down. A policeman told Feeley to attend to his business, and upon being answered back locked him up. Mayor Alpers, who saw the scrap, later let him go. An investigation will be made by the fire committee of the Westfield Council.

Want Baby Carriage or Go-Cart.

The Charity Organization Society of Plainfield and North Plainfield is greatly in need of a baby carriage or go-cart and any person having one can confer a great favor by sending it to the society's rooms at 544 West Front street. The society also has several applications for general labor by farm hands, and if anyone wants to employ such help they can communicate with the society.

Surprised Patrick Martin.

A surprise party was given to Patrick Martin at his home on East Front street, last night, the affair being arranged by his sister, Miss Agnes Martin. There were about twenty guests, including people from New York, Brooklyn, Elizabeth and this city. The evening was spent playing games, dancing, after which refreshments were served.

"Suggestions for Easter."

The Plainfield Sunday-school Teachers' Union will meet at Trinity Reformed church tonight at 8 o'clock. J. W. Powlison will lead the devotional exercises and the lesson will be taught by F. H. Andrews. "Suggestions for Easter" will be discussed by George E. Hall. The Teachers' Training Class will meet after the lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gow, of West Fifth street, have returned from a visit of one week with friends in Brooklyn.

CONFERENCE ON METHODS

Union County Endeavorers to Hold Important Meeting on Friday Night.

PLAINFIELD TO PARTICIPATE.

Charles F. Windham, C. B. La Rue and Mrs. W. S. Lowry Are Prominent in the Arrangements.

A meeting of importance to young people who are interested in church work will be held next Friday evening in the lecture room of the First Baptist church at Elizabeth, under the auspices of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union and in charge of the district secretary and the Christian Endeavor Extension Committee. Several societies have been invited to attend, and an interesting meeting is expected.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8 o'clock with song and prayer, and a ten-minute address will follow. The speaker will be Purdy F. Benedict, of Roselle, president of the First Baptist C. E. Society, Elizabeth. Mr. Benedict is a member of the Extension Committee and will be heard with interest and profit.

Group conferences on committee work will follow Mr. Benedict's address, and these will be in charge of the committee, as follows: Lookout, Charles F. Windham, of this city; Sunday School, Miss Emily E. Marsh; prayer meeting, Purdy F. Benedict; social, Harold E. Riley; missionary, Miss Marie E. Jacobson; good citizenship, Robert J. McNair; officers, Clarence B. La Rue, of this city. Officers and committeemen will find it advantageous to participate in these conferences, as each member of the committee has made a special study of his or her subject. Those who are not members of committees will also be heartily welcomed in these conferences, which will continue for a half hour, being held simultaneously.

Another feature of the meeting will be a contest on Christian Endeavor facts and figures, led by Miss Dellie H. Chapman, of Elizabeth.

An open parliament on the special problems of the societies represented will be held, and the Christian Endeavorers are urged to be ready to take part in this discussion by asking questions and offering suggestions.

The Union County Christian Endeavor Union Executive Committee will be guests of the Extension Committee on that evening, and Wallace L. Kendall, of Roselle, president of the county union, has called a meeting of the committee to be held while the group conferences are in session. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of county officers and delegates from the societies affiliated with the county organization.

It is also expected that during the afternoon a meeting of Junior superintendents will be held, in charge of Mrs. W. S. Lowry, of this city, county union superintendent of Junior work.

The Christian Endeavorers of the First Baptist church, Elizabeth, will serve refreshments, and a social hour will be enjoyed. All who are interested in young people's work in the churches, whether they are identified with the Christian Endeavor movement or not, will be cordially welcomed.

The societies selected for this group meeting are the First Baptist, Roselle; the First Presbyterian, Cranford, and—from Elizabeth—the First Baptist, Third Presbyterian, Madison Avenue Presbyterian, Bethany chapel and Westminster Hope chapel. It is also expected that there will be a small delegation from this city, including members of the Congregational, Trinity Dutch Reformed and Temple Baptist C. E. societies.

She Slapped Him With a Shovel.

Because he remonstrated with Mrs. Nannie Green, who occupies apartments on the floor above him, for using his kindling wood, Isaac White, colored, of West Third street, declares that the woman attacked him with a coal shovel, and swore out a warrant against her at police court today, where he went with his left jaw snugly plastered as a result of the alleged blow. White further told the court that the women had later come downstairs and smashed his glass door, being pretty well wrought up about the accusation of stealing wood. The case will come up for a hearing tomorrow morning.

William Williams Goes Home.

William Williams, the three-year-old colored boy from Scotch Plains, who was under treatment at the hospital for typhoid fever, has been discharged. The lad was at the hospital ninety-three days and became quite a favorite among the nurses and patients following his recovery. He was kept at the institution two weeks after recovery owing to his popularity and delay of his parents in coming after him.

MRS. HORATIO N. EGE HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Emma F. Ege, widow of Horatio N. Ege, died last night at Truell Inn, where she had been living for some time. Death was due to stomach trouble with which Mrs. Ege had suffered for a long while. Mrs. Ege was a native of Bound Brook and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Grant. After her marriage she moved to Jersey City and following the death of her husband some years ago she moved to ty-five years.

Mrs. Ege was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, a woman of rare Christian qualities and exceedingly charitable. She gave the handsome organ in Warren chapel in memory of her sister, Mrs. Laura Talmadge. She also was generous to the various Plainfield charities never withholding her hand where real need was shown.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Laura Worthington and niece, Miss Laura Worhington, of New York, and a cousin, Mrs. Corrilla Faussett, of Trenton. The funeral services will be held from the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

EXCURSIONISTS "SORE" ON THE JERSEY CENTRAL

The Jersey Central and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroads are soon to know they are not forgotten by the weary passengers of the special train that left Elizabeth and Plainfield Wednesday night to see the inauguration of President Taft. It is not the blizzard nor the telegraph poles somuch talked about, nor the delay in getting to Washington that the railroad will hear about. To the contrary, it is to the getting away that the attention of the roads will be called to.

It was decided Saturday, after a council of war, to call a meeting of the committee for Wednesday night, at which time if the sentiment expressed today by the members has not been changed it will be decided that the course to pursue is to protest to the railroad and refuse to pay the balance of the money due for the train. The committees have already given the company about $1,500 or $1,600 and the balance due is $434. If the railroad company wants this money it is up to them to sue for it, said one member of the committee.

The protest of the committee is that the railroad company violated a verbal contract when they lost the train at the Union station. The committee claims that the railroad promised to locate the train when it came in so that the passengers could go to bed when they wished. As it was nobody seemed to know just where the train was. The officials didn't, and they were not a bit backward in informing the members of the committee in charge of the excursion of the fact.

CITY SENDS PATIENT TO ISOLATION HOSPITAL

John Woolston, colored, aged sixteen years, it was decided today by attending physicians, is suffering from an attack of smallpox in a mild form. The physicians have diagnosed the case as that of varioloid, which is only a mild form of smallpox. The lad, who resides with his parents at 612 West Third street, was first taken ill on Friday, and it was then thought that he had chickenpox.

The case was watched closely and this morning it was reported to the Board of Health that it was unmistakably smallpox in its mildest form. Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow is now in charge of the case and arrangements have been made to remove the patient to the isolation hospital this afternoon. In the meantime everyone residing in the immediate vicinity of the boy's home have been vaccinated and every precaution is being taken to prevent a spread of the disease.

A policeman has been put on duty at the house and no one is allowed to enter or leave the place while the quarantine rules are in force. An investigation has been started for the purpose of ascertaining the source of infection. So far as can be learned Young Woodston has not been away from the city in a year.

OBSERVE ANCIENT FEAST

Hebrews Make Merry at Saengerbund Hall in Honor of Purim Anniversary.

PROGRAM BY THE BIBLE CLASS.

Young Men's Hebrew Association Give Splendid Entertainment and Ball in Borough.

The Feast of Purim was celebrated by the Young Men's Hebrew Association last night at Saengerbund hall. A dance followed the program, which consisted of two entertaining sketches presented by the pupils of the Y. M. H. A. Bible School. Miss Jennie Feinberg read an original composition entitled, "The Story of the Jews in Persia," and Conrad Strassner played a violin solo, with Miss Sadie Goldstein as accompanist.

The feast is a Jewish celebration in honor of the deliverance in ancient times of the nation from the schemes of Haman recorded in the book of Esther. It is of a joyous character and is observed in all parts of the Jewish world.

Although Purim is a day festival, festivities in the shape of parties, balls and plays are in order. As it is more a national or secular observance rather than a purely religious festival, masquerading and other revelries form a large feature of the program. The special feature of the synagogue service was the reading of the entire book of Esther from the written Hebrew scrolls. The celebration of the festival with the real old-time observances is confined to the more orthodox synagogues.

The local festivities were participated in by a large gathering, which packed the hall in which it was held. Maximillian W. Goldstein was chairman of the committee on arrangement, and Henry Rosenbaum, treasurer. The floor committee consisted of J. W. Moldezky, Harris Siegal, Hyman Mann, Arthur H. Richards, Nathan Bernstein, Samuel R. Meyers, Moses Amdor and Samuel Rothberg.

The Purim play, entitled "A Maid of Persia," was given with this cast:

Prologue by Miss Ida Sachar; Ahasuerus, King of Persia, Morris Mann; Haman, Grand Vizier, Hyman Abrams; Mordecai, Jew, cousin to Ether, Morris Siegal; Memuchan, Prince of Persia, Wm. Victorson; Fol de Rol, jester, Leopold Berse; Mehuman and Charbona, Chamberlains, Morris Leviere and Harry Friedman; Hegai, head Chamberlain, Earl Victorson; Officer, Morris Leviere; Esther, Queen of Persia, Miss Pauline Feinberg; Vashti, former Queen of Persia, Rose Davidson; Zingarella, prophetess, Sadie Rothberg; Maids of Persia, Annie Moledezky, Nettie Solomon, Rebecca Horowitz, Minnie Solomon, Teny Siegal; Maids, Courtiers and Guards of the Royal Household.

Act 1, king's apartments; act 2, street of Persia; act 3, scene same as act 1; act 4, Queen Esther's banquet.

A comedy sketch entitled "A Truth Bacillus," was presented with this cast:

Jack Strait, Max W. Goldstein; Dr. Lyte, M. D. Moledezky; Mr. Trott, broker, Harris Siegal; Mrs. Strait, Miss Esther Wolfe; Mrs. Scoffer Jack's mother-in-law, Miss Sadie Goldstein; Jenette, maid, Miss Fannie Moledzky; scene, Jack Strait's apartments.

Paraubek's orchestra furnished the music.

JULES MARTIAL, PIONEER GLOVE MAKER, IS DEAD

Following a lingering illness, death came to Jules Martial yesterday afternoon at his home, 15 Somerset street. Sixty-six years of age, Mr. Martial has for several years past been prominently identified with the glove manufacturing business in this city. Up to a few weeks ago, he conducted the glove factory near Texier's mills, in the Notch. The factory has now been moved to Gloversville, N. Y., but gloves are still made at the Somerset street shop. Mr. Martial was for many years associated with Perrin Freres, who had a glove factory on Washington avenue.

Mr. Martial, who was born in France, is survived by a brother and a sister there. He leaves a widow and three children, Mrs. Jennie Smalley, Jules Martial and George Martial. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and the interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

TWO MORE COAL THIEVES FINED BY JUDGE RUNYON

Two more coal thieves, Dominick Wevera and Thomas Ling, were nabbed by the police early today on the railroad tracks near Richmond street, were fined $8 and $5 apiece by City Judge Runyon at the session of court this morning. Detective Sergeant Flynn and Officer Anderson spotted the pair at about 5 o'clock this morning, when Wevera was up on a coal gondola, filling a bag with the antracite.

The policemen literally walked into the arrests, for they were on their way back to headquarters when Anderson spied the pair. He gave the alarm to his companion, but the two Italians had jumped from the car into Fourth street and were making a quick gateway. The detective sergeant dived under the car and the two made after the coal theives. Wevera tried to take a short cut through a back yard and got all mixed up in some chicken wire, so that his capture was easy. Ling, "the Italian with a Chinese name," got a head start and almost eluded capture. The cops heard him drop over a fence and Flynn traced and found him lying beside a fence.

Ling told Judge Runyon that he had been sent out to get the coal by the landlord of his boarding house on Cottage place. Dominick has a steady job and the court could see no excuse for his part in the matter. "Fines doubled next time I see either of you again," said Judge Runyon, as the two filed out of the court-room.

Farewell to Miss Slorah.

Miss Mary N. Mortimer, of West Seventh street, gave a farewell party to Miss Elsie Slorah at her home on West Seventh street, Saturday night. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing popular games. Miss Slorah entered the Memorial Hospital at Morristown today as a pupil nurse and she will be greatly missed among her many friends in the West End. Congratulations and best wishes were showered upon the young woman. During the evening refreshments were served.

"Farmer Jim" Hears Bryan.

James E. Martine was among those who heard William Jennings Bryan lecture in Newark, Saturday night, and he had a long talk with the "Peerless One," both before and after the lecture. During the course of the conversation, Mr. Bryan humorously remarked that Mr. Martine had heard the lecture so often that he could deliver it himself, no doubt. Mr. Bryan's lecture was on "The Prince of Peace," and was for the benefit of the Newark Conference of the Methodist church.

Want Better Lighting Facilities.

The taxpayers of North Plainfield Township will meet at Watchung tomorrow night to discuss the question of better lighting for the roads in the township. ALMS HOUSE HEAD QUITS

Arthur Wolverton Sends in His Resignation as Poor Farm Superintendent.

WIFE RESIGNS AS MATRON.

Blames Overseer-of-the-Poor Alexander Ayres for Unpleasantness—No Successors Named.

Arthur Wolverton has resigned his position as superintendent at the City Alms House, the same to take effect as soon as the Common Council can act on the same. The resignation was placed in the hands of Charles C. Randolph, chairman of the alms committee, on March 3, too late for action at the regular March meeting. It will probably come up at the adjourned session to be held Monday night, March 22.

Mr. Wolverton has been at the alms house about a year, he being engaged as superintendent and his wife acting as matron. Since taking charge it is said that many improvements have been made. They succeeded Mr. and Mrs. I. D. TenEyck, who held the same positions for many years. Mr. Wolverton had some trouble several months ago, when he was brought before City Judge W. N. Runyon on a charge of ill-treating S. S. Vermeule, an aged inmate. He was severely reprimanded in the city court and at the suggestion of Judge Runyon, the Councilmanic alms committee, investigated the charges.

The result was that the committee found no trouble for complaint and Mr. Wolverton was exonerated. However, the committee drafted a new set of rules and cautioned Mr. Wolverton regarding his future action in the care of inmates of the place. In speaking of the resignation, the committee expresses regret that Mr. and Mrs. Wolverton are to leave. They will make their home in the future with Mrs. Wolverton's father, Henry Hummer, who is superintendent of the Piscataway poor farm. Their successors here have not been engaged as yet.

While the Councilmanic alms committee gives assurance that Mr. Wolverton resigns of his volition and that there is no dissatisfaction, it is known that Mr. Wolverton has for a long time been dissatisfied with the "red tape" in the conduct of the city alms house, the strict rules being distasteful to him and his wife. According to these rules either Mr. or Mrs. Wolverton must be at home all of the time, and an order is required for every purchase no matter what the amount of the purchase.

Another cause for complaint, it is said, is that the overseer of the poor frequently telephones to the home, informing Mr. Wolverton that he has a party of two, three or more who are anxious to inspect the place and to prepare dinner for them. Mr. Wolverton did not understand that he was to entertain visitors that way when he accepted the position and can see no reason why he should be compelled to do so. That part of the home provided for him and his wife he considered private quarters and he objects to its general use by everyone at any time that suits their convenience.

Supervising Principal Hicthner, of Bridgeton, Unger, of Vineland, and Stauffer, of Millville, have arranged to hold another intercity spelling bee in the Criterion theatre, Bridgeton, in May. Two bees already have been held, Millville winning both.

The congregation of the Third Presbyterian church, Paterson, will rebuild on the old site a modern church. The plans are rather indefinite at the present time. The question of adjusting the insurance is causing the trustees delay in planning the style of structure.

Colonel Lewis T. Bryant, head of the State Bureau of Labor, delivered an address on "Child Labor" before the members of the Men's Church, Atlantic City, last night, in which he made a strong plea for support for bills that will keep children out of factories, especially at night.

The Fenwick Troop of Cavalry, named in honor of John Fenwick, the founder of Salem, is no more and the large barracks in West Broadway are being demolished. This organization was very active for several years, but of late has been little heard of. It was headed by D. Stewart Craven.

A dozen men at work in the old car barn of the Public Service Railway Company, Fourth street and Newton avenue, Camden, narrowly escaped death yesterday, when the roof of the immense structure fell in with a crash that could be heard for blocks. Four-year-old Frances Kirbach is in a critical condition as a result of playing around an over-heated stove at the home of her parents in Bellmawr. When Attorney Samuel W. Sparks, trustee for the estate of Mary A. Chew, presented his account in the Camden Orphans' Court Saturday it was objected to by W. Elliott Chew, one of the heirs, who declared that he had not received a specified sum of $4,000. The lawyer contended that he had purchased a property for Chew for $2,700, and that he had paid Chew other sums, which made up the amount in question. The case will be heard in two weeks.

JERSEY GROCERS ARE FOUND IN THE LIST.

New York, March 8.—Certain large retail grocery interests in various sections of the country, who view with some apprehension the recent tendency of manufacturers to refuse further sales directly to retailers, among them some of Jersey note, are planning a conference in this city on April 5. They propose to consider the situation and to take steps looking toward an appeal to manufacturers to continue selling to large retailers.

There appears to be considerable secrecy with regard to the matter, but so far as known, among those who will take part in the conference are Charles M. Decker & Bros. of East Orange, and Aaron Ward & Sons, of Newark.

Certain large manufacturers doing a national business have been asked regarding their attitude. They all decline to discuss it till after they know more fully just what the movement is and who is back of it. Informally, however, they say that their present policies are born of long experience and a recognition of the soundness of the jobber's position, at least he has a right to their protection, at least to an assurance that they will no sell his retail customer, and that they do not propose to change till it can be shown that they are wrong.

An Awful Jolt.

It was 11 p. m. and the conversation had begun to lag. Finally the spirit moved young Staylate, and he said:

"Those Kentucky night riders are a bad lot, aren't they?"

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined Miss Werlum, as she tried in vain to strangle a yawn. "They might be worse."

"They might be night sitters," she replied.

Whereupon the young man in the parlor scene suddenly remembered that his mother might be uneasy about him and proceeded to fade away.—Chicago News.

DR. T. B. NEELY AS A CHURCH LEADER

Bishop Thomas Benjamin Neely, who will preside at the fifty-second annual session of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in Newark during the week of March 31, is one of the most forceful leaders of that denomination. He is a deep student, an indefatigable worker in the field of the church, and a powerful pulpit orator.

It was while a member of the Philadelphia Conference that Dr. Neely was elevated to the episcopacy, his election taking place at the general conference held in Los Angeles five years ago. The bishop is a native of Philadelphia. He was at the forefront of the religious and moral battles during his pastorate in the Quaker City.

Besides occupying a conspicuous place in the denomination as a pastor, Bishop Neely filled several important executive offices in the church organization. He has been corresponding secretary of the Sunday-school Union and Tract Society, editor of the Sunday-school Union, and editor of the Illustrative Notes and the Golden Textbook for 1901. The bishop is also the author of works treating on general church subjects and of parliamentary practise.

Dr. Neely is noted as a debater. The last to measure swords with him was Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley, who has himself a long record on debates in the general conference and other conferences. As a preacher Bishop Neely is not regarded as rhetorical, but is scholarly, forceful and logical in his presentation of the subject matter of a sermon. He carries conviction in his utterances and appeals to the will and conscience directly.

Following custom, Bishop Neely will deliver the annual conference sermon at the services in Centenary church, Newark, Sunday morning, April 4, and it is anticipated that special counsel will be given concerning some of the perplexing demands that are increasingly made each year upon the churches. He has a broad sympathy with the affairs of man and tastes that are catholic, hence the expectation that the clergymen in their more restricted local fields will profit by the advice of the presiding bishop.

TO HOLD ODDS AND ENDS OF RIBBON.

The girl who knows how disreputable baby ribbon can become unless daintly cared for will welcome a simple, washable case that can be made in a few minutes.

A somewhat large embroidered handkerchief with a border running around it was cut in half, each piece making a case. The half was turned up so that it folded in thirds, with the outer side coming down as a top, or cover.

The part cut in two was finished with a narrow hem and the ends were finely overcast together. The case was then divided into five compartments, three smaller ones, one on each end and the third in the middle, and two larger spaces between. These latter were made big enough to hold a bodkin run through the card on which the ribbon was wound.

Small, cardboard reels were made to fit each compartment. These were slightly curved on each edge to keep the ribbon from slipping.

The advantage of such a case is that it is quickly laundered and takes up no room in a bag or trunk. If intended for a present, each reel can be filled with a piece of baby ribbon in different colors, the bodkins can be of silver or different colored ivory, and a tiny pair of scissors can be attached to one of the reels. These make inexpensive and pretty trinkets for a set of prizes or a aready seller at a bazaf.

THE PETTICOAT.

The lingerie petticoat is a garment of reviving interest. It is worn by the fashionable woman, with the gown of silk or crepe. It is especially preferred for the afternoon and evening gown. The handsomest of the late lingerie models, says Harper's Bazar, are in sheer linen or batiste.

But it is in the combination garment that real interest of the moment centres. It has become a necessity with the hipless skirts and princess dresses. The "combination" sometimes means a corset cover and sort white skirt; sometimes a chemise and drawers in one; again, a corset cover and drawers, or a corset cover and long sheath skirt.

All dress chemises are practically without shoulder portions, for the least disturbance of the dress shoulder line must be avoided. Also, the cut of the majority of the evening waists makes a visible line of lingerie impossible. — Philadelphia Press.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Announcements of the course and dates for the Metropolitan Golf Association championship and of six tournaments were made Saturday by the executive committee. As had been forecasted the championship will be at the Apawamis Club, the dates selected being May 26, 27, 28 and 29. The conditions will be the same as last year, when Charles H. Seely put out both Travis and Travers at Baltusrol to win his second M. G. A. title. Apawamis has also claimed dates for an invitation tourment and, as the intercollegiate and seniors' tournaments will also be held there, the lovers of competitive golfing will pay at least four visits to the course at Rye.

To open the season the Fox Hills Golf Club will give an open tournament on May 13, 14 and 15, for which very liberal conditions have been announced and very handsome prizes. Next will be an invitation tournament at the favorite Nassau Coutry Club on May 20, 21 and 22, with a match with Yale on the last day. The Wykagyl Country Club on June 10, 11 and 12 will repeat the open tournament that was a pronounced success last season. Invitation tournaments are announced for the Apawamis Club on July 1, 2 and 3, and at the Morris County Golf Club for September 23, 24 and 25. The Montclair Golf Club has asked for September 30, October 1 and 2, or October 7, 8 and 9 for an open tournament.

HE USED CANE ON MEN WHO OGLE THE WOMEN.

Elizabeth has a wide awake Councilman who keeps his eye out for rowdyism and all forms of misbehavior on Sundays and evenings. He is Frederick J. Richters, of the Elizabeth police committee of the Council. He was found sleuthing along Broad street yesterday afternoon by a reporter, to whom he explained the cause of his presence, saying that he had just driven off a crowd of loiterers who were ogling young women as they passed.

"The police are unable to be at all points at one time," said Mr. Richters, "so I make an effort to make those young fellows behave. They are especially numerous every Sunday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock, and throng the doorways and sidewalks along the street. Sometimes I have to use a cane to make them move, but I generally make them leave by persuasion. Many of them cause much annoyance to women and girls by smiling and making comments as they pass, and it is to stop this that I am here."

If the Councilman can prevent it there will be no sheepseyes made along Elizabeth's rialto, for it is well known that since Mr. Richters has been on the skirmish line there has been a decided slump in the "parade" along the main thoroughfare. Mr. Richters is leader of the Republican minority in the Council.

HIGH PENALTY FOR FIRE ALARM FIENDS.

Prosecutor C. Addison Swift has been asked by the Board of Fire Commissioners at Elizabeth, to secure the imposition of a severe penalty upon any person convicted of ringing a false alarm. Several arrests have been made of persons who turned in false alarms, and in one or two instances there were convictions, but the court always showed leniency.

It is the contention of some of the members of the board that because of the fact that those found guilty were not severely punished others are led to ring false alarms, causing the fire department a great deal of trouble and oft times danger.

THE RUSSIAN PEASANT.

Stupid and Poor, a Good Fellow Who Merely Exists.

The Russian peasant does not live; he merely exists. "Nitchevo" ("It is nothing"), he merely says when anything happens to him. Nothing matters, nothing could be worse, and "Nitchevo" is his panacea for all evils. And yet the Russian moujik is really a fine fellow. Ordinarily, H. P. Kennard tells us in his book, "The Russian Peasant," he is a splendid, well built man, large limbed, large headed and healthy. He is equally unaffected by 20 degrees of frost or twenty glasses of vodka. He is clothed in uncured sheepskins and carries in winter more clothes than the average Englishman could stand up in.

He is unspeakably stupid, however, and his dream of happiness is to gorge, to sleep as much as possible through the winter and dance and sing in the summer. But the stranger's first objection to the moujik is that he smells—not because he does not wash himself. As a matter of fact, in every village there are public baths—banza—and the peasants wash themselves there unfailingly every Saturday in order to be allowed to go to church on Sunday, for the Orthodox church enjoins cleanliness.

The Russian peasant is always poor and generally in debt. He plows the land in the same way that his father plowed it and gets as little for his labor. His main worry in life is how to pay the governor's taxes. If he says he cannot pay he is flogged, or perhaps he will sell part of his next year's power of work—i. e., work for nothing for several months—to raise a loan, and of course he is worse off than ever the following year.

On Christmas night at dusk the marriageable village girls go out into the streets and meet their young men, and one says, "What is your name?" The young man answers "Foma," and she replies, "My husband's name is Foma."

Some days later at the girl's home relations are gathered together. There comes a knock at the door. The starosta and the young man enter, carrying loaves of bread. The starosta says something like this:

"We are German people, come from Turkey. We are hunters, good fellows. There was a time once in our country when we saw strange footprints in the snow, and my friend the prince here saw them, and we thought they might be a fox's or marten's footprints or it might be those of a beautiful girl. We hunters, we good fellows, are detetrmined not to rest till we have found the animal. We have been in all cities from Germany to Turkey and have sought for this fox, this marten or this princess, and at last we have seen the same strange footprints in the snow again, here by your court. And we have come in. Come, let us take her, the beautiful princess, for we see her in front of us, or can it be that you would keep her till she grows a little older?"

Thus does the moujik ask for a wife.

Inventor Davy and Love.

Sir Humphry Davy, the inventor of the Davy lamp, found love something of a delusion, if not a snare. Writing to his mother, he said, "I am the happiest of men in the hope of a union with a woman equally distinguished for virtues, talents and accomplishments." And in a letter to his brother he expresses his rapture thus: "Mrs. Apprece has consented to marry me, and when the event takes place I shall not envy kings, princes or potentates." The widow must have been a person possessed of great powers of fascination, for Sir Henry Holland makes mention of her as a lady who made such a sensation in Edinburgh society that even a regius professor did not think it beneath his scholarship to go down on his knees in the street to fasten her shoe. The sequel need not be dwelt upon further than to add that the marriage turned out to be altogether a mistake.

Fergusson and the Rabbits.

Robert Fergusson, the poet, was first matriculated at St. Andrew's university in the session of 1764-5. It was the custom at this time for each bursar to take his turn in invoking "blessing" at the meals. The college table having been surfeited with an unbroken diet of rabbits in various forms of cookery, Fergusson, on being called to say grace, repeated what are now celebrated lines:

For rabbits young and for rabbits old,
For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold,
For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough
Our thanks we render, for we've had enough!

It may be added Fergusson was not sent down, but the rabbits were "rusticated."

The Quipus.

The quipus, upon which the ancient Peruvians kept their records and accounts, consisted of a thick main cord, with smaller cords tied to it at certain distances. Upon these smaller cords the knots were tied by means of which the reckoning was kept. The length of the main rope varied from a foot to several yards. The cords were of various colors, each with its own proper meaning—as red for soldiers, yellow for gold, white for silver, green for corn, and so on. The reckoning seems to have been largely regulated by the distances of the knots from the main cord and the sequence of the branches.—New York American.

Same Effect.

"Cyril," said his mother as they sat down to the breakfast table, "did you wash your face this morning?"

"Well, no, mamma," said he slowly, evidently casting in his mind for an excuse, "but," he added reassuringly, "I cried a little before I came down stairs!"—Delineator.

THOUGHT MAN KILLED.

Engineer Pulls Up Flyer as It Rushes Through Cranford.

The eastbound Philadelphia flyer No. 616 rushed through Cranford Saturday at seventy miles an hour, and suddenly pulled up at the water tank east of the station. The engineer said the locomotive had hit a man and hurled him between two cars of a coal train a quarter of a mile west of the station.

Agent Ryno walked up the track and closely examined the coal train, but could find no sign of an accident. The train was held up ten minutes.

The Price of Proficiency.

"Doctor," growled the patient, "it seems to me that $500 is a big charge for that operation of mine. It didn't take you over half a minute."

"My dear sir," replied the famous specialist, "in learning to perform that operation in half a minute I have spoiled eleven pecks of such eyes as yours."—Success.

MAKING PARASOLS.

The task of recovering a parasol whose frame and handle is "too good to throw away" is not impossible, nor yet is it so easy as to be lightly considered. It is a very nice and careful piece of work, which must be acurately done; one that will scarcely admit of the slap dash process.

The parasol for a baby coach has more frequently been attempted by the novice, because the frame, already covered with silk or sateen, requires only a smoothly adjusted cover, whose ruffles conceal a multitude of sins.

The all-important point in the recovering process is the careful ripping of the old top to secure a definite pattern, whose exact size and width of seam must be absolutely observed in each pointed section of the new material. Another vital spot to touch is the end of each rib when the newly made cover is being adjusted. Touch every one with a black-headed pin, because they are sharper and will not injure the material; pin fast every seam of the corner to the end of the rib before finally sewing any of them—thus avoding wrinkles and puckers.

Of course, the material, embroidered or otherwise, is another story, and can be talked over again. But why not an embroidered white linen parasol?

Out of the Mouth of Babes.

William Rockefeller lives in Greenwich, Conn. The children of a neighbor were recently discussing him.

"I don't want to play with the Rockefeller children," declared Mary, solemnly. "Their father grinds the faces of the poor. He's a millionaire!"

"He's a billionaire!" said Freddie.

"Why, Freddie, you don't know what you're talking about," said Mary. "He's a swillionaire?"—Puck.

A Dangerous Opponent.

"I've never played cards in my life," declared Mrs. Fluffy, seating herself at the card table to fill out at the hostess' request.

"But never mind; I always learn things quickly."

"Please cut the cards, Mrs. Fluffy?"

"All right. Please hand me a knife."—Judge.

With a Few Tomatoes on the Side.

"You send me violets every morning," said the beautiful girl.

"I do," responded the ardent lover, "no matter what the cost."

"Quite so. Now why not send up a bunch of asparagus tomorrow instead? It would be just as expensive and would make a big hit with pa."—Pittsburg Post.

VAIN HUNT FOR MISSING MAN.

Left Car with Two Negroes and Friends Fear Foul Play.

William Thorne, of Atlantic Highlands, has been missing since Saturday night, and it is feared that he is a victim of foul play. Saturday night searching parties scoured the woods in Middletown Township in hope of finding some trace of him.

Saturday night Thorne was in Red Bank. He started home on a trolley car, leaving here at 11 o'clock. Among the other passengers were two negroes, who had drunk enough liquor to be quarrelsome. Thorne got in an argument with them, and the conductor of the car finally put all three men off.

The spot where the car was stopped is lonesome, with not a house in sight.

The Red Bank police learned yesterday that Thorne, about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, inquired at a house near Hedden Corners, a settlement between Red Bank and Atlantic Highlands, the direction to the latter place. The information was given him, but he went in the opposite direction. Thorne's hat was found near Hedden Corners later in the day.

SHORT PANTS BAR CIGARETTES.

New Jersey Boys Chafe Under Clever Scheme of Their Mothers.

The boys of Northern New Jersey, if the tyranny of parents is continued much longer, may organize an anti-short pants league. Many youths of this section of the State are compelled to wear short pants long after they are fourteen years old and they have developed the underpinnings of athletes.

The reason is that their mothers know that shopkeepers are averse to selling cigarettes to boys in knee pants. It is almost impossible for a boy that wears short pants to purchase cigarettes in many of the Northern New Jersey towns, and the mothers have shrewdly taken advantage of these conditions to protect their offspring.

The son is still living, and Mrs. Schomp also has three grandchildren, Mrs. Catherine A. Baxter, Mrs. E. Francis Applegate and John H. Sutton.

LOCAL OPTION TO BE THEME OF SPEECHES

Local Option Day in the New Jersey Legislature will be due tomorrow, and ministers, local option leaders of many States, prohibitionists and plain citizens who believe in this system of governing the liquor traffic in a community, will gather at Trenton.

The local optionists will be faced by the liquor representatives, and it is to be doubted which will have the more able orators. It is the intention of J. Frank Burke, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, to keep the ministers more in the background, he saying last year that such hearings looked too much like ministerial gatherings and that this gave the opposition a chance to say that the local option movement was only a ministerial method of government.

The saloonmen and liquor interests, those who would be affected financially by such a law, are not taking the interest in the coming hearing this year that they have in the past, and an examination of the House of Assembly membership easily shows why.

In the first place the eleven Essex and twelve Hudson Assemblymen, though the former are Republicans and the latter almost all Democrats, were elected on practically a liquor platform last fall. Add to these the two Cape May and Atlantic Assemblymen, the eight Middlesex and Monmouth Assemblymen and the five Passaic Assemblymen, none of whom can be counted, openly, as local option men.

It will be seen what little chance a local option bill has in the House should it pass the Senate. Nor has the position of many other Assemblymen been hinted at. Therefore, the liquor interests are not taking the same interest in this coming hearing that they took when the "home rule" bills, having as a basis open Sundays, were heard last week.

FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER.

When mending ordinary corset covers patches are put in all the way to the waistband if it seems worth while, otherwise round or square ones with the corners carefully mitered. Circular corset covers are a little harder to patch since the place where holes come most quickly—under the arms—is on the bias.

Tiny little cases for the thimble are made of three pieces of pasteboard, about two inches long and half an inch wide, pointed at either end, and covered on both sides with pretty silk. Overhand these together to form a case similar in shape to a beechnut, but leaving an opening between two of the sides. A slight pressure of the case at the ends will open it as if by magic.

To the inventive genius of a woman, Mrs. Agnes G. Maynard, is due the stocking darner, one of the late inventions that help to lighten the burden of housewives. The darner is a small bit of oval-shaped steel with a few arms attached—an innocent looking affair—but by its use the family stocking may be neatly darned on the sewing machine in about one-quarter the time it takes by hand. The darned may be used on any two thread sewing machine by simply removing the presser foot. Stockings of all sizes and kinds—from babies' to men's, cotton or silk—may be quickly darned, and when finished one can scarcely tell where the darn is.

FOR KITCHEN SCRAPBOOK.

Try adding chopped figs to a nut and apple salad. The flavor is immensely improved. Not much of the fig is used; just enough to give a suspicion of a spicy sweetness.

It was chance that hit on a way to improve the somewhat tasteless celery salad with mayonnaise. One night at dinner a woman cut up small blocks of her cranberry jelly and was delighted with the result, both in looks and taste.

Sharlotte russe is both more appetizing and less sickening if it is flavored with sherry. This should be stirred in carefully or the cream will curdle.

Bread pudding takes on new dignity when it is flavored with chocolate. Make a chocolate custard and put it in a baking dish with alternate layers of bread. This can be eaten with or without cream.

Waffles are much lighter if made with sour cream and the batter kept rather thin. To eat with them, try chicken gravy or cinnamon and sugar mixed, or lumps of maple sugar melted down and served hot.

Mince meat is much better for standing several weeks before using. It should not be kept over summer, however, as it soon spoils.

Parmesan cheese sprinkled thickly over stewed tomatoes that are later browned in a baking dish gives them an added zest.

KEPT HER BUSY.

A prominent physician of Baltimore tells of an amusing experience of the early days of his practise when he was residing in a small town where by far the majority of the workers were coal miners.

"I was greatly distressed by the insanitary conditions prevailing in their cottages," says the doctor, "and among other things I tried to explain to each household the importance of maintaining a wholesome atmosphere in the sleeping rooms. I laid in a stock of thermometers, which were distributed to the households where they were most needed. I took pains to point out to each family in turn just how the thermometer would indicate the proper degree of temperature.

"As I was making the rounds one day I inquired of the woman at the head of one establishment, wherein I observed my thermometer proudly displayed at the end of a string, whether she had followed my instructions.

"'Yes, sir,' answered she, 'I'm very careful about the temperature. I watch the thing all the time as it hangs up there.'

"'What do you do when the temperature rises above sixty-eight?'

"'I take it down, sir, an' put it outside till it cools off a bit.'"

THE CHILD'S CLOTHING.

The small child is frequently overburdened with superflous pieces of underwear. It is not necessary and may readily be overcome. Just a small effort on the part of some grownup will combine the woven vest and underwaist, thus making one garment instead of two. Inch-wide tape of a good quality should be sewed to the vest in perpendicular strips to give the necessary firm place for buttons to which to fasten the drawers and skirts. One strip will be needed down the centre front and back, one under each arm; the necessary strip between should run over each shoulder, thus giving some of the weight to the shoulders. This one garment, if it be a heavy winter undervest, will provide the necessary warmth and allow greater freedom of movement than can be attained by the child who is literally padded with clothes.

If the little vest be the medium spring weight, or the lightest summer quality, it will suffice and the added warmth of the underwaist will be eliminated.

An Athletic Dog.

"Do you give your dog any exercise?"

"Oh, yes; he goes for a tramp every day."—Leslie's Weekly.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY THOMAS A. WISE

"Father will be coming back soon,"

"Don't forget there's some money coming to you."

she said. "You won't want to see him."

Haines rose.

"No, I won't want to see him. Give him this note. I'll have to come back while he's away to clear up some things. Goodby."

Haines bowed and hurried from the room through a side doorway just as Senator Langdon came in through the main entrance.

"Bud, Bud," he called, but the secretary did not halt.

Carolina Langdon stood with Haines' note in her hand, wondering at what she had done. She regretted having become entangled in the wars of men in Washington. She saw that the man's game was played too strongly, too furiously fast, for most women to enter, yet she rejoiced that the coveted fortune had not been lost. She was sorry that her means of saving it had not been less questionable. She saw that ambition and honesty, ambition and truth, with difficulty follow the same path.

Senator Langdon's face was unusually grave as he came to greet Carolina. Lines showed in his face that the daughter had never noticed before.

She saw Norton and Randolph, who had followed him, exchange significant glances—jubilant glances—and wondered what new development they had maneuvered.

"He's gone without a word," the senator sighed. "Well, perhaps that's best."

"He left a note for you," said the girl, handing him the letter which Haines had given her.

Langdon opened it and read:

I am giving up the job. You can understand why. The least said about it between us the better. I am sorry. That's all.

BUD HAINES.

Slowly he read the letter a second time.

"And he was making the best kind of a secretary, I thought."

Divining that something against Haines had been told her father, Carolina glanced at Norton.

"I told your father how we caught Mr. Haines," he spoke as an answer to her.

The girl was startled. She had not thought that things would go this far.

"I told him how Haines wanted to get in some land speculation scheme with Altacoola, how we tricked him and caught him with the goods when he made the proposition to me and how we forced him to confess."

"You told father that?" gasped Carolina.

Norton nodded.

"I don't understand it," said Langdon. "To think that he was that kind!"

Son Randolph now took his turn in the case against the secretary.

"We were both here, father. I heard him—Carolina heard him," he said. "Didn't you, Carolina?"

"Yes," said the girl weakly, "I was here." Then she turned abruptly. "I must go," she said, "must go right away. Mrs. Holcomb is waiting for me."

The senator turned to his desk bent and discouraged.

"I suppose I should have taken a secretary who was a southerner and a gentleman. Well, Randolph, you'll have to act now. Take this letter"—

The young man sat down and took the following from the senator's dictation:

Mr. Haines.

Sir—I quite understand your feelings and the impossibility of your continuing in my employ. The least said about it the better. I am sorry too.

WILLIAM H. LANGDON.

"You boys run away. I've got to think," said the senator.

When the pair had gone the old man drew the letter to him, and below his signature he added a postscript, "Don't forget there's some money coming to you."

Walking across the room to leave, he sighed:

"He was making the best kind of a secretary."

CHAPTER XVI.

A RESCUE IN THE NICK OF TIME.

LATER in that never to be forgotten day Bud Haines ventured back to his desk in the committee room, after first ascertaining that Senator Langdon would not return. Some of the senator's papers must be straightened out, and he wanted personal documents of his own.

The secretary regretfully, sorrowfully performed these final duties and found himself stopping at various intervals to try to explain to himself how he had been deceived in both the Langdons, father and daughter. He had to give up both problems. To him neither was explainable. "I've known enough senators to know that I'd never meet an honest one," he muttered. "But as to women—well, there's too much carefully selected wisdom in their innocence to suit me."

This cynic, new born from the shell of the chronic idealist that was, suddenly was disturbed in his ruminations by a sound at the door. Looking up, he saw Hope Georgia Langdon standing shyly, embarrassed, in the main entrance.

"Mr. Haines," she said timidly.

Bud jumped to his feet.

"Yes, Miss Hope Georgia."

As the senator's younger daughter came toward him he noticed that she was excited over something, and for a newly made cynic he took altogether too much notice of her youthful beauty, her fresh, rosy complexion and her dancing, sparkling eyes. The thought occurred to him, "What a woman she will make—if she doesn't imitate her sister!"

"I couldn't let you go, Mr. Haines, without telling you goodby and letting you know that, no matter what the others say, I don't think there has been anything wrong."

"I couldn't let you go."

Before Haines could reply the young girl rushed on excitedly.

"That's why I came. I know father and Carolina won't like it—they won't think it's nice—but I wanted to say to you that I don't think one ought to believe things against one you've liked and trusted."

"You think one ought not," said Haines. "So do I, but in this case the proofs were very strong. What are you going to do when people you can't doubt pledge their word?"

The girl tossed her head.

"Well, the only one's word I'd like to take would be the person accused. I know I'm only a girl, Mr. Haines, and I'm not grown up, but you've made a mistake. Do try to clear things up. Why don't you see father and talk to him? Please do, Mr. Haines."

Little realizing that the girl was speaking in his own favor, for he knew not the need for such speaking, he believed her to be defending her father. He grasped her hands impulsively.

"You have grown up very much since you came to the capital, haven't you?" he said. "And you are right, Miss Hope. I ought to have known even when the facts were against him that your father couldn't have been really crooked. He can't be."

Hope Langdon's face flushed indignantly.

"Father crooked? Who said so? Who dared say that?" she exclaimed.

"Why, they told me he had sold out on the Altacoola bill. They said he was trying to make money on Altacoola. That's why I quit."

The flame of anger still was spread on the girl's face.

"They said that!" she exclaimed. "Then they lied. They said you were the crooked one. Why, father thinks you sold out on Altacoola. They said you were trying to make money on that navy yard."

"What! They said I was crooked!" Haines fairly shouted. He rushed around the desk and caught the girl by both hands.

"I see it!" he cried. "I see it! There's something I'm not just on to. You thought it was I; your father thinks"—

"Of course," exclaimed Hope, quite as excited as he. "I couldn't believe it. That's why I came back to get you to explain. I wanted you to disprove the charge."

"I should say I would," cried the secretary.

"I knew it, I knew it! They couldn't make me believe anything against you. I knew you were all I thought you. Oh, Mr. Haines, prove you are that for my"—

Then Hope Georgia abruptly stopped. She had lost her head and in the enthusiasm of the moment had revealed her real feelings—something she would never do presumably when she grew more wise in the ways of women.

She suddenly thrust Haines' hands from her own and stood staring at him, wondering—wondering if he had guessed.

Strangely enough, under the circumstances, the girl was the first to recover and break the awkward silence.

"Come to our house tonight, Mr. Haines. There's to be a dinner and a musicale, as you know, but that won't matter. No matter who says no, I promise you that you shall see father. There shall be an explanation."

Hope Georgia Langdon, girlish and vivacious.

"Thank you, Miss Hope. You don't realize all you've done for me," said Bud seriously. "It's a wonderful thing to find a girl who believes in a man. You've taught me a lot, Miss Hope. Thank you."

"Goodby, Mr. Haines. Come tonight," she said as she turned and hurried away.

Bud Haines stood looking after her thoughtfully.

"What a stunning girl she is! I've seemed to overlook her, with the rush of events—and Carolina," he murmured softly. "We never were such very great friends, yet she believes in me. What a beauty she is!"

A messenger boy broke in on his musings with a letter for Senator Langdon marked "Important."

"Guess I'm secretary enough yet to answer this," he thought, tearing it open.

"Great heavens!" he exclaimed as he read it. "Here's the chance to get to the bottom of this Altacoola proposition. It's from Peabody."

Haines read the following:

Dear Senator Langdon—I am going to Philadelphia tonight. Urgent call from a company for which I am counsel, so I probably won't be able to confer with you regarding the committee's choice for the naval base. But I know you are for Altacoola and trust to you to do all you can for that site. I of course consider the matter definitely settled.

"This situation will enable Langdon to bluff Peabody and draw out of him all the inside of the Altacoola business—ought to anyway. Guess some Gulf City talk will smoke him out."

Haines rushed out and across the hall, to reappear literally hauling in a stenographer by the scruff of the neck. "Here, you, take this dictation—record time," he cried:

Senator Horatio Peabody, Louis Napoleon Hotel:

You are going to Philadelphia tonight, I know, leaving the report on the naval base to me. I have just come on various aspects of the situation which make me incline very favorably toward Gulf City. I am looking into the matter and, of course, shall act according to my best judgment. That is what you will want me to do, I know. Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM H. LANGDON.

"I don't think Senator Peabody will go to Philadelphia tonight," laughed Haines grimly as he addressed the envelope, "and I think that when the 'boss of the senate' hurries around to the Langdon house instead there will be more than one kind of music, more than one kind of food eaten—perhaps crow—before the evening is over."

"Here's where I resign as senator."

Seizing his hat, Bud rushed to the door to look up a messenger.

"It's all in Langdon's hands now," he cried. "Here's where I resign my position as United States senator."

CHAPTER XVII.

THE CONSPIRATORS OUTWITTED.

SENATOR LANGDON'S dinners had well won popularity in Washington. Invitations to them were rarely answered by the sending of "regrets." He had brought his old Mississippi cook from the plantation, whose southern dishes had caused the secretary of state himself to make the senator an offer for the chef's services. "No use bidding for old General Washington," said the senator on that notable occasion. "He wouldn't leave my kitchen, sir, even to accept the presidency itself. Why, I couldn't even discharge him if I wanted to. I tried to let him go once, sir, and the old general made me feel so ashamed of myself that I actually cried, sir."

Peabody and Stevens were the dinner guests tonight, as they were to confer afterward with Langdon and settle on the action of the naval affairs committee regarding the naval base. The three, being a majority, could control the action of the committee.

Senator Peabody had finally postponed leaving for Philadelphia until the midnight train in order to be present, he assured Langdon as the trio entered the library. The girls, Norton and Randolph were left to oversee preparations for the prominent Washingtonians invited to attend the musicale to be given later in the evening.

Carolina and Hope Georgia were in distinctly different moods—the elder, vivacious, elated over the bright outlook for her future; the younger, cast down and wearing a worried expression. Norton and Randolph in jubilant spirit tried to cheer her and, failing, resorted to taunts about some imaginary love affair.

The courage of the afternoon, which had enabled her to speak to Haines as she had, was gone; girlish fears now swept over her as to the outcome of the evening. Haines had not come! Was he really guilty and had promised to come merely to get rid of her? Why was he late? If he did come, would she be able to have her father see him, as she had promised? If she failed, and she might, she would never see this young man again.

"If I looked as unhappy as you, Hope, I'd go to bed and not discourage our guests as they arrive," Carolina suggested. "Our floral decorations alone for tonight cost $700, and the musical program cost over $3,000. The most fashionable folks in Washington coming—what more could you want, Hope? Isn't it perfectly glorious? Why"—

"Mr. Haines is below, asking to see Senator Langdon," announced a servant, entering.

"Oh, I knew he'd come! I knew it! I knew it!" cried Hope Georgia in pure ecstasy, clapping her hands.

The three plotters turned on the girl in amazement; then they stared at each other.

"Mr. Haines!" ejaculated Carolina.

"Haines!" exclaimed Randolph, hurriedly leaving the room.

"Haines!" sneered Norton. "We can take care of him. The senator won't see him."

Carolina caught the suggestion.

"Tell Mr. Haines that Senator Langdon regrets that he cannot possibly receive him," she directed.

"I brought him back. Father will want to see him," said Hope.

"Carolina!"

There was a ring of protest and pain in Hope Georgia's voice as she darted out of the door after the servant.

"What's the matter with that girl?" asked Norton, trying to be calm.

Carolina shook her head.

"I don't know. She's queer today. I believe she imagines herself in love with Mr. Haines."

"Aren't you afraid she'll make trouble?"

The other sister laughed confidently.

"Little Hope make trouble? Of course not. If she does, we can always frighten her into obedience."

The door reopened and Hope entered, followed by Bud Haines. The girl's head was high; her cheeks were red; her eyes glittered ominously.

"I brought him back, Carolina," she said coolly. "Father will want to see him. I know there has been some mistake."

"Yes," supplemented Bud, "there has been a decided mistake, and I must refuse to accept the word that came to me from Senator Langdon."

Carolina Langdon drew herself up in her most dignified manner.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Haines, but you must accept it," she said.

"Exactly," seconded Norton. "Senator Langdon entirely declines to receive you."

"I don't trust anything you say, Congressman Norton, and I may say also that I recognize no right of yours to interfere in any affair between me and the Langdon family."

"Perhaps I can explain my right, Mr. Haines," Norton said coolly, stepping beside Carolina. "I have just had the pleasure of announcing to Miss Hope Georgia Langdon my engagement to Miss Carolina Langdon."

(To be continued.)

"You are too late, Mr. Smith; I telephoned the order to Jones. I tried to reach you, but you have no telephone."

SOME FINE MUSIC AT TRINITY REFORMED

A special musical service by the quartet choir under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist, attracted a large congregation to Trinity Reformed church last night. The program was one of the best and its rendition afforded great pleasure to all present. The quartet was assisted by Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston, whose delightful playing added much to the service. She opened the program with "Air from Concerto in A minor," and "Largo," accompanied by Mr. Titsworth on the organ.

The work of the quartet was of a high order. Miss S. Etta Raybert, soprano, was in excellent voice and her singing in the solo and quartet parts left nothing to be desired. In her rendition of "Ave Marie," perhaps her voice was heard to the best advantage.

Miss Winifred Carroll, contralto, also delighted all with her singing. She sang "Galilee," without violin obligato, in a finished manner. Another enjoyable number was a duet for soprano and bass," Watchman! What of the Night," by Miss Raybert and F. S. Cutter. Their voices blended in perfect harmony. The quartet is well balanced, and in the rendition of the anthems great care in training was evidenced. The anthems included "Ye Shall Go Out with Joy," Winchester Barton; "From Every Earthly Pleasure," Liszt-Shelley," and "Now the Day is Over," Rubenstein.

During the service, the pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek, preached a short sermon, appropriate to the occasion, which he referred to the importance of music and singing on the part of Christians. He said that the trouble was that Christians do not sing enough and they miss half the joys of serving the Master. His text was "Ye shall have a song, as in the night," Isaiah 30: 29.

The soloists for the service were as follows: Miss S. Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Winifred C. Carroll, contralto; E. D. Young, tenor; F. S. Cutter, bass; Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston, violin; Arthur L. Titsworth, organist.

COMMUNION SERVICES IN SEVERAL CHURCHES

Communion services were held in eight local churches yesterday morning and in all eighty-one new members were received either by letter or on confession. Trinity Reformed church received the greatest number, twenty-four by letter and nine on confession. Rev. John Y. Broek delivered an impressive address, full of advice and counsel, to the new members. There was a large congregation present and an interesting feature was the present of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor emeritus, who occupied the first seat in the elders' row.

Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea at the First M. E. church, received fourteen adults by leter and confession, including several new families who have just moved to the city. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring received an equal number at the First Presbyterian church, eight being by letter and six on confession. At the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, the pastor, Rev. C. S. Kemble, received six on probation and two by letter and Rev. Ora J. Shoop at Grace M. E. church received two on confession and one by letter. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss at the First Baptist church received two on confession, while Rev. C. L. Goodrich at the Congregational church received three on confession. Eight were received by letter and one on confession by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

Ullman, also of New York. Both the bride and groom are about forty years of age. The couple had secured in advance a special license from the county clerk at Somerville permitting them to be married here.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Burton, of Buffalo, and the groom is the son of William Jackson, of Richmond, Va. After the ceremony the couple left Plainfield for their honeymoon trip. They will reside in New York.

CONFESSES EXPLORERS COULD HAVE BEEN SAVED

A remarkable tale relating to one of the relief expeditions in search of Sir John Franklin and his exploring party in the polar seas, was related yesterday by Dr. Egerton Young, former missionary among the Indians in the frozen north, speaking at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting. The story was embodied in a confession made to Dr. Young by an old Indian guide, who, having been converted, and feeling death approaching, sought to relieve his conscience and make peace with God.

The Indian explained that he had been attached to the searching party headed by Dr. Rae, which started north from the Saskatchewan by dog sled. On reaching a certain point the party was divided into three sections to explore the region in different directions. The old Indian, with two others, comprised one division, and farther on he left his companions to explore an island while he continued across the ice. After journeying for several days he came within sight of a three-masted vessel, whereupon he turned back to report to the rescueing party, but before he reached it he began to think of the hardships to be endured in guiding the party to the ship and rescuing the stranded men, and the longing to return home overcame him. He reported falsely that he had seen nothing and the searchers gave up in despair.

Years afterward when the Franklin ship was found, with all on board dead, the records left by the sailors showed that at the time of Dr. Rae's expedition to that vicinity forty-three men were alive on the ship. The old Indian, confessing to the missionary, believed that the blood of these men was on his hands, and the Christian Indian interpreters who heard the remarkable confession, were much affected by it.

BANK VICTIM OF SMOOTH GAME.

Bad Check Deposited in Paterson and Cash Drawn in New York.

Through a clever swindle the Bank of the Metropolis, of New York, is out $2,600.

A man giving his name as Julius Gordon went to Paterson recently and opened an account with a Paterson bank. He said he was about to engage in business, and showed a receipt for a month's rent on a Main street store in Paterson. Then he made a deposit of $1,000. A few days later he deposited $200, and then followed a check on a New York bank for $2,600. The following day he went to New York, drew a check on the Paterson bank for $3,800, and had it cashed at the Bank of the Metropolis. Meanwhile the $2,600 check deposited at Paterson had been returned marked "N. G.," and when the check cashed at the Bank of the Metropolis came the actual amount to the credit of Gordon was $1,200.

It is not known how Gordon succeeded in having the bank officials in New York cash the check, as neither they nor the detectives working on the case will discuss the matter.

"Red" Waller's Fine Work.

In their first real game on Texas soil this spring the New York Nationals found the Waco Texas Leaguers easy and it was a contest for only one inning. There is considerable local interest in the game for the reason that "Red" Waller, formerly of Westfield, was in the box for the Giants and did the best work of the several twirlers used. He fanned seven batters in three innings. He and Crandall allowed only a hit apiece.

PIERCE'S MEASURE DOOMED TO DEFEAT

The public utility bill introduced in the House at Trenton by Assemblyman Carlton B. Pierce, of Union county, will be opposed by the regular Republicans in the Legislature. The bill has been marked for defeat by the organization.

Assemblyman Pierce drew a measure that lacked the more radical provision of one that passed the Assembly last year and which was introduced by Assemblyman William P. Martin. At the same time he tried to overcome the objections to the Robbins bill which passed the Senate twelve months ago, but which the House rejected. However good his intentions have been to get both sides together on a compromise measure, he has not satisfied the "powers that be" at Trenton. The railroads and other public service corporation are opposed to the legislation proposed by Mr. Pierce. He has tried to place too much power in the hands of the men who would be appointed on the commission by the Governor.

Short shrift will be given to the measure introduced by Assemblyman Martin which is more radical than the Pierce bill. Although Martin's bill passed the House last year, it was given approval only after a hard fight and after any other actiontion would have stultified the Assemblymen. It was also finally allowed to go trhough with full knowledge on the part of the lower House members opposed to it that it would have no chance in the Senate.

It is said that a Public Utilities bill drawn on the same lines as the Robbins measure of last year which will not give the Utilities Commission the rate making power will be passed. This will meet objection from the New Idea men and the Democrats in the Assembly, but they are not sufficient in numbers to kill i .

TO SUE MAYOR MRAVLAG.

Harry Story, who recently swore out a complaint against Mayor Mravlag, of Elizabeth, for an alleged assault, which was dismissed, will sue the Mayor of Elizabeth for damages, it is understood. While Story would not make any statement last night, further than to say that he had "not dropped the case," it is said that his father, William Story, has placed the matter in the hands of a lawyer.

The contemplated action is the outcome of the Mayor's arrest of Story for overspeeding.

Funeral of Mrs. Annie Mormle.

The funeral services of Mrs. Annie Mormle, aged twenty-four years, who died at Muhlenberg Hospital on Friday, following an operation, was held at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's church. Father Sciolla, the Italian priest from St. Mary's church, was in charge. The service was held at St. Joseph's church, because of the forty hours' devotion at St. Mary's church. Father W. H. VOTE ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Macadamizing of Stirling Costing $25,000. to Be Completed by Fall.

THREE AND A HALF MILES.

It Will Make Direct Route to Delaware Water Gap and Easton From Plainfield.

Local automobilists and drivers are elated over the announcement by the State Road department that the Stirling road, connecting this city with all parts of Somerset, Essex and other neighboring counties by way of the River road beyond Stirling, will be thoroughly macadamized before the fall sets in. For years efforts have been made by the people in the upper end of Somerset county to have this improvement made but invariably the freeholders were partial to the lower end particularly to Bridgewater township.

According to State Road Supervisor Robert A. Meeker the improvement will cost $25,000 although the work to be done covers but three and a half miles and lays between the limits of North Plainfield and Stirling over the first mountain. The Somerset County Board of Freeholders today is expected to approve the surveys and plans and as Warren township has already agreed to pay its ten per cent and the State department has authorized the improvement, the work will be begun early in April.

"When these three and a half miles are finished there will be a direct macadamized thoroughfare," said Mr. Meeker today, "through Stirling to the River road and along that highway through Berkeley Heights, New Providence, Summit and Elizabeth to Newark. It will also make a fine automobile route from Plainfield through to the River road and into Millington, Basking Ridge and Bernardsville. From there the route through Morristown, Madison, Chester, Schooley's Mountain and Hackettstown will bring the Plainfield autoist direct to the Delaware Water Gap direct without once getting off a macadamized road."

"This road improvement will make it possible to go direct to Washington and Phillipsburg as well as Easton from Plainfield as from Hackettstown to Washington a stone road is to be built under the authority of the State road department, and a stone road is already built between that place and Phillipsburg."

ANOTHER SMALLPOX VICTIM; BOARD OF HEALTH VIGILANT.

A second case of smallpox was reported to the Plainfield Board of Health this morning by Drs. C. B. Lufburrow and J. H. Carman, who were called in to diagnose the suspected patient. He is James L. White, a blacksmith, residing at 433 West Third street, and who has a blacksmith shop nearly opposite 612 West Third street, where John Woodston, the sixteen year old colored lad was discovered ill with the same disease yesterday. However, the source of infection has not yet been discovered. Mr. White says that he has not been near the Woodston home and the lad has not been in his shop.

Mr. White was taken ill yesterday and physicians at once suspected that it was smallpox. This morning there was a consultation of physicians and it was diagnosed as that disease. The attack is more severe than in the case of the Woodston boy. Mr. White will be taken to the isolation hospital this afternoon. He has a wife and five children. The health authorities have discovered no other suspected cases and every effort is being made to prevent a spread of the disease through vaccination and other methods.

Judge Runyon as Referee.

The case of Harry Moulton against Leo Slonim to recover a bill for painting and decorating Slonim's house, was to have come up before Judge Whittemore at Elizabeth yesterday. The Judge's examination of the papers showed it to be a long account, and it was referred to City Judge Runyon as referee, in the local court. Francis J. Blatz represents Moulton and V. W. Nash, Jr., is Slonim's attorney.

MRS. JULIA FORCE DEAD; AGED SIXTY-EIGHT YRS.

Mrs. Julia Laing Force, widow of James H. Force, and sister-in-law of A. L. Force, died at 10:15 o'clock, last night, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will F. Williams, 66 Westervelt avenue. Although she had been ill for six years with creeping paralysis her death was sudden and unexpected. She had gone to bed as usual and her faithful nurse, Miss Sallie Ferguson, had also retired and lay beside Mrs. Force. A strange gurgling sound alarmed Miss Ferguson and she called Mr. and Mrs. Williams, but she passed away while they were endeavoring to help her. Mrs. Force was a most patient sufferer and beloved by all who knew her. She will be missed in the home, but as she was sadly afflicted and no hopes whatever of her recovery, her passing away is a blessed relief.

Mrs. Force was sixty-eight years old. She was born in this city and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Laing, well known among the older residents of Plainfield. Mrs. Force was a Friend and for many years attended the meetings on Watchung avenue. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Will F. Williams and Mrs. Ernest A. Millard, of this city, and one son, John L. Force, of Roselle; also one sister, Mrs. Emma L. Dunn, of Philadelphia. The funeral service will be held at her late home, 66 Westervelt avenue, Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, and Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate. The interment will be in North Plainfield Cemetery.

CHRISTOPHER FINE DIES IN EIGHTY-THIRD YEAR

Christopher M. Fine, one of the oldest residents of the city, died at 2 o'clock this morning at his home on Central avenue, following a stroke of paralysis on Friday. For a long time he had been confined to his room and was unable to get about the house. Mr. Fine was born near Phillipsburg and was eighty-two years of age. He had lived in Plainfield about thirty-five years.

Mr. Fine was better known among the older residents. For years he was engaged in the cigar business here, his store being on Park avenue, about where The Plainfield Trust Company building is now located. During his early residence here he lived in an old house located where Proctor's theatre now stands. His wife, who died about nineteen years ago, was well-known here as a dressmaker. In later years Mr. Fine was employed by Love Brothers, grocers, until that firm dissolved.

At the time of the destruction of the Babcock building by fire Mr. Fine occupied a room in the building and narrowly escaped being burned to death. Someone happened to remember that he was asleep in his room and one of the firemen rescued him after much difficulty. About fourteen years ago Mr. Fine was converted in a Y. M. C. A. meeting and a year later he united with Trinity Reformed church, where he continued his membership. He is survived by three brothers, one living in Philadelphia and the other in Newark. The funeral will be held at the parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son on Park avenue, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Games and instrumental music furnished the entertainment for the evening. Refreshments were served at midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and son, formerly resided in this city, where they have many friends.

The daughter is the wife of Dr. E. W. Sprague, of Newark.

DECAPITATED BY CARS

Seventeen-Year-Old Youth is Ground to Pieces by a L. V. R. R. Train.

COMPANION SEES FATALITY.

Victim Was Robert Huntington, Son of Columbus, Ohio Fire Chief—Father Notified.

Falling between the cars of the fast freight on which he was "beating" his way to New York from Columbus, Ohio, Robert Harrington, seventeen years old, was ground to pieces on the Lehigh Valley Railroad by a train at Roselle Park early this morning. His traveling companion, John Sullivan, who came with him from the same city, saw the victim fall and jumped from the train. The dead boy's body was horribly mutilated, the head being completely severed.

Although a year younger than Harrington, Sullivan kept his nerve and ran to the Roselle Park station for assistance. He helped carry his friend's body to the baggage-room at the station where it was kept until this morning and then brought to this city by Undertaker George Cole. Sullivan told the undertaker that he lived on North Sixth street, Columbus, and his dead companion's home was at South Fourth street in that city. He said that Harrington's grandfather is chief of the Columbus fire department and that his father is a well-to-do business man. The two boys said that they had left Columbus together and were working their way to New York. T. O'Connell, of Dutch Kills, Long Island, is Sullivan's uncle, and after making arrangements for the care of his friend's body, he went to his relative's home.

A telegram dispatched to Harrington's father in Columbus had brought no reply up to noon today.

SHADE TREE COMMITTEE PLANS IMPROVEMENTS

But a single objection was filed against the proposed planting of trees on inadequately shaded streets in certain sections of the city at the public hearing granted before the Shade Tree Commission at the Mayor's office last night. This objection was made on legal grounds, for the settlement of an estate is pending in the case. The technicality can probably be adjusted. Few but the members of the commission, Miles Roberts, James L. Greenleaf, and Andrew J. Gavett, were present at the meeting.

Mr. Gavett said today that various nurserymen had already filed bids to supply the trees and that the work of setting them out will probably be commenced in about a month. The trees are to be placed on Park avenue, between Sixth and Eighth streets; Kensington avenue, between Watchung and Prospect avenues, and East Seventh street, between Berckman street and Belvidere avenue. The property owners are to bear the expense.

There was an informal discussion at the meeting relative to the removal of decayed trees from the streets in some part of town and thinning out street-front rows of trees. It is probable that several such requests will be presented to the Commission in the near future.

JAPANESE READINGS BY MISS GRACE CORELL.

Miss Grace Violet Corell, appeared before a large audience at the First Baptist church, last night, in readings of John Luther Long's Japanese stories, including "Madam Butterfly." The affair was given under the auspices of the Men's Club of the church. S. St. John McCutchen, who introduced Miss Corell, explained that she was a school teacher in New Jersey, a daughter of a missionary to Japan and that she lived in that country for several years.

Miss Corell's interpretation of the Japanese stories was a delight and true to lines. She possesses a personal charm that added much to the evening's entertainment and she was frequently applauded. There was much comedy in the stories related and afforded amusement for all.

Mrs. G. B. Staats Surprised.

Mrs. George B. Staats, of Richmond street, was given a surprise party last night, when her niece, Miss Maud E. Mathews, of Flemington, stepped in with a few friends and relatives to celebrate her birth anniversary. Music and games helped to pass a pleasant evening. Music was furnished by Prof. H. G. Parcel. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

HAD GOTHAM LICENSE FOR MARRIAGE HERE

Carrying with him a marriage license from the New York license bureau, C. J. Green, who lives on 100th street, that city, came here yesterday afternoon to claim Miss Carrie Murphy as his bride. She met him as he got off the train and the two made a bee-line for the home of Judge Hezekiah Hand, on East Sixth street. There Green proudly displayed the license and urged the justice to make all haste and tie the knot, so that the couple might board a flyer for New York before supper time.

The "Marrying Justice" sent out for a neighbor, Andrew C. Krog, for a witness and called his wife to be the other. When he spied the New York license, he laughed, for this is the second case within a week where New Yorkers have come to "The City Beautiful" to wed and have thus misinterpreted the law. He told the bridegroom of his mistake, but Green only spread a broad smile over his face and replied:

"I don't care whether they have flim-flammed me out of that dollar or not. I meant to have this girl and I thought it would be best to make it sure all around."

Green was so tickled at the realization that he was at last a husband that he left a fat fee with the Justice and the two hurried away to the station wreathed in smiles. The Judge says he tried to talk up Plainfield as a home city to the pair, but Green would have none of it, declaring that he and his Carrie would make their home in New York town, where he is employed as a teamster.

'T COST $5.10 TO GET KANE CASE POSTPONED

Because Thomas Brennan's sister, the most important witness for the defense in the action Alex Kane is bringing against Brennan for a beating up he received several weeks ago, was too ill to appear at the city court today, Brennan will have to pay $5.10 costs for re-serving Kane's witnesses for appearance a week from today. Under this consideration, Judge Runyon granted the postponement.

Francis J. Blatz, attorney for Kane, entered objection to the postponement when it was requested by Brennan on account of his sister's illness. He said that six witnesses had been subpoenaed, at a cost of fifty cents apiece for the subpoenas and thirty-five cents for the service and claimed that it would be unfair to put his client to the expense of issuing new subpoenas for the postponed hearing next week. All of Kane's witnesses were in court.

Arthur Murphy, Brennan's lawyer, thought the case was to come up at 10 o'clock, and when the case was called at shortly after 9 o'clock, Brennan had to do all the talking. Mr. Murphy arrived in time for a 10 o'clock hearing, and was astonished to learn that the case had already come up. He willingly agreed to the terms of postponement, promised to "see" Mr. Blatz about the $5.10, and made particular note of the time,—9 o'clock—in his memorandum of the postponement.

Kane, who Brennan claims insulted his sister while he was at work on a sewer job near his home, is bringing the action for severe fistic punishment which he received from the brother, who promptly avenged the alleged insults by blows. Brennan's sister is an invalid, and a certificate of her condition today was sent to the court room by Dr. Pittis, the attending physician.

WILL CONFER ON TRUNK LINE SEWER PROPOSITION.

A conference of the several municipalities interested in the proposed trunk line sewer will be held tonight in the Common Council chamber, when there will be a general discussion of the proposition. It may be that the cost as estimated by Hering & Fuller, engineers, will be too expensive to be feasible.

But at any rate the report will tend to throw considerable light on the question and be of assistance in solving the question of sewage for the various cities and towns. F. E. Mygatt, of the Plainfield Common Council, is chairman of the joint committee, the members of which represent the different towns that are interested in the subject.

SUYDAM SLAYER'S TRIAL

Lumsden Faces Jury in New York for Killing of Plainfield Councilman.

VICTIM'S WIFE WEEPS IN COURT

Counsel For Defense Plans to Prove That it Was Not He who Killed Curb Broker Suydam.

After three tedius days in obtaining a jury, the trial of John C. Lumsden, charged with the murder of Councilman Harry B. Suydam, of this city, a curb broker in the office of the victim, at 39 Broad street, New York, on December 19, was begun in earnest before Judge Malone in General Sessions yesterday in New York.

For the first time the accused man found himself confronted by the widow of the broker. Robed in black, her colorless face marked deep with lines of suffering, Mrs. Suydam set alone inside the railing to the left of the defendant. Lumsden paled as he caught her glance and through the balance of the long day he studiously avoided her steady gaze.

The only other woman in the court room sat far in the rear. Lumsden's eyes sought hers at every opportunity. She is his wife—a tall, handsome woman with a full, strong face and steady blue eyes. There was no duel of glances between these women. Each seemed to respect the sorrow of the other.

When, at the one intense moment of the day, Mrs. Suydam burst into tears as the prosecuting attorney displayed the dead man's bullet punctured clothing to the jury, the prisoner's wife bowed her head upon her hands.

In opening the case for the people Assistant District-Attorney Nott indulged in no flights of oratory.

"This is a business man's case," said he, "and upon your decision rests the answer to the question whether or not the business men of this city must keep a loaded revolver beside them on their desks."

Then, in clear, crisp sentences he described the shooting of Suydam and the causes leading to it. He told how young Lumsden, having invented an electric vibrator, became interested in a company promoted by Suydam and others for its manufacture and sale, and how, having loaned stock with the understanding that it should be sold and the proceeds used for the company's benefit, he conceived the notion that Suydam had appropriated the money.

"He went to Suydam's office on the morning of Dec. 19," said Mr. Natt, "determined either to have that money or to kill."

The important witnesses examined yesterday were the three living persons who witnessed the tragedy. They were Arthur Meyer, an office boy; George A. Downs, a clerk in Suydam's employ, and William H. Collins, who represents the Calvin Sterns estate, and his desk room in the office.

Their stories agree on the main details of the shooting, but throw no light upon the causes underlying it. The witnesses told of Lumsden's arrival, of his taking Suydam into a hall for a private conversation, and of the return of the two men a few moments later. Both men were seemingly calm. The one thing the witnesses seemed to have noticed and remembered best was that Lumsden had his hands in the pocket of his overcoat.

"Help, He's Going to Shoot!"

Suydam suddenly cried:

"Help me, George, he's going to shoot. Get that gun!"

At the same instant he threw both arms around Lumsden, whose hands were still in the pockets of his coat. Downs sprang upon Lumsden's back, and glancing down saw him drawing a revolver from his pocket. Then two shots were fired in rapid succession.

Collins joined in the scuffle and, aided by Downs, bore Lumsden to the floor, with Suydam, mortally wounded, still clinging to him.

Collins testified that the revolver was in Lumsden's right hand and that he shook it from his grasp. It fell on the floor and, according to the testimony, Downs picked it up and, leveling it at Lumsden, threatened to shoot him.

Downs, gun in hand, was standing over the accused man when the police entered the office. He was at first supposed to have done the shooting and was roughly handled.

Cross-examination failed to shake the evidence save in minor details. But these minor details seemed to delight Lumsden and his five able lawyers.

Defense Planning a Surprise.

It is rumored that they are holding a big surprise in reserve for the prosecution and that overwhelming

French Flower Market

A Repetition of Our Last Spring's Floral Show, With Unique Settings.

There hasn't been a real French flower show for sale in Newark since our last one about a year ago, when we originated the Little French Flower Market feature.

This season we reproduce as faithfully as we can the little booths that are seen on La Promenade du Jardin du Palais Royal in Paris.

Our little flower booths are built in imitation of these and in them we will reveal a wealth of floral beauty such as is now made for millinery uses. It will be a most gorgeous and interesting spectacle and will attract thousands of visitors.

Those who come needn't buy, but we caution you that the prices we have placed upon the flowers will tempt many a one to buy who comes without thought of doing so.

It will be the greatest flower show Newark has ever seen, and more flowers will be disposed of than were ever sold by any Newark house in a single week.

Let these prices speak for themselves—then let the beauty of the flowers make its own appeal when you come.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, dedicated the new edifice of the Catholic church of St. Mary Magdelen, at Millville, Sunday, in the presence of a large congregation.

Falling on an icy sidewalk in Camden, yesterday, Michael Fox, thirty years old, sustained a fracture of the right leg. He was taken to Cooper Hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Cunningham, of Gloucester county, has gone to Connecticut after Fred Barnes, who is wanted at Woodbury on a charge of larceny. Barnes agreed to make the trip without requisition.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Tilton, of 408 Hudson street, Trenton, are in a serious condition as the result of ptomaine poisoning from eating canned sardines. The couple partook of the fish for a late lunch Friday night.

Rev. Dr. James William Marshall made a farewell address in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Millville, Sunday night. He will ask to be changed by conference to St. Paul's, New Brunswick, to which he has received a call.

The Blackwood Improvement Association has called a special meeting for tonight, when further arrangements will be completed for the complimentary dinner to be tendered U. Willard Morgan, of Camden, on March 22.

George Richardson, the last of the four men who were in Woodbury jail in connection with the alleged murder of Edward Cole, of Paulsboro, was released under $1,000 bail late Saturday night. Many take this to mean that Prosecutor Rogers has secured no further evidence in the mystery.

In celebration of canceling a $30,000 mortgage, thereby freeing the church from debt, the members of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Camden, where the New Jersey Methodist Episcopal Conference will hold its annual sessions, beginning today, held a jubilee service last night.

Seventy women in Beverly tonight will organize a beneficial lodge—Daughters of Pocahontas—an auxiliary to the Improved Order of Red Men. The institution of the lodge will be conducted by sixty members of Fair Star Lodge No. 63, of Camden, assisted by the local order, Keepawa Tribe, No. 261. A special train will bring the Camden women.

Hudreds of oystermen from all parts of Atlantic and Ocean counties will be present in court at May's Landing tomorrow when the case of the Sooy Oyster Company, which oystermen claim is a trust, and the individual tongers will come up for trial. The oystermen were arrested for raiding the Sooy riparian grounds, but claim that they have State rights to catch natural seed oysters there.

Fearing that there would be trouble at St. Joseph's Polish Catholic church, Tenth and Liberty streets, Camden, yesterday a as result of high feeling between rival factions, the police were asked for protection. Captain Stanley and a squad of officers went to the scene of the supposed trouble, but beyond a crowd collecting nothing occurred that required any interference on the part of the policemen.

Fort Denies Atlantic City Rumor.

Governor Fort said today there was no foundation in the fact for the reports sent out from Atlantic City that he had notified Prosecutor Goldenberg that should the city authorities fail to keep out gambling devices the State would interfere. In connection with these reports it was stated that an attempt was about to be made to reinstall the gambling machines which were taken out of saloons and other establishments some weeks ago. Governor Fort not only denied that he had written such a letter to the prosecutor as was attributed, but added that he had no information that any attempt to reinstall the machines had been contemplated.

Chief of Police Took Bail.

Chief of Police Foris, of Garfield, it is understood, took $25 cash bail Saturday night for Adrain Wagner, a native of Garfield, and now a private in the United States army. Wagner had been arrested on a charge of stabbing James Deweyer in the arm. The men became involved in a fight at a local hotel. After the stabbing James Deweyer went to the office of Dr. George Davenport, who dressed the wound. Eight stitches were required to close it. Wagner pleaded to be released, as he had to report at the barracks at Tompkinsville Sunday morning. The chief of police, therefore, let him go, after taking the cash as security that he would return when wanted.

Ramblers Hold Annual Banquet.

The third annual banquet of the Ramblers' Club of Newton was given by Thomas W. Bentley, one of the members, at Earl's cafe, Friday evening. The membership of the club is limited, and it was organized for the purpose of its members taking Sunday walks to outlying towns and there dine. In this way many of the towns of the county have been visited. Among those present were A. Godfrey Wilson, Charles M. Woodruff, Richard F. Goodman, Lewis J. Martin, James E. Baldwin, Andrew J. Van Blarcom and Obadiah E. Armstrong.

AIMED AT MONEY BORROWERS.

Senator Harry D. Leavitt, of Mercer, introduced in the Senate last night a bill making it a misdemeanor to make a false statement to any bank or other concern upon which to obtain a loan. The measure will be a supplement to the crimes act and will provide that any person making false statement in writing to any person, firm or corporation engaged in banking or other business respecting his financial conditions or that of any firm or corporation of which he is a member, director or agent, for the purpose of procuring a loan, or having made such a statement, shall procure a loan upon it, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

The bill was introduced at the request of the New Jersey Bankers' Association and will be advocated by it in order to secure severe punishment for the commission of the acts prohibited.

Senator Leavitt will also introduce a bill making it lawful for any notary public who is a stockholder, director or employe of any bank or other corporation, to administer the oath to any other stockholder, director or employe, or to take the necessary steps to protest commercial papers.

Firemen's Campaign Active.

The realization that a paid, or partly paid, fire department is likely to become a realty in Perth Amboy within a year or two has caused a wild scramble for a place on the firemen's ticket at Perth Amboy for the May election in the present volunteer department. For years there have been at times several candidates for second assistant chief. This year each company has one and McClellan Engine Company has two—Patrick Rocks and John Desmond. Rocks was last year a candidate from his company, and he was defeated by Theodore Anderson, of Washington Hose Company, by one vote. Rocks considers himself the logical candidate, but Desmond disputes his right to the company's preference again this year. Anderson will be opposed for first assistant by three or four candidates, but thus far no opposition has developed to Alderman George Larson, the present first assistant, who is scheduled to become chief of the department.

Saved Because Skirt Tore.

Mrs. Anna Nixon, of Newton, had a narrow escape from serious injury while at work on Saturday, at Factory A, of the H. W. Merriam Shoe Company. Her skirt caught in the shafting near the floor and was dragging her under the belt toward the pulley when the fastenings of the skirt gave way and released her.

proof will be furnished that Lumsden's hand did not fire the fatal shots. The contention will be that the young inventor was attacked by Suydam and that he did no shooting, even in self-defense.

A curious feature of yesterday's evidence was the remarkable clearness of each witness upon certain details and a total forgetfulness of others. For example each witness was sure that Lumsden had his hands in the pocket of his overcoat when he entered the office with Suydam. But no witness could recall how anyone else held his hands at that particular time.

Other witnesses who testified were Coroner's Physician Lehane and Dr. Ralph Dellenband, of the Hudson Street Hospital. Their evidence touched only upon the character of the wounds and the identity of the victim.

Lumsden is represented by Lawyers J. Fitzgerald, who yesterday conducted the examination of witnesses; Charles J. Nehrbas, Oscar B. Bergstrom, Charles Harris, of Raleigh, N. C., and former Governor Aycock, of North Carolina, who will make the closing address to the jury.

When the trial was resumed today the widow of the murdered man was again in court showing intense interest in all the proceedings. The plans of the defence as outlined today are that it will seek to establish the fact that the revolver that killed the broker went off accidentally during a struggle in his office. This was decided on after yesterday's testimony of George A. Downs, who was employed by Suydam.

Downs said Suydam had seized Lumsden, who had his hands in his overcoat pockets. Downs jumped on Lumsden from behind and seized his right hand, but was unable to prevent him from shooting twice. Downs illustrated, with Mr. Nott and Assistant District Attorney Symonds as models, just how Suydam and Lumsden were standing at the time of the shooting. After the two shots were fired Downs released his hold on Lumsden, who waved the revolver but did not shoot again.

Forfeited His Bail.

David Petite, who with William Emmons, was arrested in the borough yesterday for fighting, did not appear for trial last night and the $10 which he had put up as bail was forfeited. Emmons, who was getting the best of the fistic encounter when the police interfered, was fined $3 by Recorder Dolliver, which he paid.

LENTEN RECITAL AT MRS. GINNA'S HOME

The first of two Lenten recitals was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna on Watchung avenue, by Joseph McIntyre, and was largely atended by an appreciative and cultured audience. It was a song and violin recital and the program was a choice one, there being sufficient variety to please everyone. Mr. McIntyre presided at the piano, and the soloists were Miss Christine Miller, contralto, and Hans Letz, violinist.

Although Miss Miller is a comparative stranger here, her appearance yesterday was an auspicious one and the reception accorded her was flattering and must have been appreciated. She possesses a voice of great range and depth, and yet with a richness that at once wins her audience. She was generous in her numbers and it is doubtful whether she has ever been heard to better advantage. The audience was unusually enthusiastic and accorded her full praise throughout.

Hans Letz, violinist, who is now considered a favorite here, being a valued member of the McIntyre trio, charmed everyone with his playing. That he is a master of the violin was amply demonstrated yesterday and he entranced all by his renditions of "Rondo from Concerto, op 10," and "Lorelei," given as an encore.

Too much praise cannot be given Mr. McIntyre for his delightful work at the piano. He accompanied Miss Miller and Mr. Letz in faultless style and thereby added charm to the recital. He is always a favorite with Plainfielders and yesterday's event was no exception in the hearty reception given.

The program opened with Beethoven's delightful "Sonato, op. 21," for violin and piano, the movements being "Allegro," "Adagio molto expressivo," "Scherzo" and "Rondo," (allegro non troppo,) affording every opportunity for fine work on these instruments.

Miss Miller sang two French songs three in German, one in Italian and six in English, everyone a gem. Perhaps, her singing of "Sogno," by Paolo Tosti, was the most notable of the afternoon. There was one decided feature in her work and that was her enunciation. It was perfect and added much to the pleasure of those present. Miss Miller's numbers follow:

"L'Heure Rose," Agusta Holmes; "Le Marriage des Fleurs," Caesar Franck; "Verborgenheit," Hugo Wolf; "Sogno," Paolo Tosti; "Du bist wie eine Blume" and "Waldesgesprach," Robt. Schumann; "Thro' the Meadow" and "The Blue-Bell," Edward MacDowell; "The Nightingale's Song," Ethelbert Nevin; "Night and Dawn," Frank Fairfield; "Flower Rain," Edwin Schneider; and "How's My Boy?"

The second recital will be given at the home of Mrs. Ginna on Tuesday afternoon, March 30.

WHITE AND MRS. GREEN MUST KEEP THE PEACE

Warned by City Judge Runyon to keep the peace in future under penalty of a heavy fine, the case of Isaac White against Mrs. Nannie Green, both colored, was dismissed at city court today with considerable difficulty. It was several minutes before His Honor's announcement of the dismissal could check the flow of lisping testimony which Mrs. Green was unreeling.

White swore out the warrant yesterday when he came to police headquarters with his face bruised and said that Mrs. Green had slapped him with a shovel when he remonstrated with her for using his firewood. The two occupy different floors in the same house on West Third street, and are not fast friends. The man's story developed the statements that Mrs. Green had attacked him with a "coal shovel, axes and things," when he went to her rooms Sunday to put a stop to depredations to his wood pile. He further affirmed that the woman had broken his windows with an axe, coming downstairs after he had made his escape from her bombardment.

Mrs. Green has an impediment in her speech, and this detracted from the impressiveness of her testimony. She made a strong point of the fact that her "l-l-lan-n-n-'l-l-ord" had given her the wood. It was clear to the court that both were at fault, for even White said: "We did pass the word 'lie' once or twice, Your Honor," so he urged the two to patch up the trouble and try to live as peaceful tenants.

NOTED 'CELLIST APPEARS AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE.

Prof. Michael Lambert, the 'cellist, who is appearing at Proctor's theatre this week, is a personal friend of Vladimir Dubinsky, also a famous 'cello player, who is so well-known to Plainfielders. He is of German descent and finished his musical education abroad. While in Europe he secured his 'cello, which has a remarkable history. It was made in Lombardy, Italy, in 1620, by Gasparo Di Salo, and is valued at $5,000.

The professor discovered it by mere chance in the home of an old musician, who had its complete history. He owned it for a quarter of a century and parted with it reluctantly.

CARICATURE ANGERS ONE OF ERIN'S SONS

The present day tendency to caricature the Irish in innumerable ways has led to a strong protest on the part of an Irish-American against the use of miniature pigs, hod-carriers, etc., in the show window of a local candy store. It has been the custom of this concern, as well as others in a similar line to dress their windows appropriate to the different holidays, and in anticipation of March 17, "St. Patrick's Day," the firm in question did not depart from the usual rule.

As a result the following letter was received yesterday by the concern:

"Gentlemen:—I would respectfully ask that you remove from your window the offensive caricatures of the Irish race which you have now on display. Pigs and hod-carriers do not represent the Irish people and are therefore an offense to all men of that race.

"As a representative of that race and a lover of truth, justice and a square deal, I would ask you to at once remove those offensive emblems. You will be the gainer by so doing. Thanking you in anticipation of your action, I remain

"Yours truly,

"An Irish-American."

SUBWAY FOR NEWARK TO COST TWO MILLIONS

The Municipal Committee of the Newark Common Council, in conference yesterday afternoon with Mayor Jacob Haussling, approved a bill providing for the building of an underground street railway in that city, to relieve traffic conditions. The bill was drafted by City Engineer Morris R. Sherrerd, and will be introduced in the New Jersey Legislature soon.

It provides for the spending of not more than $2,000,000 in the construction of a subway, the money to be raised by an issue of temporary loan bonds, to bear not more than 5 per cent. interest. Joint action between the Common Council and the Board of Works of Newark is required under the bill's stipulation.

The bill permits of the renting of the subway for a period of fifty years, with the right given the lessee to renew the lease for an additional half century.

—Mrs. Charles Rice, of West Seventh street, will give a thimble party at her home this afternoon to which the women of the Congregational church have been invited.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will have initiation at its meeting Thursday night.

DOG SEEKS LEARNING IN BOROUGH SCHOOL

A large St. Bernard dog visited Somerset school yesterday to the great delight of the pupils. After inspecting the various class rooms on the lower floor, stopping before the open doors and gazing at the assembled children, he found his way upstairs and finally selected the eighth grade class as conforming most suitably to his attainments. No pupil listened more attentively to the rehearsals than he, sitting majestically on his haunches near the seat of a boy who reached out with his foot now and then when teacher wasn't looking to encourage the dog with a poke in the ribs.

As the class filed out into the hall the huge beast also fell in line and marched with unconcern with the pupils scarcely taller than he.

Superintendent Krebs tried to inveigle him into his office, but his dogship knew what he was about and refused to be dissuaded from his progress to a higher education. Later however, the honk of an automobile outside proved to be the lure which altered his good intentions and he dashed out into the street.

JUSTICE MINTURN ON FOREIGN RULE IN ERIN.

Two celebrations commemorative of the 131st anniversary of Robert Emmet were held in New York Sunday night. The United Irish League held a meet at the Lyric Theatre and the Clan-Na-Gael gathered at the Herald Square Theatre.

James F. Minturn, of the Supreme Court bench of New Jersey, delivered the address at the Clan-Na-Gael exercises. He thought that the only remedy for Ireland's ills is the abolition of English rule. He said that it could be accomplished by crippling English administration by passive resistance rather than by open fighting.

Michael J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, president of the United Irish League of America, said during the course of an address at the league celebration:

"John E. Redmond has done more to advance the political, material, intellectual and industrial interests of Ireland than any other man in the last century. Never since the day of Emmet has the future of Ireland looked brighter with the promise of victory than it does today under the leadership of Redmond. He represents an Ireland united to an extent unparalleled in all her checkered history, and he is the unquestioned leader of an organization that has done much for the cause of Irish freedom.

"If Redmond would today forget the cause for which Ireland is fighting, he would become the Prime Minister of England. Intellectually he is the most powerful man in all of the British Empire, and he is devoting all the talents with which he has been endowed to carrying on the work which was begun by Robert Emmet more than a hundred years ago."

LEGISLATURE MAY END WORK MARCH 20 OR 27.

If Speaker Prince has his way there will be no all-night wind-up session of the House this year. Mr. Prince sees no reason for an all-night session as has been customary in years past but, on the contrary, would have the House adjourn at a reasonable hour on the last night and reconvene the following morning at 10 o'clock to finish up. Of course, in order to accomplish this some arrangement for a similar course in the Senate must be made.

The Speaker believes the House will be ready to adjourn finally March 20, and Majority Leader Frelinghuysen of the Senate feels the same date will be acceptable for the upper branch.

Governor Fort, however, is anxious to keep the lawmakers in session until March 27, and it is probable this will be the closing date. A conference of the majority leaders of both branches will be held tonight or tomorrow on this subject and some sort of formal announcement will be made this week.

STATE BARS INSTALMENT PLAN.

Attorney-General Edmund Wilson has notified the authorities of the Perth Amboy District Court not to allow any more cases in which the State figures to be settled on the instalment plan. The State Board of Health has brought a number of prosecutions in the District Court within recent years and where the defendants have no realty they have been allowed to pay in instalments, rather than send them to jail. The attorney-general's office made inquiry recently about a case and was told that part of the fine had been paid and that the instalments on the rest of it had not been paid. He then issued instructions to insist hereafter upon prompt settlement of all fines imposed at the suit of his office or to let the law take its course.

OLD SLOCUM SINKS AGAIN.

Hull of Fateful Steamboat Had Become a Brick Barge.

The barge Maryland, formerly the steamboat General Slocum, which was burned in Long Island Sound on June 15, 1904, when 1,031 lives were lost, sank at South River Friday. She was loaded with 500,000 brick, the weight of which sank her too deep and she struck a rock and split in the middle. No lives were lost. She was to have sailed for Wilmington, Del., yesterday, but had only been sent from New York to Sayreville for the brick a few days ago.

The old hulk was raised by New York city and bought by a Perth Amboy junkman. It was rebuilt as a brick barge and renamed the Maryland.

Loses Eye in Accident.

A man named Wally, of Kingsland, about thirty years of age, unloading heavy freight from a car at Rahway yesterday, was working at the crane when the machinery slipped a cog and the handle flew around striking him full in the face, knocking him ten feet away, destroying one eye and perhaps fracturing the skull. He was taken to the office of Dr. J. M. Randolph, who dressed the injury and sent him home to Kingsland. He is unmarried.

The Women's Relief Corps Auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will meet Friday night.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will hold a regular meeting tonight. A program of special interest will be presented.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By THOMAS A. WISE

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THOMAS A. WISE

Haines, entirely unprepared for such a denouement, shot a searching glance at Carolina. She bowed her head in affirmation.

"So that's why you tried to ruin me!" he cried. "You're both from the same mold," turning from Carolina Langdon to Congressman Norton, then back to the girl.

They stood facing each other when Randolph Langdon returned. At sight of Bud Haines he started, stopped short a second, then came forward quickly.

"Mr. Haines, my father has declared that he will not see you, and either you leave this house at once or I shall call the servants."

Bud looked at young Langdon contemptuously.

"Yes, I think you would need some help," he sneered, feeling in his veins the rush of red blood, the determination in his heart that had a few years back carried him through eighty yards of struggling Yale football players to a touchdown.

The senator's son drew back his arm, but the alert, confident look of the New Yorker restrained him.

"Mr. Haines, in the south gentlemen do not make scenes of violence before ladies."

The cold rebuke of Carolina cut into the silence.

Haines stood in perplexity. He did not know what to do or how to get to the senator. It was Hope who came to his rescue.

"I'll tell father Mr. Haines is here."

"I'll tell father you are here. I'll make him come, Mr. Haines. He shall see you."

With the air of a defiant little princess she started for the door.

"Hope, I forbid you doing any such thing," exclaimed her older sister, but the younger girl paid no attention. Randolph caught her arm.

"You shall not, Hope," he cried.

Hope Georgia struggled and pulled her arm free.

"I reckon I just got to do what seems right to me, Randolph," she exclaimed. "I reckon I've grown up tonight, and I tell you—I tell all of you"—she whirled and faced them—"there's something wrong here, and father is going to see Mr. Haines tonight, and they are going to settle it."

Norton alone was equal to the situation, temporarily at least.

"I'll be fair with you, Hope," he said reassuringly, and she stopped in her flight to the hall door. "I'll take Carolina and Randolph in to see the senator, and we'll tell him Mr. Haines is here. Perhaps we had better tell the senator," Norton suggested, beckoning to Carolina and her brother. "Let Mr. Haines wait here, and we will make the situation clear to the senator."

"You'd better make it very clear," exclaimed the younger girl, "for I'm going to stay here with Mr. Haines until he has seen father."

The guilty trio, fearful of this new and unexplainable activity of Hope Georgia, slowly departed in search of Senator Langdon to make a last desperate attempt to prevent him from meeting this pestilential secretary that was—and might be again.

When the door closed after them Hope came down to the table where Bud Haines was standing.

"Won't you sit down, Mr. Haines?" she said. "I'll—I'll try to entertain you until father comes," she said weakly, realizing that again she was alone with the man she loved.

CHAPTER XVIII.

HOPE LANGDON'S HOUR OF TRIUMPH

HAINES sat at a table in the reception room, across from Hope Georgia, and his gratitude for her battle in his favor mingled with a realization of qualities in this young lady that he had never before noticed. Probably he did not know that what he had really seen in her that day and that evening was the sudden transition from girlhood to womanhood, her casting aside of thoughtless, irresponsible youth and the shouldering of the responsibilities of the grown woman who would do her share in the world's work.

She would do her share in the world's work.

He stared across in astonishment at this slip of a girl who had outwitted two resourceful men and an older sister of unquestioned abilities.

"I do not recognize you, Miss Hope," he said finally.

"Perhaps you never looked at me before," she suggested archly, feeling instinctively that this was her hour; that the man she loved was at this moment thinking more about her than of anything else in the world.

Haines made a gesture of regret.

"That must be it," he agreed. Then he leaned forward eagerly. "But I'm looking at you now, and I like looking at you. I like what you've done for me."

"Oh, that was nothing, Mr. Haines," she exclaimed airily, her intuition telling her of her sway over the man.

"Nothing!" he exclaimed. "Well, it's more than any one ever did for me before. I've known lots of girls"—

"I don't doubt that, Mr. Haines," Hope interjected, with a light laugh.

"Yes, I say I've known lots of girls, but there's never been one who showed herself such a true friend as you have been. There's never been any one who believed in me this way when I was practically down and out."

"Perhaps you've never been down and out before, Mr. Haines, so they never had a chance to show whether they believed in you or not."

"That may be one reason," he answered. "I wonder why"—he paused—"I wonder why your sister Carolina did not believe in me."

"You were quite fond of her, weren't you?" the girl began, then stopped and turned away her head.

Haines gazed curiously at Hope.

"I was, yes. I even thought I loved her, but I soon saw my mistake. It wasn't love. It was only a kind of"—

Suddenly pausing, Bud Haines shot a swift glance at the girl.

"What wonderful hair you have, Miss Hope."

The girl smiled invitingly.

"Think so?"

"Yes," he declared earnestly. "I know so. I never noticed it before, but I guess lots of fellows down in Mississippi have."

Hope's tantalizing smile worried him. "I hope you are not secretly engaged too!" he exclaimed.

"No, oh, no!" she answered quickly before she thought.

"Or in love?" he asked seriously.

Haines had stood up and was now leaning intently over the table. He realized the difference between the feeling he had had for Carolina and the tender emotion that thrilled him as he thought of the sweet girl before him. This time he knew he was not mistaken. He knew that he truly loved Hope Langdon.

"Or in love?" he asked again, anxious at her silence.

Hope looked at him slowly. A faint blush illumined her face.

"Oh, don't let's talk about me," she exclaimed.

(To be continued.)

By "FOOTLIGHTS."

Glau and his overweight chorus from the "Aeroplane" company have returned to New York in what may be described as greatly reduced circumstances. Not as to finances, let it be said, nor yet in numbers, glory be, but in aveirdupois—that is to say, gross flesh. The entire galaxy has lost out in this respect, much to its advantage.

It seems the people out west will support slim balerinos, and no other, and our famous "balloon chorus" carried, so to speak, no weight with them. They treated that prize collection of fat New York beauties with an unprecedented coldness. Consequently, Glau faced the problem of reducing the entire front and rear rows at once, or shipping them back—"excess" baggage. It was a terrific job, as all who saw the "Aeroplane" before it left this tolerant town will admit, but our ingenious townsman tackled it and succeeded—broke all records in fact. And thereby hangs a tale worthy of any fat lady's attention.

Glau didn't rehearse his flock into shape, nor starve them into line, nor yet worry them, verbally, into shadows. He paid salaries regularly and let them eat and drink as they listed. He simply hung up a new rule in the dressing rooms to the effect that every lady less than five foot seven who weighed in excess of 150 pounds must take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime (or about where her bedtime ought to be), of the following: One half ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3½ ounces Peppermint Water.

They did it and in a month averaged a loss of a pound a day apiece. "That's a dandy receipt," says Glau. "Simple, pleasant, harmless and a worker from the word 'go.' Wish I could get a railroad rate reducer half as good."

A committee to solicit funds was appointed, comprising Clarence Steiner, David Smalley, Carleton Smith, Ray Miller and Russell Conroy.

FAMOUS FOOTBALL DOGS TO BE EXHIBITED HERE

Not for many a day has this country so anxiously been awaiting the arrival of a sensational vaudeville feature as in the case of the much talked about "Football Dogs," which arrived on the S. S. Celtic Sunday morning. Through Manager Counihan's personal acquaintance with the manager of this extraordinary feature it was possible to secure the act for the New Plainfield theatre prior to the $1,000 per week engagement over the most prominent vaudeville circuit in this country. It is impossible to give a fair illustration of the almost humanlike instinct of the canines when excitingly engaged in the game, it may be said, however, that they have been the rage of Europe for many seasons and that each one of the fifteen dogs has a pedigree and quite some prizes to his credit. Most noteworthy may be "King Jim," a $2,000 dog who acts in the game as one of the goalkeepers.

Owing to the importance of the engagement manager Counihan has arranged for a special matinee for next Saturday. As an inducement and treat to the school children they will be admitted for five cents at this extra performance.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be infant baptism at Trinity Reformed church on Sunday.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a heart social tonight.

The last official board meeting of the conference year will be held at the First M. E. church tomorrow night.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a sewing meeting Friday, March 19.

The children of the First M. E. church Sunday-school will give a Mother Goose song recital in Vincent chapel Friday night at 8 o'clock. A nominal admission fee will be charged.

JUDGE ULRICH RETURNS

After Ten Years, Once Prominent Man Emerges From Morris Plains Asylum.

HIS MIND FULLY RESTORED.

"I'm Glad to Be Back," Says Former City Judge and Former Assemblyman.

Former Judge John Ulrich, at one time one of the most prominent men in Union county, has emerged from the Morris Plains asylum after ten years confinement apparently a well man mentally and physically. So quietly was his formal release brought about that the judge himself was surprised when a Daily Press reporter greeted him. He has made no plans for the future. He begged to be excused from making any statement concerning his life during the past decade or the manner in which his release was accomplished. He said, however, that the institution was a well conducted place but that he was glad to be home again.

Friends of the judge say that for a long time Dr. Brittin Evans has been considering the advisability of granting Ulrich his freedom and that during the last month or so he became convinced that the time was drawing near when the man should be returned to his friends and relatives. The change that had come over the judge had been gradual. Instead of writing letters that were disconnected, his communications to his friends of late had been rational if not brilliant. His opportunity to demonstrate his real mental faculties, however, did not come until Lincoln's birthday, when he made an oration on the martyr President before his fellow inmates at Morris Plains that deeply impressed the attendants and staff. On Monday, Dr. Evans placed him on parole and told him he could have his freedom. He drove home on Monday in company with his nephew.

Judge Ulrich at one time was a power in Union county Republican politics. He was city judge here for some years and later served two terms in the lower house at Trenton.

MRS. MORRISON DEAD; AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS.

Mrs. Joseph B. Morrison, of Watchung avenue, died suddenly this morning from a complication of diseases. Although she had been complaining for a month past, it was only during the last week that her condition became serious. Despite the best of treatment Mrs. Morrison did not respond to it.

Mrs. Morrison was formerly Miss Anna W. Mosher. She was born in this city and lived here all her life. She was a member of the Religious Society of Friends and attended the meeting on Watchung avenue. She leaves a husband, who is janitor of the Lincoln Public School, one son and a daughter, the latter living in Westerly, R. I. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Amy Lorton, of Watchung avenue, and Mrs. Arthur T. Stryker, of Spooner avenue. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

Bible Class Dinner.

The Yerkes' bible class of the First Baptist church was entertained last night, at the home of its teacher, James E. Church, on Somerset street. In the course of the evening, a fine dinner was served under the direction of the hostess, Mrs. Kate Leland. Those present were: Frank Webster, Ernest Powlison, Chester Denton, Wallace Pearce, Leland Manning, Charles Lee, Walter Stine, Hollis B. Cubberly, Arthur Perrin, Arthur N. Ferris, Russell Bird, Oliver Ulmer and Winfield Wainwright.

DRUGGISTS WORRIED OVER ICE SHORTAGE

The Plainfield Druggists' Association held its monthly meet last night, when several matters of importance were discussed, including the ice situation. All agreed that it is rather serious and the present outlook does not afford much signs of relief in the way of better prices. A week ago the wholesale price of ice was raised to forty cents and on Monday it was raised an additional ten cents a hundred, with no prospects of being lower during the summer. In fact, it may go even still higher. Ways and means of escaping the present situation were discussed but no plans were announced.

At the request of the general committee from the Board of Trade having charge of the Charter Day celebration, the association appointed B. J. Schreiner and E. F. Champlin as a committee to represent it in the coming celebration. The members are enthusiastic over the approaching event, expressing the opinion that it will be a great success.

LOTUS GLEE CLUB MAKES A BIG HIT

The mimicry of Mrs. Minnie Marshall Smith supplied the humor while the love songs by the quartette furnished the sentiment and rounded out a pleasing program at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night of a concert given by the Lotus Glee Club. It was a star course event and was presented before a full house, which it deserved.

Of Mrs. Smith's selections, "A Country Romance," gave her the best opportunity to demonstrate her talent, introducing as it did four characters into the dialogue. She also recited "Let's Play," "My Milliner's Bill," a monologue; "Miss Amelia," and "Old Sweetheart Mine," recitations.

Charles L. Lewis' bass solos were heartily applauded. He sang "Three For Jack" and "Good Night." He was in good voice and ably assisted the quartette in its renditions.

The only disappointing feature of the entertainment was the inability of Mr. Hindermyer to sing his tenor solos, due to being in a convalescent stage following a recent attack of pneumonia. This necessitated the omission of an act of grand opera by the Glee Club. He was able to assist the quartette, however, singing first tenor.

G. Morgan Stricklett sang second tenor, Charles L. Lewis first bass and George H. Bemus second bass. Frank J. Smith was conductor.

This program was rendered:

"Greeting to Spring," Strauss, Lotus Glee Club; "A Country Romance," Dunbar, Mrs. Smith; "The Rosy Morn," Leslie; "Break, Break, Break," Fiske, Lotus Glee Club; "Three for Jack," Squire, Mr. Lewis; "My Milliner's Bill," Fiske, Mrs. Smith; "Gather the Roses," Sans-Souci, Mr. Stricklett; (a) "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak, (b) "Fidelen, Brahms, Lotus Glee Club; Recitation, Selected, Mrs. Smith; "Song of Hybreas the Cretan," Stuart, Mr. Bemus.

Some of the encores by the quartette were: "Ruba-dub," "My Sunflower Sue," "Fiddle-de-dee," "Old Sweetheart of Mine" and "I'm So Tired."

CZAR'S OFFICIALS PRAISE THE Y. M. C. A.

Many Plainfielders will be interested in the announcement that Premier Stolypin M. Khomyakoff, president of the Russian Duma, and other prominent government officials in St. Petersburg, have signed an address to Anson Phelps Stokes, of New York, in appreciation of his aid in founding the Russian Young Men's Christian Association.

There is local interest by reason of the fact that Eric Moraller, of this city, is in charge of the association at St. Petersburg. He was formerly a leading member of the Plainfield Association and later was graduated from DuPaw University, after which he was in charge of the athletics there. A year afterward he went to Russia, where he was married and took charge of the association work.

REPORT ON TRUNK SEWER

Commissioners Consider That the Project Would Be Too Expensive.

ENGINEERS GIVE ESTIMATES.

Dunellen Alone Favorable to Proposition—Another Scheme Broached for This City and Immediate Vicinity.

The sewer commission comprising representatives from several nearby municipalities met in the Common Council rooms, last night, to discuss the report of Hering & Fuller, engineers, on the estimated cost and survey for the proposed trunk line sewer. With the exception of Dunellen, which was represented by Mayor Harry Swackhamer, the cost is considered prohibitive and it is practically a certainty that the plan will not be adopted. The representatives of Plainfield and North Plainfield put themselves on record as opposed to it, while Hugh Pierce, speaking for New Bound Brook, said that pending a decision of the courts in a Phillipsburg case, his place would not consider the new proposition.

Councilman F. E. Mygatt, who is the general chairman of the commission, briefly stated the estimated cost of the improvement, as prepared by Hering & Fuller, which calls for a trunk line sewer to extend from Scotch Plains to a point of disposal below Bound Brook. The cost for installing the plant, exclusive of lands and rights of way, based on the present population, is $600,000. This, it is estimated, will take care of the sewage between eight and ten years. Based on double the present population the estimated cost is $800,000. The cost for operating the plant on the $600,000 proposition would be $24,000 a year and $37,000 a year on the second proposition of $800,000. These figures almost staggered the commission, especially those from Plainfield and North Plainfield, which would have to stand the bulk of the expense.

While the Hering & Fuller report was not released last night, enough was learned to show that the main proposition could not be considered. It does not provide for the method of disposal, that being left optional for either the tide-water or incinerating system.

After a statement by Mr. Mygatt, those present from the different towns were asked for an opinion. Mr. Pierce, representing New Bound Brook, said that a recent decision of a court in a case at Philipsburg, was to the effect that in such cases where sewage plants, emptying into streams, were installed prior to 1896, such municipalities could not be prevented from continuing to operate the system. Unless the State is in a position to compell municipalities to stop sewering into streams, New Bound Brook would not be in a position to consider any other system. It is understood that there is to be an argument on the quoted court decision, June 23 next. Bound Brook's sewers were installed prior to 1896 and is thereby affected.

Scott Terry and Henry Meyer, of Scotch Plains, stated that that municipality would be willing to do whatever was thought best. They believed that the trunk line sewer proposition the cheapest and best for the township, but a vote would be necessary before final action could be taken.

Speaking for North Plainfield, W. J. Buttfield said that the feeling is that the cost is prohibitive and would not be a business proposition worth considering. It was not thought feasible purely on the ground of expense. Mr. Mygatt speaking for Plainfield expressed the same views adding that the city's share of the expense of installation and maintenance would be far too heavy.

Mayor Harry Swackhamer, of Dunellen, said that that borough favored the proposition and stands ready to accept the terms. It was believed to be practical and feasible.

Referring to the report of Hering & Fuller, Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield, said that as the proposition was considered to be out of the question there was nothing to do but drop it and take up another plan, which would eliminate all the towns, except Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen.

This statement by Mr. Townsend brought to light the plan which has been quietly considered, to install sewage disposal beds in North Plainfield Township. As was expected this brought forth a storm of protest from Dunellen, although the plans if adopted would place the beds two miles from that borough, where at present the city's beds are next door to the town.

The discussion which followed revealed the fact that an option has

LOCAL OPTION FORCES INVADE STATE CAPITAL

Local option forces invaded Trenton yesterday in full strength, first to appear before the legislative committee to which was referred the Plummer bill, and second, to attend the mass meeting in the evening at Association Hall. Some of the best known temperance advocates in the country made addresses. Enthusiasm marked every appearance of the local option forces in Trenton, who felt well satisfied that the cause which they advocate has made appreciable gains since a year ago, when Governor Hadley, of Indiana, made his famous address here.

At the Legislature hearing Former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, declared a local option law would be "an emancipation proclamation to the slaves of the poison habit," and held that local option was a political and a legal right. He said in part:

"Now, with the situation clearly comprehended, with the demonstration of experiment on the one hand and the confession of the liquor dealers on the other, that local option law is death to their trade, remembering that New Jersey, where local option has been denied, is the home of more saloons than exist in the whole south land where local option has been applied; and remembering further, that 75 per cent. of the insanity, pauperism and crime for which New Jersey is taxed, and under which she staggers, is the legitimate offspring of the dram shop, upon what theory could the Legislature of this State deny to the people this most reasonable, legal, constitutional and valued law. Surely, they will grant it in pursuance of the constitutional authority."

REQUEST CO-OPERATION FOR CLEANING BROOK

With a view to ascertaining what can be done toward cleaning up Green brook and making it more sanitary, a conference of the Boards of Health of Plainfield and North Plainfield was held last night in the offices of the city board. All of the members of the Plainfield board and three members of the Borough board Messrs. Kenney, Osgood and Dundon, were present.

A resolution was finally adopted requesting the Mayors and Councils of Plainfield and North Plainfield to take the matter up. Methods of improvement of this waterway were suggested and these will be brought to the attention of the two governing bodies. Once before the Plainfield Council was requested to undertake such an improvement, but it was then of the opinion that it had no jurisdiction, and it is understood that the Borough Council felt the same way. However, it may be that Plainfield and North Plainfield will now see its way clear to undertake the improvement, especially being urged by the health authorities.

Among the improvements suggested are that the course of the stream be straightened and that a retaining wall be built through the city. It is not known whether such an idea will be considered at this time, but it is said to be possible. That the brook needs attention is a well-known fact if for no other reason than a protection to health. It was agreed last night that the stream could be made attractive and not an eye-sore as at present.

ROLLED OVER ONCE, SAVED FROM INJURY.

By rolling over quickly after being thrown from his wagon, William Wraight, superintendent of W. J. Conroy's carriage shop, saved himself yesterday morning from being crushed by a horse which dropped in the spot where he had been. As it was, his left arm and hand were wrenched and severely crushed. The overturning of his wagon was caused by a collision with a delivery wagon driven by Percy Dayton, whose horse swerved as the two rigs were about to pass on Greenbrook road. Mr. Wraight's horse ran, leaving him on the ground, and at the same instant the Dayton horse reared and plunged to that side of the road where it slipped and fell, while the man rolled over just in time to get clear of the animal.

The harness had to be cut to extricate the horse, and the Conroy wagon was badly twisted and broken. Mr. Dayton escaped uninjured.

Dr. and Mrs. George R. Boston, of The New Madison, have returned from a visit in Sussex county, where the doctor was called to attend a patient.

Among the guests registered this week at the Traymore Hotel, Atlantic City, are Mrs. J. B. Probasco, of West Seventh street, and her sister, Miss Dagmar, of Paris, France.

SLAYER ON THE STAND

Lumsden Gives His Version of Killing of Councilman H. B. Suydam.

STRUGGLED WITH THE VICTIM.

Fired Fatal Shot, He Alleged, After Suydam Had Dealt Him A Fierce Blow.

John C. Lumsden, charged with the murder of Councilman Harry C. Suydam, of this city, March 19, in the office of the victim, at No. 39 Broad street, New York, told his story yesterday before Judge Malone and a jury in the Court of Special Sessions.

His testimony was a sensation.

Probably half of those who listened, amazed, to the boyish looking prisoner, felt that he had destroyed his last chance for life. The other half saw in Lumsden's testimony a thrilling exhibition of courage; the triumph of an indomitable will over shattered nerves and torturing fear. To them there also was the convincing ring of truthfulness in the prisoner's clear, steady voice.

Lumsden's manner on the witness stand was the exact reverse of theatric. Quietly, as a well-bred man might confess mistakes and unbosom himself of troubles to a group of personal friends, this remarkable defendant told his story.

He frankly admitted having lied at the time of his arrest, when he said that the revolver from which the fatal shots were fired was not his, but Suydam's. He confessed he had borrowed the weapon from a friend on the day before the shooting.

"I told that lie on the impulse of the moment, to save my friend from trouble. That was my sole reason for the falsehood," testified Lumsden.

Under a searching cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney Not, the white-faced man in the witness chair, conquering pitiable physical weakness, neither faltered nor floundered. He never tripped in a single answer; never swerved in the slightest degree from his story.

Lumsden was the first witness called in his own defense. He arose with alacrity, walked with nervous haste to the witness chair, and, as he took his seat, it could be plainly seen that his hands were trembling and that the muscles of his arms and shoulders were twitching convulsively.

His clean-cut face, with thin aquiline nose, high arched eyebrows, fine fore head and long, sensitive chin, was tense and set. He half bowed to the Court, interlaced his fingers to still their trembling, and braced himself for the ordeal.

Story of the Tragedy.

Lumsden began by telling of his invention—an electric vibrator—and of the organization of a company by Harry B. Suydam and a man named Jacobs for its sale and manufacture.

The company accomplished nothing. Lumsden loaned his stock to Suydam and Jacobs, to be sold, and accepted six promisory notes for a total sum of $12,050. Payment had been refused and he believed that Suydam and Jacobs had defrauded him.

"I went to Suydam's office on the morning of March 19, arriving there at ten minutes before 10 o'clock," testified Lumsden. "Suydam was at his desk and I asked him to step out into the hall with me.

"As we left the office, George Downs, Suydam's clerk, entered. Suydam and I stood alone together in the hall. I took out the six promissory notes. He glanced at them and said:

"'Do you know what I said would happen to you if you came here again with those notes?'

"He had said that I would 'find myself in a h—— of a fix.'

"I said, 'Yes, I remember, and I am prepared. Unless you pay me I am going to see the District Attorney. I have already seen the manager of the curb market.'

"Suydam displayed no anger, but said, 'Come into the office. Wait until the market opens and I will get you the money.'

"Suddenly, and without warning, Suydam struck me a blow in the face. It hit my right cheek and staggered me. At the same instant he caught me around the body, crying to his clerk, 'George, grab him! Get his gun!'

Downs struck me a hard blow on the back of the head and threw his left arm around my neck. His right hand caught my right hand, which I had thrust into my overcoat pocket where my revolver lay.

"I did not try to draw the weapon then. My only thought was to retain possession of it. But my breath was cut off and I was being beaten and pounded by Suydam.

The Shooting.

"I could see nothing. Then I must

NAVY GIVES CREDIT TO BOROUGH SAILOR BOY

When the U. S. Steamship Ohio was awarded the efficiency cup at Hampton Roads on the completion of the world cruise, special credit was given to Ensign Richard McCullough, of North Plainfield, whose excellent supervision of his department made the winning of the prize possible.

The award to his ship was for having completed the cruise with the least consumption of coal. Ensign McCullough was first assistant to the chief engineer and had control of the fueling and the care of the boilers. By performing his duties in so creditable a manner and with such excellent result, he has brought attention to himself which may lead to early promotion. He is now stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where the Ohio is anchored, but will go to Washington next week to take examinations for a lieutenancy. Last Sunday he visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. McCullough, of Stelner place, for a few hours and they anticipate another visit within a few days.

"BAD MAN" TOM ALLEN PETITIONS FOR PARDON

Among the petitions for pardons, filed with Pardon Clerk Charles A. Ransom, of the Court of Pardons, for consideration at the March hearing, is that of Thomas Allen, colored, who is now serving a six-year term in State's prison for "breaking, entering, and stealing." Allen is well-known as a "bad man" to the local police, and was "sent up" on an indictment by Chief Kiely for robberies committed in this city more than eight years ago. Allen's term expires in March, 1915.

Allen was identified as the thief who for some time baffled the police about eight years ago. He was arrested, but denied his connection with any of the robberies. Immediately after his release, the Netherwood station was broken into and robbed and the colored man left town. It was shortly after this that a party of Princeton students captured him in an attempt to rob a house at Princeton. He was sentenced for an eight year term, and almost as soon as his time was up, he again appeared in this city.

Patrolman Higgins arrested him on Crescent avenue in December and took him to police headquarters as a suspicious character. A search by the police revealed that he had with him a black-jack and a squirtgun filled with ammonia. Chief Kiely immediately recognized the fellow when he was brought before him, and the indictments which he had procured as a result of the burglaries committeed before Allen's imprisonment were used to send the colored man to prison.

"I don't believe he'll get his pardon,' said the chief in speaking about the matter today, "because he's a 'bad man,' that Tom Allen, and has caused us a lot of trouble here."

DEAD IN HAY LOFT, FARMER FINDS BODY

John Cooney, a well-known character of South Plainfield, was found dead yesterday morning in the hay loft of Morris Higgins' barn, where he had gone during the night to sleep. An employe of Mr. Higgins found the body while performing his chores and notified Town Committeeman William Hamilton and others. For a time the man was thought to be in a stupor and efforts were made to revive him.

Coroner Garrison, of Perth Amboy, was notified, and after an examination, pronounced death due to alcoholism and Bright's disease. Cooney was forty years old. He had suffered from kidney trouble for several years and was recently discharged from St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick. His sister from Harrison has taken charge of the body.

JILTED MAN KILLS SELF

Harry Knight Commits Suicide in Front Yard of Fiancee's Home.

QUARRELED WITH SWEETHEART

Miss Mitchell, of Philadelphia, Received Attentions From Another—Dead Man Lived Here.

In a fit of despondency following a quarrel with his fiancee, Miss Nellie Mitchell, of Frankford, Philadelphia, Harry Knight, of 123 Elmwood place, shot himself as he stood in the girl's front yard early this morning. Death was instantaneous. Jealousy is believed to have been the motive for suicide.

The couple had been engaged for two years. Knight, who was 23 years of age, first met the girl at Hopewell. Last Christmas he gave her a handsome diamond ring, but since then has been ill and out of work a good deal of the time. He spoke of her but seldom when at home, but hinted that she was tiring of the long engagement and had become freindly with another.

Mrs. Sarah C. Knight, mother of the dead man, knew nothing about her son's visit to Philadelphia yesterday, and was dazed by the news which was brought to her by a Daily Press reporter. She said that the last time her son was in this city was Thursday night of last week. On that evening he came to the house, she says, but as no one was at home, left a note with a neighbor, saying that he had been ill and out of work for the past three weeks. He mentioned a machine shop job in Newark which he would like to get and left word that he was going there.

The dead man was a member of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and a machinist by trade. He had not had steady work since he was laid off from Potter's shop last July. Since then, however, he had been employed with Wilkinson & Gaddis, grocers, of Newark, and in a Newark machine shop. He was forced to give up the last position because of a severe attack of tonsilitis.

John Knight, brother of the dead man, left for Philadelphia immediately upon receiving the report of the suicide from the Daily Press reporter. Aside from his mother, four sisters and three brothers survive the young man. The sisters are Mrs. J. S. Durkee, of Lakewood, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. James Navan, of Jersey City, and the Misses Laura and Grace Knight. The brothers are Richard Knight, of New York city; George Knight, who is in Mexico; Frank W. Knight, of West Third street, and John Knight, of Elmwood place. Mrs. Knight's sister, Mrs. Joseph Hannis, lives in a Philadelphia suburb.

CARRIES LIVING SNAKES TO ILLUSTRATE LECTURE.

Allen S. Williams, of New York, will give a lecture on snakes in the High School auditorium tomorrow at 11:30 in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. In the morning, the pupils of the Stillman School will join with the High School in hearing the lecture. In the afternoon, the pupils of the Whittier School and the teachers of the city and borough will be present.

Mr. Williams is an authority on the subject. His lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides and also by living specimens which he will bring with him from the Bronx Zoo. The purpose of the lecture is to correct some of the false impressions that are current regarding this member of the animal kingdom and remove some of the foolish fear with which most people greet the appearance of harmless snakes in their walks in the country. The public generally is invited to attend the afternoon lecture.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO HOLD A CARNIVAL.

While the site has not been selected yet, the carnival will probably be held on the Brady property on West Front street, near Grant avenue, where the last affair was conducted by the Council with so much success. The committee is now at work on the details and as soon as completed will be announced.

One Nickel's Worth of Public Service

LAST week the PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION told its patrons about the transfers used on its street cars and pointed out some of the benefits derived therefrom by riders. Before that, facts and figures were submitted concerning the volume of traffic handled daily and annually. This talk is about the nickel which pays for the ride and entitles the passenger to the transfer, under certain conditions.

And right here let PUBLIC SERVICE say that the fact which it wishes to fix in the public mind, is, that while the purchasing power of a five-cent piece has been perceptibly lessened by economic conditions, when applied to the acquirement of almost any of the other necessities of one's daily life, its power has been actually increased in the measure of value given for a nickel by PUBLIC SERVICE.

COSTS MORE TO LIVE.

Just reflect a moment and see if the foregoing statement is not true. Take your own case as an example. If you are a householder haven't you found that the cost of living has been increased during recent years? Don't you pay more to maintain your table? Don't you find that the prices of meats, groceries, eggs, butter—in fact, everything you eat—have gone up?

Isn't it true that even the five-cent loaf of bread is not as large as it used to be? Don't the shoes and clothes with which you cover your body and the coal with which you heat your home cost you more than they did a few years ago? And these things being true, doesn't it necessarily follow that you cannot make the five-cent piece go as far in supplying your household wants as it used to? The only answer is that the purchasing power of the nickel has been reduced.

MORE SERVICE FOR FIVE CENTS.

Now what are the conditions applying to the street railway service? During the years that the prices of practically all commodities have been soaring; the wages of employes have been raised, and the cost of materials which enter into the construction, maintenance and operation of the trolley roads has increased but the five-cent carfare has not been advanced.

And not only has the rate of fare not been increased, but the nickel has been vested with additional carrying power, which nets the rider the equivalent of a reduced rate of fare. In other words, one can go farther for five cents now than was possible under former conditions.

LONGER AND QUICKER RIDES.

It is not so many years ago that one paid five cents, or even six cents, for a street car ride of three or four miles. Now a passenger on the PUBLIC SERVICE lines, by using the transfer privilege, may travel twelve or fifteen miles for a single five-cent fare. Isn't more service for the same money equivalent to the same service for less money?

Another advantage of present day riding is in the saving of time. The cars travel more quickly and journeys which the horse cars required an hour to make can now be accomplished in little more than half that time. And somebody has said: "Time is money."

Still another point is that the cars today are better and more comfortable than were those of former years and the added comfort goes in for the same five cents.

It is important, too, that sight should not be lost of the essential fact that all of the five-cent pieces does not go to PUBLIC SERVICE to remain in its coffers. PUBLIC SERVICE is virtually only a temporary custodian of a part of each nickel, for from its receipts must go into the public treasury for the direct benefit of the public large sums annually in payment of

PERSONAL TAXES,
REAL ESTATE TAXES,
SPECIAL TAXES,
FRANCHISE TAXES and CAR LICENSE FEES.

Part of each five-cent piece must also be devoted to the payrolls of a small army of employes, which portion quickly finds its way into local circulation, to the benefit of the community. As there are, obviously, other necessary expenses, you can see for yourself that each nickel paid to PUBLIC SERVICE really does a lot of work. And you share the benefits.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

BASEBALL.

John Bonaparte Burns, son of John Burns, proprietor of the Hotel Kensington, has signed with the Y. M. C. A. baseball team for this season and he promises to be a valuable addition to the nine. He has had plenty of experience as a catcher, having played with the Flemington club and others of equal strength. He has been practicing at the association gym for several weeks and is in fine condition now.

William Russell, who is on the Y. M. C. A. pitching staff, is in the best of condition and ready at a moments notice to go into the game. He and John Burns have been practicing daily at the association gym, and the latter says that Russell has great speed with plenty of curves and good control.

It is a little early to get reports from Clifford Randolph, who is in the south with the Newark Eastern League club, but he will be given a fair trial and every opportunity to make good.

Manager Listman of the Y. M. C. A. team, is hopeful over the season's prospects in baseball. He has a lot of good material for the infield and outfield, while there are several pitchers and catchers from which to make a selection. John Peacock, who is in Princeton, promises to be one of the team's best twirlers this year.

Judging by the reports from the training quarters of the Giants in the south, Manager McGraw will have difficulty in deciding on men to fill positions on the team this year. He has so many good men that a choice will be difficult. There is no reason to believe that Donlin will be missed if he fails to report.

For the first time since a team has represented the American League in New York, it looks as though Owner Farrell is to have a winning aggregation. Manager Stallings is fast whipping his team into shape and when the first game is played at American League Park it is safe to say that it will be as fast as any team in the big leagues.

It was amusing to friends of "Red" Waller to read the New York newspaper accounts of his performances in the south the other day. He was referred to as a "young man" and as though he would develop into a league pitcher. As a matter of fact "Red" has long ceased counting birthdays and he has had probably as much experience in league ball as a majority of the present-day players.

Manager Stallings in a letter to one of the officials of the New York American League club says that his confidence in the Highlanders' pitching corps is increasing steadily. Stallings declares that he has picked up three clever young slabmen in Quinn, McConnell and Parkins and that Manning is in better physical condition than ever before. It is believed that Stallings will carry more pitchers than usual this year, the men to be used on the firing line being Lake, Manning, Chesbro, Glade Newton, Wilson, Warhop, McConnell, Quinn and Parkins. He will also hang on to Brockett, Hughes, Ford, Schmidt and a few other twirlers until he can place them to an advantage with some minor league club. Stallings writes that the engagement of Duke Farrell as coach was a ten strike inasmuch as the veteran catcher will be of inestimable value in teaching the young pitchers many indispensable pointers. Stallings has paid so much attention to his pitchers at Macon that he has little to say about the make-up of the rest of the team. But it is safe to say that Kleinow, catcher; Chase, first base; Elberfield, third base; Knight, shortstop, and Hemphill, outfield, are fixtures.

Manager McGraw, after looking over his new catcher, "Admiral" Schlei, says that Roger Bresnahan will not be missed by the Giants this year. In view of the fact that McGraw made a similar statement when he secured Tenney, Bridwell and Needham last year for the old favorites McGann, Bowerman, Dahlen, Browne and Ferguson, the fans are not on the anxious seat. But it will be admitted that Bresnahan was of more real value to the Giants than any of the men that were traded to Boston. From reports that come from Marlin Springs it would appear as if McGraw, in addition to Schlei, has picked up a star backstop in Myers, the Indian, while Wilson and Snodgrass are also good catchers. Bresnahan, by the way, has a difficult task on his hands in St. Louis. His Cardinals have been generally consigned to the tail end again by critics all over the country.

ROOSEVELT TO CARRY JERSEY MEDICINE KIT.

Medicine enough for a regiment and surgical instruments enough to do the work of an ordinary hospital will be carried by Theodore Roosevelt to Africa, all condensed so as to fill a suit case. There are 15,000 doses in the tabloids, nearly forty per cent. of them quinine. The other medicines are to ward off diseases most prevalent in equatorial Africa, chemicals to make swamp water pure and palatable, cures for snake bites, stimulants, opiates, knives and bandages.

These supplies, packed in unbreakable and airtight bottles of a vulcanite composition, fit into an aluminum case 15x10x8. This outfit has been made for the Roosevelt expedition by an American firm, whose principal offices are in London, though its plant is in New Jersey. They supplied Livingston, Stanley, Emin Pasha, Peary, the Duc D'Abruzzi, and other explorers with medicine chests.

Major Edgar A. Hearns, U. S. A., retired, medical director of the Roosevelt expedition, dictated the selection of the medicine to be carried. Liquids find no place in the assortment nor in the outfit for developing photographs prepared for Kermit Roosevelt by the same firm and put up in equally condensed form.

Quarrel May Disclose Crime.

There is a rumor in circulation at Newton that another person besides Henry Brink, who is in the Goshen jail, may be connected with the murder of Jerome Cooperman, near Montague, on January 6. The other man is also in the Goshen lockup, and is in a cell near Brink's. It is said that the two prisoners, who were within talking distance, became involved in a quarrel one day, and during the controversy, it is stated, Brink told the other man that he was a coward and "did not dare to kill him," but left Brink "to finish the job."

Jersey City to Buy Water Plant.

The street and water and the finance boards of Jersey City at a joint meeting yesterday decided to purchase the water plant from the Jersey City Water Supply Company. The price will depend on the result of the suit pending. The price fixed in the contract was $7,595,000, if the city accepted the plant within one year of its completion, and the cost price increased considerably as the years elapsed. The company served notice of the completion of the plant nearly four years ago, but litigation has been going for six years.

Fire Chief Kelly Suspended.

First Assistant Fire Chief William Kelly, of Westfield, was suspended from service by Chief Engineer Frederick C. Decker, of the Westfield Fire Department, pending charges which Chief Decker will present to the Westfield Town Council. Kelly struck Fireman Barney Feeley while the department was answering an alarm at the Westfield Casino Saturday night. Mayor Alpers stood near and saw the incident. The charges will probably reach the fire committee of the Westfield Council later in the week.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church combined a social and entertainment with a short business session, last night, the affair being one of the best of the season. During the business meeting Harold Schenck, treasurer, reported a balance of $50, of which amount $15 was contributed to the Indian Mission, $15 to the Arabian Mission, $10 to domestic and $10 to the foreign board of the church.

Then followed a musical program by the Dunellen orchestra, during which Mrs. E. D. Young sang several selections and there was a violin solo. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a sketch in tableaux, entitled "The Reveries of a Bachelor." Miss Irene Day presided at the piano and Harold Schenck read the poem. Those who took part in the sketch were as follows:

"Bachelor," Leslie Crane; "Coquette," Miss Cora Gano; "Belle of the Ball," Miss Marie Hahn; "College Girl," Miss Harriet Randall; "Military Girl," Miss Eda Cole; "Hunting Girl," Miss Anna Randall; "The Nun," Miss Elsie Dunavan; "The Merry Widow," Miss Delia Dufford; "Country Girl," Miss Edna Dilts.

Afterward the young people enjoyed playing all sorts of games, including one with hearts. This affords lots of fun. A feature was the shooting of arrows into hearts. Refreshments were served during an intermission. The committee in charge comprised Miss Eliza Dufford, chairman; Miss Myra Dunavan, Miss Cora Gano, Miss Edna Cole, Miss Edna Dilts, Harold Schenck, Elmer Gayle, Ellsworth Bennett and Russell Doeringer.

SCRANTON MAN TAKES A PLAINFIELD BRIDE.

Miss Grace E. Stevens, granddaughter of Charles Stevens, of Chatham street, became the bride of Thomas Hallett, of Scranton, Pa., yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the Warren chapel parsonage by Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey. Mr. and Mrs. Hallett left this morning for Scranton, where they will reside. The groom is connected with a company dealing in flour and feed, in that city.

An ante-nuptial surprise was given the bride Monday night by thirty of her friends. The affair was in the nature of a variety shower.

No Visiting for Two Days.

In view of the fact that there are two cases of smallpox in the city the medical board of Muhlenberg Hospital thought it best to stop the visiting privileges at that institution for a short time. The privileges were denied yesterday and today, but will be permitted again commencing tomorrow.

HE DEFENDS IMMIGRATION

Commissioner Watchorn, of New York's Port, Gives an Instructive Talk.

ITALIANS ARE "BOARDERS."

Sons of Sunny Italy As a Rule Don't Settle Here, While Other Foreigners Do.

Robert Watchorn, Commissioner of Immigration of the Port of New York, gave an interesting lecture on "Immigration' under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue church in the church parlors last night. His talk was of a most practical character and he sought to prove that the current argument about the undesirability of the immigrants was unsound.

At the outset of his remarks, Commissioner Watchorn said: "Within the past fortnight a speaker has claimed that other nations clear out their cess-pools of citizenship and dump them into the mouth of the Hudson.' This is entirely without foundation, for America is the 'Promised Land' of the foreigners, and the big majority of the immigrants turn out to be stalwart, independent American citizens."

The lecturer spoke in some detail about the rigid requirements for immigrant admission to this country. He said the immigration laws framed by Congress are so strict that it is a wonder that any foreigners succeed in gaining admission. The next Congress thus draws to limit the immigrants is a close one, and the list of grounds for exclusion is a long one.

Diseases of many kinds are insurmountable reasons for exclusion, and the probability of a new-comer becoming a public charge and a burden to his community is taken into careful consideration. If, at the end of three years, an immigrant makes such a failure of his life in this country as to be incapable of self-support, he is deported; sent home by the government. This restriction by the government is an incentive to the immigrant to "make good," and a very small percentage have to be deported.

Italy, Russia and Austria are the countries from which most of the immigrants come who are admitted through the port of New York, but the Italians do not stay in this country as citizens. This is shown by the fact that out of 2,000,000 Italian immigrants who have come to this country in a certain period, three-fourths of this number return to Italy. The Italians, however, are industrious and saving while they are in this country.

The Commissioner was introduced as lecturer by Lindsey Best, president of the club. At the conclusion of his talk, refreshments consisting of coffee and sandwiches were served.

REPORT OF TRUNK SEWER

been secured for ninety days on the Kraemer farm of sixty acres in North Plainfield township, situated between Sebring's Mills and the Warrenville road. It was suggested that the sewer commission continue and adjourn subject to the call of the chair. That would give the representatives ample time to take the matter up with the different municipalities. What is known as the Green brook valley proposition was considered at some length and favorably. It was learned at the time that the same proposition was being presented at a meeting of the citizens of North Plainfield township held at Watchung, the idea being to get a concensus of opinion as to whether it would be opposed or favored. Later it was learned that the township raised a storm of protest and signified its intention to fight if necessary to keep the sewage beds out of that territory.

The towns not represented at last night's conference included Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan and New Brunswick, although notices were sent to the representatives. Their absence is taken to mean that they are not sufficiently interested to take up the matter.

MISS JENNINGS' ACTIONS MYSTIFIED N. Y. POLICE.

Miss Jane Jennings, who formerly lived on Duer street, the borough, but who has not been here for some time, was found today by Policeman Walsh at Columbus avenue and Ninety-sixth street, New York, walkning around in a short circle on the sidewalk and refused to leave the corner. At the station house she said she was Miss Jane Jennings of 35 Duer street, Plainfield.

Miss Jennings is harmless and has never been known to molest anyone. Relatives residing here have been notified and she will be taken care of by them. The woman is now at Bellevue Hospital.

The Millville Board of Education tomorrow evening will make final plans for the erection of the new sixteen-room grammar school, for which City Council appropriated $48,000.

have drawn my revolver. I do not clearly remember drawing it. Suydam had released his hold upon me and had grabbed the weapon. Downs was forcing the muzzle toward my body. I clung to the gun and must have pulled the trigger. I have no memory of the act—not the slightest, but I believe that I pulled the trigger. I have no doubt of it.

Lumsden said he was then thrown to his knees by a Mr. Collins, an officemate of Suydam. He could not recall just how he was disarmed.

Under cross examination Lumsden said the friend from whom he borrowed the revolver was Frank E. Simpson, of Raleigh, N. C. It was brought out that Mr. Simpson was living in West Eighty-fourth street at the time of the tragedy.

"But I had no thought of shooting Suydam," quietly insisted the witness. "I armed myself because of threats made against me by both Jacobs and Suydam. I went prepared to resist attack, and not armed for murder."

It developed on cross examination that Lumsden had a curious dagger on his person when arrested and that brass knuckles were found in his trunk. He said the dagger was a Japanese curio, the gift of a friend; that the brass kunckles had been found by him ten years ago, and he had kept them as curiosity.

The cartridges used in the borrowed revolver, Lumsden said, were bought by him four years ago in Alabama.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Suydam, widow of the victim, had been called as a witness for the prosecution. Lawyer Fitzgerald denounced the move as designed to arouse the sympathy of the jury.

The Court ruled against him, and Mrs. Suydam, a slender little woman with a pinched and sorrow worn face took the stand. She identified the bullet which was extracted from her husband's body and given to her by Dr. Lehane, the Coroner's physician.

PROTEST FROM TOWNSHIP

Won't Permit Sewage Disposal Plant to Be Located There Without Fight.

A BIG MASS MEETING HELD.

Most of the Residents Gather at Watchung to Go on Record Against Scheme.

More than two hundred citizens of North Plainfield township attended a meeting at Watchung, last night, and put themselves on record as being unalterably opposed to any plan that meant the location of sewage beds in the township. While it was generally supposed that the question of improved lighting facilities for the township was the important thing to come before the meeting, it was noised about that the sewage proposition would come up and was likely to overshadow the lighting proposition, and it did.

Dr. Richard Moldenke, who was chairman of the meeting, introduced the sewage question, explaining the subject in detail. He was favorable to it, but before the meeting was over, it was found that he stood alone and was forced to beat a retreat. Dr. Moldenke said that he presented the question on behalf of Mayor Samuel Townsend and an informal request was presented on behalf of the borough to allow the latter to enter the township with a sewer main to connect with proposed sewage beds to be located on the Kraemer farm, upon which the borough has an option.

This is the second attempt by the borough to locate sewage beds in the beautiful Greenbrook section and it was met with the same strenuous opposition. The residents of the neighborhood of the proposed site are organizing and will retain counsel to protect their interests. It is reported that the project will be fought to the bitter end.

It was understood that if the plan was allowed to go through Plainfield and Dunellen would join North Plainfield in installing the system and maintain it. The estimated cost of this improvemet is said to be about $230,000 and looks more attractive to the interested municipalities than the proposed trunk line sewer. Those who spoke against allowing a sewage plant in the township were Judge Fullerton, of Scotch Plains; William L. McCauley, of Dunellen; Charles P. Sebring, Charles Smith and E. F. Feickert, of the Greenbrook section. It was Mr. Freickert who moved that any sentiment in favor of the proposition be opposed and it was unanimously adopted.

The question of better lighting facilities was also discussed, and it was voted to recommend that the township be divided into three districts for such purposes, Greenbrook, Watchung and Scotch Plains, and thereby permit each section to handle the matter for itself. This will probably be settled by a vote of the people. The meeting adjourned to Friday night, April 19, when further steps will be taken in the matter of electric lighting. Francis E. Bodin was secretary of last night's meeting.

Milk inspectors visited Millville early yesterday morning and secured samples of milk from many of the dairymen.

Oaklyn in the near future will vote on a proposition to bond the borough for $25,000 for a municipal water system.

While handling a revolver that he did not know was loaded, William Styles, a Clayton glass-worker, shot himself through one hand.

George Taylor, driver of a garbage wagon, narrowly escaped death when his team was struck by a car on the Shore Fast Line at Tennessee avenue, Atlantic City, yesterday. Both his horses were killed and he was thrown to the roof of the car, but was only slightly injured.

The various cases against the North Jersey Construction Company, which is building a trolley line through Bergen county from Warren Point, near the Broadway bridge, to suffern, N. Y., and which were to have come up before Vice-Chancellor Stevenson at Jersey City yesterday, have gone over until next Friday and Monday.

Five-year-old Milton Dilks is the hero of Franklinville. While at play Sunday he heard cries from his four-year-old sister Elizabeth, who had fallen into the water near the dam. The water was deep and the little girl would have drowned, but Milton seized her dress and called for help. No one came to his aid, and the little fellow finally drew the girl safely to shore.

While two confederates, intent upon buying brooms and potatoes displayed upon the sidewalk engaged the attention of clerks, a well-dressed man entered A. Steuber's grocery store on Atlantic avenue, Atlantic City, last night, and took $98 from an open safe. Steuber arrived just as the visitor was departing, and led an exciting, but futile, pursuit for several blocks. The confederates also escaped.

Rev. Melville Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church of Atlantic City, has taken a novel method to prove his activity during his three years' pastorate. In a formal report submitted yesterday he shows that he has preached 274 sermons, delivered 234 addresses, taught 131 Sunday-school lessons, attended seventy-three funerals, baptized ninety-two children, made 3,347 pastoral calls and received 233 persons into membership in the church during his term of office.

A meeting of the heirs of the late Jonathan Steelman, an aged pilot, who died a number of years ago, the reputed owner of a vast estate which is now said to be valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, will be held in Millville tomorrow. At least 100 persons claim to be entitled to a share in the estate, and valuable papers, missing at the time of the aged mariner's death, are said to have been discovered buried in a dense forest near property occupied by Steelman just prior to his death.

Declaring that the big weather map built by the Federal Government outside the Boardwalk at Pennsylvania avenue, Atlantic City, is used only by stock gamblers for ascertaining location of floods or draughts likely to affect the market, Councilman William Riddle put through a motion in City Council last night refusing permission to the weather bureau to erect a kiosk over the big map. Along with the refusal Council voted to force a relocation of the map, which Pennsylvania avenue cottagers had declared cut off their ocean view.

BANKS DEPOSITS TOTAL $320,310,046 IN STATE

Commissioner David O. Watkins of the Department of Banking and Insurance filed his annual report yestrday, showing that the aggregate resources of the financial institutions of this State, including national banks, are $526,695,440. The deposits amount to $320,310,046. This is an increase in recources of $37,404,582, and in deposits of $33,634,626.

The report deals in detail only with the savings banks, State banks and trust companies, which are the institutions coming under the direct supervision of the Commissioner. The trust companies at the close of 1908 had aggregate resources of $191,714,389 and deposits of $142,642,900. The savings banks had resources of $102,268,321 and deposits of $93,867,582. The State banks had resources of $16,942,753 and deposits of $13,321,903. This makes the aggregate resources of the three classes of institutions $310,927,463 and their deposits $250,032,475. Both resources and deposits show a gain of about 8 per cent. for the year.

Notwithstanding the material gains indicated by the report, the Commissioner says the industrial depression is reflected in the very small gain of $699,969 in the deposits of the savings banks. The total profits received by trust companies during the year amounted to $9,555,619, an increase of $541,193.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The New York Dramatic News in its review of the first performance of "Merely Mary Ann" says: "Much that has been said of 'Merely Mary Ann' has been faint praise indeed for at the Garden theatre last night the play proved something of a revelation, and its wholesomeness, its entertaining qualities and the charms of the heroine will appeal largely to a vast multitude of theatre-goers, for everything about the production augurs success. It is something of a pleasure to meet with a play so artistic and of such literary quality, and it shows that Zangwell is the same genius as of yore, for he has made the story so touching and dramatic. In a word 'Merely Mary Ann' is a wonderful play." It will be played here at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, March 16.

Unusual interest attaches to the forthcoming production of "For Her Children's Sake," at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, March 19. The play, from the pen of Theodore Kremer, is new to theatre-goers, and comes heralded as a revelation in point of daring originality, and said to be a delightful story, fresh in epigram and incident and effectively entertaining, sparkling with wit and indicating much clever knowledge of human nature and the world in general.

Cairo, the brightest jewel of the Nile and the doorway of Egypt, is admirably shown in all its oriental brilliancy in Lyman H. Howe's new program at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday, matinee and night, March 27. Here the Orient seems to meet the occident. The traffic at the Kas-e-Nil bridge shows as cosmopolitan a mixture of races and vehicles as could be imagined. Modernized Cairo suggests its comparison to a Bedouin of the desert wearing a silk hat. Other scenes in and about the city show H. S. H. the Khedive and Son with military escort, a departure of pilgrims for Mecca, an Arab cemetery, market scenes, etc. In a moment the audience is transferred to the Pyramids and Sphinx, then to the wonderful Temple Ruins at Thebes.

Ask a Voice in Ocean Grove Affairs.

Over 300 property owners of Ocean Grove, representing 95 per cent. of the property owners there, went to Trenton yesterday and argued for the Poole bill, which seeks to modify the charter of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association so that the property owners can have a voice in the government. Thirteen ministers and thirteen laymen of the Methodist church now regulate the affairs of the place and make the laws. Ex-Gov. Stokes and the Rev. Aaron E. Ballard, President of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, spoke in opposition. The property owners said taxation without representation was unjust.

Object to Postal Caricatures.

The members of Rahway Division No. 3, Ancient Order of Hibernians, are strenuously objecting to the selling of postal cards reflecting on the Irish race. The movement may terminate in a boycott on those selling them. President Taft will be requested to have such cards excluded from the mails. The Rev. George F. Brown, at St. Mary's church, Rahway, on Sunday spoke in a forcible manner on the subject.

Stokes to Talk on Schools.

Former Governor Stokes has notified the Roselle Citizens' League of Roselle that he will be at Roselle Thursday night to address the members of the league and their friends on "The Public School." Dr. J. J. Savitz, Union county principal of schools, will allso speak. The meeting will be held in the High School auditorium.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From a Plainfield Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?

Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms indicate weak kidneys;

There is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys fast get weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.

They strengthen weak kidneys.

Read this Plainfield testimony.

Mrs. Oliver Voorhees, 21 Stone street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Mr. Voorhees publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills in 1905 and I am now glad to confirm all he said at that time. He suffered from attacks of backache for years and the trouble would not yield to any treatment. His whole body was often very lame and sore and he had quite a bit of trouble from the irregular action of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills, which he procured at Randolph's Pharmacy helped him from the first and in a short time drove all symptoms of kidney complaint from his system. Since then he has never ceased praising this remady."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

is economy personified. You want your dollars to go as far as possible. You want the best at the right price. This is what you get in a Hallet & Davis, to say nothing of the quiet joy and satisfaction that inheres in the ownership of good and beautiful things ---this makes Hallet & Davis pianos true bargains.

AN ORDINANCE

For the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement to be completely laid and constructed on or before the thirtieth day of September, 1909, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified, and to be in every respect equal to the macadamizing on Park Terrace in said City, but with liquid asphalt binder in the upper two inches of macadam, the quantity of asphalt to be 1.00 gallon per square yard, said macadam with asphaltic binder to be equal in every respect to that on the pavement on Blackwood Turnpike between Chews Landing and Blackwood in the County of Camden, N. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefore shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Union Street, from the southwesterly curb line of Arlington Avenue to the southerly side line of Stelle Avenue;

Stelle Avenue, from the easterly curb line of Madison Avenue to the westerly curb line of Union Street;

Madison Avenue, from the southerly curb line of Stelle Avenue to the macadam already constructed on Randolph road;

Darrow Avenue, from the southeasterly curb line of West Fourth Street to the northwesterly curb line of West Seventh Street;

Compton Avenue, from the northwesterly curb line of West Front Street to the macadam already constructed on Dunellen Avenue;

Ravine Road, from the easterly curb line of Belvidere Avenue to the southerly side line of Dixie Lane.

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the full width of the respective roadways of said streets, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades already established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, the Common Council of the City do hereby, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, authorize the issuing of eleven coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield, of One Thousand Dollars each, amounting in all to Eleven Thousand Dollars, which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from said date of issue with the option of the city to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them at any time after one year from date of issue, and before three years from said date of issue, on giving personal notice to the said holders of said bonds or thirty days' notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City, of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds may severally or collectively be sold for an amount not less than par value, and the interest on said bonds shall be raised annually by taxation and the principal be paid by the city at maturity, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

UNCLE DAN VOORHEES A HARD WORKING MAN

The State House is a gloomy and cheerless place inside to look at, and those who visit it without any other reason than to see what's going on or on business are likely to think that "home was never like this." Everyone seems to have his own affairs to attend to and except in a business way, has little time to spare for anyone else.

That's the way it looks to the uninitiated. They wonder how it feels to know some one in the offices who does not think it always necessary to turn right back to work as soon as the affair on which he has called has been completed. He does not know, though he may guess, that after you have gotten to know them, State House officials are a pretty likable fraternity and a welcome into their offices a very pleasant thing. And least of all, because he does not shout it from the court house steps at high noon, does the casual visitor appreciate what a nice thing it is to drop in occasionally on "Uncle Dan" S. Voorhees, the State Treasurer.

"Uncle Dan" is the youngest official on the entire State list, no matter what year they tell you he was born in. To all practical purposes he's just as young as you are, and can be younger if he wants to.

The only trouble is, from the point of view of his friends, there are not quite enough hours in the day. He insists in working, which cuts in badly on the time that he has to see visitors, though there are not many who go in to see him who do not at least get a few minutes of his time.

"Uncle Dan" comes from Morris. The county has not been the same since last fall. For thirty-seven years he had been in the county clerk's office, and then last year he decided that he had been there long enough and refused to run again. He first went into the place as a clerk in 1870. Six years later he was made a deputy by County Clerk William McCarthy, a Democrat. He continued as deputy until 1898, when they elected him clerk and he continued to be re-elected for ten years more.

There was a time when "Uncle Dan" was not county clerk or State treasurer. It was very early in his career, however. It was when he was a very small boy and lived in Elizabeth. He sold newspapers at the railroad station there, and so put himself in line to be something big later in life.

Though he is a loyal member of the Republican party, in whose councils he stands among the leaders, "Uncle Dan" wages his wars on political lines only. Outside of that a person's party has little or no weight with him. If you will believe the Democrats he has as many friends on their side as in his own camp.

Since his retirement from the county clerkship he has opened law offices in Morristown. It was a little strange at first for the old-timers to get used to going there instead of to the court house to see him, but they are getting used to it now, and things are almost as homelike as they used to be.

TO KEEP OPEN AT NIGHT.

Some Elizabeth Merchants Oppose Early Closing.

Those merchants in the downtown section of Elizabeth who do not employ clerks have decided to keep their stores open in the evening. They have issued the following notice to the public:

"The committee appointed by the Elizabeth Retail Merchants' Association to investigate the early closing movement, after a careful, painstaking and thorough canvass of the subject, report that under existing conditions, and in view of the fact that a majority of the downtown stores are doing most of their business between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m., it would be impossible to get them to close.

"Those who employ a few clerks are at the present time allowing them three nights a week and most of the merchants do not employ clerks at all. The committee feels that most of the trading done by the merchants must be done evenings, and it would be a great inconvenience to this class of trade and also a menace to the business of the merchants if the stores were not open to accommodate the public."

G. A. R. BILL PASSES.

Appropriates $25,000 for National Encampment.

The bill introduced by Senator Edward A. Wilson, of Atlantic, provides for the appropriation of $25,000 by the State to help defray the expenses of the National G. A. R. encampment at Atlantic City in 1910, passed the Senate at Trenton Monday night. "These veterans have many times accepted the hospitality of the comrades in other States,' said Mr. Wilson, in speaking for the measure; "let us appropriate this amount so that they may return that hospitality."

He said that the total cost of these encampments sometimes amounted to as much as $75,000. He also presented a petition signed by G. A. R. men all over the State asking that the bill be passed.

A Gentleman From Mississippi!

By THOMAS A. WISE.

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs.

Copyright, 1909, by Thomas A. Wise

"But I want to talk about you," he cried. "I don't want to talk about anything else. I must talk about you, and

"No one has believed in me but you."

I'm going to talk whether you want to hear or not. You've believed in me when nobody else believed. You've fought for me when everybody else was fighting against me. You've shown that you think I am honest and worthy of a woman's faith. You fought your own family for me. Nobody has ever done for me what you have, and—and"—

He faltered, full of what he was about to say.

"And you're grateful," she ended.

He looked her squarely in the eyes as though to fathom her thoughts. Then he reached toward the girl and seized both her hands.

"Grateful nothing!" he cried. "I'm not grateful. I'm in love—in love with you. I want you—want you as I never wanted anything or anybody before, and I tell you I'm going to have you. Do you hear?"

Hope could not hide her agitation. The light in her eyes showed she was all a woman.

"Oh, nothing in the world could happen as quickly as that, Mr. Haines!" she protested, with her last attempt at archness.

"Nothing could?" he threatened. "I'll show you."

He advanced quickly around the table, but the girl darted just beyond his grasp. Then she paused—and her lover gathered her in his arms.

"Hope, my dear; you are my own," was all he could say as he bent over to kiss the lips that were not refused to him.

Hope released herself from his fervent grasp.

"I love you, I do love you," she said fondly. "I believe in you, and father must too. You've got to straighten this tangle out now, for my sake as well as your own. Father will listen."

"It's all so strange, so wonderful, I can hardly understand it," began Haines slowly as he held the girl's hands.

Unknown to both, the door leading from the hall had opened to admit Senator Langdon into the lower end of the room. Surprised at the sight of the couple, so seriously intent on each other, he made a sudden gesture of anger, then, apparently changing his mind, advanced toward them.

"I believe you want to see me, sir," he said to Haines. "I hope you'll be brief. I have very little time to spare from my guests."

Hope's bosom fluttered timorously at the interruption. The man nervously stepped forward.

"I shan't take much of your time, Senator Langdon," he said. "There has been a misunderstanding, a terrible mistake. I am sure I can convince you."

Senator Langdon hesitated doubtfully, half turned toward Carolina, Randolph and Norton, who had followed him, and again faced Haines.

Hope pressed her father's arm and looked up into his face entreatingly. Randolph, observing this, quickly stepped close to the senator's side, saying, "I can settle with this Mr. Haines for you."

Waving his son aside, the senator finally spoke.

"I reckon there's been too many attending to my business and settling my affairs, Randolph," he said. "I think for a change I'll settle a few of my own. All of you children go out and leave me here with Mr. Haines."

CHAPTER XIX.

SENATOR LANGDON LEARNS THE TRUTH.

WHEN they were alone Haines faced the senator and spoke determinedly.

"They told you I was not running straight," he said.

The senator nodded, and the lines about his mouth deepened.

"Yes."

Bud Haines stiffened at the word. Every muscle in his body seemed to become rigid as he mentally vowed that he would retaliate against his traducers if it cost him his life to do it. Hope had informed him only too accurately, he now realized. Little did the senator know that what he was now about to hear would give him one of the severest shocks of his life.

"They told me you weren't running straight," said Haines deliberately. "Now, neither one of us has been crooked, but somebody else has been, and this was the plan to keep us apart."

"Norton told me you were speculating in Altacoola lands," said Langdon.

"And Norton told me the same of you," retorted Bud.

The senator's face grew very serious.

"But my daughter, Miss Carolina Langdon, confirmed Norton's story."

Haines here faced the most difficult part of his interview. He hardly knew how to answer. His manhood rebelled against placing any blame on a woman. He revolted at the thought of ruining a father's faith in his daughter's honesty, especially when that father was the man he most admired, a man for whom he had genuine, deep rooted affection. But it was necessary that the words be spoken.

"I hate to tell you, sir," he said in a low, uncertain voice, "that it was your daughter Carolina who made me believe this story told about you and vouched for by your son Randolph."

Langdon started back aghast. He stared at Haines and knew that he spoke the truth. Then his white head sank pathetically. Tears welled into the eyes of the planter, and this sturdy old fighting man dropped weakly into a chair, sobbing convulsively, broken in spirit and wearied in body.

Successful Furnace Fires

PATENTED
The BOYNTON Square Fire Pot

makes tending the furnace easy, but best of all it makes a joyous fire. Round fire pots burn strongly through the center with a rim of half dead clinkers at the edge and when you shake the fire the middle drops out. You've noticed it. Fires built in BOYNTON Square Pots are all live coals. A shake down is an even shake. The whole fire settles. There is no waste. The fuel being equal, a square pot will develop almost twice the heat, or the same heat for about half. The square pot is our patent and can be had only in the BOYNTON furnaces. We have a dealer in your town. He will be glad to show you.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

3d. The factory is making 12,000 of this one model for 1909. This makes the price of $1,250 possible. MORE SALARY FOR NEW HEAD OF REFORMATORY.

On reconsideration Monday night and in face of a lessened opposition the House changed its mind and passed the State Reformatory Commission bill to allow the commissioner to pay Rev. Dr. Frank Moore a salary of $3,500 and maintenance as superintendent of the Rahway institution. Last week the House beat the bill badly. Last night it went through by a vote of 38 to 17.

Mr. Matthews, of Hunterdon, who fought the proposed act before, did so again last night, raising the same cry of economy. He offered a resolution calling upon the commissioners to tell what promises, if any, had been made to Dr. Moore when he was engaged. This was voted down, however. Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Kenny, both of Hudson, also spoke against the measure and so did Mr. Blauvelt. No one but Mr. Smalley, of Somerset, was heard in its favor. The majority members produced the votes, however, and the act is now up to Governor Fort for signature.

Dr. Moore was an interested listener while the bill was being considered.

DR. BUCKLEY ON BRYAN.

New York, March 10.—Dr. J. M. Buckley, who wrote of Bryan: "Since Henry Clay, no personally among the defeated candidates for the Presidency has accomplished so much as William Jennings Bryan," spoke on Sunday at the meeting of the Methodist preachers of Greater New York. There was some applause when he referred to Theodore Roosevelt as "the modern Andrew Jackson." Dr. Buckley's subject was "Disappointed Candidates for the Presidency."

"If a man runs three or four times for the Presidency, whose chances were and are hopeless, he cannot be said to be a disappointed candidate," said Dr. Buckley. The causes of Roosevelt's success, he said, were "a great personality, the big stick and a grand free theatre for the people in Washington."

The W. C. T. U. will hold a business meeting in the rooms on Madison avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and a meeting of the executive committee will be held at 2 o'clock.

CLINTON AVENUES PLAN FOR SEASON'S PLAY

The Clinton Avenue Baseball club held a meeting last night when plans for the coming season were discussed. It was announced that the season would open on Saturday, April 24, with a game with the Elizabeth A. C. A series of five games has been scheduled with Somerville, and contests will also be arranged with New Brunswick, Bound Brook, High Bridge and Flemington, in addition to many other fast teams in the Metropolitan district.

The lineup of the local club will be about the same as last year, with one or two exceptions. Boelzley, who was a valuable catcher and fielder for the team last season signed for this year. If Clifford Randolph makes good with the Newark Eastern League Club, his place in the box will be taken by Ortleib, who made a good record for Westfield last year. In case Randolph does not stay with Newark, he will return to Plainfield. Allen Snyder will probably play a field position.

The club decided last night to give its third reception and dance in Saengerbund hall on Friday night, April 16. Richard D. Scott is the chairman of the committee. The club will also hold a carnival during April. After the business meeting last night, the members enjoyed a euchre party.

GOOD SCORES MADE ON CAMPBELL'S ALLEYS.

The two-man bowling tournament was continued on Johnny Campbell's alleys, last night, when a number of fine scores were made. Skelly and Miller were the "candy kids" putting a score of 452 in their first game. The scores:

GOLF.

There is a move on foot to widen the scope of the Golf Association of Philadelphia so as to take in all Pennsylvania when the opposing forces next meet for the Lesley cup. In the past it has been a case of Philadelphia arrayed against Massachusetts and the metropolitan district in the so-called tri-city match.

The reason why Philadelphia should want to branch out is obvious when it is remembered that its association exercises authority over only nineteen clubs, several of which hold membership entirely for the benefit of their women players. On the other hand, the Metropolitan Golf Association claims fifty-seven club members, and the Massachusetts Golf Association forty-two. Even by taking in Pittsburg, the Keystone State would fall considerably behind the two other sections.

Golfers in Great Britain are occupied these days in arguing as to who is an amateur and how far a player may go without overstepping the line which separates those who play the game for fun or gain. One well known player says:

"I think there is one solution, and only one, in which we shall find salvation. Instead of defining an amateur I would define a profession. I would lay down certain things as marking a professional, and I would finish my definition by saying that any one who did for fee, hire or profit any of the things previously defined should no longer be considered an amateur golfer, and should be ineligible for competition for the amateur championship. Among the things marking out a professional I should certainly place laying out courses, or altering them, for a fee. I can see no distinction between this practice and the playing of exhibition matches by amateurs for fees."

FOUR N.Y. AND N.J. SPANS ADVISED BY COMMISSION

The New York and New Jersey Interstate Bridge Commission, of which Governor J. Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, was made chairman in 1908, submitted its report to the Legislature at Albany Monday night. The commission since 1906, with its makeup changed twice since that time, has had under consideration the question of interstate bridges over the Hudson river to connect New York city with New Jersey. The commission has taken favorable consideration of sites at West Fifty-seventh street, West 110th street, West 135th street and West 179th street. The New York terminal of a bridge at Fifty-seventh street, the commission says, would tap the upper business district and heart of the residential section of Manhattan. The commission thinks an approach from New Jersey here would be a great benefit.

The 116th street bridge is favored because of engineering advantage; the 135th for commercial reasons, and the 179th street site because it would furnish a direct line with the rapidly growing district north of the Harlem river, the commission also believing that a bridge here could be built at the lowest cost.

The commission recommends finally that a bridge be built across the Hudson from a point in Manhattan to a point in North Hudson or Bergen county for the use of vehicles, foot passengers and traction lines; also a bridge from Staten Island to Bayonne, a bridge from Staten Island to Elizabethport, and a bridge from Staten Island to Perth Amboy. The cost of various bridges ranges from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 and $30,000,000.

The report includes an opinion from Warren & Wetmore consulting architects of the commission, saying that in their opinion the emplacement in the neighborhood of Fifty-seventh street is the very best suggestion.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Neuman, of East Seventh street, left this morning for Chicago, where they will visit for an indefinite time.

Miss Ruth Van Vliet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Van Vliet, of Washington avenue, is spending the week in New York visiting friends.

Harry Mangan, of Jacksonville, Florida, is visiting his brother, W. G. Gangan, of South avenue. He brought two young alligators north with him and gave them to his brother. They are about a year old and very tame.

LOCAL OPTION UP TO CHURCH.

Under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, P. A. Baker, national superintendent of the American Anti-Saloon League, addressed a mass-meeting in the opera house at Ridgewood Sunday night. He declared that whenever the churches of New Jersey are ready for local option the Legislature will be ready to pass laws making it a possibility.

The church is right at heart," he continued, "but in many places inactive. Last Friday the State Legislature of Washington passed a county and city local option bill and the Governor says he is going to sign it. I will bet you anything your Governor wouldn't sign a local option bill."

School Heads Bills Killed.

Mr. McKeag's bills, House 179 and 180, were reported by committee substitute in the House yesterday morning at Trenton. The former put the appointment of county superintendents of public schools in the hands of the Governor, and the latter terminates the terms of all county superintendents now in office. The substitute for 179 leaves the appointment of superintendents where it is now, with the State Board of Education. This has the effect of killing to bills.

Phila. Record's Feature.

A new, interesting and instructive feature now contained in The Philadelphia Sunday Record is a series of Puzzle Picture Contests, for the solution of which The Record will give 110 prizes each week. These puzzle pictures are of educational value; therefore, a two-fold purpose is accomplished by the prize winners. Read the terms of the contest in next Sunday's Philadelphia Record, and have your local newsagent deliver the paper regularly to you.

Evidence of Insanity.

The man acquitted of murder on the plea of insanity sat fretfully in the asylum.

"I guess I was carzy after all," he said, "although at the time I thought it a bluff. Anybody but a lunatic would have pleaded the unwriten law and gone about his business."—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Lid Was Off.

"My cocoa's cold," sternly announced the gruff old gentleman to his fair waitress.

"Put your hat on," she sweetly suggested."—Observer.

Murders Before Grand Jury.

The Middlesex County Grand Jury began investigating two murder cases at New Brunswick yesterday. Witnesses were summoned in the cases of George R. Holman, of Schooley's Mountain, who shot his wife while she was visiting at his father's home at New Brunswick Christmas Day, because she refused to live with him until he got work. The case of Joseph Dick, who shot his landlord at Chrome, is the other case being sifted.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen have returned to their home on Rockview avenue after a few weeks spent in Florida.

CONVICT SUYDAM SLAYER

Lumsden Found Guilty of Manslaughter in the First Degree.

HE MAY GET TWENTY YEARS.

If Full Penalty is Given, An Appeal Will Be Taken by Prisoner—Asks for Cigarettes When the Case is Ended.

John C. Lumsden, the young Southerner who has been on trial before Judge Malone in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, in New York, for the murder of Councilman Harry B. Suydam, of this city, a curb broker, in his Broad street office, in New York, on December 19, was found guilty last night of manslaughter in the first degree. The prisoner was seemingly pleased with the verdict and smiled cheerfully as soon as the jury had been polled. With evident gratification he shook hands with his lawyers and before going back to the Tombs asked for some cigarettes. He will be sentenced by Judge Malone on Friday morning. There were no spectators in court except Reed Miller, the prisoner's brother-in-law.

In giving his pedigree the prisoner gave his full name as John C. Lumsden, age 31, born in Raleigh, N. C.; New York address, 313 West Fifty-seventh street. He told the clerk that he was an inventor; and had never been convicted of any crime.

As he was leaving the courtroom he turned to his brother-in-law and said, "will you send me in some cigarettes, Reed, please?"

The lawyers who defended Lumsden declared that if the law was exercised to the full penalty of twenty years they would take the case to the Appellate Division.

After the trial was over the lawyers shook hands with the jury.

The jurors retired at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At 6:50 they came back to ask from Judge Malone further instructions about the various degrees of homicide. Returning to the jury room, they deliberated until 8 o'clock, when the five court officers escorted them down Broadway to the Astor House for dinner. Later they returned to the Criminal Court Building, and at 10 o'clock came in with the verdict.

Mrs. Lumsden, wife of the prisoner, and Mrs. Kate Suydam, widow of the slain man, were both in court when the testimony was resumed yesterday morning.

Among the witnesses called by the defense was Edward G. Powell, who knew Lumsden seven years ago in Birmingham, Ala., where the defendant sang in a choir. Powell is a musician, with a studio in Carnegie Lyceum. He was emphatic in upholding the good reputation of Lumsden. Joseph W. Dougan, of the drug firm of Dougan & Merritt, 37 Columbus Avenue, also told of the good character of Lumsden.

Lawyer Fitzgerald of counsel for Lumsden called William Henry Bagley, brother of Ensign Worth Bagley, the only American naval officer killed in the Spanish-American war, and a member of the staff of the Governor of North Carolina, as a character witness. He added that he came from the South hoping to see Lumsden free. James T. Johnson, Mayor of Raleigh, N. C., told Assistant District Attorney Nott that he believed a man could carry a revolver and still keep a reputation of being peaceable.

Horace L. Balch, of 1 Madison avenue, confirmed the testimony of the other witnesses, and the defense then had Col. Z. P. Smith, of Raleigh, N. C., who was First Lieutenant of Lumsden's company, in the First North Carolina Mounted Infantry, when they went to Cuba, to take the stand. On cross-examination Mr. Nott demanded to know if Lumsden had not twice been court-martialed during the war, but Col. Smith knew nothing of it. The defense then brought out the fact that Lumsden had a cousin of the same name in the company.

The commander of the regiment, now Brig. Gen. Joseph F. Armfield, did not know of any court-martial, but did know the cousin of Lumsden. With these witnesses the defense rested.

Mr. Nott then recalled William Collins, who was in Suydam's office at the time of the shooting, to rebut the testimony of Lumsden, who declared that Suydam struck him before he shot.

Ex-Gov. Charles B. Aycock, of North Carolina, then began his address in Lumsden's behalf.

"I will appeal to reason only and not to your feelings or passions," he said. "There is not much difference between North Carolina and New York, and carrying a pistol is not justified in either place."

He justified Lumsden's act on the ground of self-defense.

The former Governor spoke for an

SOMERVILLE COURT INSPECTION, APRIL 3

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met for the first time in its new apartments in the handsome white marble court house, Somerville, yesterday. Saturday, April 3, afternoon and evening, was the date selected for a public inspection of the new structure. The building committee was authorized to make the necessary arrangements for appropriate exercises. All of the county officials will be invited to be present and it is proposed to make it a memorable occasion.

Former Freeholder William J. Logan, of Somerville, who was a member of the building committee, was appointed as the custodian of the new court house at a salary of $3 a day. He was empowered to employ such help as may be necessary on approval of the board. The new court house, which has been a long time in construction is one of the finest in the State and takes the place of an historical structure which was an object of great interest on the part of all visitors to the county seat.

TOWNSHIP PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION PLANNED

The taxpayers residing in the Greenbrook Valley section of North Plainfield township, thoroughly aroused over the attempt to locate sewage beds on the Kraemer farm, have issued a call for a meeting to be held at the Greenbrook school tomorrow night. At that time steps will be taken to form a Township Protective Association, the object being to fight the proposed project.

It is the intention of the citizens to employ counsel and fight the matter to the bitter end and prevent if possible the use of any land in that part of the township for sewage purposes. It is understood that when Mr. Kraemer learned Tuesday night for what purpose an option was secured on his farm, he was indignant and declared that if he could help it, the plans would never materialize.

CLEVELAND'S FARM SOLD TO NEW YORKER.

The farm of the late Grover Cleveland, lying about three miles from Princeton, was sold yesterday to David V. Pickers, a retired merchant of New York city, who will make extensive improvements, and use it as a country seat. The farm was one of the late President's coveted spots, as there was considerable woodland, which afforded the finest kind of shooting.

It was there that Richard Cleveland was taught by his father to shoot the cotton-tail as they jumped in front of the ex-President's faithful dog.

Alexander Milne has received the contract for the work.

The Wayclark Wire Company is owned by Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana.

Will Not Form Choral Society.

The proposed plans of J. Edmund Skiff to organize a choral society in this city have been abandoned for the prseent. About fifty persons were invited to form such an organization, but the response was not such as to warrant going ahead with the matter.

UNION'S SHARE $20,379.

Plainfield Gets $3,424.87 of County's Apportionment of Reserve Fund.

$8,891.27 AWARDED ELIZABETH.

Union County Turned Over to State $251,000 Under Last Apportionment.

The amount due Union county in school moneys under the apportionment from the ten per cent. reserve fund was paid yesterday. It foots up to $20,379.88, nearly $5,000 less than the county would receive if it was given the full ten per cent. figured under the State school law.

Owing to the fact that the ratables of certain counties, particularly in the southern section of the State, are so low that the required sum is not made up, a percentage of the funds due other and more affluent counties is annually turned over to swell the school moneys of the poorer districts. Union county is rated high in this connection and it has been contributing to the support of schools in some of the southern districts for years past in company with other northern counties.

Union county turned over to the State authorities about $251,000 in school money under the last apportionment. The amount due Elizabeth on the ten per cent. basis is $8,891.27, and this city is next highest in the county list with a claim of $3,424.87.

The appropriation of school moneys for Union county for the school year ending July 1, 1909, is as follows: From the $200,000 State School Fund, $9,892.77; from the $1,012,840.08 State fund, $62,949.70; from ninety per cent. of the State school tax, $226,618.92; from ten per cent. of the reserve fund, $20,379.88; from the main stem railroad tax of 1907, $150,678.35; from the main stem railroad tax of 1908, $140,121.50; total appropriation for the county, $610,641.12.

The basis of apportionment is as follows: $600 for each supervising principal, $400 for each teacher in a four-year approved high school, $300 for each teacher in a three-year approved high school, $400 for each supervisor, except manual training; $200 for each permanent grade teacher, $25 for each pupil attending high school in adjoining district; $5 for each pupil attending school in adjoining district; seventy-five per cent. of the amount paid for transporting pupils to other districts, and $0.1302175 for each day of attendance at school.

The 1907 railroad tax previously apportioned was paid to the custodians of school moneys on June 1, 1908, and is available for current expenses only during the school year beginning July 1, 1908, and ending in July of this year.

MANUAL TRAINING SPREADS.

Supt. Clement So Reports to Board of Education.

Superintendent of Schools Richard E. Clement, in a report to the Board of Education of Elizabeth, last night, dwelt on the spread of manual training in Chicago and the West. The superintendent had just returned from the annual session of the Department Superintendents' National Educational Association. At that session it was the consensus of opinion that college education was inimical to manual courses.

It was reported by the committee having in charge the selection of a business manager for the board that progress was being made.

A new gray horse is being tried out at fire headquarters in place of "Jim," the big black horse which was used for several years to the truck. "Jim" is now on a vacation and is temporarily resting at No. 2 house on West Second street. If the gray horse is found all right he will be retained for truck service. He is a good match for the other gray now in the service.

Board of Education Instructs Parents to Have Treatment Given Children.

TO PREVENT AN EPIDEMIC.

No Occasion for Alarm But Board Considers That Precaution Should Be Taken.

While the Board of Education is not unnecessarily alarmed by the presence of two cases of smallpox in the city, it has advised that the Board of Health feel that all who have not been vaccinated within five years should be at this time. Acting upon this suggestion, Superintendent H. M. Maxson of the Plainfield Public Schools, has caused notices to be sent to the parents of children attending school.

This letter states that the Board of Health urges that all children who have not been vaccinated within five years should be now, as a safeguard against the spread of the disease. If the disease should become epidemic it would be probably be necessary to exclude from school for a time all children whose vaccination is not satisfactory.

Superintendent Maxson then suggests that the parents take their children to their family physician at once and have them vaccinated. If desired, it will be done by the school physician, but not until the parents make such request by signing a blank which accompanies the letter, and returning it to the teacher. All subsequent treatment must be given by the family physician.

The parents are further advised that the school vaccination will be done with the same kind of material and with the same care that the physician uses in his private practice and a nurse will be present to assist and provide every possible precaution. No child will be vaccinated unless the parents request is given. At present there is no indication of any further spread of the disease, the health authorities having taken every precaution by isolating the two cases and vaccinating those who were likely to contract the disease.

James White and John Woodston, who are ill with the disease are now comfortably housed at the isolation hospital, and today it was reported by the Board of Health that they are both doing well. Woodston, the colored lad, has the disease in a slight form, while in the case of White it is more severe.

ARREST BROKER'S SON WHO FOUGHT FIREMEN.

Russell Moss, the twenty-four-year-old son of Joseph L. Moss, a broker on the Consolidated Stock Exchange in New York, was badly hurt last Monday night while trying to prevent the Washington Hose Company of Metuchen from pouring water on a fire in the automobile garage at his family's home, on Woodbridge avenue, Metuchen.

So anxious was young Moss to keep the firemen from turning their hose on the blazing building and the costly automobiles housed in it that he struck one of the firemen with a heavy pole, cutting his scalp. The injured firemen, who is known locally as "Hunty" Hunt, and who is a blacksmith's assistant, had young Moss arrested and held in $300 bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of assault and battery.

ICE MAY BE A LUXURY

Retail Price Will Soar Above $1.00 per 100 lbs. Here is the Prediction.

PLAINFIELD'S PRICE HIGHEST.

Local Ice Houses Empty—Dearer Here Now Than Elsewhere in the State.

Dollar ice will be a precious commodity for the housewife during the coming summer according to reports gathered by The Press correspondent from dealers and consumers in this section of the State. In this vicinity there is not a pound of ice in any of the big houses for none was harvested during the cold snaps. In fact seven-inch ice was the best that could be found and the wholesalers let it melt sanguine that a thicker and better quality could be obtained before the winter was over, but they were doomed to disappointment.

In Plainfield imported ice is being sold to large consumers at the rate of forty cents a hundred and the retail trade is supplied at sixty cents. The wholesale rate at Trenton is now fifty cents while the retail rate is thirty. They are selling it in that city by the ton to wholesalers at $4 and to retailers at $3. Information from New Brunswick shows that the Middlesex people are better off just at present but from a reliable authority it was learned that little ice was harvested and that a sharp raise is inevitable in May if not before.

The retail price in Brooklyn is forty cents and in New York it varies at the present time from thirty to forty cents. In Elizabeth they are getting fifty cents a hundred.

The Natural Ice Company, of this city, which supplies all the dealers in this section and has absolute control of the local market in that respect, has had several of its agents scouring Pennsylvania in search of supplies. According to the President, Peter McDonough, however, its efforts have so far met with failure, though two men started for Northern Pennsylvania today, hoping to obtain favorable results. Mr. McDonough claims that one large concern in Pennsylvania has informed him that it will not sell any ice under five dollars a ton measured in the ice house, which means he says that when shipped it would cost twice that sum. Such dealers, he adds, have been glad heretofore to dispose of the commodity for fifty cents a ton.

The head of the Natural Ice Company here today said that he would be vastly more surprised to see ice under a dollar than over a dollar this summer and this appears to be the burden of the song of the ice dealers generally.

Alarmed over the possibility of an ice famine some of the local butchers and householders have given orders for the early installation of private artificial ice-making plants. It is said that some of the druggists and ice cream manufacturers are considering the same scheme. One of these plants, costing $2,000, has been ordered for the hospital. It will be the gift of Mrs. Percy H. Stewart.

HEAR GOOD REPORTS OF CLIFFORD RANDOLPH.

Reports from the training camp of the Newark Eastern League Club in Milledgeville, Ga., indicate that Clifford Randolph, the Plainfield boy is giving a good account of himself. James M. Gould, writing from that place to the Morning Star, of Newark, has this to say: "The Plainfield player, Cliff Randolph, seems to be right to form. He smoked them over the plate this afternoon, and while he tried no curves, the twirling being only to allow the batters to "hit 'em out," he never let up in his speed and appeared in condition good enough to go through the best part of a game if called on."

Violated License Ordinance.

Henry Duffy, whose home is in Cincinnati, Ohio, was arrested by Officer Charles Flynn yesterday afternoon on West Front street for peddling fountain pens without a license. At his hearing before City Judge Runyon today, he pleaded guilty to the charge, but said he did not know of the license ordinance here. He is a young man of good appearance and as he told a straight story and pleaded ignorance, sentence was suspended.

GIVES AN ICE PLANT TO LOCAL HOSPITAL

Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, who has shown a deep interest in Plainfield charities and is a liberal giver to benevolences, has made a handsome gift to Muhlenberg hospital. She has arranged for the installation of a model artificial ice-making plant at the institution and will defray the entire expense.

The machine will cost approximately $2,000 and will answer the needs of an institution at least double the size of Muhlenberg. Work on the plant will be begun at an early date in order to have the machine in operation before the warm weather sets in. The improvement will be the means of making a great saving for the institution.

LOCAL DENTISTS HEAR DR. W. H. H. WHEELER

In connection with the meeting the society held a banquet and afterward Dr. W. H. W. Wheeler, of New York, presented a paper on "The Use of the Jackson System in Orthodontia." He also displayed appliances and models to demonstrate the system. This talk will be continued Wednesday night at the office of Dr. Frank T. Clawson on Park avenue.

Those present were Drs. Frank S. Wells, Elmer Giddis, George Moore, Guy Hillman, C. W. and B. F. Leonard, O. B. Whitford, W. E. Stelle, Frank W. French, Charles L. Moore, Raymond S. Stevens, John R. 300 EXPECTED AT THE TRADE BOARD'S DINNER

The seating capacity of the big dining room at Truell Hall will be taxed to its utmost capacity tonight, when nearly three hundred Plainfielders will sit down to the banquet given by the Board of Trade. Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, president of the New York Clearing House, who is to be the toast-master, announced today that the banquet will begin promptly at 7 o'clock. The dining room has been leased and a local caterer will serve the meal.

Chairman E. M. Laing, of the banquet committee, has arranged for special trolley service to the hall between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock and the P. S. C. has agreed also to put on special cars for the accommodation at the conclusion of the affair. The Bayonne Boat Club quartet, which will "keep things moving" by scattering melody around the dining room between the courses, has a clever series of local verses set to popular music, and will have "knocks" for some of the more prominent banquetters.

Speakers at the dinner tonight will be Calvin A. Tompkins, of New York; State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county; John S. Wise, of New York. The committee in charge of the dinner is composed of the following; Chairman, Judge William Newcorn; secretary, A. S. Herr; finance, E. M. Laing. The following are the member of the various sub-committees: Speakers: Henry L. Hall, C. J. Fisk, Alexander Gilbert, William L. Saunders and Samuel Townsend. Entertainment: A. E. Force, Edward C. Marshall are Judge William Newcorn, chairman; toastmaster, Alexander Gilbert; Mayor Charles J. Fisk, R. L. Morrow, Edmund Rushmore, A. E. Force, Hugh B. Sweeney, Henry L. Hall, E. M. Laing, A. S. Herr, F. J. Blatz, Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield; J. Fred MacDonald, former Mayor W. L. Saunders, Edward Hardingham, J. Herbert Case, Milton Mendel and J. Hervey Doane.

SUICIDE'S CAREFUL PLANS

Harry Knight's Pathetic Letter to His Mother Arranging for His Funeral.

HIS NOTE TO MISS MITCHELL.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Services for Young Man Who Shot Himself at Former Fiancee's Home.

That Harry Knight, the twenty-three year old son of Mrs. Sarah C. Knight, of 123 Elmwood place, who shot himself through the heart in front of the home of Miss Nellie Mitchell, his former fiance, in Frankford, Philadelphia, early yesterday morning, had carefully planned his suicide, is shown by a letter which he wrote to his mother from Frankford, Sunday, in which he told of his plan to do away with himself, and said good bye. The letter, which was received by Mrs. Knight yesterday afternoon, was postmarked "Frankford Station, Philadelphia, March 10, 10 A. M.," and is believed to have been mailed by the young man when he was on his way to Miss Mitchell's house Tuesday night. The letter follows:

"Frankford, Philadelphia
"March 7, 1909.

"Dear Mother:

"I hardly know how to tell you what I want to. I have been out of work and Nellie and I have parted, which I cannot stand. She was all the world to me, but now she does not love me any more so I do not care to live. I am now going over to her house now and do away with myself.

"I was home Wednesday to tell you all good-bye but you were not home. If I had only waited and seen you I wouldn't feel so badly, but it is too late now so I have to say good-bye on paper.

"Mother, there is only one thing more that I ever want you to do for me, and that is let Franklin Council take charge of my funeral. My past councillor's emblem is in my coat that I have on.

"Nellie is all I have thought of until I am very nearly crazy.

"Well, Mother, there is nothing more I can say. I wish I could see you all once more before I go, but I can't.

"Pray for me, Mother, that the Lord may take me to Heaven.

"Good-bye until we meet in heaven.

"Your son,
"Harry."

Mrs. Knight is today prostrated with grief at her home. When informed of her son's suicide by a Daily Press reporter yesterday, she said that she had been prepared for bad news about her son. "I had a foreboding that something would happen to him, for I've been worried about him for several days. I have often had these premonitions about events and people, and I believe in them firmly. I am ready to hear any news you have for me."

The Plainfielder called at Miss Mitchell's home Tuesday night and threatened suicide if she would not marry him. He seemed very dispondent and imagined that she was engaged to someone else. He left the house late, and returning, after the family had retired, shot himself through the heart as he stood under the electric light in front of the house. Miss Mitchell's father, Augustus L. Mitchell, was aroused by the shot and dressing hastily, opened the door and found the body of the dead youth, whom he recognized as his daughter's former fiance. He summoned the police and the body was taken to the Frankford Hospital and later to the morgue, where it was identified by John Knight yesterday.

John Knight, a brother of the dead man, went to Philadelphia yesterday immediately upon hearing the report of the fatality, and came back with the body today. In accordance with the wishes of young Knight, as expressed in the letter to his mother, Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold special services at the man's late home tomorrow night. Knight completed his lodge term as past chancellor nine months ago. The lodgemen will meet at the Juniors' rooms at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening, and will go to the house in a body. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and will be private. Members of the lodge will act as the pall bearers.

Tucked in Knight's hat, which was found near his dead body, was a letter to Miss Mitchell. It was carefully written in ink, but includes a postscript in pencil, evidently written just before the fatality, and in this he threatens to haunt Miss Mitchell if she married a certain man. The letter follows:

"My lost darling:

"You have refused me your love, so I could not live without you.

About 100 stockholders of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association, who want their stock considered among preferred claims because they gave notice of withdrawal several months before the association went into liquidation, carried their claims to the Court of Chancery, and testimony was heard in Camden yesterday.

Through Lemuel Ware, chief bookkeeper of the defunct concern, an effort was made to prove priority of certain of the claims. His testimony showed that previous to 1905 the association allowed 90 per cent. on the withdrawal value, and that it was on the dues paid in and the profits.

SUGGESTS GERMAN STUDY IN SCHOOLS.

George Schmidt, a lawyer representing several German organizations as well as many citizens, appeared before the Board of Education at Elizabeth last night to urge that body to introduce the study of the German language in the public schools. The chief reason he advanced was that nearly half the population of the city was German or of German descent, that the language would be found to be of great use in every-day life, and that it would be found to be of great advantage in business.

Mr. Schmidt suggested that the study be taken up at about the fifth grade and taught through to the end of the grammar course. In this way, he claimed, the language would be inculcated solidly and the pupil could speak it fluently. At the present time it is taught only in the high school.

While the Teutonic tongue is taught in several Catholic and Lutheran parochial schools at Elizabeth, Mr. Schmidt declared that there were many who could not send their children to these schools because of pecuniary or religious reasons, but who wanted them to know the language of their forefathers.

On motion of Noah Morris, Alexander Kaufman, president pro tempore of the board, appointed Charles Matthews, George Cummings and Mr. Morris as a committee to look into the matter and report. Mr. Schmidt submitted a petition containing several hundred names.

THE AUTOTONE

ITS PLACE IN THE HOME

Have you ever heard the Autotone? It's great! Really, you ought to hear it—and if none of your friends happen to be the fortunate possessors of one, come to the store and hear it. We're always glad to play it—one of our experts, or someone not so expert, will play it for you—or you can play it yourself just to see how easy it is to have the best compositions of the masters faithfully rendered in your home.

You needn't wait for a friend to come in to play for you, or for a daughter to grow up and acquire proficiency in piano playing, or for the lady of the house to take time away from the "kiddies" to play for you—not if you have an Autotone, for you can play it yourself, whenever the mood comes over you, whenever you hunger for music.

Think what a wonderful help the Autotone is in entertaining. No need to coax the "good" players to play for the party or the dance. Anyone can play, and the dance can go merrily on. The Autotone is the foremost of the self-playing pianos. It is the culmination of years of thought and experimenting added to half a century of piano building knowledge—a well-nigh perfect self-player with all the attributes of a first-class piano—capable of being played by hand or automatically.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The championship tournament of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association will be held over the links of the Scarsdale Golf Club on May 26 and 27. This will mean a clash in dates with the first two days of the Metropolitan championship tournament at Apawamis, and for that reason it is possible that the professional body may decide to change the date.

On the first day there will be a professional four-ball match at eighteen holes and also four-ball matches at eighteen holes for amateurs and "pros," which will leave the second day for the championship proper at thirty-six holes medal play. In addition to ten moneys in the championship, two special prizes for players more than forty years of age have been offered. This will enable such well known veterans as Tom Anderson, father of the redoubtable Willie; Geo. Strath, Jack Pearson and a few others to settle the mooted question of supremacy among the seniors.

This will be the first time that this championship has been held in the spring, as the three previous tournaments at Forest Hill, Brookline and Fox Hills were all decided in the fall. The Scarsdale club has been making improvements to its course, which will probably be at its best by the end of May.

Whether or not any change will be made in the conditions of the contest for the Lesley Cup will depend entirely on the action of the Massachusetts and Metropolitan associations. As a result of the recent formation of the Pennsylvania Golf Association players in Pittsburg and other points outside of Philadelphia will be eligible to membership in the new organization. The proposition is to have golfers throughout the State make up the team which in the past has been confined to Philadelphians.

As regards the open seniors' tournament, which has been a feature at the Apawamis Club since 1905, Horace L. Hotchkiss, who has been prominently identified with these affairs, says that the plan to increase the tournament to two days depends altogether on circumstances. October 7 has been set aside, but the following day will also be left free. If the number of entries should be so large that it will be found impossible for all competitors to complete the thirty-six holes in one day, then the Apawamis Club will open the course for two days. Last year there were 120 contestants.

With every prospect of the women's metropolitan golf championship tournament being held over its course the latter part of May, to say nothing of the usual invitation affair and the projected work on its new home, the Nassau Country Club is looking forward to the busiest kind of a season. It is understood, however, that the new clubhouse will not be completed until the late fall.

Having opened the new clubhouse on the Broadway entrance to the property, the Saegkill Golf Club, of Yonkers, is now enlarging the round to three thousand yards for the nine holes.

BASEBALL.

Since the passage of a bill legalizing Sunday baseball games by the Indiana Legislature plans have been formulated for the introduction of similar measures in two other States. At Harrisburg the Pennsylvania Legislature will soon consider a bill legalizing Sunday games between the hours of 3:30 and 6:30 P. M., and providing for a scale of licenses from $25 to $500, according to the size of the grounds. It is said that the new owners of the Philadelphia National League Club, including several State Senators, are behind the measure and that it stands an excellent chance to become a law.

A bill legalizing ball games on the Sabbath will be introduced in the New Jersey Legislature at Trenton shortly. It will provide for fixed hours and may also call for the payment of a State tax on gate receipts. Sunday games have been played for several years in various Jersey towns including Hoboken, Newark, Paterson and Elizabeth, without interruption. It is reported that Jersey City and Trenton politicians who are indirectly interested in the national game will advocate the proposed bill. In New York State there is apparently no chance for a Sunday baseball law covering professional games, but the amateur clubs have been fighting for legislation at Albany for several years.

—Mr. and Mrs. Seely Edsall, of Sandford avenue, will remove to Bloomfield April 1.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Morton will remove from West Front street to their new house in Orchard Park April 1.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

This quality commends Zangwill's "Merely Mary Ann." The purity and innocence of the leading character makes it very appealing. Its cleanliness and freedom from sensationalism have commended the comedy and it has been called a play that will help girls to be good by teaching them the strength of innocence, and that will make men better by showing them the implicit trust of a guileless heart. It will be a great deal of satisfaction to theatre-goers to know that "Merely Mary Ann" will be presented in this city on Tuesday, March 16, at the New Plainfield theatre, by the only company en tour that is legally authorized to play it, and that includes many well known artists of high reputation.

The love element of the play, "For Her Children's Sake," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, March 19, under the management of H. R. Travis, is dominant. The vagaries of courtship are followed with a story charged with vivid local color, and whether it is the true New York, or merely true of New York, it makes a very interesting play. It is a rather pathetic study of a very human life with its bright and redeeming moments, but with the inevitable force of environment and circumstances to always overshadow it.

By means of Lyman H. Howe's Lifeorama at the New Plainfield theatre, Saturday, matinee and night, March 27, the audience may ride on a runaway train through the Alps; sail up the Nile; float through picturesque France; watch Wilbur Wright's conquest of the air in his aeroplane, and the terrific speed of automobiles in the race for the Grand Prix, France; visit Russia; see Moscow during the great flood; witness fearless cavalry manoeuvres in Italy, and many other subjects of unusual interest.

At last, after two years of waiting, Patricia O'Brien, the exuberant personage so wonderfully characterized by Rose Stahl in James Forbes' famous comedy, "The Chorus Lady," is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre on March 29. Miss Stahl will bring with her practically the entire original cast which presented the play in New York for a solid year, and which last year was probably the greatest success en tour. As is well known, the play is a comedy dealing with life behind the footlights, that mystic realm into which nearly everyone has had a strong desire at some time or other to peer. Its secrets are aptly revealed in "The Chorus Lady."

Personal.—Arrived on Tuesday morning last, "Old winter."

Toads and Grasshoppers have made their appearance in Hunterdon Co. Well I declare, Spring is coming.

We learn as we go to press that the temperance folks are going to hold a series of lectures next week in the different churches. Able speakers are engaged, and we feel justified in saying that our readers will get some new light on the temperance question.

Owing to the sickness of Squire Noe, all cases in his court are held adjourned for at least one week.

BRICKS FALL ON PLUMBER.

Michael Ryan Severely Hurt During Wind Storm.

During a squall yesterday afternoon Michael Ryan, employed by H. A. Rath & Co., plumbers working on the new public school, No. 3, at Elizabeth, was struck by falling bricks and severely injured. It was Ryan's first day with the concern. He was removed to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital.

Several of the plumbers and other mechanics had to cling to the rafters because of the strong wind. The structure was slightly damaged.

hour and a half. Recess was then called.

In his summing up for the prosecution Mr. Mott said in part:

"The counsel for the defense failed absolutely to prove any defense under the laws of this State. The only defense was that the defendant acted in self-defense. He would have you believe that when a man shoots to resist being disarmed, he is acting in self-defense. It is not the law of the State of New York, or any other State I ever heard of."

While the prosecutor assailed the prisoner and the testimony he had given, and pleaded for his conviction Mrs. Lumsden wept bitterly. Mrs. Suydam remained out of court while the prosecutor summed up.

"If he can get away with this case simply because he was trying to shoot, then it wipes out self-defense entirely from criminal practice," Mr. Mott declared, in ending his appeal.

Judge Malone then made his charge to the jury.

The prisoner was led out and as he passed through the door his wife implored his guards to give him a note she had written. They could not gratify her wishes. The jury on its way to their room filed past Mrs. Lumsden, but did not look at her.

The murder of Suydam grew out of a misunderstanding he and Lumsden had over an invention the broker had agreed to sell for Lumsden. Lumsden thought Suydam had cheated him in the deal.

LECTURES ON SNAKES TO HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS.

Allen S. Williams, secretary of the Society of Naturalists of New York, and who is one of the leading authorities on snakes and their habits, gave a lecture to the pupils of the city high school this morning on "The Reptiles of America."

The pupils of Stillman school attended in a body and this afternoon the lecture was repeated for the benefit of the Whittier school pupils and a number of visitors. The speaker exhibited several live specimens of snakes and wound them around the necks of some of the children.

No Business Depression Here.

One of the industries in this part of the State that is not feeling the business depression is the American Engine Works at Bound Brook, of which Hugh Pierce, of North Plainfield, is one of the owners. The works are running full time with a force of about ninety men and the orders for February far exceeded those of the same month a year ago. The prospects there are excellent for a busy year.

PLEA FOR LOCAL OPTION

Former Assemblyman Swackhamer's Brilliant Speech Arouses Enthusiasm.

LIQUOR THE GREATEST CURSE.

He Declares Local Option to Be a Political and Moral Right—Becomes Eloquent in Making His Argument.

Considered a masterpiece on the subject of local option, the speech of former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of the borough, before the Senate judiciary committee at Trenton on Tuesday made a marked impression on the big crwod present to hear the pleas.

Mr. Swackhamer's plea for local option legislation follows:

"I am glad to have a word on a measure of such vast and commanding importance; a measure which if passed into law, would rescue this State from the grasp of a merciless monster and would be an Emancipation Proclamation to the slaves of the poison habit within her borders. In this argument it will be assumed that we all have a common desire, namely, for the overthrow and suppression of the evils of the saloon.

"We know and you know that the greatest menace to our State today is the legalized sale of intoxicating liquors. We know and you know that it is a blighting, withering curse to the commonwealth of New Jersey. We know and you know that it lays its unholy hands upon everything sacred, undermining the very foundations of social safety and poisoning our government at its fountain head.

"It is no exaggeration to say that 'If Satan should call a convention of all the haters of humanity, of all the cruel and malignant spirits on earth and in hell, their combined intelligence could not devise a thing more deadly and damning than the traffic in intoxicating drinks.' The record of the saloon has come down to us, written in tears and blood; an institution filled with crime and dead to shame. Then, as the honored representatives of your State, as the defenders of her rights, the champions of her happiness, how are you going to deal with this, her deadliest foe? In his celebrated 'Give me Liberty, or Give me Death' speech, the immortal Patrick Henry said: 'I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future, but by the past.'

"What then, is the testimony of experience, the logic of facts?

"Thirty-five million of people in the United States are living in territory from which the saloon has been driven by local option law, and such is the efficacy of local option legislation, that during the last twelve months an average of thirty saloons per day have been voted out of existence. But the bitterest and most relentless enemies of local option, and the most interested and persistent advocates of the saloon are the strongest witnesses, and their testimony will not be questioned. Who is opposed to this measure? Is it the teacher in the public school? Is it the professor in the college? Is it the minister in the pulpit, reasoning of temperance, righteousness and a judgment to come? Is it the maiden who sees for the first time the unnatural flush in the face of her lover? Is it the mother, with her cooing infant in her arms? Is it the wife who, in the silent watches of the night waits and listens for the unsteady step of the husband who was once a stranger to the wine cup? Even the sincursed victim of the poison habit longs for the law that will drive out of his path the serpent of the winecup. These men know that their business feeds upon the boys and girls of this State; and they know that the legal voters of this State know this.

"Now what do these men fear the most? Not the Christian mother as she kneels at night by her little son, and lifts her petition to the Throne of Grace; not the Minister in the pulpit, as he opens the Word of God and reads: 'Woe unto him that putteth the cup to his neighbors.' What they dread the most is the thing we are asking of you; the thing that has made it possible for a bird to fly from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic ocean, and from the borders of Tennessee to the Gulf of Mexico without looking down on a single licensed saloon.

"What they dread, is an aroused public conscience, expressing itself through the silent, omnipotent agency of the ballot box. Listen! President Dolan, in his report at Newark, to the National Liquor Dealers' Association in 1906, is reported to have said: 'Under Local Option, the State of Georgia has become prohibition, and of Texas and Kentucky, the same may be said; in Ohio and Indiana, thousands have been voted out of business, and many ruined.' And the following language is attributed to President Hayes, of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' Protective Association: 'Local Option is fast getting a foothold in New Jersey, and unless something is done by the saloon-keepers soon, you will have county option in every county in the State.'

"There is your demonstration, strong as the proofs of Holy Writ. The argument becomes an axiom.

Is Local Option Legal?

"Reason, Justice and Common Sense say yes!

"But this question has been answered in the authoritative and decisive language of the highest courts, and from their decision there is no appeal. It is the fiat of the law. The United States Supreme Court, in Crowley vs. Christianson, says: 'There is no inherent right in a citizen to thus sell intoxicating liquors by retail. It is not a privilege of a citizen of the State, or of a citizen of the United States. As it is a business attended with danger to the community, it may as already said, be entirely prohibited or be permitted under such conditions as will limit to the utmost its evils.'

"The Court of Last Resort in this State has said: 'The sale of intoxicating liquors has from the earliest history of our State, been dealt with by the Legislature in a special way; it is a subject by itself, to the treatment of which all analogies of the law appropriate to other topics, cannot be applied. The Legislature has a right to grant to municipal corporations the power to regulate and prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors. No one has a right to demand a license; a license is a special privilege, granted to the few, and denied to the many.'

"It is idle to consume time in demonstrating a proposition which has been established by the dictates of reason and of justice, by the verdict of history, and by the authority of the law. If as declared by the Court of Errors and Appeals, a license is a special privilege to be granted or denied at discretion, then local option would be merely the exercise by the people of a municipality of this legal right to grant or deny.

Is Local Option a Political Right?

"Now, with the situation clearly comprehended, with the demonstration of experiment on the one hand, and the confession of the liquor dealers on the other, that local option law is death to their trade, remembering that New Jersey, where Local Option has been denied, is the home of more saloons than exist in the whole South land where Local Option has been applied; and remembering further, that seventy-five per cent. of the insanity, pauperism and crime for which New Jersey is taxed, and under which she staggers, is the legitimate off-spring of the dram shop, upon what theory could the Legislature of this State deny to the people this most reasonable, legal, constitutional and valuable law? Surely, they will grant it in pursuance of constitutional authority.

"The first article of that instrument declares that all political powers is inherent in the people; that government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and that they have the right at all times to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require it. The organic law of the State thus vests the absolute right of sovereignty in the people. This principal of populer sovereignty was cradled in the Mayflower, and it became the soul of our free institutions. Our fathers said: 'Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.' And it has been our proudest boast that in this country, the will of the majority is the supreme law. For this sacred right, the Pilgrim fathers sailed the wintry sea, and faced the savage wilderness and the pitiless tomahawk; for this Washington and his soldiers endured the agonies of Valley Forge, and left their bloody foot prints on the ice and snows of New Jersey; for this our Fathers pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.

"Let us be thoughtful; let us reflect. You are deciding a question that involves the weel or woe of your State. You are writing a verdict which future generations will read. In 1862, Abraham Lincoln, referring to the subject of Emancipation, said: 'We of this Congress, and of this Administration, will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generations.

"We say we are for the Union. The world will not forget that we say this. We know how to save the Union. The world knows we do know how to save it. We—even we here—hold the power, and bear the responsibility. In giving freedom to the slave, we assure freedom to the free, honorable alike in what we give and what we preserve. We shall nobly save, or meanly lost, the last, best hope of earth. Other means may succeed; this could not fail. The way is plain, peaceful, generous, just—a way which, if followed, the world will forever applaud, and God will forever bless.

"Gentlemen, this is an epoch-making session of New Jersey's Legislature. The people are asking but a pittance of the power which was delegated to you in strictest trust. The law says it is a legal right. The constitution says it is a constitutional right. Experience says it is an inestimable right. This then is the question we must face: Are the people fit to exercise this right? This single issue lies square across our path. We cannot climb over it. We cannot crawl under it. We cannot go around it. Either the people can be trusted, or the people cannot be trusted. Either they have the brains and the virtue to govern themselves, or they have not the brains and the virtue to govern themselves.

"If six councilmen or a single judge miles away from the question can decide for the people better than the people can decide for themselves, then it is fortunate that guardians for the imbecile and feeble-minded can thus be provided.

"Gentlemen, the pulpit and the people are for this bill. The brewer and the boss are against it. But we say to the opponent of this measure what Charles Sumner, speaking on the crime against Kansasa in the Senate of the United States said to the Little Giant of the West. He dreams that he can defeat this measure. How little he understands himself, or the cause which he opposes. He is but a mortal man; against him is an immortal principle. With infinie power, he wrestles with the Infinite, and he must fall. Against him are stronger batallions than any marshalled by mortal arm; the inborn, ineradicable, invincible sentiments of the human heart, against him is nature in all her subtle forces; against him is God. Let him try to subdue these.

"Gentlemen, the decision of this momentous question rests with you."

—A miniature hurricane swept over the city yesterday in the wake of a large black wind cloud, and stirred things generally. In the Central Park section of the city, where several new houses are in course of construction, scaffolding was blown down and the workmen becoming frightened remained indoors until the "blow" was over.

PRISON AND FINE FOR HOBOKEN RAG DEALER

In the Union County Court yesterday morning at Elizabeth Judge Atwater sentenced Ralph Marone, the Hoboken wholesale rag dealer, who was convicted of conspiracy, to eighteen months in State prison and to pay in addition a fine of $1,000. Craig A. Marsh, who conducted the prosecution made a plea to the court for clemency and said from the evidence that had come into his possession and which he had submitted to the judge and prosecutor, Marone was not the worst offender, but it was a man higher up.

Mr. Marsh said that the facts in the matter were that this was simply a case of graft, something that is becoming so prevalent in the United States within the last few years that it was to say what kind of punishment should be dealt out to the offenders.

Allan Strong, of New Brunswick, counsel for the prisoner, said he had a whit of appeal ready to be served on the court and asked that bail be fixed for his client.

After a discussion, in which Prosecutor Swift and Mr. Strong engaged, Judge Atwater said he would fix bail at $10,000, the same at which Marone is now under. Prosecutor Swift wanted the bail increased, but the judge said he thought the amount he fixed was sufficient.

Benjamin Clark, for selling without a license at the Wheatsheaf Hotel, was sentenced to pay a fine of $250, after Counsellor Stein made an appeal for clemency.

Nicholas Taptha, who was charged with larceny from a clothes line, was turned over to the probation officer.

Stanislaw Kavaleck and Joseph Kozemicosz, assault and battery, was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

John Campbell and Louis Rash, assault and battery, were put in charge of the probation officer.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

No Subsidized Press.

Our esteemed morning contemporary ventures the assertion that the Governor of New Jersey, with hundreds upon hundreds of offices at his disposal, he also commands the means to influence public opinion through the subsidization of the press, when he is supported by scores of newspapers whose editors draw a dollar from the State treasury with every flourish of their editorial pen. Our esteemed contemporary declares daily that: "It is the object of a free press to discuss principles and to state facts." To be consistent, our Democratic friend should name the "scores of newspapers whose editors draw a dollar from the State treasury with every flourish of the editorial pen." We are of the opinion that he would have a high old time finding a single score of editors of newspapers in this State who hold public office and who are paid for their services. We are of the opinion also that he would have an elevated and ancient time proving that there is a single editor in the State who draws a dollar from the State treasury with every flourish of the editorial pen. If this were true, there would be a whole lot of wealthy editors in New Jersey. So far as we know, there is not a single wealthy editor in the State. Truth is a good thing to stick to. Facts are profitable things for a newspaper editor to deal in. And the safe and sane editor will live up to his pretentions. So far as a subsidized press is concerned, it doesn't exist in New Jersey, and it is an insult to the editors of New Jersey newspapers to say that they have been bribed by appointment to public office to forward the interests of any man who has the appointing power. We know of no editor in the public service today whose purposes are not honest, who hasn't the courage to approve what he believes is right and to condemn what he believes is wrong, and whose citizenship isn't equal in quality to that of any other man in the State, whether he be a new comer of an old settler. It is the happy and holy prerogative of a newspaper editor to have faith and confidence in a certain political organization and to approve the actions of men who are faithful to these principles and policies of their political party, even though they are adversely criticised by the enemy. A little more indulgence in the discussion of principles would enable our esteemed contemporary to come to a keener realization of the value of facts than it appears to have at this time.—Trenton State Gazette.

ADDRESSES CARPENTERS.

Leading Union Official Praises Elizabeth Men for Revolt.

Former General President William H. Shields, of Boston, addressed an Elizabeth union of carpenters last night at Columbia Hall. His address was chiefly a resume of the various benefits derived through organized labor.

The speaker praised the carpenters for their fight against the masters at Elizabeth. Arthur A. Quinn, of Perth Amboy; General Vice-President Fred Wright, John T. Cosgrove and P. J. Kiely also spoke.

Rahway Hen's Achievement.

Charles Melbourne has on exhibition at Rahway twin eggs, connected by a lingament half an inch long and nearly as thick. Each of the eggs is of full size. The hen that laid them was just an ordinary, every-day speckled hen, but it is declared that she cackled twice as long and loud as usual over these curios.

The Beer That Builds

Beer contains nourishing, body-building elements not found in any other beverage. Its extremely low percentage of alcohol acts as a mild invigorating tonic and energy producer. Beer is a product of Nature's wonderful methods. P. O. N. brews contain the food-extract in just the right proportion for easy and complete assimilation by the human system.

Our plant is the most modern in every respect. Only the choicest materials are used. These are scientifically combined, producing the famous

Feigenspan

NEWARK P.O.N. TRADE MARK N. J.

The Beer that Builds

From the moment the brewing process commences, till it reaches your home, Feigenspan P. O. N. Beer is perfectly protected from all contamination. From the glass-enameled aging tank it passes through copper tubes to glass lined tanks in the bottling department. Then it is brought to the automatic filler where bottles are filled without the intervention of human hands. Thus it is kept pure, clean and full-flavored. It is then pasteurized, insuring perfect sterilization. All the wonderful processes of nature in the making of Feigenspan P. O. N. Beer would go for naught if the proper care, skill and experience were not exercised at every stage.

This is why Feigenspan P. O. N. Beer is noted for its extreme purity and fine flavor—why it has earned the title, "THE BEER THAT BUILDS." It is a drink that satisfies the palate, at the same time rebuilding the wasted body tissues.

Insist upon Feigenspan P. O. N. Brewery Bottlings. All our brewery bottling has the signature on the neck label. On draught at leading hotels, cafes, bars.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning March 14, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—What are our liquor laws, and how are they enforced?—Deut. iv, 1-9.

The liquor laws of the United States are very much varied in character. The regulation of such laws is under the control of the various states and not the government at Washington, and hence this variety of laws. In some states liquor selling is absolutely free. Any one may open a brewery, a distillery or a saloon at any place. In a number of states license laws exist under which saloons pay the state for the privilege and are permitted by the states and protected by them. Pennsylvania is perhaps the best illustration of this kind of law. In the various counties license courts are appointed, consisting of certain judges of the county. Those desiring the privileges of selling liquor apply to the court, when it sits, through a lawyer and petitioners. Citizens in the neighborhood may by petition remonstrate against the application. The saloon keeper must be a man of good moral character and show that a saloon is necessary in the place for which he asks it. He is not allowed to sell to minors, to habitual drunkards, and must close upon the Sabbath day from midnight to midnight. The license laws of Pennsylvania are fairly well enforced, for the breaking of the law means usually the loss of the license. But the results do not prove that even high license is the best way of handling the liquor question.

Other states prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within their boundaries. There are now seven or eight prohibition states in our country. As to the enforcement of the laws in a prohibition state, the answers usually given are in accordance with the view of the persons asked. The prohibitionist says that it does prohibit. Those in favor of the saloon declare that it does not. But there are two facts that cannot be controverted. First, if prohibition does not prohibit it greatly lessens the sale of liquors. Any reasonable person must admit this much. It is against all common sense to argue that as much liquor is sold without open saloons as with them. Thousands of men who would visit open saloons would not sneak into "speak easies" and dens which are prohibited by the law. The young are also greatly protected. The gilded saloon might attract them, but scarcely the dark corners where an illegitimate business is carried on. Second, if prohibition does not absolutely prohibit it is not to be condemned for that reason. This statement is also too reasonable even to need argument. We have laws against murder, yet murder has not altogether ceased; laws against theft, but all thieves have not therefore gone out of business. Yet there is no doubt that there are fewer thieves and fewer murderers because of the laws and penalties against such crimes. So there must be greatly reduced liquor selling and liquor drinking in states where it is against the law, for, after all, only a comparatively few men care to break the laws at the risk of disgrace and punishment.

Local option laws are very popular in many states today. The legislatures of such states give to the people of a certain locality, such as county, township or ward, the privilege at stated times of voting for or against the saloons. Up to date this has been the most successful and effective means of fighting this great curse. Hundreds of counties in varies states have voted "dry," and through the various methods over one-half of the United States is under state or local prohibition laws. Local option laws are usually well enforced, for when the people living so closely together favor such a law the executors of it must enforce it. Public opinion is a great factor in enforcing all laws.

The temperance question is one of the greatest questions before our country today. Our largest business interests as well as our religion have declared that the saloon must go. For self protection one section of our country is rapidly voting out the saloon. The liquor dealers are frightened and on the run. If the temperance cause advances for a few years as it has recently the national government will be compelled in some way to take hold of it. It will be forced into the platforms of the great political parties, and a uniform law for all the states will be put upon our statute books, and the federal government will enforce its laws. It will be impossible to jump from one state to another and from one county to another to get a supply of liquor or to devise methods of smuggling it into prohibition territory from points where it is allowed to be sold. If once the entire nation rises and says, "Liquor must go," it will go. The people do rule.

The Romance of Religion.

A Gentleman From Mississippi!

By THOMAS A. WISE.

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs.

Copyright, 1909, by Thomas A. Wise

At length Haines spoke to his stricken chief.

"I know it hurts," he said. "It hurt me to have to say it. Don't believe it until you get it out of Norton, but then you must do something."

"I know it hurts."

Langdon came to his feet, mopping his cheeks. But there was no weakness in him now. Yes, he would do something. He would go after the thieves that had turned his own flesh and blood against him and root them all out—show them all up.

"Oh, I'll do something," he said grimly. "I'm going to make up for lost time. Of course Norton is speculating. Who's behind him?"

"Stevens and Peabody, I'm positive," answered Haines, "and behind them is Standard Steel."

"What," exclaimed Langdon, "Stevens in a swindle like this! Are you sure? How do you know?"

"A Gulf City man who couldn't carry his liquor gave me some clews, and I worked Norton into telling some more," answered the secretary. "Where is Peabody?"

"He's here now."

"Then he hasn't got my letter yet. I sent him a note and signed your name, senator, to the effect that the Gulf City claims have been brought before you so strongly that you might vote for Gulf City."

Langdon was amazed.

"You sent that note," he exclaimed, "when you know Altacoola is the only proper place and Gulf City is a mud bank?"

The newspaper man smiled.

"Of course," he agreed, "but I had to get a rise out of Peabody. This will show where he stands."

"Show up at the old desk."

"Oh," said Langdon, "I understand. Thanks, boy."

A servant entered with a note.

"For Senator Peabody, sir, marked 'Urgent.' The messenger's been hunting him for some hours."

Langdon looked shrewdly at Bud, then turned to the servant.

"You keep that note until I ring for you, then bring it to Senator Peabody. Understand? No matter how urgent it's marked."

The man bowed.

"Yes, sir."

"Now tell Mr. Norton, Miss Langdon and Mr. Randolph to come here."

The senator turned back to his secretary.

"I expect I'm going to be pretty busy the rest of the evening, Bud, so in case I forget to mention it again remember to show up at your old desk in the morning."

"I will. Thank you, sir."

"You sent for us, senator," said Norton, approaching with his two dupes.

"You are interested in Altacoola lands," the senator angrily charged.

"I am, sir," he said.

"And you told Mr. Haines that I was interested in Altacoola lands?"

The schemer hesitated, and the senator broke in on him in rage.

"Speak out, man! Tell the truth, if you can."

"I did," admitted the congressman finally.

"Was there any particular reason for your not telling the truth?" demanded the Mississippian in threatening tone.

"I told the truth," replied Norton. "You are interested in them."

For an instant Langdon seemed about to step toward him, then he controlled himself.

"I didn't know it," he said.

"You have several things to learn, senator," declared the congressman.

"I have things to learn and things to teach," he said. "But go on. Why am I interested?"

"You are interested, senator," replied the trickster, making his big play, "through your son Randolph, who invested $50,000 of your money in Altacoola, and also through your daughter, Miss Carolina, who, acting on my advice, has put her own money—$25,000—in Altacoola land also."

For a moment Langdon was speechless. It was too much at first for the honest old southerner to comprehend.

"You mean," he gasped at last, "that you induced a boy to put $50,000 in Altacoola land when you knew I had to vote on the bill? And you even let my daughter put her money in the same scheme?"

"Of course I did. It was a splendid chance, and I let your son in for friendship and your daughter because she has done me the honor to promise to become my wife."

"What! You have my daughter's promise to marry you, you"—

"She admits it herself."

"Then I reckon here's where I lose a prospective son-in-law," sneered Langdon. "But that's unimportant. Now, Norton, who's behind you?"

"I must decline to answer that."

Langdon looked at him sternly.

"Very well," he said. "You are too small to count. I'll find out for myself. Now you go to my study and wait there until I send for you. I must be alone with my children."

When Norton and Haines had left them, Langdon turned sadly to the two children who had disgraced him.

"Can you understand?" he said. "Do you know what you've done to me?"

"What, father? We've done nothing wrong?" protested Carolina.

"They told me it was perfectly legitimate," urged Randolph. "They said everybody—Peabody and Stevens and the rest—were in it, and Peabody is the boss of the senate."

"Yes, my boy," assented the old planter, "he's the leader in the senate, and that's the shameful part of all this—that a man of his high standing should set you so miserable an example."

Randolph Langdon was not a vicious lad, not a youth who preferred or chose wrongdoing for the increased rewards it offered. He was at heart a chivalrous, straightforward, trustful southern boy who believed in the splendid traditions of his family and loved his father as a son should a parent having the qualities of the old hero of Crawfordsville. Jealous of his honor, he had been a victim of Norton's wiles because of the congressman's position and pursuasiveness, because this companion of his young days had won his confidence and had not hesitated to distort the lad's idea of what was right and what was wrong.

Randolph began an indignant protest against his father's reproof when the senator cut him short.

"Don't you see?" said the senator. "I can understand there being rascals in the outside world and that they should believe your careless, foolish old father lawful game, but that he should be thought a tool for dishonest thieving by members of his own family is incomprehensible.

"Randolph, my son, Carolina, my daughter, through all their generations the Langdons have been honorable. Your mother was a Randolph, and this from you! Oh, Carolina! And, you, Randolph! How could you? How could you betray or seek to betray your father, who sees in you the image of your dear mother, who has gone?"

CHAPTER XX.

THE CALL TO ARMS.

BOTH Randolph and Carolina were deeply affected by their father's words.

The daughter attempted to take on herself the blame for her brother's action.

"I was the older one. I might have stopped him if I had wished and should bear the burden."

"No, no, father," exclaimed the youth, his inborn self reliance prompting him to shoulder the consequences of his own mistakes. "I, and I alone, am responsible for what I did. I did not realize that it was wrong. I will not hide behind Carolina."

Carolina Langdon bore herself better than was to have been expected under the strain of the painful interview. She saw more clearly now how she had erred. She was undergoing an inward revolution that would make it impossible for her ever again to veer so far from the line of duty to her father, her family and to herself.

When Randolph had finished Carolina took up her own defense, and eloquently she pleaded the defense of many a woman who yearns for what she has not got, for what may be beyond her reach—the defense of the woman who chafes under the limitations of worldly position, of sex and of opportunity. It was the defense of an ambitious woman.

Henry Lavell, formerly of Putnam avenue, died at his home in Hoboken, Tuesday. He was a member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

Mrs. Frank Vanness Moale and Miss M. M. Wootton, who have been visiting their brother, W. H. Wootton, of Carlton avenue, have returned to their home in Baltimore.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. John Burns, wife of the proprietor of the Hotel Kensington, who has been quite ill, is now improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas MacDonald, of East Second street, will soon remove to their handsome new home at 514 East Seventh street, which has just been completed.

Dr. and Mrs. C.M. Burdick, accompanied by her son, Charles M. Burdick, Jr., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Smith, of Madison avenue. Dr. Charles M. Burdick, has been on the staff of the State Hospital at Ogdensburg, N. Y., but recently secured a similar position at the State Hospital at Central Islip, N. Y., where he and his family will go within a short time. Mrs. Burdick was Miss Ernestine C. Smith.

BLANKETS AND WHAT YOU MAY DO WITH THEM.

Necessity is the mother of invention truly, and the woman in the home is constantly inventing small devices to lighten her task. Now about blankets. It has become a very general custom to divide and rebind the large double blanket, making two out of one; but much newer is the idea of a thrifty housewife, who was maid as well as mistress. She divided, once, more, the single blanket, carefully binding each section, and then felled these bound edges together again.

This was done that she might dissect the parts for laundering purposes. It may seem something of a sacrifice of good material, but her whole excuse—and is it not worth while considering—was her strength for she had found it inadvisable to handle the half-sized or single blanket when wet and heavy.

And, while blankets are under consideration, there is another suggestion—the piecing of those of ordinary length with a width of white outing flannel across the lower edge, so as to secure a tuck-in portion. No blanket will give the requisite warmth for a cold night, though it covers the bed, if it pulls out below. Even one blanket so lengthened will give the desired tuck-in material.

Now this little talk will not be complete without a thought for the invalid, whose comfort is so often disturbed by the drawing of heavy covers across the feet. This may be entirely obviated by fulling the blanket across the bottom of the bed, allowing foot room for the one who needs every little added comfort that can be thought of.

LACKED PRESENCE OF MIND.

In the criminal court in Baltimore a darky was on trial for stealing a watch which he had pawned. He was identified by the owner as the person who grabbed the watch out of his pocket, yet the darky claimed he was innocent. When asked how he came in possession of the watch, he said:

"I was standing on the corner when a man comes up to me and says he is hard up and hasn't a cent to buy food with, and he wants to sell me this watch for $3. I knew I could get $4 on it in pawn, and I felt sorry for him and bought the watch for $3 and pawned it for $4. That's how I got the watch."

The prosecutor then asked if he had bought the watch for $3, knowing he could pawn it for $4, simply to help the man along because he felt sorry for him, why he did not advise him to pawn it himself, and then he would have had $ 4instead of $3.

"Well, you see," said the prosoner, "I didn't have the presence of mind to do dat."

Notable Chamber Music Concert.

The first of three chamber music concerts was given at the home of Mrs. Forrset F. Dryden, in Lincoln Park, Newark, Tuesday afternoon, by Joseph McIntyre, of this city. The fine program was presented by the famous McIntyre Trio, Joseph McIntyre, pianoist; Hans Letz,violinist; and Vladimir Dubinsky, 'cellist, and the assisting vocal artists appearing at these concerts include Miss Christine Miller, contralto; Mrs. Edith Chapman Goold, soprano and Francis Rogers, baritone.

Greatest Minstrels Booked.

Owing to the illness of George M. Cohan, who is about to sail for Europe to recover his health, Manager Counihan has cancelled the engagement for "The Yankee Prince" booked for April 10. Carter De Haven has taken Cohan's place in the cast. In place of this show, Mr. Counihan has arranged for an appearance of Cohan and Harris' famous "Honeyboy Minstrels" on the same date.

Local Option.

"You say that local option has been of great benefit to this section of the country?"

"Yes, sir," answered Colonel Stillwell. "As soon as a lot of us citizens realized how far anybody would have to go for a drink we organized a good roads movement."—Washington Star.

Driven to Drink.

"My next Academy picture," said the artist, "will be entitled, "Driven to Drink.'"

"Ah! Some powerful portrayal of baffled passion, I suppose?"

"Not at all. It is a study of a four-wheeler approaching a watering trough."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"I am gone now, so nothing can worry me. Oh, but I loved you with a love no one ever knew. I could not live, dear, and see you marry any one else. There is one favor I would like to ask you to do for me, and that is to pray to the Lord to take me to Heaven, so that I can see you there again.

"I don't want to go to the bad place, Nellie. I don't blame you for anything you have done. You were always my dear sweetheart.

"If God will only take me to Heaven I will watch with open eyes, until you come, my own. I have prayed myself, and they say and the Bible says that the Lord answers prayer. So He will answer mine and yours. If you are able, dear, I want you to go to my funeral. Let my mother know as soon as you find me.

"Good-bye, my love, bood-bye.
"HARRY."

"Telegraph to Mrs. S. C. Knight, 123 Elmwood place, Plainfield, N. J., as soon as you find me."

The following postscript is then written in a very shaking hand and is difficult to read:

"If you really loved me you would not have given me up so easily and taken someone else. The very next night, too. I know you have been seeing him, and going over to George's house, but I forgave you, and never said a word about it.

"If you marry Mr. Kehr, I shall haunt you wherever you go, if it is possible. I think that was him who came to see you Sunday night."

Miss Mitchell and the members of her family refuse absolutely to say anything about the tragedy or the causes leading up to it.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

W. D. Williams will speak at the meeting of the Plainfield Rescue Mission in the W. C. T. U. rooms tonight.

"What Are Our Liquor Laws and How Are They Enforced?" will be the subject of the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. George E. Hall will lead the meeting.

Miss Anna Lucretia Case, formerly a member of the First Presbyterian church choir, has accepted a position with the choir of the Nostrand Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn. Her engagement begins May 1.

At a meeting of the executive board of the Plainfield Rescue Mission held last night, the resignation of Frank R. Vanderhoff, as secretary and member of the board, was received and accepted, and William Demaris was elected in his place.

Chief T. O. Doane is detained at his home on West Fifth street with rheumatism, with which he has been afflicted this winter.

CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

The Y. M. C. A. Presents a Really Meritorious Ring Show and Menagerie.

G. L. Listman's big aggregation of circus performers, clowns, barkers, freaks, oddities and rare animals came to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night with all the pomp and glory of a modern spectacular pageant. Exhibitions of former years were eclipsed by this most complete, stupendous presentation.

The first feast for the eyes as one entered by the grand entrance on Watchung avenue, was the marvelous array of curiosities, beasts and wonders of the orient and occident, filling the spacious auditorium.

Among the most noteworthy features here displayed and which the lusty voiced barkers endowed with personal idiosyncrasies, were:

Magician and conjurer, Clifford de Beres; bearded lady, Mme. Harryface, R. D. Carver; tiger, only one of its kind in existence, H. Black; monkey, eats peanuts, Clarence Steiner; giant, found wild and rare on Mountain avenue, F. O. Dunning; fat man, weight 912 pounds, G. H. Volk; barker, living machinery of silence, William Russell; frog, Tiers Lake, B. Naylor; three legged man, A. Newmiller and F. Line; skeleton, captured in Nelldunnen, Harry Rothberg; fat woman, Mme. "Leano," F. H. Howard; bear, "Bunco," F. Harding; Clarence, the cop, Chauncey Murphy; special attractions—barrel jumping, C. H. Line; wire walking, Blondy, C. S. Hoagland.

Passing up the broad staircase and turning twice to the right and three times to the left, the throngs of delighted spectators, on emerging from a long hallway, found themselves in the gymnasium, transformed into a brilliantly lighted amphitheatre. The band struck up a lively tune and the excitement began with a rush.

A half dozen stalwart Y. M. C. A. gymnasts sprang into the arena and lightly leaped over towering elephants, varying the performance with somersaults and hand springs.

Six agile chaps of the New York Turn Verein gymnastic team brought thunderous applause by performing dangerous and difficult feats on the horizontal bar. Always between the acts funny clowns swarmed over the paraphernalia and executed mirth provoking antics to the intense delight of the small boys eating peanuts in front of the Y. W. C. A. private box.

Next came an exhibition of artistic tumbling by B. J. Hansen, who it is claimed by the management, has no equal.

Two skillful club swingers, George Flynn and R. O. Phillips, specially transported from the New York University, swung themselves into popularity and for a time had a corner on all the applause in the house.

William Banks and Carl Steiner covered themselves with glory, if not with water, in their high diving act from a lofty perch among the rafters to a softly padded mat.

The New York Turn Verein team had a second turn before the arc lights when the parallel bars were pushed into the ring, and afterwards did some brilliant work on the horse.

One of the things that will be talked about in homes for some days to come is the educated dog "Trixitinia," which was almost as human as its master, William Briggs.

A big act was the pyramid building by a troop of Y. M. C. A. athletes in tight fitting tights, also giving artistic poses in muscle straining positions and maneuvers.

Another performance will be given tonight with a change of program and some additional side show features. This is the personnel of the company:

Sole owner and manager, G. L. Lisfman; ring master, George C. M. Smith; chief announcer, Charles B. Morse; box office manager, Charles A. Steiner; chief barker, William Russell; chief ticket seller, C. B. Batchelor; chief ticket taker, C. H. Schermerhorn; ushers, Clarence Lawrence, H. H. Woodland, Horace Vail; chief electrician and engineer, W. A. Welle; C. S. Hoagland, chairman; Charles H. Line, Secretary; Carl Steiner, R. H. Collins, William P. Banks, Horace E. Vail, Henry Viebrock, Walter Sampson. Members—C. D. Burgess, Martin Stutsman, F. H. Howard, C. Murphy, Harry Rottberg, Harry Black, George Volk, Alva Dunham, W. H. Cubberly, A. Newmiller, Frank Line, A. B. Price, R. D. Carver, F. J. Harding.

Boys—Clifford Vail, L. W. Ulmer, Ruskin Watts, Raymond Manley, Alfred Manley, Theo. Champlin, Bergen Naylor, A. Kinney.

WANT CHARTER REVIVED

Civic Bodies Interested in Plan to Renew Franchise for a Trolley Line.

As the result of a movement on the part of members of the Plainfield Board of Trade, the Plainfield Merchants' Association, the South Plainfield Good Government Club, and the Metuchen Borough Improvement League, a bill for the extension of time on a traction line charter granted in 1871 will be presented to the Legislature at Trenton Monday night, which, if passed, may mean a trolley service to Metuchen by way of South Plainfield.

The traction scheme has been considered periodically by residents of the towns for the last nineteen years but the recent development in the south end of the city and the statement from Public Service officials that no plans are being considered for the opening up of such a route, have made the present movement of some moment. It is stated that if the old charter can be revived, a stock company will be organized and the work of constructing the line begun. Prominent residents of this city, South Plainfield and Metuchen, it is stated, have signed the petition to be tendered with the bill and the signatures show a large percentage of representative men.

The effort to revive the charter of 1871 is made advisable because of the fact that this old charter was a limited one. It is known as "An Act to Incorporate the Plainfield Horse Car Railroad Company" and provides for the construction and maintenance of a traction line to join Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, South Plainfield, Metuchen and Fanwood. The charter was granted to a company of ten Plainfielders, and John W. Murray, of Plainfield avenue, is the only surviving member of the company.

The measure relative to the reviving of the old charter has been framed by Charles Corbin, of Metuchen, a member o fthe law firm of Collins and Corbin, of Jersey City. It provides that "when the time limited for the completion of any horse or street car railroad or any part thereof has expired by the provision of any statute of this State or the character of the company authorized to construct such railroad has expired by reason of delay in construction, such shall be revised and such time shall be and the same is hereby extended to the first day of July, 1910." The act, if passed, will take effect immediately.

Cards, headed "For Your Digestion," outlining the proposed revival of the old franchise, were distributed at the Board of Trade banquet at Truell Hall last night. A petition to the Assembly and Senate was circulated among the diners and secured many signatures.

MRS. EGE'S FUNERAL WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

The funeral services of Mrs. Emma F. Ege were held Wednesday afternoon at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the pastor, officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, assisted in the service by reading Scripture selections and offering prayer.

During the service a quartet comprising Miss Grace Carroll, contralto; Miss Nora Schenck, soprano; Charles L. Lewis, bass and Elmer D. Cuting, tenor, sang "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Sometime We'll Understand." Mr. Lewis sang as a solo, "Crossing the Bar."

There was a beautiful display of floral tributes. The interment was in Hillside Cemetery and the pallbearers were T. J. Mumford, L. N. Lovell, Irving Brown, A. N. Selter, William Sandford and William F. Arnold.

First Baptist S. S. Elects Officers.

The annual teachers meeting of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church was held last evening in the lecture room when, after the report of the committees, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Superintendent, George H. Batchelor; secretary, Ernest K. Powlison; treasurer, Samuel P. Case; librarian, B. J. Shreve. George A. Chapman, chairman of the nominating committee, gave expression to the appreciation of the school for the retiring and re-elected officers. The meeting was adjourned to Tuesday evening, March 30.

SMALLEY MAKES PLEDGE

The Somerset Assemblyman Goes on Record as Favoring Local Option Bill.

That Assemblyman W. W. Smalley, of Somerset county, is to be a prominent antagonist of "the liquor interests" of the State in the fight being made by the Local Optionists, is shown by a letter he has written to the local Christian Endeavor Union, in which he has pledged himself to support the Plummer Local Option bill and to work for the defeat of all measures favoring Sunday amusements. The letter was read at the joint meeting of the local Union with the general and finance committees for the State Christian Endeavor convention, held at the Temple Baptist church last night, and was greeted with applause. The communication was in reply to a letter sent to senators and representatives by the local union. Communications from Senator Ackerman, Assemblyman Pierce, Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, and Assemblyman Silzer, of Middlesex, contained statements that they would give the matter their careful consideration.

Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth, who is district secretary of the Endeavorers of Union county, spoke at the meeting last night, urging all the members of the congress to attend the meeting of the Union County Extension Committee to be held tonight at the First Baptist church of Elizabeth. A delegation of about twenty endeavorers from here will be present.

The plan of inter-visitation among the societies, which provides that joint meetings shall be held from time to time, was discussed at length, and will be adopted. It was recommended that each society of the Union take up the course in Christian Endeavor fundamentals prepared by the State secretary.

It is expected that H. A. Kinports, president of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union, will be the speaker at the next mass meeting of the Union, which will be held early in May. Plans for the State convention, to be held October 6, 7 and 8, were discussed, and it is probable that a large delegation from the local union will attend.

HUGH F. FOX TALKS ABOUT CHILD LABOR

Hugh F. Fox, president of the State Charities Conference, gave an address before the Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest at the regular meeting last night. His topic was "Child Labor," and he spoke particularly of the legislation in this State to control the conditions existing in the factories.

The speaker told of the beneficial legislation to control conditions in the State factories, notably among the glass blowers at Camden and in the silk mills at Passaic and Paterson. While conditions are not as yet what they should be, the speaker said, New Jersey is ranked among the States that do the most in results of child labor legislation.

In connection with the objections brought forward by parents who declare that the State has no right to interfere with the work of children where they are needed as supporters of large families, Mr. Fox said that it was no more a ground for complaint than compulsory school attendance. "Patriotism," he said, "does not today constitute a willingness to die for our country, but to live for it, and live an efficient life. It is the duty of the State to care for New Jersey's children."

Juan A. Babcock, president of the association, was in charge at the meeting, and introduced the speaker. Routine business was transacted at a short business session. At the conclusion of Mr. Fox's talk, a social hour followed, during which a juggler and prestidigitator entertained the audience.

MRS. EGE REMEMBERED THREE INSTITUTIONS.

By the will of Mrs. Emma F. Ege, whose death occurred Sunday night, three Plainfield institutions are generously remembered. Muhlenberg Hospital receives $5,000 and the Children's Home a like amount, while Bethel chapel is left $500. Mrs. Ege was particularly interested in all three institutions, and also in Warren chapel to which she gave a handsome pipe organ costing $2,500 before her death. The balance of the estate is left to relatives.

While the true value of the estate is not known it is believed to be large. During her thirty-five years residence here, Mrs. Ege was a steady contributor to charity and was always helping the unfortunate. William F. Arnold is the executor and Craig A. Marsh the counsel for the estate.

THE WEATHER.

$1,000 on First Appeal.

The finance committee of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, is renewing its appeal for individual subscriptions. Over $1,000 was returned through postal cards sent on the first appeal. The committee announces that no person is refused admission to the hospital because of liability to pay and it is desired that everyone so far as possible contribute toward its support. In this way the board hopes to be able to give up the annual form of entertainment as a means of securing funds.

Seventh-Day Baptist.

Tomorrow morning at the Seventh Day Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw, will preach a children's sermon, not a sermon to the older people about children, but a sermon for the children and to the children. Robert Lowe will speak at the Junior C. E. meeting at 3 o'clock, and Mrs. T. C. Bodine will give a temperance talk to the Young People's Society at 4 o'clock. The executive board of the American Sabbath Tract Society will meet at 2 o'clock on Sunday.

BIGGEST AND BEST BANQUET IN ALL ITS HISTORY IS ENJOYED BY THREE HUNDRED MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL BOARD OF TRADE

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, as Toastmaster, and State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Frank Bergen and Calvin Tompkins Deliver Rattling Goo Speeches on Timely Topics Following the Dinner.

Men from all walks of life to the number of about three hundred, attended the annual banquet of the Board of Trade held last night at Truell Hall, and helped to make the affair a success. The banquet was served in the large dining room, which was decorated with American flags and bunting. The arrangement was such that everyone had an unobstructed view of the speakers' table.

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert was the toastmaster, and seated with him were State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, Frank Bergen, Calvin Tompkins and W. E. Tuttle, Jr. Mr. Gilbert regretted that he was obliged to announce that John S. Wise, one of the principal speakers, was detained in Virginia and could not be present. Letters of regret were also read from Mayor Charles Joel Fisk and State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who explained their inability to attend.

The hit of the evening was made by Senator Frelinghuysen. That every man in the hall counted himself as a personal friend and admirer of the Somerset man was plainly evident from the first. When he arose to speak he was given a big ovation and when one of the diners shouted "Hurrah for our next Governor!" cheers resounded through the room. Time and again his remarks were interrupted by applause and when he had concluded his speech, cheers were again given with a vim for "The next Governor."

A feature during the serving of the dinner was the instrumental music of Charles Suhr's orchestra, and the singing of topical songs by a quartet from the Bayonne Boat club. These young men introduced several specialties, including a song containing "hits" on the city officials and prominent merchants. They were received with great applause. The large assemblage joined heartily in the singing of the popular songs and there was no lack of enthusiasm from start to finish.

Gilbert as Toastmaster.

Toastmaster Gilbert in his introductory remarks said a few things that made everyone take notice as he touched questions of vital interest to every citizen. "The Board of Trade is now thoroughly established," said Mr. Gilbert, "and it has succeeded in injecting considerable spice and life into Plainfield's social life. During its existence it has wrestled with many difficult problems, important ones, too. When the board was first organized some people doubted its necessity, but I think it has proven its right to existence and Plainfield today is in need of just such body of men.

Alexander Gilbert.

"This year we will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the granting of the city charter and the city is still wrestling with problems. It is needful that all watch the city government, especially in view of our rapidly increasing bonded indebtedness. Twenty years ago no Common Council would think of issuing bonds without first submitting the question to a vote of the people. Today no one takes any interest, although last year our indebtedness increased seventy per cent. and at present we have a bonded indebtedness of $600,000, and we are talking of building a trunk line sewer, buying a water works and want to improve our suburbs.

Public Extravagance.

"Our credit is good, but our desires out-run our necessities. The only object seems to be to keep the tax rate within reason. This is not confined solely to Plainfield. Every State is doing the same thing—running in debt. Education, sanitation and good roads are before the country and everyone wants the best. This is a debt-making era. Plainfield will never owe less money than it does today and this requires careful watching and care. We have lived a quiet simple life and enjoyed a natural healthy growth, but the indications are not wanting that we may drift to a wasteful expenditure of public money, out of which grows graft. Unless we are careful there is danger ahead."

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen.

Following his introductory remarks, Mr. Gilbert announced that Mr. Wise had disappointed the committee, having been detained in Virginia, "but," continued Mr. Gilbert, "we are not disappointed in State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen who will now address you."

When the Senator arose to his feet he was greeted with a storm of "honks," and this led him to remark that judging by the sound some people were expecting to take a ride in an airship. Senator Frelinghuysen received the greatest ovation of the evening and all were interested in what he had to say. He was frequently interrupted by hearty applause.

Frelinghuysen Speaks.

The Senator said:

"I am glad to be here tonight to tell you of the real pleasure and satisfaction in meeting the men who have taken such an active part in promoting the prosperity and progress of this, one of the most beautiful cities in the State of New Jersey, and to congratulate you on the high standard of your city government, and the splendid character of your city fathers. Plainfield has long been noted as a city whose record is clean. In fact, it might well be called 'Spotless Town.'

"The activity and efforts of the Board of Trade have resulted in industrial progress within your limits. The city with a board of trade means good government, good utilities, transportation, water and sewerage, well kept streets, and a happy and contented people. The city without one you will find generally needs paint, sidewalks, tooth brushes and quinine pills. The city of Plainfield shows two sides. The people passing through it on the great artery of travel, over which course the trains of three great railroad systems, seeing the great factories, ask 'What is the name of this busy manufacturing town?' But when they visit and drive through your side streets under the arching boughs of the beautiful elms, and view the handsome residential section, with well kept lawns and lots of room for God's free aid and sun, they say, 'This is not only a manufacturing city, but a city of homes. It is indeed the beautiful city of the plains.

Calvin Tompkins.

Throws the Bouquet.

"Plainfield, as well as Union county, is to be congratulated upon their representatives in the State Legislature. Your Senator Ackerman is one of the ablest and strongest men in the body, safe, sane and conservative, and next year he will be the majority leader I believe, and the Republican party will do well to place their interests in his hands.

"I might mention also the honorable Mayor, who in addition to other valuable services to the State, has just served as chairman of the excise investigation committee appointed by Governor Fort. While this report seems to be like a hot potato—everybody afraid to touch it—I believe as times goes on the valuable information that it contains, will be of immense benefit to the State as a guide for future legislation.

"Plainfield should also be proud of the many prominent men who live within its borders, of those who form the structure of its government as well as of those who make their homes here, but who go to the great metropolis doing their share in the world's work in its financial industrial and commercial life.

Plainfield's History.

"Interested somewhat in ascertaining some facts about your city and the reason for its name, I found in 1685, the first settler to this section wrote 'We have the honor of being the first settlers in this inland part of America.' Plainfield, before and after the Revolution was known as Milltown by reason of a mill here, and also as 'Towtown.' In 1812 there were several hat factories here. In 1736 the Society of Friends erected a meeting house as a place of worship, and in 1788 their present house was built. The name of Plainfield is from the English 'plain-field,' and is coincident with the name 'Westfield' and 'Scotch Plains.' I also note with some satisfaction your city was incorporated in 1869, the year of my birth, and is celebrating this year the birth of its incorporation. This section is rich in memories of the Revolution, with Washington Rock and exciting events surrounding it from 1776 to 1781. The two winters that Washington spent at Morristown were the scene of much Whig and Tory raiding, and was the bulwark of Washington's defense against the British General Howe, who laid like a crouching wolf at New Brunswick. We read much of the settlement of this locality in the early days, about the Dutch settling along the Hudson and Raritan rivers and finding their habitant in this locality. At that time there sprung up in the clearing a clustering village of log cabins, and it seems curious to us today when we look back 250 years ago to the colonization of the State.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

One more important golf fixture was added to the rapidly swelling list when the executive committee decided Wednesday to hold the annual championship tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association over the links of the Nassau Country Club on May 25, 26, 27 and 28. This means that three championships will be crowded into one week, as the dates conflict with the men's metropolitan tournament at Apawamis and the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association tournament at Scarsdale.

Conditions to govern the women's tournament are the same as last year, so far as the championship proper is concerned. A start will be made with an eighteen-hole testing round on the morning of the first day, and thereafter the match play will claim attention each morning. The field will qualify in eights. As usual, the side attractions will be held during the afternoons, and an innovation arranged for will consist of old-fashioned mixed foursomes on the afternoon of Friday, the last day.

It was also announced that one-day tournaments would be held at the Salisbury links and at Morris County. Although the exact dates will be determined later, it is already known that these attractions will be run off prior to the championship. One-day tournaments proved quite a feature last year, and they may attract more attention than ever this season, for the reason that Mrs. C. T. Stout and Mrs. E. A. Manice, former champions, have consented to compete again.

The team schedule for the Yale golfers has been announced as follows: April 24, Hartford Golf Club at Hartford; May 1, New Haven Country Club at New Haven; May 8, Wee Burn Golf Club at Stamford; May 15, Greenwich Country Golf Club at Greenwich; May 22, Williams College at Nassau Golf Club, Nassau, Long Island; May 29, Morris County Golf Club at Morristown, N. J.; September 13, Intercollegiate golf tournament at Rye, N. Y. Only two of last year's championship team are not available this season, so that the outlook is bright.

RAHWAY'S COCAINE CURSE.

It has been found that the cocaine habit has been steadily on the increase in Rahway. It has puzzled those trying to ferret the cause out. On Saturday last some of the "fiends," on account of an overabundance of "dope," became hilarious and quarrelsome.

A policeman finally succeeded in locating a quantity of cocaine. He found that the drug was furnished by a young man who lives in the eastern section of the city and who is employed in a drug house. When accused of stealing the stuff from his employers the young man acknowledged it. He has since sold his belongings and left for the West.

It is thought that these inspectors will be an incentive to a better grade of milk. Charles Thompson, a Rutgers student, has been engaged as an assistant to Health Officer Gutmann in the work.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

with the conditions of today, not only can a man equip himself with the necessities but also luxuries within reason. He decides to raise a habitation here in the Raritan Valley. He goes to the brick yards of Perth Amboy for brick, or, possibly, he uses the cement manufactured by our friend, Senator Ackerman. He roofs his habitation with rubberoid manufactured at Jersey City or Dover. He lights it with electric lights invented by the great Jerseyman, Edison, manufactured at Harrison, N. J., or, possibly, preferring kerosene oil, he patronizes the Oil company, located at Bayonne, N. J. He papers the walls with paper manufactured at New Brunswick. He carpets it from the great manufactories in Camden. He puts curtains on the windows made at the silk mills of Paterson. He places a sewing machine in one room, manufactured here in your own county by that great concern, The Singer Manufacturing Co. He places a piano in another corner manufactured at Washington, N. J. He reads a paper printed on a printing press manufactured in Plainfield and from type made in Rahway, and pays for it with a copper cent, the copper of which is refined at the great smelters of Raritan Bay. He gets in an automobile, the body of which is made by Quinby, of Newark, is lighted by the famous Rushmore lamp, manufactured here in Plainfield, which shines around the world. When he dies, a tombstone is placed over him, the granite of which is taken from the hills of Morris county. Then, if he is prudent, his wife collects from the great life insurance company that has made the Rock of Gibralter famous. This shows, in comparison, what two hundred and fifty years of progress will do.

"The New Ideas."

"In these days when 'National Morality' is exploited on every hand when strenuosity in government seems to be the spirit of the age, when good government clubs are formed every where, and even the humblest citizen becomes an ambitious politician, it is the duty of all public spirited citizens to carefully consder all public questions.

"The trend of today seems to be toward sociological legislation in State and Nation. The blue laws of former days are not a curcumstance to the popular demand for prying inquiries and investigations and stringent control of corporate and all other business.

"I need not remind you how complicated our legislation has become. No sooner is a public need perceived than some one begins to harp upon it, then a society is formed to look after it, and, soner or later, the already overburdened legislature is called upon to turn the world upside down by an all-regulating command of government.

Laws' Enforcement.

"Most people think that as soon as any matter of importance becomes formulated in our code of laws, everything is settled. In New Jersey there are a thousand obselete and useless laws on our statute books. The enthusiasts believe the simple enactment of laws a cure for all the diseases of the body politic. The really important part of all government is not the making of laws but their faithful execution. No mistaken legislation can endure the test of a rigorous enforcement, and a really good law receives an indisputable recommendation when it is found beneficial in practice.

"But behind and beneath, above and around all law enforcement, stands public opinion. In the ultimate analysis this is a government by the people. Just as far as they want a law enforced, and no whit further, will such law be carried out, and when a law is outgrown by the people and becomes antiquated, it hardly needs to be repealed. By a sort of unanimous consent it drops out of consideration, and is relegated to the archives of defunct legislation.

"The problem then today is the careful instruction and direction of the public mind. In this respect men of trained minds and persuasive speech, as well as sane temperament, are the civic guards, the intellectual militia of a Nation's armament.

"I presume there are some automobilists in the audience tonight and some expression of opinion might be expected from me on automobile legislation.

"I appreciate the great benefit of the automobile to the State of New Jersey and to its industries.

Auto Legislation.

"The impression seems to have gone abroad that my views on the question of automobile registration were arbitrary, and that I was the enemy to automobilists. This can hardly be so, inasmuch as I enjoy the sport myself, owning three machines, but I only believe and maintain that the law should protect every user of the highway. Possibly the speed limit, in view of the improved control of machines, is too limited, although the question of the advisability of a change to a greater speed than is allowed in Pennsylvania and New York States, might be questioned. The law should be strong enough to protect all citizens of the State, and license tolls should not be any less to non-residents than they are to residents. Non-residents should not be granted any privileges that the residents of the State do not enjoy.

"I am in favor of a fair adjustment of these license tolls, so that visitors may enjoy our roads, and the beauty of the State, but they should pay the same proportion for the time they are here that the residents now pay. Our road system has attracted thousands from other States. We must collect from the automobilists in a measure to repair the roads. Unless we maintain roads visitors will not come to motor through the State.

New Jersey.

"But my subject, 'New Jersey.' I have exhausted my time, and, I fear, your patience as well. Just a few brief words about New Jersey, our beloved State.

"'Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who to himself hath never said, "This is my own, my native land?"'

"The government of New Jersey has always been the highest class. Her laws have always been dispensed with justice and fairness by the ablest of judges.

"While our neighbors have spent millions of their substance building canals and trotting speedways, while thousands of children were turned from the schools unaccommodated, New Jersey has spent her millions for free education, and no child, be its parents rich or poor, has ever been turned from the schoolhouse door. She is merciful to her sick and charitable to her afflicted. She does not follow, but leads the trend of thought in advanced legislation, although mistakes are, and have been made. In my association with those who frame the laws, I know the majority of the men who now compose the legislature are broad, high-minded men, unselfishly sacrificing their time for the best interest and welfare of the State. No State can fail to succeed with such a standard, and we welcome in our government the higher order of things.

"I think New Jersey is the greatest State religiously, intellectually, commercially and industrially in the constellation of forty-six States, of which she is the brightest jewel. Territorially, she has the finest position of any State. Embraced on each side by two larger sisters, she has all their virtue and none of their vices.

"Her smooth broad highways make her the parkway of the East. On her wave-lapped sands the people from all over the world come to play. Her mountains and plains speak and her rivers and lakes sing of her beauty. Her outline of shore is the first to welcome the storm-tossed mariner returning home to the 'Land of the Free.'

Jersey's Richness.

"She contributes her thousands daily to make the immense marts in the two great cities throb with the pulse-beats of energetic life. It is Jersey brawn and brain; Jersey justice and Jersey lightning that have diverted all trade and traffic to New York and Philadelphia from the relaxed grasp of our anaemic neighbors, the villages of Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

"New Jersey is rich in history—the battleground of the Republic—the battlefields of Trenton, Princeton and Monmouth can never be effaced from the annals of history.

"New Jersey's coat of arms reflects her traditions. Upon the shield are the three plows, indicative of agricultural pursuits. The horse's head is emblematic of the State's one-time industry, for in Colonial days she was the emporium and breeding-ground of the world. The helmet indicating the supremacy of the human mind in every sphere of civilized life. Upon the scroll beneath are the words 'Liberty and Prosperity.' Liberty, that priceless boon of a free people was purchased for eternity by her sons on every battlefield of the Revolutionary and Civil wars, and by reason of honesty and righteousness in government and the favor of God, we hope New Jersey will forever enjoy that prosperity which we think she so richly deserves."

Tompkins Talk.

"The Port of New York," was the toast assigned to Calvin Tompkins, of East Orange and New York, and his remarks contained a wealth of facts and figures tending to show the relation of New Jersey to New York as regards transportation and commerce. "What helps a part helps the whole," continued Mr. Tompkins. "New York is today the centre of all traffic and whatever helps that city will help New Jersey. There is no wind that can bring ill to Manhattan and at the same time the outlying districts are benefitted.

"The stimulus of New Jersey on New York is always to be counted upon. This State is awake and doing things and the building and extension of tunnels is of the greatest importance in the development of both New York and New Jersey. A unified plan of development means a maximum division. If we fail in this we will lose a great deal.

"At present New York has no such railroad opportunities as New Jersey, no great system of railroads, and New Jersey's great opportunity is now while New York is wrestling with almost insurmountable problems. When these are solved, New Jersey's future will not be so promising. New York now has one decided advantage and that is control over its public utilities and this condition should exist in New Jersey. When all of the tunnels are connected there will be a tendency on the part of New York's population to flow out into the suburbs and it will then be up to New Jersey to take care of this increase. New Jersey lies between two great Atlantic portals and it is important that she organize to obtain the great advantages due her. There is one way of getting improvements and that is through public opinion."

Bergen on Extravagance.

The third and last speaker of the evening was Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, who was called upon to complete the toasts. In introducing him, Mr. Gilbert assigned to him the topic, "Where Are We At?" the one upon which John S. Wise was to have spoken. Mr. Bergen said that he had a grudge against Mr. Wise for this was the third time that the Virginian had failed to keep such an appointment and he was not surprised when he heard that he would not be present.

Continuing, Mr. Bergen said that he would have to be as careful as to what he did not say as to what he would have to say. "This subject, 'Where Are We At?' is a big one," said Mr. Bergen, "in its application to the Nation, State and municipalities. During the past twelve years there has been a profound change in the methods of government and this has greatly increased our responsibilities. We must direct our attention to local, State and county interests.

"New Jersey encouraged the corporations until she became an incubator and nursery for them. That policy inaugurated a policy of extravagance, but three years ago with the vast resources and revenue no one would have believed that the State today would have to resort to its present system of taxation.

Favors Consolidation.

"If I was a resident of Plainfield I would rally around the standard of Former Mayor W. L. Saunders and Mayor Townsend and others who seek to bring about a consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield. I was born in Somerset county and now live in Union county and I am convinced that the convenience of North Plainfield makes it imperative that the two municipalities unite. If I were a Czar in Plainfield, and I would like to be, I would force the people to build on the beautiful hills adjacent thereto and would annex Fanwood, also. But you cannot work against the laws of nature. Man would rather live on the plains than the hills.

"There is much that could be said regarding the relations of public service corporations to municipalities, but time will not permit. The storm clouds are now passing away and confidence is returning which means a large amount of money seeking its way into all trades and I feel sure that the interests with which I am connected will do all that is possible to bring about a condition satisfactory to all."

This concluded the speechmaking and before parting all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Eugene M. Laing was the chairman of the banquet committee, succeeding Judge William Newcorn, who was unable to be present last night. A. S. Herr was the secretary. Mr. Laing also served as chairman of the finance committee.

The following were the members of the various sub-committees: Speakers: Henry L. Hall, C. J. Fisk, Alexander Gilbert, William L. Saunders and Samuel Townsend. Entertainment: A. E. Force, Edward C. Hardingham and Ralph L. Morrow. Committee on place and dinner: J. Hervey Doane, F. J. Blatz, Milton Mendel, and Edmund Rushmore. Tickets and printing: E. M. Laing and J. Fred MacDonald. Publicity: A. S. Herr, J. Herbert Case, and Hugh B. Sweeney. Service committee: A. E. Force. The members of the general banquet committee as appointed by President Harry W. Marshall were Judge William Newcorn, chairman; toastmaster, Alexander Gilbert; Mayor Charles J. Fisk, R. L. Morrow, Edmund Rushmore, A. E. Force, Hugh B. Sweeney, Henry L. Hall, E. M. Laing, A. S. Herr, F. J. Blatz, Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield; J. Fred MacDonald, former Mayor W. L. Saunders, Edward Hardingham, J. Herbert Case, Milton Mendel and J. Hervey Doane.

HAYLOFT IS ESTABLISHED BY RED MEN'S TRIBE.

Eighteen redskins banded together and established a "hayloft" last night in the barn of the Red Men of Wetumpkah tribe on East Front street. The charter members were installed by A. J. Cook, of New Brunswick, past chief haymaker of New Jersey, assisted by Past Chief Haymaker Clark Cole, of Phillipsburg, N. J.

These officers were elected: Past chief haymaker, A. E. Willard; vice-past chief haymaker, M. Armstrong; chief haymaker, Frank Wagner; vice-chief haymaker, E. F. Dorman; overseer, I. B. Huffman; collector of straw, W. S. Wylie; keeper of bundles, R. W. Osland; trustees, John Clark, Henry Windham and F. E. Giles.

After organization had been effected the party stalked into Haymaker Windham's hotel dining room and feasted on apples and popcorn. Heap much talk was made by Past Chief Haymakers A. J. Cook, Clark Cole and A. E. Willard.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED FOR THE Y. M. C. A. WORK.

Bar Dinner Abandoned.

The Union County Bar Association dinner which was planned for tomorrow night, has been indefinitely postponed because of a lack of interest. There were not a sufficient number of replies to insure a successful affair.

Money Awaits Them.

City Treasurer W. F. Arnold has envelopes containing money for three Italians, numbers 15, 17 and 20, who were employed to clean snow from sidewalks. Perhaps they do not know where to go for their money or else are so well off that they do not need it.

S. S. Swackhamer to Speak.

S. S. Swackhamer will address the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel Tuesday night on the regular Endeavor topic, "What are Our Liquor Laws and How are They Enforced?" An offering will be received.

FAMOUS INN NO MORE.

Ye Old Wheatsheaf Inn' at Roselle borough has been closed for the first time in its existence of more than a century. Among the notable guests who occasionally were entertained there were Washington and Lafayette.

The lace has changed hands several times since the Revolutionary period, but the business never halted. The present owner is Mrs. C. V. Bonte from whom it was leased by the last tenant, Herman J. Saur. The old structure stands at Chestnut street and Rahway avenue and was still well patronized but complaint was made by the residents of the neighborhood that it was not being conducted on the same strict principles as of yore and their action has resulted in its being closed. The signs which have creaked and guided the thirsty and the hungry for so many years have disappeared and rough boards cover the vacant staring windows.

Miss Lorraine A. Vaughn.

Miss Lorraine A. Vaughn, aged about 70 years, died early this morning at her home, 965 West Front street, following a long illness. She formerly lived on West Seventh street. The funeral will be private.

Samuel B. Howe, Jr., of P. H. S. faculty, is attending a convention of history teachers at Philadelphia.

Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, returned this morning from Knoxville, Tenn., where he was called by the critical illness of Mrs. John Honeyman. Her condition remained unchanged when Dr. Adams left.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, has been granted leave of absence on Sunday, March 28, and the supply committee will arrange for some one to preach on that day, morning and evening.

RAHWAY'S COUNCIL AFTER TROLLEY CO.

The Common Council of Rahway held a special meeting last night to hear Colonel Edwin W. Hine, of the Public Service Railway Company, explain why the franchises of the East Jersey Traction Company, which operates in that city as a subsidiary corporation of the Public Service, shall not be revoked, owing to the poor service rendered.

Colonel Hine declared that the limiting of the term of franchises to twenty years, with the consequent difficulty in obtaining funds from banking institutions to finance operations, tied the company's hands, so that it was at the mercy of the Council.

Councilman Trembly spoke of the bad condition the streets were in and blamed it on the trolley company. He suggested that if the Public Service wanted to retain its franchise it might put a mile and a half of streets in good condition, from curb to curb.

"That would cost us $75,000," exclaimed Colonel Hine.

"Yes, and that is what it would cost the city," retorted Mr. Trembly.

Colonel Hine then declared that the company would pay its share of the cost of street improvements, but if it had to pay all it would be best to let the franchise go, as the Rahway line is now run at a loss.

The upshot of the discussion was that Colonel Hine promised, if the franchise was not revoked, to relay rails throughout the city this summer at a cost of $40,000. This proposition will be considered and decided on later.

UNION SCHOOL ELECTIONS.

Contests in Most of Towns, but None in Cranford.

The school meetings of Tuesday night will prove interesting in all of the county towns along the Central Railroad except at Cranford, where there apparently is no contest.

At Roselle it is claimed that the Clio Club will endeavor to have two women elected members of the board. In Roselle Park an effort will be made by the Civic League to oust Trustee Kingsland and elect William Gogard. Mr. Kingsland is a candidate for re-election. At Garwood there are two tickets in the field for trustees, and at Westfield an effort will be made to elect a trustee in each ward. Heretofore the trustees were elected by the town at large.

AGED TICKET AGENT QUITS.

Madison Timbrook Has Been at El Mora 30 Years.

The Central Railroad Company yesterday received the resignation of Madison Timbrook, who for thirty years has been the ticket agent at the El Mora station, during which time he has not missed a day from active duty. Poor health is the cause of the retirement.

Mr. Timbrook is 77 years old. He was born in Newark. Before the Civil War Mr. Timbrook went to Elizabeth, and was one of the first to enlist. He saw service as a member of Company B, Seventh New Jersey, which company was recruited in Elizabeth.

DEED GIFT REVISED.

Cranford Will Act on Carnegie Library Fund Wednesday.

The Cranford Township Committee has postponed action until March 17 on the acceptance of Andrew Carnegie's gift of $10,000 for a free public library. Last month a form of acceptance of the gift was received from Mr. Batram, secretary for Mr. Carnegie, which the committee desired revised.

The form came back to the committee Wednesday night with the revisions desired, but it was decided to have a report from Attorney Austin before executing the instrument. This report is expected at the meeting next week.

BIG HOSPITAL COLLECTION.

Bayonne Pleased by Results—Addition Is Planned.

At a meeting of the board of directors at the Bayonne Hospital yesterday afternoon it was reported that the total receipts from the half-a-day's-pay movement were $21,163.48, of which $1,283.50 was disbursed for expenses. This amount, added to the amount on hand, makes a total of $39,462.76.

There is being erected on the plot of ground adjoining the hospital a handsome addition, which will be ready for occupancy on May 1. The amount of money collected will enable the directors to pay for the building and to thoroughly equip it.

Seeks Telephone Franchise.

The telephone corporation is seeking a franchise in Cranford. The company expects to spend several thousand dollars to place its wires underground in the business section of the town, where congestion is detrimental to good service. The company does not feel inclined to spend any money until it has a franchise covering all streets of the township. The Township Committee will receive the formal application from the company on March 17 and set a date for a public hearing.

SAYINGS OF A CYNIC.

If religion paid cash dividends everybody would be seeking it.

How easy it is to borrow money when you haven't any use for it!

How the neighbors dislike a man who kicks about the cost of his wife's funeral!

It's easier to talk a woman out of a dollar than it is to fight a man out of it.

And sometimes a man gets married in order to have some one to believe his talk.

Men who like the same things and women who hate the same people are congenial.

Even a philosopher is apt to fall down when it comes to making the best of the worst of it.

You may lead an actor before the curtain, but you can't keep him from making a few remarks.

When a rich man is seriously ill he sees a lot of people standing around waiting for his old shoes.

The man who takes up a lot of room in a street car may not occupy any space at all in the hall of fame.

If people were all perfectly candid none of us would be on speaking terms with our next door neighbors.

Some people seem to think they are charitable because they dream of giving away money—and let it go at that.

You may have observed that an office-seeker is a man who shakes the voter's hand before the election and shakes the votes afterward.—N. Y. Telegraph.

YOU WILL NEVER BE SORRY

If you think before you speak. The other way round doth breed regrets as doth a rabbit her young.

For not banking on gossip. Believe only what you see and not then unless your eyes are good for motives as well as appearances.

For being honest and above board. Something to hide is as dirigible as an air ship that has lost its ballast; you live in dread of its landing.

For holding your tongue. If once you give it a start it will lead you a sorry chase. Keeping silent never stirs up trouble. If in doubt, don't talk.

For believing in mankind. The woman who sees no good in her neighbors is like unto the rosy apple in a basket of spoiled ones. It is suspected of sharing the general rottenness.

For being candid. The opinion that does not stand for your true feelings generates untruths. Say a serious thing to be polite and you will generally have to back it up with downright lies before you are through.

For hearing both sides of the question before you judge. To decide on half evidence is as sensible as to buy a pig in a poke. The poke may be what you think it and the contents make you wish for your money back.

FOOLISH IDEAS.

A fool can criticise everything that a wise man can do.

To be successful as a fool you must never realize that you are one.

Fools are valuable to us; without them fashions in dress might become tame.

Fools are sometimes wealthy; they can buy what even millionaires cannot afford.

Thank goodness, there are no fools in our political party; they are all in the other one.

Since the successful demonstration of the aeroplane aeronauts are gradually losing their reputation as fools.

"What fools these mortals be!" Do not read this unless you are one or have serious intentions of becoming one.

Fools may otherwise be divided into three classes—old fools, middle aged fools and young fools, the first being the greatest, as "There is no fool like an old fool."

OLD THINGS.

Greek doors open outward, and in going forth a man knocked first, so as to warn chance passers-by to stand out of the way.

Muffs were carried by men 300 years ago. Poor men in England and France were forbidden by law to carry any save cheap black ones.

Police dogs seem a novelty, and yet Columbus and his Spaniards brought with them to the new world trained fighting dogs that helped them to win many an engagement.

Parmentier in 1781 so popularized the potato—then a new vegetable—at the French court, that everybody wore bouquets and buttonholes of the pale violet flowers of the potato plant.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Because of the serious illness of a grandchild of State Assessor Baird the reception planned for him by the Second Ward Republican Club in Camden last night was postponed.

William Schuster, of Moorestown, and John Fisher, of Lenola, were committed to jail without bail by Magistrate Pettit yesterday, charged with assaulting Lewis Wiegand and robbing him of $225.

The Salem County Board of Freeholders yesterday fixed the annual budget at $125,000, an increase of $2,000 over last year. A contract to erect a bridge at Sharpstown was awarded to the Oswego Bridge Company for $475.

The funeral of Bessie, the eleven-year-old daughter of John Neil, captain of the Gloucester City ferry, occurred yesterday from the home on Market street, near Sussex, and six little girl schoolmates acted as pallbearers.

Patrolman Gibbons called for assistance last evening and raided a gang along the canal bank at Paterson. Four prisoners, ranging in age from ten to twenty-one years, were taken. They were held for disorderly conduct, but some pretty thefts may be fastened upon them.

D. R. Rohrback, president of the Gloucester County Principals' Association, has called a meeting of its members in the Woodbury High School Saturday, March 20, when "Spelling in the Public Schools" will be presented by Miss Nana E. Haupt, of Clayton, and "The Use of the Dictionary," by H. C. Dixon, of Woodbury.

A raid on a house at 12 Jay street, Paterson, last evening, netted four prisoners, a white boy and three colored women. The women took their arrest as a joke, but the youth gave vent to tears. Patrolman Fitzsimmons, who conducted the raid, had previously warned the inmates of the house to behave, but they laughed at his advice.

The birthday anniversary of Thomas Jefferson, the great American statesman, on April 13, will be celebrated by a dinner at one of the beach-front hotels at Wildwood. The committee in charge is composed of George Nelson Smith, Sherman T. Dowler, Charles A. Norton, Charles L. Nickerson, Evans G. Slaughter and Cecil Ober.

Despite protests from State Road Commissioner Gilkyson, who declared traction engines to be "expensive luxuries" rather than money-saving devices for road repairs, the Atlantic County Board of Freeholders yesterday decided to buy one of the machines to haul gravel. Some members hinted that the purchase for which bills are to be asked is nothing more than petty graft.

Bridge-tenders on the meadow boulevard were ordered by the Atlantic County Board of Freeholders yesterday to pay the owner of the "water wagon," which serves them with water. Reports were presented showing that a raise of $5 a month had been granted the bridgemen to enable them to secure water from the contractors who run the wagons, but the contractors reported that they had not been able to collect.

The New Jersey Law and Order Association lost a hard-fought case in Bridgeton yesterday afternoon in the special term of County Court, when the jury returned late in the afternoon with a verdict of not guilty against Nieukirk Wentz, proprietor of the Greenwich Pier Hotel, at Greenwich, and his bartender. Chester Fluted, for the illegal sale of loquor and the keeping of a disorderly house. For the past week the case has been on, and Greenwich's most prominent citizens testified that the hotel was a disorderly place and drinks were sold to drunken men.

There was something of a furor created in Camden last night, when a collie dog bit several persons, and also sank its teeth in a number of other canines. Hyman Stein, ten years old, of 342 Liberty street, was the first attacked, his left leg being badly chewed. On Kaighn avenue the dog attacked Mrs. Emma Francis, of 266 Kaighn avenue, severely tearing her hand. It then turned on a dog that was with her, and bit the animal. At Second street the canine attacked Policeman John Barnett, who escaped its teeth, and sent a bullet into its heart. Subsequently the policeman killed the other dogs that had been bitten. The collie was not suffering from rabies, it was declared.

Conductor Hurt By His Train.

Frank Fowler, of Jersey City, conductor on train No. 115 of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was thrown from his train at New Brunswick yesterday while trying to jump aboard. He struck against a closed vestibule door and was knocked to the platform, and would have gone under the wheels of the starting train if John Roach, of the Adams Express Company, had not caught him just in time. The conductor was cut about the head and pretty badly shaken up. The train was stopped and he was taken aboard and his cuts bandaged by the crew. He continued to Jersey City.

—Percy Dayton, who recenty purchased a residence property on Rockview avenue, owned by W. L. Smalley, Jr., is making extensive improvements there. He will take possession about April 1.

DEADLOCK TO STAND.

No Power to Select Successor of Alderman Francis.

The New Brunswick Common Council held a special meeting last night and passed resolutions of regret at the death of Alderman John Francis, who died suddenly Wednesday. It was decide to attend the funeral tomorrow morning.

The death of this official has brought to light what is considered a defect in the law providing for filling such vacancies. The act of February 28, 1901, governs the situation. This act provides that vacancies in elective offices in cities can only be filled at the next general or State election following and not otherwise. It has been suggested that City Attorney Edwin C. McKeag, who is also an Assemblyman, secure the passage of a law giving the Mayor power to make appointments in case of such vacancies, or to provide for a special election.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hudson, of DeLacy avenue, will remove to the house occupied by John Matthews on Somerset street, April 1.

—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McCardell, who contemplated removing from their present home at West Front street and Giraud avenue, have changed their plans and have renewed the lease for two years. It is known as the Harburger property, well known as Washington's headquarters.

Mrs. John Matthews, of Somerset street, has returned from a visit with friends in Reading, Pa.

Fred McClintock, of Fairview avenue, is detained at home with a sprained ankle, the result of playing basketball.

MANY TRAINS RAN OVER MAN'S BODY

The body of an unidentified man was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday mroning on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near the Forty Acre road crossing in Linden Township. It was so badly mutilated as to be hardly recognizable. It is believed that the man fell from some freight train during the night and that several trains passed over him. He was probably a tramp.

Soon after the body was found it was carried to the freighthouse at Linden and Coroner William H. Donaldson summoned. In the clothes were found $1.19 wrapped in a piece of paper and a pawn ticket from H. Friel, 29 New Church street, New York city, dated January 21, 1909. On the ticket was the name Stein, but no initials. In addition to the money and pawn ticket there was found a brown pocketbook, empty; thread and needles, a German textbook, a piece of soap and a comb.

Coroner Donaldson, after viewing the body, ordered that it be turned over to Undertakers Ryno & High, and soon after it was removed by them to their morgue in Rahway.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Without baggage, without worry, without surveillance, and without annoyance of any kind, the spectators of Lyman H. Howe's Lifeorama at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday matinee and night can travel with him as a guide through Russia, one of the least known, yet one of the largest countries of the globe. The very fact that this nation has so long and so successfully resisted the scrutiny of foreigners makes this feature one of most vital interest among many others of Mr. Howe's new program.

No play that has been produced in the past five seasons has given audiences such complete satisfaction and delight as Zangwill's comedy "Merely Mary Ann." Its basic principle is true to life and the story is carried to the end without offence. It teaches a lesson of life's possibilities and triumphs, although the beginning may be humble and discouraging. It appeals to the hypercritical as a high example of dramatic construction, and to the average auditor as a charming and touching performance. "Merely Mary Ann" is announced for this city on Tuesday, March 16th.

A summer party inundated by a thunderstorm is a scenic feature of "The Fortune Hunter" by Winchell Smith which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Thursday with Thomas W. Ross as star. Mr. Smith, who wrote and produced "Brewster's Millions" invented the storm-at-sea in that play. He predicts, however, that the thunderstorm in "The Fortune Hunter" will prove even more exciting.

There is a widespread interest manifested in the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, March 18, when one of the latest H. R. Travis successes from the pen of Theodore Kremer entitled "For Her Children's Sake," will be the bill. As the companion play to "The Fatal Wedding," this dramatic success bears a striking resemblance to its predecessor.

When Paul H. Liebler's excellent company, in "The Conflict" headed by Robert Droust, comes to the New Plainfield theatre, theatregoers will have their first opportunity of seeing Maurice V. Samuel's wonderfully convincing and much discussed psychic drama. "The Conflict" is founded upon the central conception of Balzac's masterpiece, "La Peau de Chage" in (The Magic Skin) but unlike the book is a study in regeneration.

Although Rose Stahl, who is to be seen at the New Plainfield theatre March 29, in James Forbes comedy, "The Chorus Lady," was born in Montreal, Canada, most of her early life was spent in Trenton, N. J., where her father at present edits a newspaper. Miss Stahl was a graduate from the Convent of the Sisters of the Sacred Heart in Montreal, and made her first appearance on the stage playing a minor part in "Men and Women." She really "arrived" as a full-fledged star at the Savoy Theatre in New York something like two years ago, when Mr. Forbes' play received its first production. Immediately previous to this she had been appearing in vaudeville in "The Chorus Lady," which was then a sketch in one-act form.

Dined on Anniversary.

The Plug Hat Association of Elizabeth, which is the oldest purely social organization in Elizabeth, celebrated Wednesday its twenty-ninth anniversary. A dinner was served at the home of the president, Henry Gebhardt, Elizabeth avenue. It was also Mr. Gebhardt's birthday anniversary, which made the double event more than usually enjoyable. The Plug Hat Association was formed during the Presidential campaign of 1880. At first it was a Republican political organization, but soon afterward became non-partizan and assumed its present character. Its secretary, Frederick Gummer, has held the position twenty-seven years.

TRINITY REFORMED JOINS THE FORWARD MOVEMENT

The missionary interests of Trinity Reformed church are to be largely increased in the near future, that church having decided to join in the progressive forward movement, which is now sweeping the country. At a meeting of the Consistory of the church, last night, the pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek, presented the plan, which will be submitted to the congregation for the support by that body of the Dr. Paul W. Harrison, as a missionary to Arabia. Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Zweher will speak to the people of Trinity church on Sunday, April 18, morning and evening, telling of the project and Dr. Harrison, the missionary, will also be present and make an address.

It will be remembered that Rev. Dr. Zwemer, who is the leader of the Forward Movement in the Reformed Church in America, spoke at Trinity Reformed church several weeks ago, and at that time he greatly enthused the members in the cause of missions. He suggested then that it would be a nice thing if the church could see its way clear to undertake the support of a missionary, mentioning Mr. Harrison's name. Since then the matter has been under serious consideration.

The following committee from all the auxiliaries of the church was announced last evening by Pastor Broek. F. E. Smith, of the Sunday-school; Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff, chairman missionary committee of the Sunday-school; Miss Harriett Randall, Christian Endeavor Society; Lawrence French, Junior Christian Endeavor Society; Harold Schenck, Boys' Mission Band; Miss May Randolph, Mission Study class; Mrs. A. L. Force, Ladies' Christian Work Society; Mrs. Emma Smith, Young Women's Mission Band; Robert Clark, Jr., Consistory; Floyd Woodhull and Henry Seader, Congregation; Rev. J. Tucker Lonsdale, Marconier chapel; Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor emertris; Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor.

A Gentleman From Mississippi!

By THOMAS A. WISE.

Novelized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs.

Copyright, 1909, by Thomas A. Wise

"Perhaps I ought to have been a man of the Langdon family," she exclaimed. "Father, oh, can't you understand that I couldn't doze my life away down on those plantations? You don't know what ambition is. I had to have the world. I had to have money. If I had been a man I would have tried big financial enterprises. I should have liked to fight for a fortune. You wouldn't have condemned me then. You might have said my methods were bold, but if I succeeded I would have been a great man. But just because I am a woman you think I must sit home with my knitting. No, father, the world does move. Women must have an equal chance with men, but I wish I had been a man!"

"Even then I hope you would have been a gentleman," rebuked her father sternly. "Women should have an equal chance, Carolina. They should have an equal chance for the same virtues as men, not for the same vices."

"But an equal chance," returned the girl fervidly. "There, father, you have admitted what I have tried to prove. The woman with the spirit of a man, the spirit that cries to a woman, 'Advance,' 'Accomplish,' 'Be something,' 'Strike for yourself,' cannot sit idly by while all the world moves on. If it is true that I have chosen the wrong means, the wrong way, to better my lot I did it through ignorance, and that ignorance is the fault of the times in which I live, of the system that guides the era in which I live.

"Women must have an equal chance."

"I am what the world calls 'educated,' but the world, the world of men, knows better. It laughs at me. It has cheated me because I am a woman. The world of men has fenced me in and hobbled me with convention, with precedent, with fictitious sentiment. If I pursue the business of men as they themselves would pursue it I am called an ungrateful daughter. If I should adopt the morals of men I would be called a fallen woman. If I adopted the religion of men I would have no religion at all. Turn what way I will"—

"But not every woman feels the way you do, my daughter," broke in the senator.

"No, you are right, because their spirit has been crushed by generations, by centuries of forced subserviency to men. They tell us we should be thankful that we do not live in China, where women are physical slaves to men. In our country they are forced to be mental and social slaves to men. Is one very much worse than the other?"

"Then, dear," and her father's tone was very gentle, "if you want an equal chance—want to be equal to a man—you must take your medicine with Randolph, like a man."

"What are you going to do, sir?" she asked, afraid.

"I'm going to spoil all your little scheme, dear," he returned, smiling sadly. "I'm going, I fear, to make you lose all your money. I'd like to make it easy for you, but I can't. You've got to take your medicine, children, and when it's all over back there in Mississippi I shall be able, I hope, to patch up your broken lives and together we will work out your mistakes. I can't think of that now. The honor of the Langdons calls. This is the time for the fight, and any one who fights against me must take the consequences."

He walked over and touched the bell.

"Thomas," he said to the servant who responded, "take that letter at once to Senator Peabody, in the library."

"What is it, sir?" asked Randolph.

"It's the call to arms," responded his father grimly.

Senator Peabody read the letter to which Haines had signed Langdon's name and jumped up from his chair in the library in astonishment. Without a word to the startled Stevens he rushed to confront Langdon.

"What's the meaning of this?" he shouted as he burst in on the junior senator from Mississippi.

"Of what?" asked the southerner, with a blandness that added fuel to Peabody's irritation.

"Don't trifle with me, sir!" cried "the boss of the senate." "This letter. You sent it. Explain it! I'm in no mood to joke."

Langdon looked at him calmly.

"I think the letter is quite plain, senator," he said. "You can read." Then he turned to his daughter. "This discussion cannot possibly interest you, my dear. Will you go to the drawing room to receive our guests?"

Carolina obeyed. She seemed to be discovering new qualities in this father whom she had considered to be too old fashioned for his time.

"Now, senator, go ahead, and, Randolph, you bring Stevens."

"You're switching to Gulf City?" demanded Peabody.

"I'm considering Gulf City," agreed Langdon.

Peabody brought down his fist on the table.

"It's too late to consider anything, Langdon," he cried. "We're committed to Altacoola, and Altacoola it is. I don't care what you heard of Gulf City. Now, I'd like to settle this thing in a friendly manner, Langdon. I like always for every member of the senate to have his share of the power and the patronage. We've been glad to put you forward in this naval base matter. We appreciate the straightforwardness, the honesty of your character. You look well. You're the kind of politician the public thinks it wants nowadays, but you've been in the senate long enough to know that bills have to pass, and you know you can't get through anything without my friends, and I tell you now I'll throttle any Gulf City plan you bring up."

"Then if you are as sure of that you can't object to my being for Gulf City?" asked Langdon.

"Are you financially interested in Gulf City?" demanded Peabody.

"Senator Peabody!" exclaimed Langdon.

"Don't flare up, Langdon," retorted Peabody. "That sort of thing has happened in the senate. There are often perfectly legitimate profits to be made in some regular commercial venture by a man who has inside information as to what's doing up on Capitol hill."

"Senator Peabody," asked Langdon, "why are you so strong for Altacoola?"

The Pennsylvanian hesitated.

"Its natural advantages," he said at last.

The southerner shook his head.

"Oh, that's all? Well, if natural advantages are going to settle it, and not influence, go ahead and vote, and I'll just bring in a minority report for Gulf City."

"The boss of the senate" was in a corner now.

"Confound it, Langdon, if you will have it, I am interested in Altacoola."

Langdon nodded.

"That's all I wanted to know," he said.

"Now you see why it's got to be Altacoola," persisted the boss.

"I don't mind telling you, then, Senator Peabody," answered Langdon calmly, "that my being for Gulf City was a bluff. I've been trying to draw you out. Gulf City is a mud bank and no more fitted to be a naval base than Keokuk, Ia. Altacoola it's got to be, for the good of the country and the honor of Mississippi.

"And one thing more, senator. I'd just like to add that not a single man connected with that committee is going to make a cent out of the deal. You get that straight?"

CHAPTER XXI.

"IF YOU CAN'T BUY A SENATOR, THREATEN HIM."

SENATOR PEABODY was the most surprised man in Washington when he heard the junior senator from Mississippi state that no one was to enrich himself out of the government naval base project.

He heaped a mental anathema on the head of Stevens for saddling such a man on the senate "machine," for Langdon would of course never had been put on "naval affairs" (just now very important to the machine) without the "O. K." of Stevens, who had won a heretofore thoroughly reliable reputation as a judge of men, or of what purported to be men. The thought that at this time, of all times, there should be a man on the committee on naval affairs that could not be "handled" was sufficient to make him who reveled in the title of "boss of the senate" determine that he must get another chief lieutenant to replace Stevens, who had proved so trustworthy in the past. Stevens had lost his cunning!

As the vote of Langdon could not be secured by humbug or in exchange for favors and as it could not be "delivered," Peabody, of course, was willing to pay in actual cash for the vote. This was the final step, but one in political conspiracies of this nature—cash. But Langdon would not take cash, so Peabody had to resort to the last agency of the trained and corrupt manipulator of legislation.

He would threaten.

Moreover, he knew that to make threats effective, if it is possible to do so, they must be led up to systematically—that is, they should be made at the right time. The scene must be set, as in a play.

Senator Peabody glared at Langdon as though to convince the latter that to stand in his way would mean political destruction.

"So nobody is going to make a cent, eh? Well, I suppose you want all the profits for yourself." Turning to Stevens, who had just entered, the Pennsylvanian cried:

"Do you but listen to our suddenly good friend Langdon. He wants to be the only man to make money out of the naval base. He won't listen to any other member of the naval committee making a cent out of it. Why, he"—

ZALA

By THE COUNTESS OF CROMARTIE.

They had met on a long Phoenician slaveship. He was a swarthy young Scythian with a thin, keen face, an aquiline nose and black hawk's eyes. She was a little fair Greek, with dark-fringed blue eyes, and a pretty soft way of smiling that she still had even now, in the midst of fear and haunting memories of a happy home. The fact of their both being highly born may have drawn them together. For Zala, the Scythian, was a prince's son, and had known a happy life, till one day, after hunting, he awoke from a heavy sleep among the sand dunes to find the kidnapers' ropes about his neck and ankles. He had fought like a young tiger, but it had been no use, and now—his slim highbred beauty and his courage and strength would doubtless fetch a high price. Just now he spent most of his time in chains, for he still had fits of violence. Lying on the deck one subset, his black curly head against the mast, his eyes gazing sullenly at nothingness, he caught sight of the girl Zoe. One of the other slave women, a foul-tongued young fury, was mocking her for a soft-hearted little fool that did not know what fate had in store for her. Zala knew well why the other girls hated Zoe. The Phoenician trader spared her a few of the hardships that would fall to the ordinary slave's share, because he knew well enough if he did not he might lose what promised to be the best of his female merchandise. For the little Greek's steady bravery and endurance covered a frailty of body and nerves that Zala, born horseman as he was, recognized at once. "A touch of the whip and she'll die," he thought, as he watched the girl face the woman's gibes. The cool bravery of her race was in her eyes, but the lovely, slender lines of her little figure were drawn tense, and the pulse in the white throat beat like a hammer, and as the woman taunted on roughly, telling of Tara's slave market, and other things, Zoe seemed to be bracing herself against physical blows, as she leaned against the side of the pitching galley. Zala rose with a growl, to stagger against the mast, for he had forgotten that his ankles were roped. The woman shrank away, for she got as good as she gave from the Scythian's sharp tongue. In that day men often knew many languages. Zala had been a fighter and, young as he was, had been in many strange camps, so he was able to speak to Zoe, who, as soon as her enemy had departed, collapsed into a frightened, trembling child. From that hour they were friends. She would bring him her share of food and drink, for Zala, being rebellious, was often half-starved. Sometimes he would eat wolfishly, for he was no saint to deny himself. But then he would look at the sweet delicate face, and demand half angrily, "Hast thou eaten?" and she would lie to him and say, "Yes, Zala, yes."

It was on one of these occasions that he caught her to him fiercely and put his lips to hers. It was enough to him that she returned his kisses before he felt the slave merchant's whip across his shoulders. That also was enough for his passionate nature, and fierce, unsubdued pride. He gripped the girl to him tigerishly, and she clung to him though she was bruised and hurt in his savage embrace. They tore her away from him at last and Zala was tied up and thrashed, then flung under the deck to meditate upon his sins, faint and sick, but absolutely unsubdued. Two nights afterward there was a heavy storm, the slaves were driven below, and discipline was somewhat relaxed by imminent danger.

The storm had driven the galley out of its course. For Zala and Zoe the inevitable separation was delayed, perhaps for months. There was a glory not of earth in the girl's blue eyes. The trader grunted with satisfaction; she was growing fairer every day, she would fetch much gold. As for Zala, he was more amenable. The trader did not guess at the reason that made the Scythian put aside his fierce pride—because with tied limbs he could not, with all his cunning, arrange those desperate stolen meetings that were life to two souls on the slave ship. In one of these dangerous hours, Zala noticed how Zoe coughed—a hacking little cough—and how the cold air was making her shiver. She was made for warmth and light. A chill November in the northern sea was not good for her, he thought anxiously. So one night he rose and made his way to the trader's cabin in the fore part of the galley. Under the light of a swinging lamp sat the Phoenician casting up accounts on a huge sheet of parchment. He looked up. Zala stood with his back to the cabin door, his dark eyes burning fire in the pallor of his face. The trader had merely to call his men to have him dragged back to the lower deck. But he did not call. He had lived a fearless and evil life, but he feared his gods. He said afterward that Zala had the very fire of Bael in his eyes, that night as he spoke—quickly and hoarsely like a man in a fever.

"What hast thou done with the child? Answer me, man, answer!"

The young Scythian had once commanded men. The sense of that made his tone like a whip-lash, for all his present fate. The trader could cope with that, so he shrugged his shoulders and answered: "Ah, ha, so it is that, is it?"

The terrible burning eyes fixed him again. "Give her to me," said Zala, "give her to me, or by the gods 'tis my dead body thou shalt take on thy ship to Tara and—I am valuable. See!" He rent the tattered tunic from him, and stood in his lithe half-naked beauty under the lamplight. "See! They said long ago I had beauty and strength. Man, I will make thee rich if I live. My body is thine to sell or slay, only—give her back to me."

"Well, have thy way," said the trader, "I would send thee to sleep with whips if she was not dying. But as it is, Bael cannot say that I stood against his fire even with cattle like thee and thy light o' love, so come."

"It is well,' said Zala calmly, and he followed the trader.

In a smaller cabin lay little Zoe, while near her watched the woman who had mocked her that day. She was not in any actual physical discomfort, for the superstitious reverence of that day for the beauty of love even on the cruel slave ship, added to the trader's hope of saving a valuable bargain, had made him comply at last with the child's piteous appeals for Zala. The one name was coming from her lips over and over again, even as her lover entered the narrow place. "Zala! Zala! Zala!" With a savage gesture Zala took the attendant by the shoulder and sent her cowering out of the door. The trader, suddenly grown human, turned and went, leaving them together.

"My love, my child, my sweet!" Zoe came back from dark wanderings to the sound of Zala's voice, and he forgot that he was working in the Phoenician's interest, not his own, when he tried to hold her back from the shadow—and the Phoenician, with his dark racial knowledge of human nature and human passion, let them alone, save that he gave Zala all he asked for. But there came a calm starlit night when Zoe had seemed stronger for a little while, only Zala knew, with the strange knowledge of his time that it was the last flicker of the fire of life before it went—elsewhere. The starlight shone into the place where they lay. Zoe was stroking his face with her thin little hand. "It is better so, most dear," she whispered. "It would have troubled thee to part with me and—it would have broken my heart. The gods have been very good. I have had a happy life, and here have I had thy love. Is it not best that we do not part and because I am thine?"

Zala could not say it was not best. To have Zoe torn from him at the end would have been even harder to bear than this.

Zala was bought for the king's service, and one day the two met face to face. The Scythian had come with a message to where the young conqueror sat planning red destruction for the Picts. He looked at Zala as the latter rose from a proud, impassive obeisance. "Thou hast not always been a slave?" said the king suddenly.

"No," said Zala. "Once, long ago, I was a prince of the Scythians."

"Long ago?" said the king. "Why, thou art young, younger than I."

"Ay, but my heart is old," said Zala, with a smile that was sadder than any tears. The king turned restlessly on his great golden chair. "Was it love?" he said coldly, as one who asks a riddle.

"It was love," said Zala, and told him all to the end, for he saw a shadow in the Milesian's dark eyes that was as the reflection of the shadow in his own soul. The king drew parchment toward him and wrote what Zala thought was an answer to the message he had brought. "Yet he understood," thought the Scythian as he waited with bent head while the king stamped the letter with the ring he wore. He looked at Zala and again their eyes met. The king spoke briefly. "There is a Phoenician galley in the harbor. Take this to the captain and say thou art to have safe passage homeward. He will take thee safe or his life pays the forfeit. Thus have I written, so he will guard thee with his life. My mother was a Tyrian, therefore, they love me, also fear me, which is better, sometimes. Now go, —nay, thank me not, I would keep thee, but I have lost even as thou hast lost. Farewell!"

Thus a Scythian prince regained his home and his rights. But love he never knew truly again, because for him it lay hidden in the far Ictian sea.

Illustrated Card Not Popular.

The illustrated visiting card, which was introduced in Munich last year, under the patronage of several members of the royal family, has not shown any marked popularity, says a Berlin paper. A number of artists have become converts to the fashion, and it has been noticed that the most elaborate designs appear on the cards of the least known painters, while people who have no claim on the public because of worth or standing also indulge in conspicuous pasteboards. It seems now as though the plain, modest visiting card could not be improved upon. When these are studied they usually indicate, despite their seeming similarity, the character of the owner quite as well as the illustrated or decorated kind.

Pennsylvania's Pioneer.

At a recent meeting of the Bradford County Historical society steps were taken to celebrate the advent of the first white man in Pennsylvania. The man is believed to be Stephen Brule, one of Champlain's interpreters, who visited the Indians in Bradford in 1615.—Philadelphia Record.

AGAINST SEWAGE SCHEME

North Plainfield Township Voters Up in Arms Over the Proposition.

COUNSEL TO BE ENGAGED.

Mayor Samuel Townsend Outlines Scheme to Remedy Borough's Condition.

More than eighty interested property-owners attended the meeting of the Greenbrook Protective Association at the Greenbrook school-house last night to enter a protest against the location of sewage beds in North Plainfield township, especially on the Kraemer farm as proposed by North Plainfield borough. W. L. McCauley, as president of the association, presided at the meeting.

Vigorous remarks in protest against the scheme were made by Mr. McCauley, Seymour Smith and Dr. Tuttle, of Greenbrook, and Mayor Harry Swackhamer, of Dunellen. A letter of protest was received from Mrs. Emma G. Brown, a wealthy resident, who owns the $50,000 farm known as the Rice property. She stated that she had employed counsel and would fight the proposition and also promised to assist the association.

A communication was received from Mayor Samuel Townsend in which he asked Councilman Brokaw to meet him in his office this afternoon to go over the situation. Mr. Brokaw will express the sentiment of the meeting to Mr. Townsend today.

A resolution was adopted putting the association on record as unalterably opposed to the borough's plan to locate sewage beds on the Kraemer farm and pledging every member to use every effort to defeat the proposition. Mr. Kramer was present and he again stated that when the option was secured on his farm he did not know of the plans or he would have refused to consider the offer.

The fact that Mrs. Brown has joined her issue with that of the association, is a source of encouragement for it adds considerable strength to the opposition forces. The option on the Kraemer farm was for ninety days and was only secured a few weeks ago.

Among the other protests received against the plan of North Plainfield were those from the Palmer estate and the representative of Robert J. Fitzsimmons' large farm at Dunellen. The property backs up to the proposed site for the sewage beds and as "Bob" is planning for extensive training quarters there, he naturally would be opposed to the scheme. At present he is abroad, but he will be advised at once as to what is being done.

Mayor Samuel Townsend has out-

DISPUTE OVER FARM IS SETTLED AT LAST

W. H. Rogers, of Highland Farm, who has been in charge of the Bloomfield farm at East Spottswood, returned home yesterday for a brief stay. The condition of affairs there were peculiar. It seems that two real estate brokers named Dawson, unauthorized, sold the large and valuable farm to a man named Dodson, of New York, for $10,500. Dodson paid $1,000 down to bind the bargain.

Now Dodson wanted the deed, but the brokers could not deliver it, because the present occupant, Duval Sperry, has a two year lease and he as well as the three alleged rightful owners were unwilling to sign off.

Mr. Dodson, who paid $1,000 down wanted his money back, but Dawson brothers, it is said, claimed that they have spent half the amount and cannot return the sum.

Last night there was an amicable agreement reached by all the parties concerned and W. H. Rogers and William Jeffery, who have been in charge of the farm, were released from further duty. Mr. Dodson will receive the money he paid on account of a purchase and the property is now in possession of the rightful owners.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS AT ELIZABETH MEETING

A delegation of about a score of members of the local Christian Endeavor Union journeyed to Elizabeth last night to attend the meeting of the Union County Extension Committeee, which was held in the First Baptist church there. A feature of the affair was a series of sectional conferences led bl various members of the county societies. Charles F. Windham, of the local union, conducted the conference of the look-out committee, and Clarence B. LaRue was in charge of the officers' conference.

After the devotional exercises, which were led by Howard Riley, of the First Baptist church, Elizabeth, Purdy Benedict, president of the Roselle Baptist Christian Endeavor Society delivered a ten minute address. A quiz was conducted by Miss Della Chapman, of Elizabeth, and in this the honors for the most correct answers were awarded to the Society from the Roselle Baptist church.

Following the session came a delightful social hour in the church. The Plainfield delegation got together and sang their song, "We'll Have the Convention in Plainfield in 1909, which made such a hit at the recent convention at Atlantic City.

HORSE THIEVES BUSY AT MARTINVILLE NOW

Horse thieves have again been busy in the vicinity of Martinville. Thursday night two valuable horses were stolen. One belonged to Geo. Bolmer and the other to Warren Coddington, both of Martinville. The county authorities have been notified and are on the trail.

Both animals were taken at the same time. Mr. Coddington was accompanying a friend home early in the evening when he passed two men driving a horse and leading two other animals. He thought he recognized one of the leaders as belonging to him, but did not stop to make any inquiries. After reaching his friend's home he became convinced that one of the horses was his and going to his home discovered that the thieves had visited his barn. He quickly notified the county authorities and telephoned to all his neighbors, who are now on the lookout for the stolen animals.

CHAMPION TEAM HONORED BY SUPPER AND DANCE

An oyster supper was tendered to the victorious N. P. H. S. basketball team last night by W. J. Conroy, father of Russel Conroy, captain of the team. The members of the girls basketball team presided at the tables, and Messrs. Henry C. Krebs, Benjamin J. Phelps, George Webster and R. Kiefer of the school faculty were honored guests, each responding to a toast. Mr. Conroy, the host, also made a short speech.

Following the supper, which was held at the Conroy home on Linden avenue, the party went to Debele hall and spent the balance of the evening dancing. The event was in celebration of the winnig of the inter-scholastic championship by the borough five in the season's series of games just completed. The official presentation of the cup to the champions will be made during the coming week by President J. E. Kimball of the Y. M. C. A., when the names of the players will have been engraved thereon.

COUNTRY CLUB CHANGES COMMITTEE MEMBERSHIPS

At a meeting of the trustees of the Plainfield Country Club this week, George F. Schoonmaker resigned as chairman of the Green committee, and George S. Ring resigned from the tennis committee. Mr. Schoonmaker has removed to New York, while Mr. Ring has business interests which will keep him away from the city much of the time.

Councilman George S. Clay has been elected to fill one of the vacancies and he was also elected chairman of the House committee for the coming season. R. S. Rowland succeeds Mr. Schoonmaker as chairman of the Green committee and Willard Wardsworth was elected chairman of the Golf committee. Both are expert players and the golf and tennis departments will be well looked after. One vacancy now exists in the board, which will be filled soon by selecting a chairman for the tennis committee.

Several new members have been elected. Those joining the club now will pay an initiation fee of only $25, instead of $30 which will be charged a few weeks hence. By joining now new members will also have the use of the grounds without charge until April 1, when the dues for the coming year will be payable.

The greens will be thoroughly seeded and top dressed next week and temporary greens will be used for a short time. But as there is no frost in the ground the course is dry and even playable Except for the greens, the course will not be closed at all.

Girls Game a Draw.

The game between the N. P. H. S. girls and a team of young women from South Orange yesterday afternoon at Debele hall resulted in a tie, the score standing 16 to 16. The contest was played without lines to accommodate the visitors who are accustomed to that method, but the borough girls showed wonderful teamwork despite the disadvantage.

Dr. W. H. W. Wheeler, of New York, will continue his lecture on "The Use of the Jackson System in Orthodentia," before the members of the Plainfield Dental Society, Wednesday night, March 17, at the home of Dr. Frank T. Clawson, on Park avenue.

H. B. SUYDAM'S SLAYER GIVEN EIGHTEEN YEARS

John C. Lumsden, the young inventor from Raleigh, N. C., who shot and killed Councilman Harry B. Suydam, of this city, a curb broker, in the latter's office at 39 Broad street, New York, on December 19 last, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Malone in General Sessions to serve not less than eighteen years and not more than nineteen years and six months in Sing Sing. Lumsden was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, the maximum penalty for which is twenty years. Judge Malone made the sentence as heavy as possible under the law, which says that an indeterminate sentence must be imposed in case the convicted man is a first offender.

Lumsden's wife, who sat in the court room during her husband's trial, was not present yesterday. Former Governor Aycock, of North Carolina, who helped defend Lumsden, and James J. Fitzgerald, who was also of counsel, made the usual motions for a new trial. These were denied, and it was announced by the lawyers that there would be no appeal.

Lumsden showed no emotion when he was sentenced. After shaking hands with his lawyers he walked out of the court room with head erect. He was taken to Sing Sing this morning.

LIKELY TO DISSOLVE MANGANESE COMPANY

The fact that the Maganese Steel Safe Works is heavily in debt to the Taylor Iron Company, of High Bridge, whose products were used in the manufacture of safes, has given rise to a rumor that the Taylor company will acquire the plant in this city. It is alleged that a majority of the stockholders of the Taylor company also own a majority of the stock in the safe company. A call has been issued for a meeting of stockholders of the safe company to be held on April 6 in this city, for the purpose of considering the question of dissolving the concern, according to a resolution adopted at a meeting in March.

Samuel Rodman and his wife, Martha Rodman, minority stockholders, are responsible for this latest action. They have opposed the appointment of a receiver or any action that might lead to a sale of the plant to the Mosler Safe Company, of Hamilton, Ohio. It has been understood that the Mosler company was anxious to get control of the Plainfield plant, and this was substantiated when the majority stockholders attempted to dispose of the assets as a whole. This was defeated through an appeal to the courts by the Rodmans. It was then agreed by the board of directors to try and dissolve the company after which the Taylor Iron Company may gain control and re-open the plant and resume the manufacture of safes as before. There is no indication that the move to dissolve the company will be opposed.

From the present outlook it would appear that the Rodmans stand little show of realizing anything from the stock held by them in the company. If the plan to dissolve goes through the first action will be to sell the property and make an equal distribution of the money to the stockholders. On this basis it would appear that the minority stockholders will receive little if anything.

PLAINFIELD TO SEE ROSS IN THE FORTUNE HUNTER.

Manager Counihan of the Plainfield theatre booked yesterday for Thursday, March 18, Thomas W. Ross in "The Fortune Hunter," by the author of "Brewster's Millions." The piece is a new American comedy of town and country. Mr. Ross is supported by a powerful comedy cast with Miss Mary Ryan as leading woman. The scenic effects are remarkable, the author aiming to eclipse his hurricane at sea in "Brewster's Millions." It is said that he does this easily in a cloudburst scene when a terrific storm breaks over a country village. The last curtain goes down on the raging elements in a brilliant and novel climax. Walter J. Kingsley, general representative of Cohan and Harris is in town in the interests of "The Fortune Hunter."

Bishop's Visit to Heavenly Rest.

The Right Reverend John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will make his annual visit to the parish of the Church of the Heavenly Rest next Wednesday night, when he will administer the rite of confirmation and preach the sermon. Rev. Charles Townsend, rector of the church, is preparing a large class of candidates for confirmation.

HORSES STAND 4 DAYS IN A HITCHING SHED

A team of horses stood hitched to a wagon from Tuesday until Friday without food or water in the hitching shed of the New Market First Baptist church. It had been stolen and then abandoned by the thieves. Constable Robert Pierce chanced to find them yesterday and relieved their suffering.

The animals were gaunt and hollow eyed and had worn great holes in the earth under their feet, stamping and pawing. The entire outfit was stolen at Somerville by piecemeal. The owners of the different parts identified and secured their property today. One horse belonged to Peter Schwartz and the other to J. L. Boden, while the wagon and harness had been taken from the farm of John Bowers. All of the men live in or near Somerville, and had advertised their losses, which resulted in the goods being returned to the owners.

BOWDEN'S SCCESSOR TO GET $960. A YEAR

The Councilmanic street committee met last night and further considered plans for street improvements during the coming season as outlined early in the year. It is proposed to macadamized a number of stree s throughout the city and a pa ent material which will have a tendency to preserve the roadbed and keep the dust down will be used in the future. This will be in accordance with plans adopted by the State road commissioner and it is believed will give satisfactory results.

The question of putting Frank Day, an assistant in the street department, on a regular salary of $80 a month, instead of $3 a day, which he has been receiving, was agreed to by the committee and will come up for Councilmanic approval at the next meeting of the Common Council. Mr. Day has been in the street department since David Bowden resigned and he is put in charge of the street work under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett.

To Preserve the Rock.

From a reliable source comes the information that there never has been any purpose to locate a stone crusher at Washington rock nor has it ever been intended to desecrate that historic spot in any way. The truth of the matter is that the Rock will be made more attractive than ever after some contemplated improvemens are made in the immediate vicinity. Also that the syndicate about to develop the Debele-Smalley tract in North Plainfield will organize a new corporation to develop this tract which corporation will have no connection with the Washington Rock property.

Memorial Church Tablet.

A handsome tablet, containing the church notices, was placed on front of Trinity Dutch Reformed church today. It is the gift of Miss Bessie Van Winkle, a "shut-in member" of the congregation, and the artistic gold lettering is the work of her father, Jeremiah Van Winkle. The shield shaped board contains the names of the pastor and pastor emeritus and the hours of church services.

BULLDOG VICIOUSLY ATTACKS LINCOLN MAN

William Waberton, of Henry street, Lincoln, was attacked by a bulldog which he had taken home as a present to his wife a few days ago. The vicious animal sank its teeth into his right leg above the knee and set its jaws like a vice. Efforts to pry it loose were unavailing and it was necessary to kill the dog to release its grip.

Mr. Waberton was hurried to a physician, who cauterized the wound and it is believed no serious results will follow, though he will be confined to the house for a time.

The dog was originally the property of C. H. Vanderwoort, of Wood avenue, Lincoln, who disposed of it because of its bad disposition, especially as it exhibited vicious tendencies towards his little daughter. He presented it to Mr. Waberton who turned it over to his wife, and it was on the day following its arrival at his home that he was attacked as he entered the yard, the dog failing to recognize him and refusing his friendly advances. With a low growl it sprang upon him and bore him to the ground. Mrs. Waberton rushed to his aid and some passerby made every effort to free the man, but found that their only recourse was in killing the beast.

R. BURNS EGLINTON'S ORGAN RECITAL TODAY

The first of a series of four Lenten organ recitals was given this afternoon at Holy Cross church, where a program of five instrumental numbers was rendered on the recently remodeled church organ by R. Burns Eglinton, the church organist. The recital was well attended and the various selections were well adapted to show the possibilities of the instrument. Mr. Eglington's rendition was most keenly appreciated and his technique of a high order. He was a pupil of Felix Lamont.

The first number of today's program was a sketch by Bertram, and this was followed by two selections of Weley, an andante and a postlude. The gondola song by Lohr followed this and the recital concluded with an excellent rendition of Munroe's "Faith."

Mr. Eglinton said that the recital was primarily to show the instrumental possibilities of the organ and that at the three recitals which are to follow on Saturday afternoons he will be assisted by soloists.

READY TO FIGHT DISEASE

Establishment of a Tuberculosis Isolation Camp Here Now a Certainty.

TO BE READY BY SUMMER.

White Plague Society Raising Money for Campaign Which Will Stamp Out Disease In This City.

That Plainfield will join with the other large cities in this State for a determined campaign against tuberculosis this summer is now definitely assured, and there is every reason to believe that a tuberculosis isolation camp will be founded in this city by June first and that a vigorous campaign will be conducted to stamp out every trace of the White Plague here.

Already subscription lists have been put in circulation by members of the executive committee of the local society and it is reported that considerable money has been raised. In order to maintain a camp here, it is estimated that $5,000 will be needed each year to fight the disease. The work of raising the money is in the hands of the finance committee of the society. Dr. B. Van D. Hedges is chairman, and with him on the committee are Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany, Dr. F. J. Hughes and Augustus V. Heely.

Henry L. Hall is chairman of the camp committee, which is looking around for a site for the proposed camp. For the scientific fighting of the plague, it is planned to have sparate quarters for the incipient and the advanced stages. The realization that the work of stamping out tuberculosis will become more difficult if further delay, has spured the various committees to the greatest expediency. With Mr. Hall on the camp committe are Miss Margaret C. Holly and Duncan W. Taylor, and, while nothing definite can be learned regarding a site for the camp, it is reported that the committee will have something to report about a location at the meeting of the society which is to be held within a few days. Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow, in speaking about the establishment of a local camp to a Daily Press reporter today, said that the activity of the various committees of the society would very probably make certain the establishment of a camp, fully equipped and in readiness for the accommodation of patients by midsummer.

The war against tuberculosis has been for some time successfully carried on by the Plainfield Society for culosis, of which Rev. E. Vicars Stevculosis, of which Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace church, is president. Miss Mary L. Leahy has been secured as visting nurse by the society and has done valuable work in supervision, reporting and care of tuberculosis cases in this city.

Tuberculosis was the chief cause of death in this city during the year 1908, when forty-two deaths were reported and there were found to be forty-seven cases. The percentage of deaths from tuberculosis per thousand of the city's population was 2.06 last year, and this was 12.73 per cent of the total deaths during the year. Of the 42 cases, 28 are in the advanced stage, 10 are moderately advanced and four are incipient. According to Miss Leahy's report, twenty of the consumptives were married and in nineteen of the cases there had been previous cases in the family. The report further showed tnat in three cases the conditions were unfavorable for recovery, ten of the persons should have been sent to a sanatarium and twenty cases could better be treated at a sanatarium.

Declaring that, by reason of the defective construction of a toilet, she received internal injuries through a fall, Martha Florsheim, of 1742 South Sixth street, Camden, yesterday brought suit for $5,000 damages in the Supreme Court against William Jennings, of 1744 South Sixth street, owner of the property.

Rev. H. H. Beadle, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Bridgeton, and moderator of the West Jersey Presbytery, was seriously injured while walking on North Laurel street Wednesday. The high winds hurled some lumber off a house on him. His head was cut and ankle sprained, and he received numerous bruises.

Ernest Powell, the Atlantic City negro slayer of his wife, whom he shot while in a fit of jealousy, was formally charged with murder yesterday, and was held. The last grand jury is still in official session, under orders of the court, and may be reassembled to secure indictment and quick trial of the negro. Powell admits having killed his wife, but insists that he had no intention of doing so.

Julia Post, of 230 West Twenty-fifth street, Paterson, caused the arrest of Robert Casson Sr., of 87 West Thirteenth street, that city, last night, on a charge of assault and battery. Twice within a few weeks the safe in the office of the plumbing establishment of the L. C. Simpson Company, at Broadway and Division street, Camden, has been robbed. Detective Painter concealed himself in the office last night and caught working at the safe Frank Shatt, fifteen years old, of 317 Sycamore street, and a former employe of the plumbing firm. He confessed that he had a key to the office and it was he who had stolen $20 one time and $29 another from the safe.

Some nice points of law are involved in a suit instituted by Mrs. Charlotte Quairoli Lippincott, a well known soprano soloist, to recover some $2,000 worth of real estate from Trinity P. E. church, Vineland. The property was presented to the church some years ago by Mrs. Mary Ann Crane Kent, who some time later went to live with Mrs. Lippincott. A few days prior to her death Mrs. Kent willed everything she had to Mrs. Lippincott, and the claim is based upon this will. The peculiar phase of the case is that Mrs. Kent, shortly preceding her death, had requested a return of the church property to her and Bishop Scarborough had ordered the transfer, but death intervened before the transaction could be closed.

RECALLS BARRIER WRECKING.

The Court of Errors and Appeals heard argument yesterday at Trenton on the appeal of the suits of the Trenton Water Power Company against Frederick W. Donnelly and Samuel Walker, both of Trenton. The suits were brought on the claim that the defendants had operated motor boats on the water-power, thus trespassing on its property; that they had damaged the banks of the stream by the operation of the boats by tying them up to the banks, and also that they had removed or destroyed barriers placed across the stream by the company.

The contest involved in these suits was a noted one, owing to the fact that several barriers, consisting of heavy logs, placed across the waterpower by the company, were blown up by dynamite at night.

SHARES ESTATE WITH BROTHERS AND SISTERS.

Wilbur E. Everett, of Hillsborough Township, Somerset county, renounced his claim to the bulk of his father's estate and petitioned the Orphans' Court to authorize the executors to include his brothers and sisters in an equal division of the estate. Wilbur was his father's favorite son. He was bequeathed a farm and other property worth at least $10,000. His brothers, John E. Everett and Elroy Staats Everett, and his sisters, Mrs. Tillie A. Gunther and Miss Helena L. Everett, were each left a few hundred dollars. By his own act Wilbur E. Everett's share is reduced to about $3,000.

The court approved the accounts of the executors after they had filed a deed of trust executed by Wilbur R. Everett. They will dispose of the estate in accordance with his wishes.

ALLEGES LIBEL BY MAIL.

Warrants for the arrest of Marco Bruno, of Haskell, were issued yesterday by Justice of the Peace John Keys, at Paterson, on charges of criminal libel. Bruno, it is alleged, wrote letters to friends in New York which contained serious reflections on the characters of Mrs. Rosina Evangelisto, of Haskell. Bruno signed his name to the missives and friends of the woman in New York who received them sent them to Mrs. Bruno.

The defendant, it is said, is also amenable to the Postal laws for sending obscene matter through the mails. Since the letters were received Bruno, while at work in a Haskell mill, sustained a serious injury to his eye. He is now in Newark under the care of a physician and he will not be brought here until his physician issues a permit for his removal.

SOLDIER GOES CRAZY AND THREATENS BROTHER

Andrew Hefferman became suddenly and violently crazy at Elizabeth Thursday. He is a soldier in the regular army. Only a few days ago he returned from a three years' service in the Philippines. He threatened to kill his brother, who resides on Bayway, Elizabeth, and who is employed in the Standard Oil Company's plant at Constable Hook.

It appears that when the soldier got back to Elizabeth and went to his brother's house he bad $500 in his pocket which he had saved while in the army. He gave this money to the brother to take care of for him until he could find an opportunity to invest it. Yesterday morning he left the house late, but came back in the afternoon and demanded the $500 from his sister-in-law.

She informed him she did not have it, but that he must see his brother. Then the man flew into a violent rage and swore he would kill his brother on sight. He left the house, but came back armed with an axe and revolver and began marching up and down in front of the house. His frightened sister-in-law, seeing he was violently insane, locked and barred all the doors, and, lowering herself from a rear window with the aid of a bed quilt, fled in terror from the place. She made her way to the South Elizabeth station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, where she met her husband on his return from work.

Meantime Andrew Hefferman had left the house and could not be found. He was found last night partly undressed and asleep in a milkman's barn in Linden Township with the axe and revolver beside him. Steps will be taken to have him removed to an asylum. At present he is in his brother's residence in a dazed and partly stupefied condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, of Stelle avenue, left Thursday for a trip to Japan. They will be away several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Waring, of West Seventh street, are spending several weeks in New York. They will return home after the Lenten season.

STOKES TALKS OF SCHOOLS.

Former Governor E. C. Stokes lauded the educational system of the State in an address at the High School auditorium at Roselle Thursday night. Mr. Stokes was greeted by a large audience. His address was on "New Jersey and the Educational System in It."

He upheld the State school law in every respect. He compared the early school system with the schools of today. The church and school, he said, go side by side and education and self government go hand in hand. New Jersey, he declared, is solving the immigration problem by its night schools. He told many amusing stories of his trip to Washington to attend the inauguration of President Taft.

"Ostrich Boy" Arrested.

Edward Fallen, of Somerville, known as the "Ostrich Boy," who recently swallowed sixty-three raw eggs in thirty minutes on a wager, was arrested Thursday night by County Detective George D. Totten on a charge of robbing the warehouse of the New Jersey Tobacco Company at Somerville. He was committed to the county jail by Justice of the Peace William R. Sutphen to await the action of the grand jury. The tobacco warehouse was robbed last fall and the theft was finally traced to Fallen and a youth by the name of Josiah Layton by Detective Totten. Layton was arrested recently by Policeman Robert Holmes on a charge of stealing a Salvation Army poor-box from the Owl Lunch Room at Somerville. Layton and Fallen were put through the "third degree" in the county jail last night by Detective Totten and confessed that they had robbed the tobacco warehouse.

"Fozzy" Firstbrook, who is with the Highlanders in the South for the New York Mail, has a severe attack of baseball fever. Reports from the training camp this week say that he has donned a uniform and practices daily with the team. On Tuesday he played short-stop for the youngsters and made several remarkable plays. "Fozzy" was at one time a star player on the Hope chapel team and has not forgotten the game by any means.

The members of the Clinton Avenue Baseball club are planning to get in some outdoor practice. If the weather remains favorable the oval will be put in condition at once for practice.

There is now some doubt as to whether Boyd, of Elizabeth, will play an outfield position for Clinton Avenue. Manager Dorflinger has found lots of local material and may pick a Plainfielder for the place.

Jack Peacock is training daily in the cage at Princeton and when the bell rings, he will be in first-class condition. The Y. M. C. A. is expecting great things from Peacock this season.

Norman Barnes will again be seen at first base for the Clinton Avenues this season. He is undoubtedly the strongest man in that position to be found here, and he is always there with the stick.

Five games between Clinton Avenue and Somerville means lots of good sport this summer. There is sure to be plenty of rivalry. Manager Conklin promises a much stronger team than last year and feels sure that he will be able to hang it on the Plainfield aggregation.

Ortleib, who may occupy the box for Clinton Avenue this year, is one of the best twirlers in his class hereabouts. Last year he was with Westfield and he won a majority of his games. One of his great achievements was always defeating Scotch Plains.

By the way Scotch Plains has not yet been heard from, but no doubt that aggregation will be a factor in local baseball circles this year. How about a series of contests with Clinton Avenue?

The Dunellen Field Club would like to arrange baseball games with teams in Plainfield and vicinity. Address William T. Piddington, Jr. New Market.

GOLF.

Unless the Garden City Golf Club steps in the Country Club of Lakewood will have the honor of opening the competitive season in the Metropolitan district on April 22, 23 and 24. Jasper Lynch, the Lakewood captain, writes that the course in the pines is in excellent condition.

Copies of the Rules of Golf, as revised by the United States Golf Association, have been received from the printer at the office of the secretary. They will be sent out at once in sheet form to all clubs in the association. Later on the rules will be printed in book form.

The Metropolitan Golf Association, it is announced by Secretary Vanderpool, has assigned April 22, 23 and 24 to the Country Club of Lakewood for the semi-annual tournament that is always an attraction to amateurs of class. The course is in good condition for playing and rooms may be engaged at the clubhouse for members and their guests. The Canoe Brook Country Club of Summit, N. J., has been elected to the M. G. A., which brings up the membership to sixty.

lined the plans of North Plainfield as regards the sewer question in the borough. "In the first place, nothing whatever has been proposed so far'," says Mr. Townsend. "Plans have been suggested whereby Plainfield and the borough shall combine on an up-to-date sewer system, and thus do away with the present beds now in use by the city. A committee was appointed to make a thorough investigation of the different systems of sewage with the necessary adjuncts. No action has been taken by the Borough Council, and of course that is the only body which can take action.

"The cost of a trunk sewer to take the sewage to tide-water is prohibitive, so a trunk line to some nearer point seems to be the only practical solution of the question.

"So far as the township is concerned in this matter, we have considered all sides of the question, and there is no doubt but it would be better for the township to have one disposal bed at the lower end of the township rather than the one now located just across the township line, at the upper portion of this section. Not only this, but unless a new location is decided upon, it may mean another tank just across the brook from the present one, so that the township might have two instead of one, and that, too, right in the centre of valuable building sites; whereas the proposed location is to be on low ground, far away from any public road, and, in case any property should be damaged by reason of such location, proper redress will be given without the necessity of going to court with it."

NEVADA WINS BRYAN MULE.

Lincoln, Neb., March 13.—Major Minnamascot, the mule offered by Mr. Bryan during the campaign of 1908 to the county showing the largest percentage of gain, will go to Esmeralda county, Nevada.

That county cast 384 votes for the Democratic electors in 1896, 289 in 1900, 380 in 1904, or an average vote of 3517 for three campaigns. The vote in 1908 was 2,787. Substracting the average of 351 from 2,787, leaves a net gain of 2,436. Dividing the net gain of 2,436 by the average vote of 351 gives the remarkable average of 694 per cent.

Williams county, North Dakota, stands next with 573 per cent., then Montgomery county, Ohio, with 423, and Lancaster county, Nebraska, Bryan's home, with 331.

RELIGION AND THE BOLUS

—by—

Rev. Dr. Chas. E. Herring

In the little paper called "The Townsman," which was provided for the enjoyment of the Board of Trade at their annual dinner, there were three references to religion and theology. In one of these references, something was said of the bolus which should be used on a certain kind of religion. Here is the reference:

"We do not need more religion,—what we want is a bolus for the religion of fear and superstition we still have in our system." What does the author mean? Whose system is referred to? We are all agreed that if a man has any religion in his system that does not agree with him, he should endeavor to get rid of it as speedily as possible.

We do not need more religion? Oh, yes, we do. I feel quite certain that none of us has a redundancy of religious virtue. What is religion? The best definition I know is this: "Religion is a worship of a higher Power from a sense of need." It is the recognition of a Power above us, who can do for us what we cannot do for ourselves. The story is told of Sir Henry Lawrence, one of England's great heroes, that when he looked once to earth, twice to heaven, and then stroked his beard, he knew what to do. In other words, he noted the conditions about him; he prayed for God's direction; and then he thought of the best plan for action. His knowledge of the conditions and his shrewdness were not enough. He recognized God's interest in his life and he prayed that he might see the wisest plan to pursue. That was his religion. Religion is that which unites a man to God. It is that in man which makes him feel that there is a higher Power directing and helping him.

I do not know exactly what a bolus is, and my dictionary is not at hand, but it is evidently something that can be used to drive out a bad religion. Well, there is nothing better to drive out false religion than the true religion. There is such a thing as the expulsive power of a better religion.

Now about theology. Our author has some criticisms concerning it. It can be criticized, but theology is not an evil thing. It is a logical construction of revealed truth. As soon as you begin to put your religion in an orderly fashion, you have the beginnings of theology. If it is right that we should "methodize our lives," we should methodize our thinking.

I hold it to be as true today as it was when the philosopher Mill first said, that the best life a man can live is the life that Jesus Christ would approve. It is quite clear in my own mind, that the religion of Jesus Christ as presented in the Gospel, is far superior to that presented by the man who signs himself the "pastor of his flock," and whose gospel is found in the magazine called "The Philistine."

Let our hearts be filled with "love, truth, compassion, tenderness, sympathy, and service," but let us look into the teachings of Jesus Christ to see these virtues in their perfection, and follow Him in His interpretation of them. There can be no saner or better balanced character, than the life lived in His sight and for His approval; and that life is the religious life.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PLAN FOR BLUE STOCKING TEA

The City Union of King's Daughters at a meeting at the Charity Organization Society rooms yesterday afternoon arranged to hold a "Blue Stocking tea" at the Park Club on Friday afternoon, April 23. The purpose is to raise funds for the union's work. At the meeting yesterday each of the twelve circles was represented by its secretary and on other member and much interest was shown in the undertaking.

Four circles will take charge of the tea tables. They will be Silver Cross, Loyal Daughters, Benevolent Band and Cheerful Workers. The Cup Bearers and In His Name will preside at the candy tables. Charity Circle and The Daughters of the Cross will have cake for sale, while Whatsoever, Brightside, Golden Rule and Emmanuel will dispense lemonade.

This affair will be one of the largest planned for the year and each circle will strive to do its utmost to gather in as much money as possible for the general fund.

This is where the "Blue Stocking" part of the enterprise comes in. Each member will be assessed in proportion to the size of stocking she wears. Those who prefer not to reveal such a secret will be given the opportunity of contributing a nominal sum of fifty cents. Dainty little socks attached to a card bearing an appropriate verse will be supplied to hold the contributions.

Mrs. R. T. Hoar, of Syracuse, N. Y., arrived yesterday to spend several months with her daughter, Mrs. M. H. Ewart, of Fairview avenue.

Bids for the construction of the new addition to Whittier school were opened at the adjourned meeting of the Board of Education, but the figures named by the contractors were found to differ so widely that it was evident the requirements had not been thoroughly understood by the competing firms, and it was decided to secure new plans and re-advertise for bids. A bid for the $5,000 bonds at 4½ per cent., made by the People's National Bank, of New Brunswick, offering $5,055.63, was accepted.

HEPTASOPHS BANQUET ON MONDAY EVENING.

Trenton Conclave, No. 143, Order of Heptasophs, will have its annual banquet in the auditorium of the Republican Club at Trenton Monday evening.

It is the plan of the members to have here delegates from all the conclaves in the district, which comprises Plainfield, Trenton, Newark, Garfield, Elizabeth, Somerville, Westfield, Red Bank, Long Branch, Sea Side, Asbury Park and New Hope, Pa.

It is also expected that on this occasion Supreme Archon Morris G. Cohen, of Pittsburg, and Supreme Secretary Samuel Tattersall, of Baltimore, will be present.

FORT AND LEGISLATURE AS ROBBINS' GUESTS.

Governor Fort, Speaker Prince of the House of Assembly, and Griffith Lewis, leader of the majority of the House, will be the chief guests at a complimentary dinner to be tendered by Senator Samuel K. Robbins, president of the Senate, at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, Tuesday night.

The dinner will be attended by all the members of both branches of the New Jersey Legislature.

FORT DIDN'T EXPLAIN.

"Hasn't Gone Back on His Friends," Declares Rotherham.

At the meeting of the Hudson County Republican Committee on Thursday night in Jersey City ex-Coroner Bunnell suggested that Governor Fort be invited to attend the next meeting to explain his position concerning the open primaries. County Chairman Rotherham said it was not necessary.

"The Governor hasn't gone back on his friends," he said. "The Governor regards the Republicans in this county as his friends, and I think we are all friends of the Governor."

This was met with applause and the explanation seemed satisfactory.

Annual Ball of Railroad Men.

Central Lodge 372, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, will hold its annual ball at turn hall, Elizabeth, on Friday, Apri 16. The committee of arrangement consists of Joseph R. Smith, chairman; William Cook, secretary; William Wittenbert, treasurer; James J. Bonner, Michael J. Haggerty, George Condit, C. Kirby and J. W. McDonough.

SENTENCED TO DIE, THEN FALLS ASLEEP.

Just ten minutes after he was sentenced to die in the electric chair, Giovonni Maloni, who murdered a woman in Trenton a month ago, was fast asleep in his cell. Justice Reed, of the Trenton Court of Oyer and Terminer, who told the prisoner he must die, did not fix the date for execution.

Maloni's counsel will likely appeal the case to the Court of Pardons on the ground that the murderer is an epileptic and was not responsible for his actions at the time of the killing.

Second Attempt Ends His Life.

The second attempt of Frank Burcher, of Nutley, to end his life proved successful last night when he hanged himself to the bedpost in his room. His wife, who prevented him from carrying out his purpose one week ago when she saw him adjusting the rope about his neck, found the body at midnight. Burcher had been ill for sime time and unable to work, which fact, together with the illness of a son with tuberculosis, preyed upon his mind.
